Orators Lose Bid For National Title

Falcon speakers have taken first place title three years in a row in state competition, but not for nationals, where Cerritos placed seventh in a field of thirty-nine schools.

The team of Cerritos speakers arrived home last Sunday from five days of competition at the National Phi Rho Pi Tournament at Odessa, Texas. The team was defending its title as national champions.

Individual Cerritos squad members placed high in relation to schools from the rest of the nation.

In men's extemp Bill Cassio took second place award. John Tagg tied for second place in men's oratory. Bill Cassio received third place in men's impromptu.

Taking fourth place in women's extemp was Gloria Hartmann. John Tagg also took a fifth place in men's impromptu. Semi-finalists were Richard LoCicero in men's extemp, Bill Cassio in men's oratory, Gloria Hartmann in women's extemp and John Tagg in men's impromptu.

Excellent certificate winners were Richard LoCicero in men's oratory, Russ King in men's extemp, Gloria Hartmann in women's extemp, Dianna Roberts in women's oral interp and in women's oratory.

The debate teams of Gloria Hartmann-Richard LoCicero and Dianna Roberts-Russ King moved into the quarter-finals.

John Tagg and Bill Cassio took fourth place in debate. They won seven and lost two, dropping their semi-final round to Odessa, who placed third.

Hartmann and LoCicero hold the honor of being the only debate team to defeat the tournament champion Hutchinson JC, Kansas.

Juliette Venitsky and William Lewis were pleased with the squad's over-all performance.

Riverside City College and Miami-Dade Junior College tied for first place.

Ambassador Analyzes U.S. - Japan Relations

Toshiro Shimanouchi, the Japanese Consul-General in Los Angeles, will speak on "Japan-United States: Improving Communications" in Burnight Center at 11 a.m. on Tuesday.

Shimanouchi will appear at the invitation of the Social Science Division. "Since our involvement in Vietnam, Asia has become more important in international affairs. There's a need to develop interest in Asia," said division spokesman Russell Storkan. Storkan currently teaches the Asian history course offered at the college and is in charge of the affair.

Shimanouchi has served in the Japan Foreign Office before accepting the Los Angeles consulship in 1954. He was a delegate to the United Nations in 1964, a member of Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda's staff on official visits and was a Japanese delegate to Queen Elizabeth's coronation in 1953.

He is a 1931 graduate of Occidental College where he majored in political science. He holds an honorary doctor of laws degree from Occidental. He also attended Pasadena High School.

Nine Teachers Resign Posts

Trustees accepted the resignations of nine instructors at the monthly board meeting this week, "some with regret," according to Board President Al Sommer.

Resignations effective June 17, are those of Joe Bas, Boyd Benson, Erwin D. Carter, Glenn Heiserman and Cora Williams. Vernon Triebwasser became the second Cerritos football coach to resign this year. His resignation takes effect June 24. Mae Werrbach, coordinator and director of registered nursing, leaves Cerritos June 30.

Former Cerritos counselor and head basketball coach John Caine elected not to return to Cerritos. He has been pursuing a doctorate at Colorado State College under a sabbatical leave and will be working at the new four-year Albert Lea College in Minnesota.

The resignation was accepted with the stipulation that he return the salary to the Cerritos district which he received while on sabbatical leave. According to the letter sent by Caine to the trustees, he is already arranging to pay back the money.

In the same motion, the trustees approved the rehiring of 233 instructors returning next year. Of this number 134 have permanent (tenured) status, while 99 are probationary.

CRACKED MIRRORS, BLACK CATS and spilled salt await students today as Friday the 13th appears on the May calendar. An even more important date, for the students, however, is May 20. Next Friday is the last day to withdraw from class with either a WP ("Withdraw Passing") or WF grade.

Pre-Registration Begins Monday

Continuing Cerritos College students will begin priority registration for fall semester courses on Monday, according to M. Edward Wagner, dean of Admissions.

According to Wagner, this will be the last opportunity for continuing students to use priority registrations. The program will be discontinued after this year.

Wagner advises students to pick up their appointment cards as soon as possible. He praised the success of the appointment system of registration last semester. "It minimizes time taken for registration," he said. The admissions office expects to register 60 students every hour.

The dean also stressed the importance of male students of enrolling in at least 15 units. "Although 12 units is considered a full time student, the selective service looks upon 15 units as a full load," Wagner pointed out.

An added part of the registration process will be a special station for veterans who are now able to receive government funds under the Veterans Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966.

