Kirsch, Geary Part Of Lecture Series

Among the activities and programs presented at Cerritos this month are two lectures as part of the "Meet the Author" and "Forum" series.

Robert Kirsch, book editor of the Los Angeles Times and creative writing instructor at UCLA, will inaugurate the "Meet the Author" series on Monday night, November 29, in the Student Center.

Mr. Kirsch will speak on aspects of cultural benefits in Southern California. The public is invited.

Phillip Geary was the guest speaker at the "International Lecture" Monday night. Mr. Geary's topic was "Tale of Three Cities."

Lalibella, Hiroshima, and Lhasa were the three cities featured in his talk. Highlight of the evening was tape recordings Mr. Geary made of important parts of his trip including a taped interview in which the Dalai Lama sent the first official greetings to the people of America.

Student Exhibits

Student and faculty members with hobbies or rare collections are invited to use the display space in the library, according to Librarian Carl Johnson.

Available to exhibitors are the display panels in the northwest wing of the library and the glass-enclosed case near the entrance.

'Romanoff and Juliet' Termed 'Most Lavish' Play

"Romanoff and Juliet" will not only be the most lavish production we have ever presented, but I think it will be the best sented in the student center November 30, December 1 and 2.

Korf stressed the fact that the costumes and sets are worth the prize of admission alone. "But 'Romanoff and Juliet' is also a delightful, witty political satire, based loosely on Shakespeare's 'Romeo and Juliet,' and it will keep audiences thoroughly entertained.

Korf also emphasized the difference between the play version of "Romanoff and Juliet" and the recent film based on the play. "The film was not as good as the play; I think people will see an entirely different version of "Romanoff and Juliet" in our production. Plays are still your best entertainment."

Tickets for "Romanoff and Juliet" are $1, ASB card holders 25 cents. All seats are reserved

Certificates of honor and trophies for first place will be awarded, along with a School Honor Award which will go to the school with the best overall record.

"I expect the squad to do real well in its final competition of the semester, as it is rated as one of the top junior college groups in California," stated Juliette Venitsky, advisor.

As of January 1, "Roaring 20's" will roar no more. Low ratings prompted ABC to cancel the show . . . "An Age of Kings" is quality television, cogent Shakespeare. EXCITEMENT SHOWS IN THE EYES of boys from the Maud B. Booth Children's Home as they were presented with their sweatshirts and taken to a Cerritos football game. Phi Beta Lambda has chosen the Home as their Community Project for this year. (CCASBPhoto by Frank King)

Business Club Aids Local Childrens Home in Project

BY SHERRY LACKEY

Phi Beta Lambda members chose to sponsor the Maud B. Booth Children's home for their community project this year. This particular children's home was decided upon after the project committee, headed by Marilyn Strub, visited a list of homes supplied by several agencies in this area.

The 36 boys from the home were brought to the last home football game recently, and were presented with sweatshirts with their names on them at that time.

A smaller committee, headed by Jim Miller, is selling Horner's English Toffee to raise money for the home. Top sellers so far are Dave Watts, Marianne Charpentier, and Bob Clemons. Windows from the home have already been measured, and the club plans to give curtains and pictures to the home for Christmas.

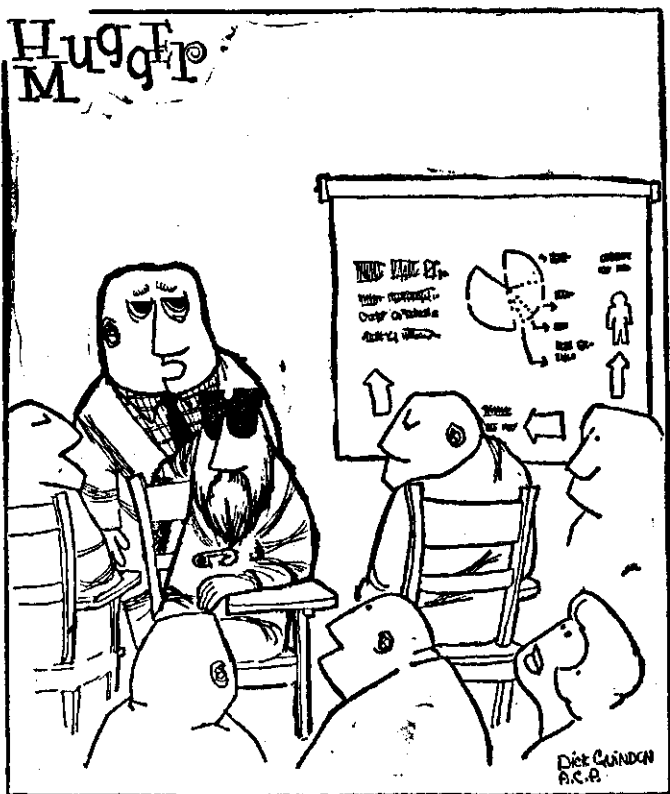

Phi Beta Lambda members will decorate the home for Christmas and have a Christmas party on December 11. Santa Claus' distributing of individual gifts to the boys, aging from 8 to 11, will highlight the party. Needed equipment will also be presented at the party.

