Architect Presents Expansion Plans To Meet Future Needs

By RICHARD PRICE
"Talon Marks" Editor
Projected plans for the expansion of Cerritos to meet the anticipated enrollment of future years were presented to the Board of Trustees Tuesday night.

Earl Freels, architect's consultant to the college, said, "We are crowded now with our present enrollment, but with another 1000 students we will be saturated."

Included in the plans is a new three story classroom complex in front of the present Liberal Arts Building on Alondra Blvd. The new unit will house 27 additional teaching stations with more space available in the basement if needed.

According to Associate Dean of Academic Affairs Wyn Saferte, the data processing program, which is now housed in the Administration Building, is tentatively set to move to the new building.

Also in the drawing stages is a complete remodeling of the Student Center. In the proposed plans, the present patio area between the coffee shop and book store would be covered to add more year-round eating space. In the same plans the bookstore would be made into a separate dining room.

To make room for the increasing student need, a new bookstore will be built in the grassy area between the gymnasium and Burnight Center. The new store would be over twice the size of the present store.

According to Dean Saferte, two additional wings on the Arts and Crafts Building are just about ready to go out for bid. The wings are scheduled to be placed behind the present Arts and Crafts Building and would house nursing and mathematics classes.

Not yet on the drawing board, but in the planning stage, are proposals to build another story to the Library and a three-deck parking facility.

"The Library is already too small," said Freels, "and it is very practical to build over it." "It would be possible to build one or more stories over the existing library," he said.

In other college business the Board was informed that the gymnasium will need a new roof. According to Freels there was a defect in the construction and, therefore, a new roof has become necessary. A county counsel opinion will be sought to determine whether the contractor is liable for the cost of the new roof.

In other action trustees accepted with regret the resignation of Donald K. Young, college controller. "Young has done a yeoman's job and we are certainly going to miss him," said President Jack W. Mears.

Young will be going to Hartnell College in Salinas as Business Manager.

Sparks Fly at Prexy Debate As Candidates Face Issues

By RALPH DONALD
"TM" News Editor

"I resent the implications made regarding our experience," said Jerry Smith, AS presidential hopeful. This statement was made at a debate at which Smith and his running mate Sandy Brunette laid out their platforms beside the Rich Frazier-Mark Benton ticket last Tuesday.

The "confrontation" was divided into two sections. First, all four candidates gave opening addresses and then they answered questions.

Miss Brunette was first to speak. "There are demands to be made upon responsible student leaders that we can meet; there are problems that must be solved. We can accept that responsibility and conquer it."

Education First
Miss Brunette said that although student functions are mostly extracurricular, the main concern is the education of the student.

"We need to increase promotion of AS functions by a unification of students, faculty and administration and the people of the college district . . . we will challenge the present to demand solutions for the future," she concluded.

Benton began his speech by stating what he says is one of the main issues of the campaign . . . experience.

Experience Is Key
Benton said, "Experience is the key word . . . Rich Frazier and I have that experience. We have been involved in many campus and AS activities and we feel that the office of Associated Student president and vice-president should be filled by people who have a working knowledge and understanding of Cerritos."

Benton said that Smith and Brunette have not been on campus and involved in government and activities long enough to adequately do the job.

Careful Thought
Frazier talked about problems and programs. "All programs must be carefully and timely thought out and evaluated," he said. "We will institute programs to improve all programs."

In the realm of campus improvement, Frazier talked of setting up a board of students, faculty and administration for this purpose.

"If elected, I will attempt to legislate for a speakers forum, where any person, student or faculty can speak and be heard," he said.

Alumni Assn.
Frazier said he is interested in an alumni association, "so that two-year graduates can keep in touch with happenings on campus."

"We would recommend to the administration that a student sit on the academic senate in an advisory capacity . . . Frazier concluded.

Smith, in his opening remarks, took exception to Benton's "intimations" regarding inexperience. "These intimations were especially directed toward Miss Brunette," he said. "Rich Brunette has only been at Cerritos since January, but she has a background that is second to none."

Smith said that Miss Brunette attended the University of the Seven Seas, and there founded, and was the guiding factor of, their system of student government.

"Right now we have a system of government and it has its problems and progresses. We, if elected, do not intend to sit idly by and just let things ride along the way they are. We won't stand for adequate, we will be the best!"

Smith said they stand for programs, not promises. "We all know we have a championship speech squad, but how many of you have heard them? I venture not a half dozen."

