Students Select Twelve Freshmen

From a field of 35 candidates on the ballot in last Friday's election 12 new senators were selected to represent the Freshman class for this semester.

Bob Phelps, an independent, topped the list with 202 votes. He is the first senate candidate to exceed the 200 mark in over two years at Cerritos.

Pamela Pall, the new Miss Norwalk, was also elected for her first term.

Although a possible of 4000 full-time students could have voted only 350 exercised that privilege.

One senator said regarding the poor turnout at the polls. "It seems a shame to me that less than 10 per cent of the voters bothered themselves to vote last week. Those people who were elected will be asked to spend over $100,000 of student money this year and apparently only a few people care."

The following is a list of those running in the order of highest number of votes received.

Elected senators are indicated by an asterisk:

Senate Votes To Pay 'Campus Illustrated' Bill

By LOUIS BANAS

The Senate unanimously voted to pay the $4,200 bill to Triangle Lithographers for the production of last year's "Campus Illustrated."

Fine Arts Division Chairman Donald Desfor, who served as adviser to "Campus Illustrated" made a personal plea to the Senate to appropriate funds to pay the delinquent bill.

In seeking bids for the production of the college's picture publication, Desfor went outside AS financial procedures in incurring the bill. Although the sum of $4,500 had already been earmarked for 1964-65, the preceding session of the cabinet refused to authorize the expense after the 1964-65 books were closed June 30.

Further study of the situation is being asked of the Finance Committee, in order to prevent the recurrence of a similar situation.

In other action, the legislative body seated Mark Benton against the wishes of AS President Jerry Smith and his administration. Benton had served as Smith's party whip upon appointment to the Senate. Last week Benton resigned his post as whip, but claimed he could still retain his senatorship. Smith maintained that Benton must go.

A bill introduced by sophomore Senator Linda DuLac received nearly unanimous approval favoring the seating of Benton.

Senate To Reconsider Publications Change

By CATHY LONGAUER

Consideration to rescind the amendment to the Publications Board and refer it for further study was postponed by the AS senate Wednesday because of lack of a quorum.

The amendment establishes that the members of the Publications Board be

- Four students to come from the senate, court and cabinet and one student at large appointed by the Associated Student President and approved by the senate.
- Two faculty members appointed by the Faculty Senate.
- A chairman and an administrator appointed by the president of the college.
- Advisers and editors of all campus publications be ex-officio members of the board.

The present board consists of an administrative officer, a faculty member, the AS Commissioner of Public Relations, a senator, a student body member and the faculty advisers and editors of campus publications.

Former Senate Party Whip Mark Benton presented the change at last week's senate meeting. However, he stated, "It was passed in haste." Benton now favors reconsideration for further study.

Benton added that he sees both pros and cons concerning the legislation. His opinion now is that by having ex-officio advisers and editors, "the administration and student government could dominate publications."

Also since the publications representatives understand and know their own workings and problems, they should have a vote, he said. Benton added that the board should be an objective body and unchanging in number (membership now fluctuates as the number of publications change).

Last year the Board of Trustees approved formation of the board. The board's framework states that the board shall advise student publications staffs on policies, philosophies and objectives of the college and protect publications from undue pressures exerted from within and without the college.

Adviser to "Talon Marks" John Dowden stated that he sees no need for a change in the membership structure since criticisms involving publications have not been brought to the existing board.

He added that critics of student publications "should use the instrument they have to find out if it's effective" before establishing a new one.

Dowden also felt that the editors and advisers are the ones most informed regarding publications and should have a vote. "And our publications are produced within our instructional programs," he added.

AS President Jerry Smith met with Vice President for Academic Affairs, Dr. Bruce Browning and first discussed the board. They concluded that there should be a change in the membership. Dr. Browning is the administrative representative on existing board. He was unavailable for comment this week since he is attending a conference in Washington, D.C.

The amendment was then brought to the cabinet and approved. Afterwards, it was taken to the senate where it passed 11 to 1. If the amendment is rescinded, it would go into a committee for discussion.