Veterans will be handed application forms at the station. They can receive anywhere from $50 to $150 under the act while attending school. Information about selective service will also be handed out at this station.

Wagner stated that he expects a drop in the college enrollment next fall. "There are four basic reasons for this," he said. "We're losing 1,000 students to Rio Hondo and 200 more to the new junior college in Cypress."

"In addition to this, the draft and the increased opportunities for employment are prime factors," he concluded.

Tanner Solos With CC Band

Guest soloist for the Cerritos College Band Concert will be Paul Tanner of the University of California at Los Angeles. According to Music Department chairman Jack Wheaton, Tanner will be featured May 24, in a concert at 8 p.m. in Burnight Center.

Wheaton said that Tanner will be featured as soloist in two of his own compositions. He will play "Airs for Trombone" and will be accompanied by Eldon Delong in "Concerto for Two Trombones."

Petitions for AS Offices Due Monday

Members of the Associated Students of Cerritos College will go to the polls next Friday to elect a president, a vice president and 29 senators.

At this time only 18 petitions have been filed for the 29 seats vacated by this semester's Senate.

There are two tickets running for the top spots on the ballot. Voters will be asked to vote for one presidential ticket and five candidates for the Senate.

Bruce Reumont, senate majority leader, and Richard Bernstein, freshman senator, will oppose Gary Heidner, supreme court chief justice, and Ken Welch, AS treasurer, for the school's highest offices.

WAS PLATFORM COPIED?

Reumont - Yes! Heidner - No!

Presidential candidate Bruce Reumont has charged his opponent Chief Justice Gary Heidner with plagiarizing the Reumont platform and presenting it to the students as his own.

In making the charge Tuesday, Reumont stated, "Our platform was presented to the students two weeks prior to theirs and we feel that they have taken some of our ideas and rearranged or disguised them."

Heidner answered the charge by stating, "Many of the ideas, which they claim to be the same, are ideas which came out of committees which Ken Welch and I were members of, or student government conferences."

Reumont also attacked the Heidner-Welch ticket for not having a statement of philosophy in the pamphlets they distributed last Friday. "We think that a statement of philosophy is essential to run a campaign and to serve as a guideline when and if elected."

According to Heidner, his ticket will present such a statement at a later time.

Both candidates analyzed the method of distributing campaign literature used by the Heidner organization. The group caused some reaction last week when they stuffed the May 6 issue of "Talon Marks" with their material.

Saroyan Play Gets Curtain Call Tues.

"It seems pleasant, now and again, to hear a simple plea for human understanding and compassion. The eloquence of an age baptized in war and protesting vigorously its disturbed adolescence is not to be denied."

"Still, when a compassionate writer can quite humbly ask that life be lived 'without excuses, without shame, without any system and order more elaborate than courtesy, and love', I feel that this quiet plea must also be listened to—and lived, if at all possible."

The above words were those of director Frank Bock, acting chairman of the Theatre Arts Department, describing the "Cave Dwellers" by William Saroyan. The final production of the year, the play will be presented in Burnight Center May 17-21 with curtain time at 8 p.m.

Saroyan explains his play this way: "The 'Cave Dwellers' happens on the stage of an abandoned theatre because all buildings are caves... the world itself is a cave. It fulfills a play's obligation to its audience — to arouse interest, anger, love and compassion — and provides the kind of evening that we are proud to present on the Cerritos campus," said Bock.

Bringing this arena to life is an experienced cast including Mary Mallet as the Queen; Denny Macko as the King; Larry Harper, the Duke; Vickie Letz, the girl; Jerry Williams, the father; Judy Hochstadt, the mother and Jim Martin as Gorky, the trained circus bear.

Harold Clurman reporting in the "Nation" has said, "I shall praise the play because it is Saroyan. He is a writer, he is a poet, he is a personality. Among our dramatists he is one of the few who speak in a distinctive voice."

"It is a gentler voice than that of most others who write for our theatre. It uses simple, sane vocabulary which refers to smells and sounds and easily identifiable things seen and heard. It is good-humored, and slightly inebriate. It has in it a faint flavor of the foreign, yet is unmistakably American."

"Saroyan's plays have something else that we cherish in the theatre. They have color and fancy — not laid on but organic to his message and his plots," he concluded.

Admission to the play for all five nights is 75 cents for students and $1.50 for the general public.

Free Pops Concert Taps Film Scores

Highlights from the sound tracks of "Sound of Music" and "West Side Story" will be featured today in a concert of the Cerritos College Day Band, according to Music Department Chairman Jack Wheaton.

