The work, all done by Cerritos students, includes the areas of oil painting, watercolor painting, freehand drawing, life drawing, two dimensional and three dimensional design, ceramics, sculpture, photography, commercial art and mixed media. Awards went to Ray Wallace,

Cerritos Hosts Exams for CPS

The Business Education Division is again hosting the Certified Professional Secretary examination today and tomorrow on

This is the second year the extensive examinations have been given at Cerritos. Covering the fields of accounting, human relations, business law, secretarial procedures and data processing, as well as typing and shorthand, tests are expected to draw more than 35 candidates.

Division Chairman John Black announced that Cerritos was added to the test center list in 1965 by the Institute for Certifying Secretaries, a department of the National Secretaries Association.

A CPS rating is given to anyone successfully completing all six parts of the examination. Instructors Mary Lou Weidman and Kathleen McDannel will conduct the testing.

The purpose of the program is to improve secretarial personnel with a specific educational program and to promote the designation CPS as the recognized standard of proficiency in the profession. This would assist employers in selection qualified secretarial employees.

mittee is again faced this year with the problem of not having enough money.

Members of the committee have been reviewing budget requests from all of the student programs and will soon attack the dilemma of cutting requests that total somewhere near $143,000 to the estimated income of $100,000, according to Don Siriani, dean of student personnel. "Next week we should begin calling in account advisers to discuss their individual requests," he said. From these meetings the committee is hoping to arrive at a solution that will be fair to all those concerned.

Siriani admits that there are many variables that must be actual income received.

next season are away.

The dean said that the bookstore is one of the biggest variables of all. The margin of profit that the store makes is one that is hard to determine a year in advance.

According to Siriani, this year's estimated income for programs sponsored by the Associated Students has been falling short of that the budget cannot go over what we have had this year ($119,000), and then only if we can find that much money."

The committee is hoping to have the budget ready by the end of May so that it can be sent to the Senate and College Board of Trustees for final approval.

EDITORIAL

A Rush Job?

One of the most important functions of the second semester Senate is consideration of the Associated Student budget for the upcoming school year. To do a good job, the Senate should have plenty of time to review AS budget requests. Apparently, they are not going to be given this

The schedule of the Budget Review Committee calls for a presentation of their recommendations to the Senate at the end of this month. This would give senators two, or possibly three, sessions to consider the matter. Approval of a $100,000 plus budget requires more time than this.

Account advisers were asked in February to submit their budget request and the deadline for forwarding these requests to the committee was mid-March. Since that time, the committee has held only two meetings and has yet to report any progress in their proceedings,

The time for making a decision on the budget is at hand. We cannot make up for lost time by criticizing the Budget Review Committee. This is past history. We would only like to make these suggestions,

The committee should send each set of requests to the Senate immediately after consideration and recommendation. Since the Senate is likely to want to consider each account separately, debate can begin within a week.

As for balancing the budget, this is the responsibility of student senators, and not of a committee which is made up predominantly of administrators. If the Senate can begin debate on the matter in the near future, each request and expenditure can be thoroughly researched and presented to the Board of Trustees for approval.

RUSTLINGS

Don't Cut News Stories

EDITOR'S NOTE: This concludes a lotter begun in the April 29 issue.

(Last week Mr. Stenson asserted that editorials should not be printed whenever there are news stories which could fill the space taken up by the editorials. He further stated that students are capable of making up their own minds and are swayed more by facts than by opinion.)

It is an insult to the students if you think that you are the omniscient group that must interpret the facts and make all our decisions. For a student to know the truth now, he must be in Student Government or attend all their meetings, It is, therefore, my suggestion that a column, preferably on the front page, be dedicated to the simple, factual and complete account of business in Student Government (including Court, Cabinet and Senate). Also the direct effects of all actions should be unbiasedly interpreted if this column is to function well. With this, the students could easily compare editorials to the facts. They will also be surprised to see how much is actually being done by Student Government.

The newspaper has taken, in the past, the extreme stand of merely being critical at all opportunities. Then, with the "Sundial," it took the other extreme (or tried to look as it was taking it.) The solution is at neither end. A newspaper should be critical only when there is something wrong that CAN BE CHANGED. To merely criticize and insult serves no practical purpose and is only intended to do harm. This kind of "constructive" criticism is an entirely different frame of mind, the vast difference of which you and your staff do not seem to comprehend. This letter is an example of the difference: I could have written, quite truely, "Talon Marks lies." But, what purpose would that have served? By making the Student Government Column suggestion I have attempted something positive.

