Drama Classes

Set Up Plays

Theatre Arts Instructors Frank Bock and Lee Korf are now organizing the Theatre Workshops classes into producing companies for the presentation of two Spring Plays, "Desk Set" by William Marchant and "The Death of Satan" by Ronald Duncan.

Any ASCC member is offered a unique opportunity to become part of the theatre companies in any acting or technical capacity by tryout and/or enrolling in either of the Theatre Workshops. "Desk Set" company meets every Monday and Wednesday 1-3 p.m. and "The Death of Satan" Company meets every Tuesday and Thursday evening 7-9 p.m.

Since two units of credit are given those enrolled in the workshops, most participants register for the course and thereby gain units while taking part in the play productions. Today is the last day to register for these courses, so students interested in being part of the Spring Plays are urged to visit the counseling office today.

College Will Hold

Income Tax Workshop

Cerritos College will present a five series class on income tax assistance in cooperation with the U.S. Small Business Administration and the Internal Revenue Service.

The series of workshops, to be held on consecutive Wednesday evenings through March 13, is designed to help the individual taxpayer complete state and federal income tax returns.

The sessions will explain the latest techniques in completing the forms, the difference between the State and Federal returns; declarable and non-declarable income; personal deductions; arriving at adjusted gross and several other vital problems and uses of supplemental forms.

News Briefs

A REPRESENTATIVE from the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies will be at the Student Center from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Feb. 13. Students interested in talking with Russell Bisnett or in obtaining literature from the institute are invited to contact him at that time.

DR. ROBERT E. O'BRIEN, Coordinator of Institutional Relations at Cal State L.A., and Dr. Hugh Kennedy, Asst. to the Dean of Academic Planning, will be in the Counseling Office on Feb. 13 from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. Students interested should call the Information Desk in the Counseling Office for an appointment.

THE FOURTH ANNUAL Cerritos District Golf Tournament is scheduled for Thursday, Feb. 22, at the Montebello Country Club. The tourney is open to both men and women school district personnel within the district. Further information is available from Don Hail, Athletic Director.

CRA'S ALL COLLEGE Employees Table Tennis Tournament is set for Feb. 17 from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Interested parties should contact High Wilkoff in the Counseling Office or the Physical Education Office.

IN THE CLOUDS—The newly erected Falcon statue strikes an impressive figure against the clouds. Several of the college's dignitaries were on hand for Tuesday's dedication, including President Jack Mears and ASCC President Eric von Hurst.

Cerritos Honors Outstanding Students, Leaders, Organizations

The Associated Students honored their outstanding members at the Annual Awards Banquet in the Student Center Friday, Jan. 19.

Highlighting the evening, of course, was the presentation of Gold and Silver Falcons for outstanding service to the school. As usual, there were few freshmen who qualified for the awards in their first semester, but the sophomore candidates nearly made up for the slack. A total of 24 sophomores were honored, although 20 is usually considered the maximum, and seven freshmen received Silver Falcons.

Freshmen honored were Georgia Ridenour, Senate and Sinawik; Mary Kincaid, Senate and Sinawik; Collen Brunetti, Sinawik and homecoming; Donna Small, Delta Phi Omega and AWS; Steve Alvis, Senate and Circle X; Dan Bisher, Talon Marks and Senate; and Pat Schwerdtfeger, forensics and Senate.

Sophomores receiving awards were Kathy Bishop, Talon Marks and Beta Phi Gamma; Sue Buckley, AWS and Art Club; Pat Frederick, Cabinet, ASCC vice president, and Senate; Pat

Graef, Phi Kappa Zeta and AWS; Genie Johnson, Inter-Club Council and Special Interest Board; Cindy Owens, AWS and Delta Phi Omega; Maureen Oyama, Cabinet clerk and Alpha Gamma Sigma; Ruth Ritchie, AWS and Delta Phi Omega; Linda Reuhlman, Chief Justice and forensics; Margaret Saito, AWS and Leroy's project; Jeannette Skinner, Sinawik president and Leroy's project; and Vickie Valdez, Cabinet, AWS, and Phi Zappa Zeta.