The concert will be presented for all students in the Student Center at noon.

Wheaton said that the pops concert will also feature Robert Hawkins' arrangement of "How The West Was Won" and John Warrington's "All American Campus," a medley of college and university songs.

Other selections include Sammy Nestico's "Portrait of a Trumpet" featuring soloist Richard Henderson. Soloists Jerry McGee and John Aydelott will join Henderson to play "Burgler's Holiday" by Leroy Anderson.

EDITORIAL

A Fine Example?

It is hard to take a stand against the machinations of a presidential ticket just before the election without appearing to endorse their opponents. But the recent actions of the Gary Heidner-Ken Welch ticket cannot be ignored.

A month ago, the Election Board ruled that Reumont-Bernstein calendars had been illegally posted because they had not been approved before they were posted. The board decision was prompted by a complaint filed by Doug Stenson, who attended the organizational meeting of the Heidner-Welch ticket.

Reumont and Bernstein report that AS Justice Jerry Martin began taking these posters down before the board made a decision. Martin was also present at the organizational meeting of the Heidner-Welch ticket.

Last week Heidner, Welch and their supporters removed bundles of "Talon Marks" and inserted their campaign material into the papers before distributing them to the racks. This they did without consulting anyone.

In so doing, they bypassed the Publications Board, which has the power to authorize distribution of written material on campus. Furthermore, they ignored the rules of common courtesy by failing to check with the staff of the newspaper before taking the papers.

One of the planks of the Heidner-Welch platform calls for "Student Government working with 'Talon Marks'." Was this an example of how, if elected, they will cooperate with "Talon Marks"?

Was this an example of how they will cooperate with legally constituted bodies such as the Publications Board?

Was their purloining of all the papers an example of how they will follow the rules and regulations of the school and the Associated Students?

Perhaps the Heidner-Welch ticket should remember that the rules of this campus were set up for everyone to follow, not just for their opponents.

CAREER TRAINING CENTER

By MARY DANIELSON
Exclusive 'Talon Marks'

Interview
"The 'Cold War G.I.' bill recently approved by Congress is both an indication of our gratitude for the sacrifices of American G.I.'s and an investment in the future of this nation," stated Congressman Del Clawson of the California 23rd District.

Deserve Assistance
Clawson commented that the cold war serviceman who is not interrupting his education or career is a rarity. He added that all servicemen are deserving of government assistance after completing their service to the nation.

The Congressman said that the results of the World War II and Korean War Bills are proof of the advantages of such legislation. "Veterans Administration has estimated that the Federal Government has to date received $20 billion in additional taxes from the increased incomes of veterans who participated in the post-World War II education program," stated Clawson.

Provides Training
He reports that the program has provided for the training of 18,000 doctors and registered nurses, 113,000 physical research scientists, 450,000 civil engineers, 36,000 clergymen and 711,000 skilled mechanics. "The program's contributions to the energetic transition from a wartime to a peacetime America was of immense proportions," added Clawson.

According to Clawson, the bill to provide education, training and housing benefits to cold war veterans was passed in the House and Senate unanimously as the first major action of the second session of the 89th Congress.

An Improvement

Clawson said that the bill which passed was an improvement over that which was favored by the Administration. It authorized approximately $327 million for the program over the $100 million recommendation of the Administration.

"While vast sums are sought for other domestic programs, any reduction of educational and training opportunity for returning servicemen seems to me to be imprudent economy," he said.

Clawson was elected to Congress in a special election in 1963. At present he is acting on the House Committee on Un-American Activities, the Banking and Currency Committee and the House Policy Committee.

VISTA Seeks CC Volunteers

VISTA, the domestic peace corps, is seeking volunteers from the Cerritos campus. A representative of Volunteers in Service to America will be here Wednesday to conduct interviews in the Student Center from 8:30 a.m. through noon.

"We're looking for volunteers of all backgrounds and abilities," reports the VISTA field representative. The program offers "opportunity . . . for service on Indian reservations, among migrant farm workers, in urban slums and in rural pockets of poverty ranging from Appalachian hollows to Alaskan villages."

Further information on the program is contained in the four-page insert in today's issue and can also be obtained from the VISTA representative Wednesday.

Dedicated Duo Foists Fodder

Dear Editor,

Last Friday, under cover of anonymity, since naught but looms and do-badders venture out at six in the morning, a fearless band of marauders, led by the Dedicated Duo, laid siege to the "Talon Marks" depository.