Smith believes that the amendment was needed for objectivity and also for finance. He stated that all publications' budget requests would go through and be decided by the board. Smith, therefore, felt that it would not be wise to have publications vote on their own budgets.

However, according to the framework of the board as it now stands, the board is "empowered to review and make recommendations concerning annual budget requests."

Present Chairman of the Board William Bruff stated that before Dr. Browning left he suggested that the present board meet. The date will probably be next week.

Bruff had not been notified of the proposed change until two days after the Senate had voted to change the board's membership.

College President Dr. Jack W. Mears felt that the new amendment should be given a chance. He added that "if it is not the best thing for the college, it will fail."

He cautioned that the new board must listen to the voice of the editors and that the editors must make every attempt to carry out established policies.

Twenty Coeds Vie For Queen Title

A field of 20 Cerritos coeds will be narrowed to seven as the Associated Students go to the polls on Mondays to make their selections for Homecoming Queen.

The candidates were introduced at a rally yesterday. Voters will have a choice of five of the 20 and the seven top vote-getters will be entered as finalists for Queen.

PEGGY ADAMSON is a 19-year-old sophomore from Downey. She is sponsored by Cleff Dwellers. A music major, she plans to teach in elementary or junior high school.

CHARRON BRANDEL is a sophomore social science major from Downey. She is being sponsored by the baseball team. Future plans include work in the field of child delinquency. She is a member of Delta Phi Omega.

SANDRA BRUNETTE of Norwalk is the candidate of Student Government. A sophomore philosophy and speech major, she has future plans in secondary education. She is active as AS Vice President and is a member of Delta Phi Omega.

HILLARY CHRISTIAN, a Whittier sophomore, is being sponsored by the Golf Team. She is a major in French and elementary education. Her club activities include Delta Phi Omega, Big "C" and she is also a Songleader.

NANCY CIACCIA, a sophomore history major, is sponsored by Sigma Phi. As a freshman, she was named Space Queen, Freshman Woman of the Year and "Miss Lakewood." She is a member of Delta Phi Omega and serves as Head Song Leader.

FRAN CIACCIO is the Phi Beta Lambda candidate. She is a business major and plans to be a legal secretary. She is the national vice president of Phi Beta Lambda. Her campus activities include Senate Clerk, CRA bowling, and AWS.

NIKKI CORCORAN, a sophomore liberal arts major, is the basketball team's candidate. She is the president of Delta Phi Omega, and also a member of the ICC Executive Board and the Plan Hellenic Board.

SHARRON DALE, the Cos Mett's candidate, is a sophomore cosmetology major. Her future plans include training for a degree in art after obtaining a cosmetology license.

KATHY GIGUERA is a freshman foreign language major being sponsored by the Dorian Society. She plans to attend UCLA and become a language teacher. She is also a member of the Cerritos Band.

CAROL GUNNETTE, the football team's candidate, is a sophomore physical education major from Downey. She was "Miss Downey" of 1964 and was a runner-up to "Miss California" in the "Miss America Pageant."

LAURA HERRERA is the Phi Kappa Zeta nominee. She is majoring as a Technical Secretary. She is also a member of Phi Beta Lambda.

SUSAN HOFMEYER is a freshman art major from Downey. She is the Beta Phi Gamma candidate. Her desire is to

Cosmets Seek Contest Models

Ever dream of being a model? The Cerritos Cosmetology Dept. is looking for models for its hairstyling contest, "Magic with Color and Curls," to be held Nov. 13 from 7-10 p.m. in the Student Center.

Models must be at least 18 years old and have hair suitable for contest work, according to instructor Jean Rogers. Prospective models must also be available for practice sessions on Tuesdays or Thursdays. Since these practice sessions have already started, interested coeds should contact the Cosmetology Dept. as soon as possible.

"Students are being trained at Cerritos for employment in the cosmetology industry," reports Mrs. Rogers. "The hairstyling contest is an important part of this training. Judges will be prominent hairstylists in the industry."

The contest program will offer "comb-outs," judging, with the appearance of a guest artist and the presentation of awards.