Not Just Feasible
In conclusion, Smith said, "Our programs are not just feasible, they are possible and probable if we are elected."

In the question and answer period, Frazier was asked about his barely making the required 2.25 grade point average necessary for his candidacy. "When I first came to Cerritos in 1962, I enrolled in 15 1/2 units worth of classes and then didn't withdraw when I quit going to them. When I decided to go back to school to stay, I had 15 1/2 units of 'F' to make up, but I did!"

Miss Brunette was asked if she knew parliamentary procedure well enough to act as president of the senate, because the main job of the vice-president is to preside over the senate.

Practical Experience
"I have been involved in speech and debate, plus being president of our senate in high school," she said. "I also presided over the senate at the University of the Seven Seas." The debate was sponsored by the Cerritos Collegiate Democrats.

Deadline Looms for Nominees For 'Greatest Living American'

The final nomination for the Greatest Living American will appear in next week's edition of "Talon Marks."

The series was begun with two goals in mind. The first goal was to call attention to the people who are shaping our country and the world. The second goal was to discover what aspects of these outstanding Americans, (their ideals, their achievements, their actions), evoke admiration and desire of emulation from the Cerritos community.

Fast Nominations Cited
The first nomination of the series went to evangelist Billy Graham because of his great impact on not only the people of America, but on all the peoples of the world.

J. Edgar Hoover received a nomination for his activities as Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation during the past 41 years.

Bob Hope was nominated for his humanitarianism and devotion to this country.

Nobel Peace Prize winner Dr. Martin Luther King was compared to Mahatma Gandhi. King was nominated as a man who does not sit around talking about injustice, but goes out and fights for minority rights. United States Ambassador to the U.N. Adlai Stevenson was nominated for a diplomatic acumen which has commanded the respect of the other countries in the U.N.

Last week, former President Truman was nominated for his willingness to "stand up and be counted." While an attitude of non-involvement is gripping America, Truman is still willing to become involved and to state clearly his opinions on current problems.

Students Decide
Next Friday, as students go to the polls to vote for their senatorial and presidential choices in the student body elections, they will be given an additional ballot with which they will select the one nominee which they believe to be The Greatest Living American.

In the May 28 edition of "Talon Marks" the results of this election will be published and "TM" will present a profile of The Greatest Living American.

A nominations for Vice President Hubert Horatio Humphrey will be found on page 2 of this edition.

Executive Cabinet Approves First Three Speakers In Program

The AS Executive Cabinet approved a recommendation from the President of the College for the appearance of Art Buchwald, Madame Rajan Nehru, and Simeon Booker as part of the Speakers Program.

Art Buchwald is an internationally famous humorist whose column appears in the "Los Angeles Times." He would make a presentation at the Cerritos College Journalism Day.

Madame Rajan Nehru, who has been called "an excellent lecturer with a distinguished international career," would give a lecture in the morning and would then be available for a luncheon or seminar afterwards. The program would be geared to women students as a part of AWS programming.

Simeon Booker, noted Negro lecturer and author, would lecture in the morning and would be available for a luncheon or seminar. This program would be geared to the student body as a whole.

The cabinet also recommended to the administration that the marquee in front of the gym be moved to the West side of the campus, by parking lot C-5. The recommendation would have a new and larger marquee placed in front of Burnight Center; and would have a bulletin board placed in all buildings on campus.

The recommendation also called for a bulletin board similar to that in front of the Office of Student Affairs to be placed in the area around the lecture hall.

Santo Domingo Crisis Topic for Correspondent

Guns blaze in the streets as agreements are made and broken. This is Santo Domingo and at the present time, Correspondent Michel Anfrol is covering events in the strife-torn city.

Next Thursday, Anfrol will speak on French foreign policy in LH-1 at 11 a.m. This free program is under the sponsorship of the Social Science Department.

Anfrol is the chief correspondent of the French Broadcasting System in the United States. During his speech, he will discuss and explain the differences between France's policy and the United States.

Currently, France is considering recognition of the Dominican rebel government. President Lyndon Johnson has denounced the rebels as being Communist inspired.

According to History instructor Howard Taslitz, Anfrol will probably touch on this topic during his presentation. Taslitz added "Cerritos should be very pleased that such a worldly figure has consented to speak here."

"All students, faculty and interested citizens are encouraged to attend," he concluded.