With wraith-like swiftness, they felled 3000 newspapers with their mighty wire cutters. Before you could cry "foul," an undisciplined number of presidential platforms transformed a student news organ into a political mouthpiece, a circulation medium for the "Truth."

Loath'd go through proper channels, certain of the rectitude of their cause, they substituted stealth for honesty, one-sided anonymity in place of open debate, foisting political fodder on an unsuspecting student body.

But take heart, fellow students, for the devious shall receive their own special kind of just desserts. Picture the following scene at the news racks next Friday, twilight.

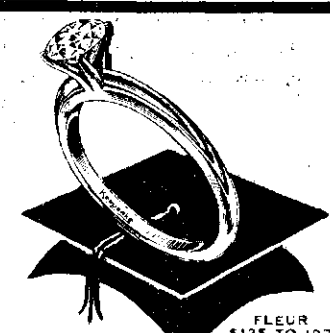

Black Muslim: "Man, don't touch those bundles. It's my turn this week."
Duo: "But we are running as leaders of this whole campus. (Somewhat pridefully) The word must be sent forth."

Man with Armbands: "Dee people must know. It was 3 million, not 6."
Man with beard and sandals: "Every man's death diminishes me. The War must stop. Give me that god . . . rack."

Man with mottled teeth: "Florida did this to me. A stinking (tisp) Red conspiracy."
Scene dissolves amid a flurry of fists.

Trustees Laud Philharmonic; Hail Mehta Performance 'Finest'

The performance by Zubin Mehta and the Los Angeles Philharmonic last Friday drew a full house and with it, harbingers of equally ambitious fine arts programs for Cerritos in the future.

At a Board of Trustees meeting early in the year it was said that if the concert was not well attended, it would likely be the last program of this sort which Cerritos would sponsor. The contract with the Philharmonic cost $3,500.

Students assisting with the ticket sales at the door reported that 3,000 tickets were printed up. But they stopped selling tickets before they ran out, they explained, because the gym did not have a seating capacity of 3,000. Very few places were left vacant at the concert, and most tickets had been sold in advance.

Perhaps instrumental in swelling the audience to capacity were the five Cerritos music appreciation classes. Attendance at the Philharmonic concert was made an additional requirement for these classes.

The reaction of the trustees attending the concert was favorable. Dr. Curtis Paxman said "It was a wonderful program." He added that the concert drew the largest crowd of any previous Cerritos sponsored program.

Trustee John Nordbak said, "I was quite impressed." In response to questioning about the board's reluctance to sponsor future programs of this sort if the concert was not well attended, Nordbak explained, "If nobody came, it would be a waste of taxpayers' money."

In response to the same question, trustee Arthur Kulzer said, "I wouldn't want to push this sort of thing if the people weren't interested, but they seem to be interested."

A portable backdrop for acoustical purposes was borrowed from UCLA for the concert. The acquisition of a portable shell was originally suggested for this purpose, but the trustees were dissatisfied with the estimates which they had received. Officials are still studying the possibility of purchasing such a shell.

Dr. Paxman agreed that the trustees might be willing to approve of such a shell. He also said it would be nice to make the concert an annual affair.

Complimenting the Fine Arts Associates for their work, College President Jack W. Mears termed the concert "... one of the finest things that has happened at this institution."

Hairstyling Contestants Vie for Honors Tomorrow

Cerritos will send four participants to the annual "Association of Cosmetology Teacher Inter-Collegiate Contest" tomorrow at Los Angeles Trade-Technical College. The four entrants are Sandra Campbell, Darlene Lane, Sue Clark and Kitty King.

Contestants compete individually, according to Mrs. Olive Scott, cosmetology department head. Four trophies are awarded to the top four contestants and a perpetual trophy is given to the school represented by the first place winner. Cerritos has never won the perpetual trophy.

The three criteria used in judging are workmanship, originality and suitability to the model. Judges will represent "prominent people in the industry," according to Mrs. Scott. She added that "50 per cent of the contest is workmanship."

Concerning "way-out" hair styles being used in the contest, Mrs. Scott said that it was discouraged. She did note that the "dickie bird trend" is the current trend in cosmetology and it may be used in the contest. She explained it as a type of hair-styling in which the hair is emphasized on one part of the head more than the other. She revealed that only short-hair styles will be used in competition.

On Cerritos' chances, Mrs. Scott said, "I have no idea." She explained that it wasn't like competitive sports where one has a chance to see the opposition. "We haven't seen them and they haven't seen us," she added.

There will be over ten colleges entered, according to Mrs. Scott. The winner last year was a male student. Mrs. Scott assumed that there will be some male competitors.