The department invites the public to attend the contest.

Lettermen 'Fall in Love' In Cerritos Gym Tonight

"When I fall in love — it will be forever," the Lettermen will sing in tonight's concert to be held in the gym.

The program will begin at 9 and is the first of the college's "Evenings on a College Campus" series. Tickets for AS card holders are $1 for fulltime students and $2 for part-time. General admission is $3.

The Lettermen will highlight their concert with popular music, folksongs, old favorites and show tunes. Perhaps they are best known for their renditions of "Smile," "Where or When" and "When I Fall in Love" which they will sing tonight.

This popular trio records for Capitol Records and has appeared on television many times. They were first noticed by George Burns and finally by Ed Sullivan who told the world, "The Lettermen are great."

They have performed at more than 350 colleges throughout the country and are even now on their way back for repeat appearances. Tonight will be their debut performance at Cerritos.

How was the group formed? Tony Butala, Jim Pike and Bob Engemann had been vocalists for some time. Butala sang in a quartet and Pike and Engemann in trios.

Butala met Pike during a shift in one of the vocal groups that led Pike to audition for Butala's group. They discovered that they had a magnificent blend of voices.

Pike told Butala about Engemann whom he had met at Brigham Young University and when the group disbanded they decided to find Engemann. Thus "The Lettermen" were born.

According to Dean of Men Richard Robinson, "The evening should be 'tremendous.'" He added that everyone raves about the Lettermen and students "can't ask for a better deal" on the ticket prices.

WHEN THEY FALL IN LOVE . . . it will be forever. The soft singing Lettermen will perform for students tonight in the gym. The trio's repertoire runs the gamut from old favorites and folk songs to popular music.

EDITORIAL

New Policy Lacks Logic

A movement is currently afoot to remove the vote of the newspaper's adviser and editor from the Publications Board. In essence, this would rob the editor and the advisor of an effective voice in deciding what is fit to appear in the paper.

Logic would indicate that an individual qualified to teach journalism courses and a student trained in journalism would know what is fit to print better than the layman. Student government, on the other hand, appears to believe the layman is better qualified.

This seeming lack of logic, by itself, may appear innocuous. However, at the summer student leadership conference there was talk of placing the newspaper directly under the control of student government by creating a policy board.

This move would have carried the danger of creating a student government propaganda organ out of what is still, like all true newspapers, an independent voice. Under the proposal, the college newspaper could be prevented from criticizing the actions of student government and allowed only to praise them. This has happened at other schools. It could happen here.

If we take a more careful look at the current proposal, we find we are only a step away from what was envisaged by some at the leadership conference. Under the proposal, the newspaper's representation would be given to appointees of student government.

Now, if the end result of all this legislation were to be the appointment of the paper's editor and adviser to the board, the entire bill would be absurd, for it would change nothing.

It seems likely that the supporters of this measure have no desire to allow the paper to have any representation on matters which vitally concern it. Rather, they seem intent on packing the board with pawns which would reflect their whims. And thus it seems that there is an element in student government which would like to see the paper become their private propaganda sheet.

The argument at the leadership conference was that a body elected by the students to represent them could also make the college paper represent the students better if it were placed under the sponsorship of student government.

From this the question arises, if it took as little as 43 votes to become a senator, and enrollment is as high as 10,500, just how much more representative are the senators than the paper?

One last question remains. How can the recent action of the Senate improve the college newspaper?

Who's Cheering?

Cerritos was leading, twelve to nothing over Merritt College. They were driving hard into Falcon territory. The yell leaders set up a cheer. The sign to begin was given; "Hold that line! Hold that line!"

A mighty cheer arose from a few dozen voices... almost all were either yell leaders or song leaders. From the top of the football stadium those voices were barely audible.

The majority of students sat around watching the game listlessly, conversing with their dates or, if they had none, searching the stadium for an attractive companion.

Why is there such total apathy toward school spirit on our campus? There is no reason. Cerritos still won the game in spite of the students who apparently could care less.