Historians Add Courses

Two new social science courses, History of Asia (Hist. 19.1 - 19.2) and Psychology 3, have been added to the Cerritos College curriculum, announced Stanley Jennings, chairman of the Social Science Division.

Speaking of the new history course, Jennings said that history has traditionally been oriented toward Europe. Most of our ancestors came from Europe, and we have most of our trade and commerce with Europe.

"We've suddenly become aware of the fact that there has been a reorientation of the U.S.," said Jennings, "and gradually, without being aware of it, our interests have shifted more and more toward the Pacific. Therefore, our commitments have been oriented more and more in the direction of Asia."

Concerning the new psychology course, Jennings said that Cerritos has 124 psychology majors, and many have requested an experimental course. This is exactly what this course is, an experimental class taught by one of the leading experimental psychologists of the area.

The course will have a prerequisite of earlier psychology courses and will involve basic experiments with humans and animals.

CERRITOS COLLEGE

EDITORIAL

Charges and counter-charges echoed through the halls of the Arts and Crafts building Tuesday. The presidential debates have begun.

Under the sponsorship of the California Collegiate Democrats hopefuls Richard Frazier and Mark Benton listed their views and then heard those of Jerry Smith and Sandy Brunette.

The surprisingly large attendance at the event showed that there is much interest in this year's race.

As in past years we hope there will be other debates before next Friday's election. We hope to see one next week in the quad area that will be open to all who wish to attend.

If such a debate is forthcoming, it would be worthwhile for all those who attend Cerritos to be there.

All of you have had gripes in the past and wished there was something that could be done. Student government at this college is in a unique position to either solve or recommend solutions to problems students and the college face.

We would urge you not to vote on May 21. Not unless you know who and what you are voting for. What better way to find out this information than to attend a debate and hear the candidates as they are confronted with the issues of the day.

Issues such as where your money is going, why it is going there and why it is not going where it should be going should be clarified for the students.

Next week's "Talon Marks" will give an in-depth report on both presidential tickets and a short sketch of those running for the senate. We urge you to study these candidates and their program before you cast your vote May 21.

RUSTLINGS . . .

Love Thy Teacher, Chess Like Cards!

Dear Editor: Can a student who misses more than the allowed number of hours still get enough from his class attendances to rate a passing grade? This question continues to perturb a vast number of students on campus.

The premise that a student who turns in all his assignments rates a passing grade should be considered further. There could be extenuating circumstances where he would miss an excessive number of class hours — a short stay in the hospital or an extended illness.

Certainly the instructor should be consulted about the best way to make up the work. No instructor deliberately fails a conscientious student for absence if he has made an honest effort to keep up with his class obligations.

Every student should make an effort to become an individual to his teacher, not a cipher on the record sheet. Then when he does have a problem, it becomes a problem they can solve together.

How many students who received an "F" gave the instructor a fair shake? Absence because of a missed homework assignment or a log, airplane accident can hardly be excused.

The student's obligation is to get what he can from the class by regular attendance and participation. The instructor should inform the student that his absences have reached a point where he will be unable to get credits, giving him an opportunity to withdraw.

Certainly the teacher has a responsibility not only to the other students in his class, but also to the one who has failed to keep his end of the bargain. No teacher should give credits in any class if they are not legitimately earned. The mandatory failure is still "at the discretion of the teacher."

Any student who makes an honest effort to complete the assigned class work successfully is entitled to credit because he earned them. If he fails, he gets what he deserves.

—Fog Nelson

Dear Editor: It is apparent that the student senate, which unthinkingly appropriated money for an expensive—and, in my opinion, useless—booklet on student government, believes that our form of campus government is the best. Ha!

For one thing, students are not truly represented in the senate. The Chess Club has been urging senators to present and pass a bill for new chess sets to be made available for all students.

Once in the senate, however, the bill was defeated because Lynne Sedaj, our "beloved" student body vice-president, and other benighted senators, had the "bolton" that chess was a game akin to cards!

To set the record straight, I would like to quote the Funk & Wagnall Encyclopedia: In its definition of chess: "It is an intellectual contest devoid of any element of chance. The rudiments of chess are easily and quickly learned; and because of its value as a recreation and as a mental discipline, it is included in the curriculum of educational institutions and military schools in a number of countries."

It would be appreciated if Miss Sedaj and her crowd got off their stools and began to represent their constituents before any further progress on their expensive little manual is continued.