Men sophomores honored were Monte Gualtiere, Cabinet, Falcon Statue, and Bar-b-que; Eric von Hurst, ASCC President and Edelweiss; Mary Sturdivant, Leroy's and Harlem Clowns; Dan Armstrong, Talon Mark and Circle K; Larry Wolf, Talon Marks and Court; Dennis Stutzman, Senate, Bar-b-que and Falcon Statue; Ruben Guerrero, Senate and Inter Club Council; Bob Perry, Senate and Dorians; Bill Valle, Alpha Gamma Sigma and College Bowl program; Jim Bollenbacher, Sigma Phi and yell leader; and Andy Bergen, Talon Marks and Vets Club. All of the award winners were also involved in several other organizations and project on campus. To be eligible for the Falcon award, a student must receive nominations from at least two different activities.

The evening dinner was held in the Student Center, with Bobbi Fuentes, commissioner of convocations and program serving as mistress of ceremonies.

Falconette awards were presented by advisor Joan Schulz to Sue Wells, outstanding Falconette; Miss Wells and Linda Palicz, inspirational Falconette; Shirley Topango, most improved sophomore; and Barbara Mullins and Kathy Ronstadt for most improved freshman.

The Talon Marks awards, presented by advisor Phillip Forthun went to editor Dan Armstrong.

Administrative Assistants Scott, Marshall Join Staff

Arthur Marshall and Don Scott, a New Yorker and a mid-westerner respectively, have moved into the old senate room in the Student Affairs office. The two young gentlemen, who easily disguise themselves as students, are in reality administrative assistants.

Arthur Marshall, who was born and raised in Long Island, New York, completed undergraduate studies at Muskingum, near Columbus, Ohio. His alma mater, boasts two famous men, John Glenn, the astronaut; and William R. Harper, the man who established the junior college system.

Hofstra University, Long Island, and Columbia University hosted Marshall during his graduate work. One year the administrator studied with the Broadway Theatre Actor's Guild. His first love is the theater, and he proved it by directing community theater in New York and by acting in summer stock.

Marshall taught English and dramatics to high school and college students before coming west. Presently, he is studying at Cal State Los Angeles under a scholarship, and as a result, is serving an administrative internship as part of his education.

Besides the theater, Marshall enjoys: water and snow skiing, tennis and the rigors of travel. Presently, he is undecided about returning to New York. It seems California has had its effect on him; he is still waiting for winter.

Cerritos obtained Marshall on leave from the Long Island School System. When questioned as to what impressed him most in California, he replied, "San Francisco."

Traveling all over the world: Europe, Spain, Greece, the Scandinavian countries, Mexico, Canada, Portugal and New Foundland, he found San Francisco to be the most interesting. The climate around the Bay Area entices the bachelor to make his home in the central part of the state.

Marshall's regular office hours are all day Wednesday and Thursday. His immediate goal is a master's degree in student personnel services and counseling in a junior college. Next semester, his duties will include the goals of his new degree.

Don Scott, the mid-westerner, received his primary degree from Otterbein College, Westerville, Ohio. He noted jokingly that Westerville is the original home of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. His majors were English and education.

Scott stated his hobbies as being: football, folk music, car and motorcycle racing, handball, and snow skiing. He has also skin dived and sky dived.

After graduation from Otterbein, Scott worked for a year at his alma mater as a counselor. He has yet to obtain a master's degree, although his work at Cerritos is directly related to that endeavor.

Registration Hassle

This first edition of Talon Marks hopefully finds all our readers situated comfortably in their classes for the Spring semester.

We say hopefully because after the hassle at registration these past few weeks, nobody is certain whether they are enrolled or not. And it is doubtful the instructors even know which particular classes they will be teaching until this week.

We are not yet quite certain as to what is the greatest deficiency in the registration process—finding that open classes are really closed or discovering on Monday morning that your 8 a.m. anthro class has been scratched.

In spite of publicized improvements on behalf of the Admissions Office and the Counseling Office for registration procedures, conditions at registration have become steadily worse each semester.

Why do they list classes in the Class Schedule if they have no intention of offering them? Isn't that advertising under false pretenses?