In the three games the Falcon squad has participated in, they have yet to have a point scored against their nearly impeccable defense, and in this short length of time they have compiled over 100 points in offense.

Why then do the students look with such disdain at supporting their championship team? The Cerritos Bench Organization, composed of collegiates' parents and interested citizens, seemingly has more school spirit than the students.

Some oldsters say, and the writer agrees, that our college students are so "sophisticated and generally above emotion" they feel it would be childish to stand up and yell for their team.

To quote Carol Habeen, a well-known entertainer, "The kids sit around trying to 'out-cool' each other. They're competing for the title of 'super-slob.' They're all so afraid that their dates might catch on that they're really only 19 after all."

This writer would not in the least blame the spirited athletes who fight their hearts out in every game if they walked off the field sometime. A challenge such as this from the players would not be unfitting. "You up in the stands! Come on down here and play your own football game! Then we'll go up in the stands and cheer louder than all of you put together."

Cerritos Anticipates 2,000 Student Enrollment Decrease

Before the year is over, approximately 2,000 students will drop out of Cerritos. This is 20 percent of the total enrollment. Why do so many quit?

Outside work, according to Ed Wagner, dean of admissions, is the prevalent excuse for dropping out. Wagner pointed out that when jobs conflict with school, many people will forsake their education in favor of their employment.

And, as Dean of Student Personnel Don Siriani said, some students find it impossible to attend college fulltime and also work more than 15 hours per week. Siriani feels that before a student can be successful in college, he "must be mature enough to accept the responsibility of college work." Siriani recommended a class and work schedule that allows ample time for recreation.

Wagner also noted that a large number of students fail to make the grade in college because of "unrealistic goals." "Many students think that they can work full time, carry a full study load and still get in all of the recreation they want," said Wagner. The result of this is failure.

Despite the pressures and problems a student faces, Siriani said, "If the student approaches his work with the proper perspective and value and with the determination to succeed, he will succeed."

Ticket Books For Rest Rooms

"If you don't have a ticket book, don't waste our time, leave the premises," came the shouting words from school officials at a recent school dance.

It appears that the Cerritos College ticket book system has changed since its founding several years ago.

I can remember just a year ago when a ticket book was just something a student could buy to receive discounts on activities the school held. This semester things have changed.

It seems that the ticket books have completely taken over the school. No longer can one attend a dance, and many classes actually require the acquisition of a ticket book. Is the reasoning for this that students will be using school facilities, such as paper, chairs, floors and desks?

A similar type of situation took place on a state college level in Long Beach, (not to mention any names). Parking permits at this school used to be a privilege; he who has a parking permit, will get the best parking space.

In recent semesters at Cal State the situation has changed. No longer is it only wise to get a permit but almost a necessity. Every single parking space on the school's grounds requires a parking permit. Those not holding a permit must park outside the premises.

As if it isn't bad enough that Cerritos College takes your $7, and in some instances requires it, they now have added insult to injury by punishing students for lending their ticket book (or shall we call it a "passport to pleasure") to another student or a friend.

What could possibly be the reason for this injustice? The school has already taken our money. Within the $7 paid for that ticket book was an admission to a certain football game or dance. What could possibly be the objection to another student using that pre-paid ticket?

It is now a necessity for anything. Go to football games and sit with the rest of the students, (a separate section is allotted for general admission), go to the dances, vote for student government official (it's not enough to attend the school, you have to buy a ticket book). It won't be long until a student will have to have a ticket book to go to the rest room.

Smile students! Parking is still free; that is, if you can find a place!

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor,
The purpose of this letter is to try to give a little recognition when I feel it is due. It seems that much too often we classify an individual or a group as good or bad, and then we fail to see anything else they do. The Cerritos football team has been called "animals" and has been given the blame for everything from pile fields in the Student Center to parties at Seal Beach. How often do we pause to look at the good things they do? We've got a good team, and if the present trend continues, Cerritos could easily be a recipient of a bowl bid. The men on the squad spend many, many hours so that this may become possible and Cerritos' reputation may move another step higher. At the conclusion of every game, our team stands proudly during the Alma Mater of both schools. However, at the last two games the other team hasn't bothered to stay on the field for their own, let alone ours. The one event which prompted this letter occurred at last week's game against Merritt. As the starting line up was being introduced, before taking his place on the field, each man shared his moment of individual recognition by stopping at the sideline to shake the hand of his teammate, Jim Amadore. This small gesture made me very proud to be in the stands supporting that team. To Coach Cates, his staff, and especially to the Falcon team, I say "Thank you."