THE GREATEST LIVING AMERICAN

Hubert Horatio Humphrey

"I don't think there is any 'Greatest Living American,' at least not any that could compare with the great men of America's past." This seems to be the reaction of a number of people to the quest for the Greatest Living American.

What made past Americans so great? It was their willingness to stand up for an unpopular cause when they knew they were right, as when John Adams defended the British soldiers put on trial after the Boston Massacre.

Their greatness was their concern for all their fellow Americans and their ability to see clearly the proper solution to a serious problem, as exemplified by Lincoln, who emancipated the slaves but tried, before he was struck down, to prevent a radical campaign to punish the South.

These qualities are not dead. They are still to be found in at least one American, Hubert Horatio Humphrey. The charge of graft can not be laid at his door. He came into the field of politics as a man without the influence of wealth, and his political career has not brought him great wealth.

His devotion to country cannot be questioned either. Turned down by the Navy during the war because he failed to pass the physical, Humphrey tried again and again to enlist.

Perhaps most important of all, since he is our Vice-President, he doesn't know what he is talking about. Masters degree in political science after post-graduate study.

Peace Corps Visits Campus To Explain Aims, Program

Throughout the world countries far behind ours need help to progress. Leaders to help build, to aid in education, and to raise health standards by combating disease — such help comes from the Peace Corps.

What is a Peace Corps? The dictionary defines peace as harmony in human or personal relations and a state of mutual concord, and defines corps as a body of persons associated together and working for a common goal.

Since its founding in 1961, the Peace Corps has expanded to all corners of the world, and is presently in 44 countries.

The Peace Corps has over 8000 volunteers but of course needs more persons to continue its job of aiding countries which need help to progress.

This week Cerritos was visited by Peace Corps representatives, as were 12 of the larger junior colleges in California.

Barbara Gladysiewicz, Peace Corps representative and past volunteer to the Philippines, has been on the campus all week passing out information and giving aptitude tests to persons interested in joining the Peace Corps.

"If anyone feels they have the qualifications they should apply approximately a year before they are ready to go," said Miss Gladysiewicz.

Any further information is available by writing to Peace Corps Room 700, Washington, D. C. 20525.

FACULTY NOTES

Dinner-Dance, Tourney Await

By PAT LEVENS

The faculty Dinner-Dance at the Charter House Hotel in Anaheim and the 4th Annual Golf and Tennis Tournament highlight upcoming events on the calendar for Cerritos faculty members.

The dinner-dance will be held on May 22 beginning at 6:30, with music provided by the Cerritos Dance Band. Further information may be obtained from chairman Jim Dighera.

Defending champ Ed Wagner will try to extend his winning streak to four straight titles this afternoon at Lakewood CC. In the team division, Captain Ken Gregory of the Physical Ed department is counting on successfully defending their title. Communications-Fine Art Division Chairman Don Desfor is expected to cop the title in the tennis division.

Art Students Auction Their 'Objects d'Arts'

The seventh annual Cerritos student art auction will be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the Art Gallery. Refreshments will be served.

The auction is a part of the Cerritos College Student Art Auction and Exhibition which began Monday. The art exhibit will continue through May 22. The gallery is open daily Monday through Friday from 12 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Sundays from 12 a.m. to 5 p.m. Admission is free.

The auction will feature oil paintings, water colors, drawings, ceramics, sculptures and other works. Don Balch, literature and drama instructor at Cerritos, will act as auctioneer for the event. The art auction is the focal point for which art students aim each year.

Art Gallery Director Rudolph Aguirre commented, "I think the exhibit should be an interesting and rewarding experience for all."

STUDENT CENTER MAJOR Average Collegian Rambles Through Art

By RALPH DONALD

When the uninitiated walks into the current student art show, what does he see? He knows nothing about art, so he just looks and either likes it or not.

When one walks into the show, he may make the mistake of looking left. If he does, his eye would probably be caught by simple looking blocks of oil titled, "Piet Modrian." The painter is Char Schaafsma. Miss Schaafsma has obviously been watching too many coffee commercials and car ads, because her work looks like the Folger's coffee bean swallowing a blue Mustang competition stripe.

However, if one goes in the opposite direction, worthwhile art is present. For example, Donna Hampton's watercolor, "Blossom Time," is very well done. Her use of color and balance is highly commendable.

Making a wrong turn at a piece of pottery, one might stumble onto "Girl of the Seashore," an oil by Edward Downey. It might be attractive if one was not familiar with a Barbra Streisand album cover which mirrors the artwork almost perfectly.