It would seem to us that registration would go much quicker if students shouldn't be made to double back in line two or even three times to find a class which actually is being offered—and these are hard to find.

Classes which are on "indefinite hold" should be omitted entirely from the Class Schedule. If these classes are in fact to be offered later on, then simply write these on the blackboard. There doesn't seem to be anything wrong with this procedure.

With all the accumulation of knowledge and Master's Degrees in Counseling and Admissions, surely someone can come up with a foolproof plan for expediting registration procedures. How about it men?

Is It Fair?

By ROCKY DIAZ

I suppose that since this is the first column I've written in over a semester a great many people might be unfamiliar with the subject matter and quality of my weekly miniature masterpieces.

There is a possibility that this might possibly work to my advantage. I've been told that while my columns are occasionally of some interest, they are almost never of any literary value.

My ex-speech teacher, once told me that it was imperative to gain the good will of one's audience. Lately I've begun to question his logic.

Since I've been acquainted with Cerritos College I have come in contact with a great many undesirable individuals. People who would rather subjugate their ideals rather than face the possibility of non-importance.

Several people have asked what is the matter with our school and our student body. I have read apathy ridden editorials on student involvement in campus dealings. One year ago this campus was teeming vicious people. It still is.

One year ago, people were saying that student government was ineffective and the only way to improve it was to undermine it. A great many of these people have left, a great many more have just arrived. It seems to me that one of the great failings of our so-called student leaders is their inability to realize that Cerritos is a two-year institution and not the entire world.

I know that some people can have classes opened up to them while some of my friends have had their classes cancelled and have fallen prey to the draft. I personally cannot complain, I usually receive only the best of care. I even have my own parking permit. I'm slightly disillusioned, I still wonder why some of my friends want to be "important".

But by far the most disgusting of all these people are the ones who seek personal gain by playing up to the powers that be. I'm talking about the people whose only motivation for involvement in student affairs is the "Gold Falcon". Every person who has ever won a gold or a silver falcon has done the school a great deal of service. However, because of the difficulty involved in selecting the most worthy, a small percentage of the winners are people, who seek the award solely to have it garner a portion of their transcript. I have neither respect nor malice towards any of these people. Only pity.

I have seen this institution alter the personality of many people, myself included. I have seen energetic young men and women transformed into apathetic creatures. Cerritos is a place of learning — my only regret is that so much of the wrong kind of learning is made available.

I have come in contact with people who enjoy hurting others. I have learned that it is no longer desirable to openly speak the truth. I have learned that station in life, even in college, is the only measure of a man's worth. I have also learned that to smile is to be distrusted and to laugh is to be destined.

As of today I am a member of the cabinet. I am designated with the title, "Party Whip". I know the right people and I know the good people. I know some of the "ins" and I know a few of the "outs."

Awards . . .

Beta, Phi Kappa Zeta, Sigma Phi, Phi Beta Lambda, Kappa Theta Phi, Newman Club, and Delta Chi Omega.

Leroy's award, presented by Jeannette Skinner, were given to Dan Armstrong, Dan Bisher, Sinavik, Circle K, Phi Kappa Zeta, Phi Beta Lambda, AWS, and Vets Club.

Monte Gualtiere presented special awards to the Cerritos "Bird Men", Don Hall, Don Siriani, Richard Robinson, Oscar Hart, and Mel Wood for their help on the school monument.

Cosmetology awards were presented to Charlotte Borrego, Janis Wainwright, Carol Knaus, Peggy DeShirley, Susan Pederson, and Mary Ellen Rosa.

Service certificates were awarded to 159 students and faculty members who contributed to ASCC programs during the fall semester.

Special project recognition awards, known as Freddy Falcon Feathers were presented to 131 students, clubs, and organizations.

Alpha Gamma Sigma Expresses Pride In Semester's Projects

(Editor's note: This is the first of a series to appear in each week's Talon Marks giving a brief outline of some of the major clubs on campus. This week, TM is highlighting the campus honor society, Alpha Gamma Sigma.)

Through the leadership of one individual, the campus honor society, Alpha Gamma Sigma, has grown into one of the largest and most active organizations on campus.