Sincerely,
Lynne Segel

New Pep Squad Members Enliven Year's Activities

New members join the veterans of the Cerritos pep squads in inspiring pep and enthusiasm at athletic events and parades.

Tim Neenan heads this year's yell squad. Neenan, John Lippert and Mike Payne are joined by coeds Carol Miller and Diane Pott in leading the yells for games and rallies.

Veteran Nancy Ciacia heads the Cerritos song leading squad. Joining her are Hillary Christian, last year's Frieda Falcon, and Marilyn Miller. Completing the group of five are graduates of La Mirada's pep squads, Sue Fournier and Cheryl Sheehan.

The Falconettes will make their season debut tomorrow morning when they march in the Norwalk Days parade. To morrow night the 24-member squad will also join the yell and song leaders in the Falcon stadium for the Cerritos-Los Angeles Valley football game.

A salute to Norwalk will be presented at a special halftime performance. Bedecked in Mexican costumes, the Falconettes will join the Cerritos Falcon Band in a modern version of "La Raspa," the Mexican hat dance.

Jackie Wells, former Falconette, leads the drill team this year. Squad members include Jeanne Abbott, Beverly Agarth, Linda Anderson, Terri Arceo, Susan Bergschneider, Mary L. Bradford, Pam Cunningham, Connie De, Sena, Mary Easterly, Linda Farmer and Chris Fuentes.

Also participating are Linda Garrison, Adeline Grajeda, Sharon Henderson, Pam Houghton, Judy Mulkey, Virginia Monaca, Susan Peet, Nancie Phillips, Pat Robledo, Janice Sager, Barbara Sayers and Shanna Sheffield.

DIANE YESSIAN, a freshman dental assistant major from Pico Rivera, is the candidate from Circle K. She is also a member of Tau Rho Beta.

FACULTY NOTES

Faculty Association To Act As Negotiating Council

By CATHY LONGAUER

During the local Faculty Association Executive Council meeting, members heard a report from President Gene Martin on the Winton Act and accounts from committees on their activities.

Martin said that he had met recently with College President Dr. Jack Mears, Assistant Superintendent and Vice President for Academic Affairs Dr. Bruce Browning, Chairman of the Faculty Senate Dr. Betty Hengsteler and Dean of Instruction Marshall Treat to discuss the implications of the act.

The group feels that the Cerritos College Faculty Association will meet the requirements of the Winton Act and can act as the negotiating council.

According to the recently passed state regulation, governing boards are required to "meet and confer" with representatives of employee organizations whenever and on whatever subject the organization or negotiation council requests.

The bill also provides for the establishment of negotiating councils in a district where there is more than one employee organization seeking to speak for the instructors.

During the meeting chairmen were appointed for various committees. They are Don Desfor, professional relations and ethics; Roy Tucker, salary; John Jackson, membership; James Dighera, social and Don Balch, public relations.

CIRCLE K OPERATES BOOTH IN "DAYS"

Circle K, the mens' service organization, is operating a food booth in the Norwalk Festival Days, which began yesterday and ends Sunday. Members are also driving the dignitaries in the Festival Days Parade.

"We hope that all Cerritos students will come out and patronize our booth," says Richard Price, publicity chairman.

LITERARY CLUB MEETS TUESDAY

The Literary Discussion Club invites all students to attend its Tuesday meeting at 11 a.m. in LA 25.

Members will discuss plays, novels, short stories and other literary types of their choice. At other meetings, the club hopes to have distinguished guests to lecture on their specialties. The group also hopes to attend live theater performances.