"Swamp Fire," by Mae Fox is one of the few modern pieces that could catch and keep in the eye of the conservative beholder. Miss Fox combines artistic talent with popular taste. It is a refreshing change from the splashes of paint on canvas they call modern art nowadays.

Two examples of such splashes are Donna Sever's "Cock Fight," and "Nonobjective" by Micky Cartwright.

These tell nothing to the average man except that they are much more intelligent than we are because they understand those he scratches and we don't!

A brilliant collage and a piece really worth looking at is "Assmannshausen." John Jones is to be commended.

Hats off again to Joyce Haselbeck for our choice of the most life-like piece of art we have seen in a long time. At first one would think it is a touched up picture, but "Portrait of Cindy" is all pastel . . . and beauty.

James Thurber comes to mind when viewing Gary Yeargan's watercolor, "People." It reminds one of the sketches Thurber, a humor writer, made to parallel his writings. Very original.

Janene Capp's print, "Nature Shapes," a series of ink blots, is more appropriate to the psychologists Rorschach test.

Betty Thompson's "A Rose is a Rose" combines color, thought and a central point of focus in a scene of pinks and reds that blends modern art and the simplicity of a rose masterfully.

Pencil art by Jon Ortega, Richard Vander Mehleh and Bill Flaxington is detailed, interesting and extremely well done.

On leaving, I tripped on some pottery that was on display. To comment on pottery would be ridiculous, because all I know about pottery is that it holds water . . . usually.

In general, the show is worth seeing, and some of the 350 paintings, drawings, ceramics and other works on display are even worth buying.

Royal Night Awaits Pair

Dennis Snell and Mona Sigler were crowned the King and Queen of last Friday's "Royal Ball" which was held in the Ambassador Hotel. The couple represented Gamma Delta Phi.

During the evening, Delta Chi Omega was given recognition for having the most club members present. Also each couple will receive free tickets to the "Cerritos A-Go-Go" Show on May 21.

The King and Queen will be given a "Royal Night" in Hollywood which will consist of a dinner and show of their choice.

Nominees for the titles were Lynne Sedel and Pat Mullaney from Delta Phi Omega, Jeri Hazlett and Mark Benton from the senate and Kathy Denessen and Rich Frazier from the cabinet.

In addition, Char Schaafsma and J. Taylor Smith from the California Collegiate Democrats and Donna Hagelroth and John Silius from Circle K vied for the honors.

The King and Queen were selected by popular vote. The formal was held in the Embassy room from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. Couples danced to music by the Carroll Wax Orchestra, the Betty Aires violin group and the Argyles band.

According to Publicity Chairman Ralph theVelde, "it was a great dance." He added that everyone had a wonderful time.

Summer Session Features Day Classes for First Time

Regular instruction during the day will be one of the most important new features of the 1965 Summer Session according to Summer Session Dean

Harlan Stamm.

For the first time in the history of the college, classes will be offered in the mornings. Although Stamm expects more than a 2-1 ratio of night students to day students, nearly all of the classes offered at night will also be offered in the morning.

Most of the day courses will be taught during the hours of 8-12, while the night classes begin at 6 p.m. and close at 10. Registration will begin on June 9 by appointment only from 1 p.m. to 4 and from 6 p.m. to 9. Other dates for registration will be June 10, 14, 15, 21 and 22. Classes will begin on June 21.

The summer curriculum covers all mediums of instruction currently handled by the college. The new courses of interest, for example, are Marine Biology (Life Science 90) and Publications Photography (Journalism 60).

MISS AMERICA 1965

"Not long ago I was Miss Arizona of 1964 and entered a pageant for the title of Miss America with a prayer that God's will be done. I wasn't the prettiest, most intelligent or most talented girl in the competition, but I did possess one thing—a faith in Jesus Christ. My relationship to God is not as a religion but a faith.

"When I was younger I heard that it wasn't enough to go to a church and Sunday School. I had to give Christ my life. He said, "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly," and I gave my life to Him. Christ came into my life and changed me. Jesus Christ became my friend and, most important, He became my personal Saviour and Lord.

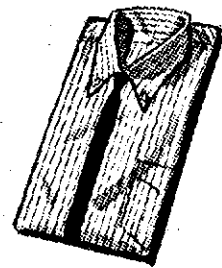

"In many interviews I am asked for my philosophy of life. My philosophy is to serve God and to let Him guide my life."