When Bill Valle took over the helm of the club a scant semester ago, there were 122 members. The club's roster now holds 260. Where the club was once inactive and seldom heard of, it now makes its presence known almost weekly through some campus-improving activity.

Alpha Gamma Sigma is not the run-of-the-mill organization on campus. It is neither a social organization, although its members enjoy the benefits of frequent social activities, nor a service club, even though AGS has made heavy contributions to the campus this year. The purpose of the club, according to Valle, is to "recognize and promote scholarship through the raising of standards and programs designed to stimulate mental exercise and tickle the funny bone."

As the only honorary organization on campus, Alpha Gamma Sigma is proud of the fact that it is the only club whose membership is noted on transcripts. At the present time only AGS membership, student government officers, and Gold and Silver Falcons receive notation on these transcripts.

Membership in the society can be gained only through rigid standards of scholarship. For a student carrying 12 units or less, excluding physical education, 42 grade points must be earned, the equivalent of a 3.5 grade point average. Students carrying more than 14 units must maintain the equivalent of a 3.0 average, again excluding physical education.

Letters to those who qualify for membership in the organization will soon be in the mail and should be received by the end of this month.

Valle urges all students who feel they qualify but do not receive a letter to contact him as soon as possible. Dues are just a dollar.

Only through membership can an outstanding student receive the credit due him, reminds Valle. After the slight dues are paid, a student is a member in good standing, eligible to purchase a club pin, get credit on his transcript, and take part in club functions, including the state conference in March at Conte Corona.

During the past semester, Valle points with pride to the accomplishments of the club. Number one on the list of projects was the establishment of the College Bowl.

The program, originally a part of AGS, is now on its own, serving the Student Body at large. Team members have already entered competition with an impressive victory over previously undefeated Mt. Sac. Another engagement is planned with Barstow, and a return meeting with the faculty.

Much of the first semester was also devoted to the successful Southern Regional AGS conference held on the Cerritos campus. Over 20 junior college from all over Southern California were in attendance, recommending legislation for the coming State conference. Valle obtained several well-known educators to come to the confab to speak on the pros and cons of the pass-fail system during the lunch hour.

The club once again expanded its tutorial program to aid students seeking help in any class. The program is still growing, and more information will appear on the subject in another issue of Talon Marks.

GUIDING FORCE—Alpha Gamma Sigma president Bill Valle has guided the Honorary Society through its most profitable semester, in which it nearly doubled its membership. Among the Club's achievements were the instigation of the College Bowl on campus, a tutorial program, and the Southern California conference. (Photo by Dave Hart)

By STEVE ALVIS

Greetings and salutations of U.S. day. Lately, I've heard that Atlantis will rise in the next two years that Red China is due for a Christian revolution; that the Soviet Union will become a democracy and our greatest ally in international affairs; that Los Angeles and San Francisco will be destroyed by an earthquake, and Manhattan soon thereafter; that by 1998 most of Japan will have slid into the seas; Northern Europe will be in ruins and Georgia will be under water.

By the year 200 the rotational axis of the earth will have tilted, bringing a drastic change in climatic conditions and melting the ice caps. Eventually, there will be a new sea where the Great Plains used to be.

If this all seems impossible, it is because anyone who penetrates the impregnable future is highly suspect of charlatanism. The man who did make these predictions was Edgar Cayce (pronounced like kasy). He was a clairvoyant and has been dead for 20 years. His highly publicized life revolved around the clairvoyant diagnosis of disease and offering very successful cures. Among his other predictions were the exact dates of both World Wars, the depression, and the discovery of the laser.

In the light of Cayce's forecasts, it's interesting to note that recently a geological team researching in the Sea of Bimini discovered a carved marble pillar on the bottom and also found that about 100 square miles of the sea floor was rising steadily and will surface by 1968. D. E. Hudson the earthquake expert at Cal Tech states that 17 million people in California are living on or near a potential earthquake in the countenance of the San Andreas Fault, the largest in the world.

But Cayce's final vindicator will be time itself, because it seems prophecies are always ignored by the masses, even though they cry for foresight.