FRENCH CLUB TO VIEW 'TRAVELS'

"Now here's a wonderful opportunity for you who are arm chair travelers to at least visit one country this semester and not leave home," says French club member Terri Aldrich.

"You'll agree that the first country most people want to see is France, and you needn't leave any of your classes or the campus," she adds.

The French club begins its travels through France, via a colored movie by the same name, on Tuesday at 11 a.m. in LA 24.

NEW THEATRE ARTS CLUB ELECTS

The New Theatre Arts Club, first in Cerritos history, elected officers recently. Heading the organization are Larry Harper, president; Jim Reynolds, vice president; Louise Lassen, secretary; Tim Hill, treasurer and Charles Carriere, master at arms.

Projects of the special interest club include hosting the Theatre Arts Club Awards Banquet and also a one-act play festival held annually by high schools in the community. Frank Bock, theatre arts dept. chairman is the adviser.

CAMPUS CRUSADE TO ATTEND RETREAT

The Arrowhead Springs Hotel is the scene of the fall retreat for Campus Crusade members. The retreat, to be held on Oct. 15 and 16, has as its theme, "Does A New Era Demand A New Bible?"

Approximate cost for the two days is $6. Contact Paul Boatner, president; Joseph McDowell, campus supervisor for Crusade or Louis Wilson, adviser, for additional information.

The Home Ec Club installed officers at its regular meeting this Tuesday. Those leading the special interest club are Kathy Ulrich, president; Linda DuLac, vice president; Linda Rushing, secretary; Payllis Dobson, treasurer and Lorraine Wicks, historian.

Cerritos Theatre Premieres 'House on The Sand' Film

"House on the Sand" will be presented at the Burnight Center at 8 p.m. on Oct. 13. The feature movie was written and directed by Tony Zarindest, former Cerritos student. He also stars in the production.

Some of the supporting players were Cerritos students. The musical score was written by Cerritos Music Dept. chairman Jack Wheaton and is performed by the Cerritos band.

The film has been sold in Europe and the Far East. It has not been presented as yet in the United States. The first showing in this country will be at Cerritos.

The film is sponsored by the Inter Club Council and was brought here by the Dorian Society, the musical club. All profits from the showing will go to the music department.

Weather said, "The whole ICC is working on the project. I'm pleased to see it come to the campus. The music was a Cerritos project and I'm pleased with the results."

"The movie is the story of a foreign student from the Middle East. He comes to America and does not find what he expected in the golden land of opportunity."

COACHES CORNER

Smokey Cates
Terms Squad
'Best Ever'