Win-Streak Mark At Stake; Injuries Plague Met Champs

An early inning tumble by star receiver Serian Stepanian may cost Coach Wally Kincaid's baseball squad a chance to advance farther than the So. Calif. Semi-final tomorrow afternoon.

Stepanian Falls
In the second inning of the Chapman game, Stepanian leaped from his catchers position to field a bunt when his already twice injured left knee failed him and he fell. On crutches now the leading hitter in the state is a doubtful starter for either today El Camino contest or the Oceanside-Carlsbad debate.

To top it off, in the latter stages of Tuesday's Santa Monica encounter versatile Larry Sleep, the jack of all trades for the Falcons, also injured a knee sprain, but he is expected to be in shape for duty on both Friday and Saturday.

Right-hander Phil Rankin will start this afternoon against El Camino at Warrior Park. Also set for duty on the mound will be the winningest pitcher in JC baseball, lefty Mike Paul. The Warriors have already fallen easily to the Falcons this season twice and the third try should again be futile. If they win, the team will tie the all-time win streak mark of 21 straight, become the first team in Metropolitan Conference history to go unbeaten in conference play and establish a new all-time single season number of wins at 35.

Host Carlsbad
Due to flip of a coin, the Falcons will host the Oceanside-Carlsbad semi-final tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 with Coach John Seely naming his 6'3" 205 lb. fire-balling right-hander Arnie Larson to duel with Bob Vaughn Kincaid's ace.

The Spartans have an overall record of 17-5 and boast of strong squad that has six of its starter batting over the .300 mark.

Led by the booming bat of first sacker Ried Braden and the base stealing of Craig Scoggins the Falcons captured four straight wins over the weekend. Victims were Chapman (17-3), East L.A. (3-1), Santa Ana (9-4) and Santa Monica (7-5). Braden had 6 hits in 11 trips to the plate including two doubles and a triple. Scoggins stole seven bases in the past two games to tie the all-time mark of thiefs for a season with 42. The old record was held by Lee Bales.

Grapplers Enter LA 'Y' Tourney

The Cerritos wrestling club will be after their second off-season tournament championship tomorrow when the grapplers enter the Los Angeles YMCA open.

Weigh-ins will begin at 8 a.m. with wrestling action starting at 11 a.m.

Leading the Falcons will be Ken Bos (167 lbs.), Pete Philpot (147 lbs.), Barry Schneider (191 lbs.), Steve Hodge (157 lbs.), and Armando Munez (157 lbs.).

The Mexican wrestling tour is still open for all interested matmen. The nine day trip will begin on June 18 and run to the 26. The team will face the Mexican National AAU squad and the Mexican Olympic team.

CENTERFIELDER CRAIG SCOGGINS SCORES again for the Falcons. The talented lefthand batter has tied the record for Most Bases Stolen at 42. The old record was established by Lee Bales. —Talon Marks Photo

So Cal Championships Confront Kamanskimen

Glendale College will be the site for what many say will be the greatest junior college track and field meet ever in Southern California.

The meet will be the Southern Cal Junior College Track and Field Championships. Early prospects show four teams in the running for the overall title.

The favorite in the trackfest will be Eastern Conference champs Santa Ana College, with Bakersfield and Mt. SAC going off as co-second favorites. Long Beach City College is the long shot.

The Falcons will enter the meet and Coach Dave Kamanski just might pull something from his sleeve in the championship meets.

Fendia, Budds Falcon Leaders
The Kamanskimen will be headed by defending 880 champ Les Fendia, high-jumping Tom Budds and the speedy sprint crews.

Fendia, who will run in the half mile and the mile relay, is the defending So. Cal. champ. Things may go rough for Fendia as San Diego Mesa's Bob Hose will be pitted in the same race. Hose nipped Fendia in the 880 in their first meeting this year in the Falcon-Mesa dual meet.

Budds recently placed in the Fresno Relays with a leap of 6'8" in the high jump. The Plus X grad will meet head-on with Santa Ana's Ed Caruthers. Caruthers, Olympian from last year, has cleared 71 1/2" this season and seems unbeatable, but Budds has cleared 6'8" and could be able to contend with the big Don.

Relays Tops
Coach Kamanski takes pride in his relay teams as the Falcon 440 crew blazed off a 41.6 for a new school mark in that event. The members of the record-setting squad were Craig Ptak, Butch Linn, Ron Nord-schow and Bill Massey. But the squad finished fifth to the winning 41.3.