Grapplers Remain Undefeated; Face El Camino Tomorrow Night For Conference Championship

Falcon wrestlers continued to dominate all opposition as Cerritos swept to four more victories over the semester break. Since our last issue, Cerritos has defeated Fullerton 30-9, opened the conference season with a smashing 53-0 victory over Valley, overwhelmed Santa Monica 45-5, and rolled over Bakersfield 24-13. Undefeated through 11 matches thus far this season, the Falcons continue to perch atop the state JC ratings.

Automatically spotting Cerritos 15 points by virtue of forfeits in 3 weights, Fullerton's Hornets were practically defeated before the matches started. Ron McCormick, Ron Kenworthy, Gene Bernard and Gary Maioli won decisions while Dan Bright, Dave Raptis and John Norfleet won by forfeits. Bright spots for Cerritos were the outstanding performances by Jarrett Williams (137-lb.) and Chester Boser (Hvy) in their initial outings for the Falcons this year. Williams lost a close 4-3 decision to the Hornet's Ken Yoshiokawa while Boser decided Rick Cleary, 5-4.

Valley never got out of the valley the following afternoon, Saturday, as the Falcons mashed the Monarch matmen 53-0. Valley started the day by forfeiting the 115-lb weight and went steadily downhill from there. Valley's best performance was provided by heavyweight John Glenn as he lost a 3-0 decision to Falcon heavyweight Bill Struve. All other matches were either forfeited to Cerritos or won by pins.

Last Thursday the Santa Monica Corsairs visited Cerritos and managed to hold on for a 45-5 defeat. The Corsairs got off on the right foot by defeating Dan Bright in the 115-lb weight, and jumped into a 3-0 lead. However, their point total remained at 3 until Dennis Pierce added their final 2 points by battling to a draw with Bill Henderson in the 167-pound match. Dave Raptis, Tony Searing, Frank Kuhn, Ron Kenworthy, John Hall, Gary Maioli and Gene Bernard all scored falls while Bill Struve won by forfeit.

The stage had thus been set for the Falcons to travel to Renegade country on Saturday. Bakersfield, along with El Camino, was considered the strongest opposition for Cerritos in Metro Conference action this year, and almost exceeded these predictions. Renegade Herb Cosme started things by defeating 115-lb Dan Bright of Cerritos. Following in the same style, Carl Herrera put Bakersfield in front, 6-0, with a decision over Dave Raptis. However, Tony Searing opened the Falcon scoring by wrestling to a 13-0 decision over Rufus Morris in the 130-pound weight, and Frank Kuhn tied the score at 6-6 with

Hoopsters Hope For Revenge Before Expected Full House

By MIKE BOWER
Sports Editor

The Cerritos Falcon basketball team will take the floor at 8:00 p.m. tonight in hopes of avenging their only conference defeat thus far.

Coach Jim Killingsworth's hoopsters hosts the Vikings of Long Beach

In an affair that should draw a sell-out crowd and produce the Metropolitan Conference hopeful in this year's State Tournament.

The Vikes, under the coaching of Chuck Kane, took an 89-87 decision from the Falcons in their first meeting, a contest that was marred by a disputed illegal jersey call.

The Falcons protested the call to the Metropolitan Conference office, on the grounds that the ruling was incorrect.

The call involved Cerritos forward Jim Lefler who wears number 3 on the road. LBCC coach Chuck Kane complained that the jersey number was illegal, and the officials ruled it so and called a technical foul on Cerritos.

A later look at the rule book, revealed the call was incorrect. Falcon coach Killingsworth asked for the score to be rectified, but the officials would not do it.

Killingsworth attributes this glaring error and the injustice in officiating as the cause for his Falcons' loss of composure.

Whether or not the protest is upheld, tonight's contest will hold added meaning to both Long Beach and Cerritos fans.

The Falcons are leading the conference with a 8-1 mark. The Vikings are in the second spot with a 7-2 record. The outcome of tonight's game will have a great effect on the final conference standings.

A win for the Falcons would almost assure them of at least a tie for the conference crown barring a sudden reversal of form.

Killingsworth's cagers have had a busy "vacation" during the so-called "Dead Weeks" this past month. The high flying birds were not dead as they edged Santa Monica and Sidney Wicks (league's leading scorer with a 26 pt average) 68-63 and trounced mighty Bakersfield 81-61.