Cerritos hosted the yearly event in 1960 and may host it next year. The participants will spend all day at the contest.

Sackers Win Again And Again ... And ..

By BILL SALTZMAN

The seemingly unstoppable Cerritos baseball team won numbers 33 and 34 last week with a 5-1 triumph over visiting Cal State Fullerton last Saturday and an 18-3 romp over host Santa Monica on Tuesday.

This afternoon, the Falcons will host El Camino when they go after number 35 in the final Metro Conference game for 1966. Jim York will probably start the 2:30 game against the tough Warrior team.

Mt. Sac or Mesa?

As Metro Conference Champions for 1966, the Falcons have earned a spot in the Southern California Playoffs. They will face the winner of the game between defending state champ Mt. San Antonio College and San Diego Mesa. A coin flip will determine the home team.

In last week's games, as previously this season, the Falcons proved the premise that the team making fewer mistakes wins the game. Cerritos could score but one earned run against State, but three Fullerton errors led to four more runs and the victory.

Errors, Walks Help

Santa Monica proved to be worse afield than Fullerton as the Corsairs booted six balls during the wild contest. Half a dozen SMCC pitchers also helped the Falcons cause by issuing 11 walks.

The third and sixth innings of the Corsair game typified the way Cerritos wins and other teams lose games this season. Bob Vaughn and Rich Emard started the third with solid singles. Two outs later they were still on first and third as it appeared SMCC would escape unscathed.

The Falcons were not to be denied, however, as Reid Braden drew a walk to load the bases and Ken Lohnes followed with a single to score one run. Vaughn scored an extra run on the play as a relay throw went awry for an error.

Wild Sixth

The sixth inning was probably the wildest of the year as it had Falcon coach Wally Kincaid still shaking his head the following day. Vaughn led off with a home run for one legitimate run, but the inning's next eight (8) were just a bit sketchy. There were only three more singles in the inning, but 6 walks and 2 Corsair errors gave the Falcons a 9 run inning and 14-2 lead.

In between his hitting heroics, Vaughn found time to pitch 6 good innings and earn his 13th victory this year. He struck out seven during his stint and walked a pair. Only one of the two runs he gave up were earned.

Louie Bratcher pitched the final three innings and picked up his sixth save of the year.

Wildness Costs Titans

The Fullerton game was a close affair for seven innings as the Titan's huge southpaw pitcher, Housley, had the Falcon bats stifled. He gave up very few solidly hit balls, but wildness cost him.

The lefty was consistently behind on hitters during the game and walked three batters in critical situations.

Rod Corder, Bratcher, and York divided mound chores for the Falcons with Bratcher receiving the win.

Is California Bowl Doomed To Failure?

To this reporter's way of thinking, the recently proposed California Bowl (a post-season football game between the champions of the Metropolitan and Eastern conferences) is, not the best thing to happen to junior college football, but to Metro football. The Metro Conference has long claimed to be the best around, and this would give it a chance to prove it.

The game, too, would be a big success financially. Imagine a bowl game between Fullerton, ranked No. 1 in the nation last year, and Cerritos, ranked No. 2. The game would have easily out-drawn the Junior Rose Bowl.

However, this writer sees little chance of the bowl game coming off.

The Ruling Lords of junior college football have been, in the past, unfavorable towards ideas that would disrupt the current status quo of the grid sport. Last year a proposed football playoff that would determine a state JC champion was nixed, and we see the same thing happening to the California Bowl proposal.

The two conferences have supplied the Junior Rose Bowl representative for the last eight years, and the removal of these teams from that bowl would virtually eliminate a worthy opponent for the Eastern representative to the JRB. To our knowledge, a college football team cannot participate in more than one post-season bowl game, which would rule out the California Bowl champ also playing in the JRB.

As it is now, the California representative in the JRB is a virtual shoo-in to beat the Eastern Representative, thus upholding California's national prestige in JC football—and it's doubtful if the Lords want it any other way.

The race for the coveted Iron Man Trophy, symbolic of over-all athletic superiority in the Metro conference, is developing into a tight three-way race between Cerritos, Long Beach and Valley.

Valley trailed at the end of the fall sports, but scored heavily with high finishes in basketball, tennis, gymnastics and swimming.

If things continue to remain as they are now, the final point total could come out something like Long Beach 59, Cerritos 57½ and Valley 57.

