

Do you blog?

If you are a Cerritos College student or staff member and regularly blog about what's happening at the college or in the community/world around us, Talon Marks would like to link to your blog and feature it on talonmarks.com. We just need to know you are out there. The best of blogs will be featured on our online front page and teased in the print edition.

Blogs should not simply talk about who you are hooking up with or where you partied last night, but rather should talk about the world around us and should not contain objectionable or libelous material. News and reviews welcome. Clubs can blog about their activities. Blog about the election.

Contact blogs@talonmarks.com to let us know about your blog. Do it today!

Want to learn to write noteworthy blogs? Sign up for JOUR 106 for one unit. (15-week class)