Kamanski also lauded his mile relayers for winning the conference mile event. Larry Thomas, Ptak, Fendia and Massey were all members of the event which brought the mile relay championship to Cerritos.

Massey will run in the 100 after placing fifth in the conference meet. Considerable study of the films taken of the event was needed on this.

Rod Ferguson will also run in the 100 after being out most of the season with a bad muscle pull in his right thigh. Ferguson was able to compete in the meet under the medical rule of the junior college track board.

Season Over As Swimmers Finish Fifth

For Coach Pat Tyne and his swimmers the 1965 swim campaign has drawn to a close. The season really wasn't completed until the tankmen broke six school records and finished fifth in the state junior college swimming championships at Orange Coast last weekend.

After the three-day meet had been tabulated the Falcons scored 25 points as opposed to the 134 for team champion Foothill College.

What led to the Cerritos main success was the work of Bronze Olympic medalist Larry Andraesen, who won both the one and three-meter diving events. He scored 408.3 in the low board and 369.25 in the high standard.

"I was really pleased with the performances of Larry. This makes the second year in a row the talented diver has cropped both diving events," Tyne said.

Van Cleave In
Tyne also was pleased with the tremendous effort of freestyle Jon Cleave who took third in the 50 yard freestyle with a time of 22.3 and 49.2 in the 100. Both marks established new school records.

Steve Campbell added a new mark in the 200-yard backstroke by churning the distance in 1:01.2. Mike Bryant swam to a lifetime and school best in the 500-yard freestyle in a time of 5:10.

The final two records were produced by the relay teams, the freestyle and medley. In the freestyle, a team of Bryant, Van Cleave, Tom Rossi, and Bill Asbild, swam to a sixth-place finish but a school record of 3:21.1.

The 400-yard medley team finished in fifth position behind LA Valley in 3:53.1.

Just One More Title

By DAVE BROCKMANN

Have you ever tried swimming the 100 yard backstroke or even the 50 yard freestyle? Well, most of us are not in the superb shape, to do so, but for Coach Pat Tyne's water boys, swimming is their life.

Just last week after a most grueling season, Tyne's splashers entered the State Junior College swimming championships at Orange Coast and placed fifth overall. It was a tremendous achievement.

At the conclusion of the three day meeting, you could actually say the Metropolitan Conference rates tops in aquatics.

Foothill, as expected, won their third straight championship with 134 points. Eastern Conference king-pins Orange Coast took second with 74.

But that was where foreign conference winners stopped. The Metro schools finished third, fifth, sixth, and ninth; a truly outstanding feat.

Cerritos' mainstay effort in the rugged competition came from Olympic silver medalist, Larry Andraesen.

For the second year in a row, the talented sophomore, outdove all competition to win not one but two championships in the one and three meter diving events. Andraesen scored 408.34 and 369.25 in the low and high board events respectively.

Diving just didn't happen to fall into the hands of Andraesen, it took hard work and determination.

He first began diving when he was 14 years old at Western High School in Anaheim. He got the idea from jumping on a trampoline and went straight into diving. As a result he hasn't stopped since. Within one year after he began diving, he rounded himself into the CIF champion in the one and three meter boards for two consecutive years.

Before coming to Cerritos he was selected to represent the United States in the U.S.-Japan Olympic Preview. Andraesen established one thing while on that tour: winning and being the youngest All American on the team at 17.

Diving as a Falcon he won every dual meet and set almost every record in the Metro. He finished the conference finals with a record breaking 411.28 points in the diving events.

At the same State finals last year he scored all of the Falcons 14 points by winning both the one and three meter events by over 120 points.

In the 1964 Olympics a gold medal was only 16.13 points away, as Andraesen dove to a bronze medal.

This year he has gone undefeated in every dual meet and has romped through the Metro and Southern Cal finals.

Congratulations to Larry Andraesen for a most outstanding job.

WINDING . . . Coach Wally Kincaid finally ended two years of frustration by ripping to his first Metropolitan baseball title. The crown came after 12 straight conference wins against cross-town rival Long Beach City, 5-2.

Netters Score Perfect Record

For Coach Ray Pascoe's netters the season is now complete. The tennis men finished the year with a perfect record of no wins and 12 straight conference losses.

El Camino walked off with the Metro title by scoring not particularly firsts but on thirds and fourths. Bakersfield captured second with the Falcons finishing, once again last, with 0 points.