Odds 'n' Ends: How's this for size? Head football coach Smokey Cates gives his tentative starting interior line for next season as: tackles Lon Woodard (255) and Dave Shawver (245), guards Brodie Dunn (245) and Bob DeRose (235) and center Gary Atkinson (245). All started at one time or another last season.

The increase in size, says Cates, is due to the less emphasis on the running game and increased emphasis on the passing game in the Cerritos offense. Five 240-pounders are harder to rush than five 180-pounders.

Rod Deadeux, USC's highly successful baseball coach, is reportedly very interested in several of Cerritos' baseball stars, including second baseman Chuck Ramshaw, and power hitters Scott Reid and Reid Braden.

Football fortunes at Cerritos could take another turn for the better if two past players who live in the Rio Hondo district manage to enroll here. Tim Burnett, a 215-lb., All-Metro first team defensive tackle as a freshman last year, and Dan Crowder, a 205-lb. fullback-linebacker of two years ago, are both considering moving into this district in order to be eligible for football next season.

Triebwasser Announces Resignation

Vernon "Dutch" Triebwasser, offensive line coach for the Cerritos football team, announced his resignation this week to accept the post of Physical Education Dept. Chairman and Athletic Director in the Mt. Hood School District Junior College in Oregon.

Triebwasser, who will begin his new position on August 1, said that a prime factor in his decision to leave was his love of the outdoors and Pacific Northwest.

He was cited by Director of Athletics Don Hall for "an outstanding job" in his six years at Cerritos.

Falcons Finish Last In Track Finale

By DENNIS CAMPBELL

In possibly its most dismal showing since Cerritos came in to the Metro Conference, the Falcon track team finished a very dead last in the conference finals last Saturday. Pre-meet favorite Bakersfield lived up to expectations, running away from the rest of the field.

The cindermen will journey to Fresno today to take part in the West Coast Relays, and will then travel to Citrus College for the Southern California prelims on Wednesday, and the finals on Saturday.

Still uncertain for the Southern Cal affair is quartermiler Len Van Hofwegen, who is not responding well to treatment for a pulled muscle. Van Hofwegen, who didn't compete Saturday, has a best time of 47.9, fourth best in the state.

Van Hofwegen's absence was partly responsible for the team's poor showing at the finals. Track coach Dave Kamanski had Van Hofwegen pegged for 16 to 18 points, and his loss wiped out any chance for a high finish.

The Falcons' failure can also be largely attributed not to poor performances but to injuries and outstanding marks by other competitors. A case in point is Ralph Freeze's jump of 23' 9" in the long jump, an all-time Cerritos best, but good enough for only fifth place in the conference, as four other jumpers went over 24'.

Top performance by Cerritos came in the 440 relay, when Craig Plak, Rod Ferguson, Paul Berumen and Bill Massey combined for a 41.7 clocking, good enough for second behind champ Bakersfield.

Other points came from Ferguson, fourth in the 100; Massey, fifth in the 220; Brodie Dunn, third in the shot and fourth in the discus; Dave Kuester, fifth in the mile; and the mile relay team, third.

Final Scores:

Bakersfield 153; Long Beach 80; Valley 68½; El Camino 61½; East LA 45; Santa Monica 39; Cerritos 34.

CRA Hosts High School Activity Day

The College Recreation Association of Cerritos College is hosting an activity day from 1-4 p.m. today for high school girls in the Cerritos district. Fifteen high schools have been invited to participate and each school may send 15 delegates, according to Nancy McLain, general chairman of activities' day for C.R.A.

The participants will compete in four sports for trophies. They are badminton, tennis, volleyball and modern dance. Miss McLain said that the trophies will be awarded to the schools and not to the individuals. A perpetual trophy will be awarded to the school that has the most winners. In volleyball, each school will send a girl team. In badminton and tennis, both singles and doubles will be played.

Following the sports events, the girls will have a chance to see movies of the field trips the C.R.A. has taken. Also, they will have recreational swimming. Refreshments will be served.

Miss McLain commented that it was for the purpose of introducing girls to the C.R.A. On the program itself she said, "It's never been done before and we hope to make it an annual affair."

Falcon Netters Flunk Finals, Finish Fifth

The Cerritos tennis team finished a disappointing fifth in the Metropolitan Conference finals last weekend with only four total points. Conference champ L.A. Valley won the tourney easily, but no other team ran true to form in the scramble finish.

Fourth place Santa Monica finished second with nine points, runner-up El Camino dropped to third with seven points and Bakersfield jumped from fifth to fourth with five points.

Next came the Falcons, followed closely by East L.A. with three points. Hapless Long Beach finished last with nary a point won.