Future plans include the Cerritos - Phoenix basketball game, a day at Disneyland, and an April Fool's picnic.

The Maud B. Booth Children's Home was founded by the volunteers of America in 1906. It is supported by the community Chest which takes care of approximately 50 per cent of the home's needs, and public agencies which take care of a little over half of the remaining 50 per cent. Interested groups, such as Phi Beta Lambda, see to the rest of the home's needs.

Community project members are Dave Watts, Barbara Blancq, Marianne Charpentier, Karon Couture, Marcia De Pue, Marie Ellison, Betty Fendler, Carolyn Klein.

Also, Gladys Lesnek, Jim Miller, Pat Phillips, Camille Rosas, and Evelyn Shimahara.

Falcons Fail in League Title Bid; Glendale Wins 26-12

Glendale College put a block to the Falcon's chances of going to the Potato Bowl last Friday night, as the fired-up Vaqueros dumped the visitors 26-12, and the win also gave them the Western State Conference championship.

When the game started, it looked as though the Falcons were going to walk away with the affair, as they scored the first time they got their hands on the ball and that was with only five minutes gone in the first quarter.

After recovering a Glendale fumble on the Vaquero's 31 yard line, the Falcons scored on their fifth scrimmage play when half-back Joe Badillo took a hand-off from quarterback Jerry Otterson and raced 15 yards to pay dirt.

The attempted pass for the conversion was blocked by Vaquero guard Damon Bame, who harassed Otterson throughout the evening, throwing the nation's second best passer for losses totaling 66 yards.

Otterson, despite the tremendous rushing by the Vaqueros, did an outstanding job of passing for the Falcons. His passing kept the Falcons in the game until the Vaqueros scored their final tally in the fourth period, following the Falcon's ninth fumble.

Renison Scores

Bill Renison, the Vaqueros outstanding halfback, put the home crew even with the Falcons with 8:36 left in the first quarter.

The 165 pound speedster's only touchdown came on a 38 yard run, in which he went off tackle and then broke to the outside to out race the Falcon's secondary.

Vaquero fullback Don Johnson, put the home crew ahead to stay with 2:29 left in the first quarter, when he raced five yards around his own left end.

The touchdown was set up on an intercepted pass, which gave the Vaqueros the ball on the Falcon 32 yard line.

Guard John Shirk intercepted another one of Otterson's passes with 14:23 left in the second period, on the Falcon 38 yard line.

Reserve fullback Allen Jacobs put the Vaqueros out in front 18-0, on a three yard scamper over left guard with 13:27 left in the first half.

The Falcons then put on a 73 yard sustained drive, climaxed by a 15 yard run by halfback Vern Brook. Eddie Mendez's kick on the conversion try was low and wide.

Fumbles Humble Falcons

In the third period, the Falcon defense held the Vaqueros to only 32 yards on total offense, but three key fumbles hurt the Falcons every time they put on a sustained drive.

Jacobs scored his second touchdown of the game for the Vaqueros with only 3:22 left in the game, on a five yard run over his own right guard.

Vaquero quarterback Gary Ullom passed to his right end Dennis Benedetti for the two-point conversion, to give the Vaqs their winning 26-12 total.

KELLEY

By BILL KELLEY

Watching your team lose the conference championship in the last game of the season can be rather heart-provoking. But viewing their loss from the winner's side can be maddening.

Any ideas I once had on Los Angeles City and its seating capacity was quickly retracted as I arrived at the Glendale game at kick-off time.

As we walked in the Cerritos side, we were promptly told that special seating for Cerritos fans was set up in the small bleachers across the field.

Small they were. We were quickly ushered to the Glendale grandstand.

We settled down just in time to see the Falcons recover a fumble in Glendale territory. This caused a slight cheer which brought a few blank stares from the merry group around us.

Then came the touchdown and I was forced to stand up and discharge a loud 'yipee.' This didn't go over too well with the home folks and brought about several intelligent questions like, "Hey you from Cerritos."

I sure am buddy, and proud of it. Look at the score." These famous words brought me an evening of constant razzing as the Vaqueros took the following kick-off and poured it on for the remainder of the game.

The guy next to me showed he was capable of planting an elbow in my ribs for each yard Renison racked up, and a hard slap on the back accompanied by a "How 'bout that," each time Otterson was thrown for a loss.

As the game ended, he was sporting enough to say, "Your big bad birds played a good game considering their a bunch of pakaloomers."

"Same to you, fella."