By DENNIS CAMPBELL

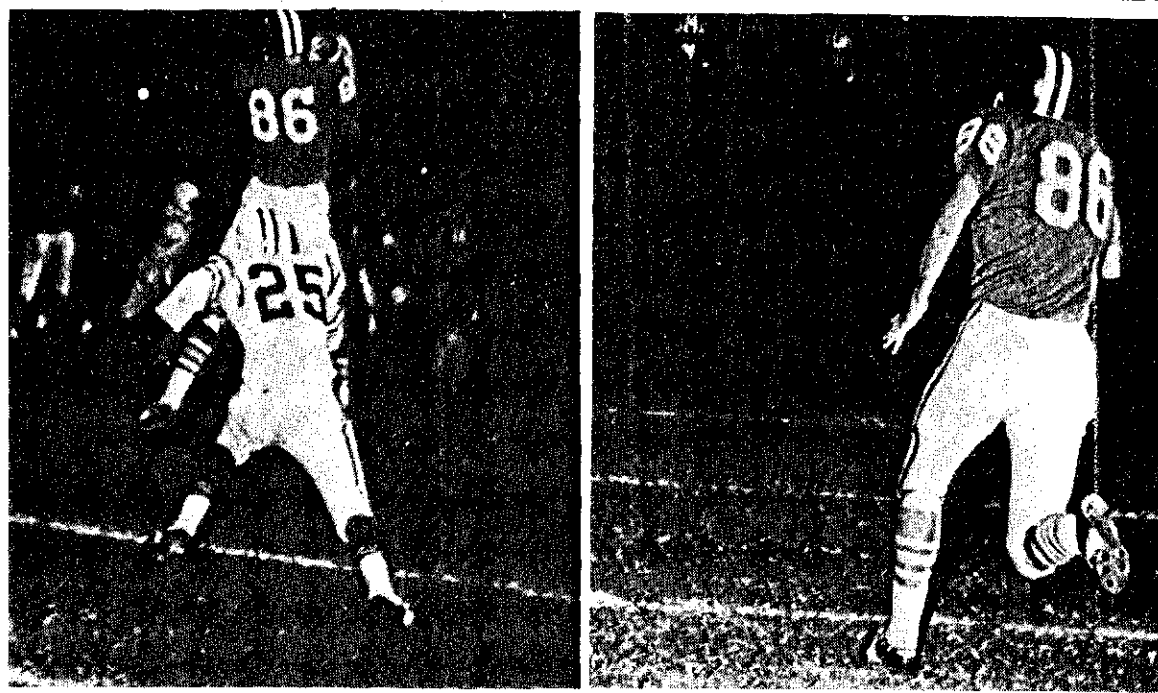

His name is Carroll "Smokey" Cates — a tough taskmaster, the head football coach at Cerritos College commands and demands respect and hard work on the field, getting both from players and coaches alike.

After a successful high school career in Texas, Cates attended Eastern New Mexico University on an athletic scholarship. Playing both end and tackle, he was honored with a berth on the All-Lone Star Conference team. Cates then spent four years learning his coaching skills as a high school mentor. At Farwell High School in Texas, his team posted a 10-9 record for two years, winning the conference championship his second year.

After two years as assistant coach of Porter High School in Texas, he was named line coach at Stockton Junior College. As head baseball coach, his team won the state championship.

Cates came to Cerritos in 1959 and was appointed head coach last season with the departure of Don Hall.

The formula for winning football, says Cates, is good players plus hard work plus pride—and he should know, as his team has posted a 3-0 mark so far this season, scoring 100 points to the opposition's 2. He feels his coaching staff is "the best I've ever been associated with. They've specialized in their particular area of football, and they're devoted to coaching." This year's team? "The best I've ever coached."

AS MERRITT DEFENDERS LOOKED ON — Bob Biggs received a Falcon pass and turned it into a touchdown as he raced 71 yards downfield. For his efforts during the game Biggs was named "Offensive Back." The Falcon offense scored a total of 33 points during the game while their defense held their opponents scoreless. The Falcons open up their league play here Saturday as they take on the L.A. Valley Monarchs.

Tankers, Harriers Upended; Begin Metro Play

The Cerritos water polo team, after losing its first two matches of the season, will open the Metropolitan Conference season with Santa Monica next Tuesday.

Coach Pat Tyne's swimmers warmed up for the occasion by co-hosting the annual Southern California Invitational tourney this past Tuesday and Wednesday with El Camino. The Cerritos tankers went into the tourney, the final results of which were not available at presstime, as the No. 1 rated team.

Long Beach Favored
Tyne said that the tournament will be a good indication of what will happen in conference action, and also at the junior college finals later on in the year. He added that Long Beach CC is the team to watch in both races.

The Vikings have four players returning from their 1962 state championship squad and after sitting out a year, are rated as favorites to cop the tourney title.

Last weekend Cerritos lost the first games of the season to USC and UCLA, 9-7 and 13-3.

The host Falcons had a balanced attack as they gave the Trojans a good fight before bowing to the more experienced opponent. Seven players lobbed the ball into the Troy goal.

'Bubbles Popped'
The UCLA contest was a different story. "I was happy after the SC contest," commented Tyne, "but then the bubbles popped." Under the direction of former coach Bob Horn, the Bruins notched their fourth straight win over Cerritos with little difficulty. Jerry Rey and Eric Nielsen accounted for the Falcon scoring, with Rey hitting twice.