Were AS Cards Sold Illegally? Since the start of this school year, there have been three major Senate bills and two major court decisions which have had something to do with the AS membership card. The latest of these, the change of unit requirements for fulltime membership from 12 to 10 units; has caused many student body officials to inquire whether or not the cards were sold illegally last semester.

At the time the cards were purchased, the General By-Laws Code and the Financial Code defined a fulltime member as a person carrying 12 or more units. A part-time member of the AS was one carrying less than 12 units.

Required To Buy However, when a student with 10 to 111/2 units stopped at Sta-Party Whip tion 7 to purchase an AS card, he was asked to pay the $7 fulltime membership by whoever happened to be selling the cards at the time.

When confronted with the question about the illegality of the card sales, AS Commissioner of Finances Ken Welch stated that "cards were sold in conjunction with the policy of the AS." He also said that he was aware of the fact that the codes specified 12 units but he was under the supervision of the Dean of Student Personnel Don Siriani who directed the card sales.

Four Interpretations When we posed the question to Siriani, he came up with the suggestion that since there were four different interpretations of a full time student, he was going by the one which would encompass a greater portion of the students. This is the Metropolitan Conference eligibility rules which states that athletes must carry 10 units, plus a physical education class, and hold a student body card, mainly for insurance purposes.

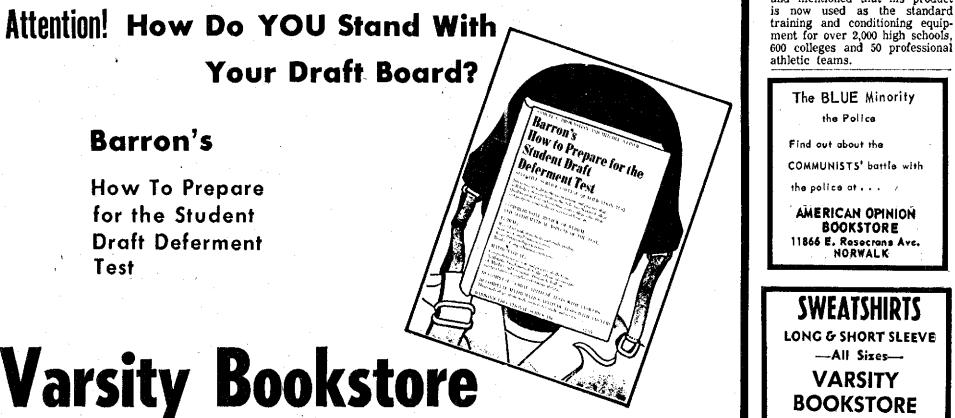

Siriani also pointed to the old constitution which governed Cerritos under the student council system and defined 10 units as the drawing line. Siriani indicated that he was continuing this policy despite the fact that the document was obsolete.

Who Decides? "It's a matter of interpretation. I'm going by what I feel is a fulltime student," said Siriani. But shouldn't the students be the ones to decide this?

When it was discovered that the practices were in violation of the laws and that the fact that Welch and others sold cards illegally might become a campaign issue, two members of what is now the Heidner-Welch camp rushed a bill through the Senate and changed the codes. Amid all of this confusion, students can be asured that they will be expected to pay the $7 membership fee (if they're taking ten units or more) when they seek to register for the fall se-

Fraining Class To Be Offered

Next fall a club officer training program will be offered which will hopefully inform all club officers as to their functions, methods of leadership, campus procedures and the maintenance of good club operation and organization.

The decision to have the officer training program was made by the Inter-Club Council Special Interest Board. The Board is made up of representatives from special interest clubs on

The training program will make information available to the major officers of special interest clubs. Each officer will have training to improve his function and usefullness in his club.

The exact hours of the training sessions will be given in the future. It is definite, according to the ICC Special Interest Board that one session will be at night and will be three hours long. That single night session would be the complete officers' course at one sitting. For those who cannot make it at night, arrangements will be made to offer it in the day in three one-hour sessions. The members of the Special Interest Board also decided to have booklets prepared for each type of club officer next fall. During the Board's discussion period, it was suggested that examinations be given to officers during training sessions. Richard McGrath, the Board's faculty adviser, said that exams might be given to officers as part of the teaching methods of instructors. The board, for the most part, did not want to see the officers given any sort of grade.