The massacre of the Bakersfield Renegades was nothing compared to what the Falcon hoopsters did to the Warriors of El Camino last weekend in the Cerritos gym.

Cerritos nearly re-wrote its record book with new single-game records as they smashed the Warriors 139-90.

Four records were obliterated in the swift contest, and seven Falcons were in double figures in racking up the record breaking 139 points (old record 112).

Other records broken were the widest point margin of victory (49, old record 43). Most points scored by both teams (229, old record 189). Most field goals scored (38, old record 44.)

Hustling guard Lee Mansell broke the one season assist mark of 136 in the Falcons following game versus East LA, as the Cerritos five coasted to a 97-81 victory.

Leading the Falcon scoring attack in the affairs were Tony Rodriguez with 22 and Paul Rufner with 20.

East LA took an early lead at the outset of the game, but foul trouble plagued the hosting Huskies. Six of the East LA hoopsters fouled out including all five of their starters.

The free throw was an important factor in the game as the visiting Falcons collected 37 of 53 free tosses and cashed in on the Huskies' foul trouble.

Killingsworth's cagers needed the charity tosses, however, as East LA out shot them 35 to 30 from the floor and turned a hopefully easy win for the Falcons into a tough game.

Plumb Resigns Post; Moves On To TCU

Thomas (Ted) Plumb, assistant football coach at Cerritos for the past two years has resigned his post as Smokey Cales' aide to take on the duties as assistant offensive coach at Texas Christian University.

Plumb will be the first non-TCU grad to be hired by the University in four years, when he replaces John Harvelle as assistant for Fred Taylor's Horned Frogs.

During his two year tenure at Cerritos, Plumb served in the Physical Education department as well as working with the Falcon receivers on the gridiron.

A former professional player, Plumb played end for the Buffalo Bills of the American football league in 1962 until an injury cut short his grid career. He then turned to coaching at Raymondville High, and Lubbock High in Texas.

Cerritos Director of Athletics Don Hall commented on Plumb's departure with mixed emotions. "In his two years at Cerritos, Coach Plumb was a very effective offensive coach. We were fortunate to have an individual of his calibre, and while we're sorry to see him go, we are very happy with his advancement at TCU."

Attention Students

All Cerritos College students are encouraged to come early and be assured of choice seats for the big Cerritos College-Long Beach City College basketball game in the Falcon gym tonight. There is a rumor that the Viking rooters plan to come early and attempt to take over the gym. To foil this attempt, please plan on coming early and bring a friend.

Ron Yary Chosen First In Pro Draft

Former Cerritos grid star and member of the 1967 University of Southern California National Champs, Ron Yary, was honored as being the first selection in the recent professional football draft.

Yary, a mainstay at right tackle for Coach John McKay's number one ranked Trojans, was the recipient of the Outland Trophy as the nation's top lineman.

Hailing from Bellflower, Ron entered Cerritos in 1964 after starring for the Bellflower Bucs at fullback. In his freshman year, the massive lineman was accorded All-America honors as well as being named All-Metro and winning Most Valuable Lineman for the 1964 squad.

Ron transferred to USC for his sophomore year and played defense for the Trojan grid squad that season. The following season he made the switch to offensive tackle when the need for a strong offensive line became evident, to John McKay, and went on to win five All-America first team berths, a second team, and three All-Coast awards.

This season he again was a stand-out and was everybody's All-American. Ron was drafted by the Minnesota Vikings of the NFL, heading the list of Trojan seniors selected in the draft.

Gym Play Cancelled

Gymnasium free play at Cerritos College, which was announced earlier this week, has been cancelled according to Don Hall, Director of Athletics and Recreation.

Increased enrollment in courses has caused the opening of two new sessions: Badminton on Tuesdays from 7 to 9 p.m. and Volleyball on Thursdays from 7 to 9 p.m. These classes will be held in the college gymnasium and therefore the facilities will not be available for the in-service recreation free play as earlier announced.

The remainder of the spring recreation schedule, which includes weight training, tennis and handball, will continue as scheduled.