Running against some of the top track stars in the state last Thursday, the Falcon cross-country team went down to its predicted defeat to the 49'er track club by an 18-45 score. Jack Rose, head track coach at Long Beach State and assistant 49'er coach, stated earlier that "we feel that we have the best club in Southern California." Since the club is composed of former college stars, Falcon coach Dave Kamanski wasn't too upset over the loss.

Today the harriers run against El Camino and East L.A. at Cal State at Long Beach. El Camino is rated by Kamanski as the "top team" in the conference, and considers this to be a "must" meet for his squad.

Until this week Cerritos had been given a good chance to take the conference championship. However, the team was weakened by the loss of second man Mike Seamans, who quit the team for personal reasons. Seamans, who was the fastest prep runner in the state while at Bellflower High, quit Wednesday.

'TM' Advisor Dowden Grabs Poll Lead

Talon Marks Advisor John Dowden moved out ahead of the pack last week in the prediction race with a 11-12 record. Dowden leads over Dean of Men Richard Robinson and Football Assistant Ken Gregory by two full games.

Robinson and Gregory fell off the pace with identical 8-4-2 slates, but remain tied in second place.

The games of the week were the Long Beach City-Santa Ana and the Purdue-SMU battles.

Both Long Beach and Purdue were rated nationally in the No. 1 position and both tied. The Vikings tied 6-6 while the Boilermakers were equaled by SMU, 14-14.

"TM" Sports Editor Dave

Rausch and Sportswriter Dave Brockmann both had 50-50 weeks at 9-3-2 leaving Brockmann just one game behind Rausch in fourth place.

D. J. Lacey, just plain guessing, remained in the cellar with an 8-4-2 mark.

Falcons, Monarchs
Square Off in Opener

Fresh off a 26-6 shellacking of L.A. Pierce, Coach George Goff's Valley Monarchs pose the biggest problem yet to face Smoked Cates nationally ranked Falcons. The two undefeated teams will battle tomorrow evening at Falcon Stadium opening the 1965 Metropolitan season.

In the three preseason clashes for the Monarchs, the Valley crew has shown a "deadly" offense attack. Not only do the Monarchs like to run the ball but they also possess an outstanding aerial show.

Monarchs Unbeaten

Valley opened the season against San Bernardino, 18-0, then faced San Francisco City, 26-0, and last week upended Pierce. Cerritos has faced two of Valley's opponents in preseason "controlled" scrimmages, making a good showing against each.

The Monarch attack will be centered around All-American wingback Terrel Ray, who grabbed 23 passes for nine touchdowns in 1964. Last week against Pierce, Ray caught four passes for 114 yards. One aerial went 37 yards for a TD. Ray has been clocked 9.7 in the 100-yard dash and 21.7 in the 220.

Star QB Lost

Probably the biggest loss to the Valley line-up will be quarterback Dudley Schusterick. The talented Schusterick passed for 1750 yards and 16 touchdowns last year, breaking all of the Monarch individual offensive school records. This year Mike Rhodes, All-City selection from Reseda, has taken over the reins and looks potentially outstanding. He fired two six-point plays against Pierce. None of the three past opponents the Falcons have faced have had an adequate signal-caller.

GRID HONORS

Gary Bernstein, 3-10, 185 lbs. proved to be one of the biggest men in the defensive secondary against Merritt by intercepting one Thunderbird aerial and was in on many other Merritt stops.

On the strength of his defense and punting (for an average of 37.8), Bernstein was chosen "Defensive Back" by the Cerritos Bench Club.

Bob Biggs, left end, scoring on a 71-yard pass play and being influential in the Falcon running attack, was named "Offensive Back."

The Monarchs boast an excellent defensive team with a special emphasis on passing. Last year Valley gave up a season total of 1481 yards while gaining 2101 of their own.

Valley's highlight of last season was the 7-6 upset they handed the second ranked Falcons in the Metro opener. Schusterick came through and hit on a clutch pass to Jim Stewart with only four minutes remaining in the contest. The play covered 22 yards.

This year things will be somewhat to the advantage of Cerritos. Playing at home and having a defense which has not given up a single point to an opponent should awaken the oddsmakers.