Ace Hurler Vaughn Eyes Bright Future

Bob Vaughn pitched the Cervictories last week and brought his personal season record to 12-0. His two year Falcon record is 25-1, which doesn't exactly rank him alongside of Cy Young, but it's not bad for openers.

Ace of the Staff

As the ace of the Falcons stingy pitihing staff, Vaughn is more than happy to help the team in any way he can. One of his wins last week came in relief when he picked up for Rod Corder with two Long Beach City runners on base and the ation, Bob quickly quelled the threat and Cerritos went on to win the game.

Bob has a lot going for him this season, namely a fastball, curve, and change-up. When he's got all three working he is virtually unhittable. He keeps ten Paul Bunyans busy just re-placing the opposition's broken

Superstitious Pitcher

The superstitious hurler has more than three pitches going for him. One of his more confidential assets (no pun intended) is a pair of sliding shorts which apparently go sans bath while he keeps winning.

He admits with a greedy grin ritos baseball team to two more that having a bevy of sluggers on his team helps his pitching immeasurably. "I can just get the ball over, I don't have to be so fine. Get the ball over he does and stay in the park it does. He gives up fewer walks and homers per innings pitched than any Cerritos pitcher. He was all Metro Conference last year and is a cinch to repeat this year.

in the long jump (fifth), and the two-mile relay (second). Van Hofwegen Out

With the loss of Len Van Hofwegen, the top quarter-miler in the conference, coach Kamanski will rely on Massey, Ferguson, Freeze, Dunn, pole vaulters Will Oates and Skip Paegal and the 440 relay team for most of his team's points.

Van Hofwegen pulled a muscle while competing against Long Beach and has not recovered sufficiently to run in the finals. However, he nolds the third best mark in Southern California and will be admitted to the So. Cal. meet via an "injury clause," as long as he doesn't compete between now and that meet.

Kamanski figured Van Hofwegen would bring in 18 points (first in the 440, second in the mile relay), so any chances of an upset will hinge on the performances of the other team members.

Freeze (23-6) and Dunn (53-11) both hold the third best marks in the conference but could finish higher on a good day as could sprinters Bill Massey (9.8, 21.9) and Rod Ferguson (9.8, 21.8). Massey, in a slump lately, is due to turn in an outstanding performance.

Led by Rich Emard and Reid Braden, the Falcons jumped off to a 2-0 lead in the first inning and were never seriously challenged in Tuesday's game against the Huskies. Emard began the inning with the first of his three hits and advanced as Chuck Ramshaw reached base on a fielders choice,

With the two Farcon speedsters on base, the Husky infield seemed to panic on Braden's easy grounder. Emard scored on the roller but Ramshaw was out trying to score also.

Braden advanced to second on the play at the plate and he scored on Ken Lohnes' solid single to center for the deuce.

Falcon pitcher Bob Vaughn started the third frame reaching base on an error, Emard singled to right, moving Vaughn to second. Rick Chval, hardluck Husky pitcher, retired the next two batters on infield outs, but he still had one more bad pitch to go and threw it to the wrong

Braden Homers

With two on and two out, Braden sent Chval's first offering towering high and deep over the left field wall for a three run homer and a 5-0 lead.

With this comfortable margin, Vaughn was his usual self, giving up but one run in his 7 innings. He struck out 7, gave one free pass and limited the losers to a paltry 4 hits.

Louie Bratcher finished the game for Vaughn, and gave up his first earned runs of the year. The Huskies got a deuce in the eighth frame on a pair of walks spaced between 3 singles. the game and the Metro crown

Jim York, pitching for Cerritos, retired the side in order in the first frame, but the second proved to be a nightmare. The first four Vike batters singled safely to score 2 runs. York retired the next batter on an infield pop-up, but Mike Cue, the LBCC hurler, helped his own cause with a three run insidethe-park homer.

Down by a startling 5-0 count, the Falcon batters went to work immediately in the third. York, leading off the inning, atoned somewhat by hitting a homer. Two outs later, Scott Reid also connected with a Cue ball and hit it over the fence to narrow the score to 5-2.

The score remained there until the seventh when the Falcons scored thrice to even the count at five all. Steve McMillan led off with a triple and scored on pinch hitter Don Kruger's fly ball to Emard kept the rally going with a single and Dick Butler reached base on a costly error. Scott Reid's grounder scored Emard and Braden's double plated Reid to even the score. In the eighth, the Falcons capitalized on another error to put
