

Students vs Faculty In Battle of Brains

Tuesday at 11 a.m. in the quad, the Cerritos College Bowl team will face the Faculty All-Stars in a contest to determine the championship of the Cerritos campus.

The present student team is made up of captain Richard Locicero, Stan Noteboom, Bob Frisbee, Marc Stirdi-vant, and alternate Bruce Brown.

The squad is currently undefeated meeting Mt. San Antonio in a pair of contests. In the first encounter, Mt. Sac was dealt its first loss on a come-from-behind effort by the Falcons. In their second meeting at Mt. Sac, however, Cerritos soundly thumped the home squad, 540-210. The victory gave the Falcons the Southern California championship.

The faculty stars are captained by Dr. Henry Childs, with other team members Richard Robinson, Wendell Hanks, and Ron Tabor.

In an earlier contest between the students and faculty, the instructors trampled the student squad. That contest was just for fun, but the students, however, to instill interest in the then-young program. The new student team has vowed to avenge that loss, and erase the only blemish on their record.

The squad is still looking for prospective members according to sponsor Russell Storkan. A tournament in Barstow is scheduled for next month, and Cerritos plans to send two teams.

The contests are patterned after the program on national television, with two teams battling for bonus questions by means of toss-ups. The team answering the 10-point toss-up is entitled to the 20-30 point bonus question.

Students interested in trying out for the Cerritos squad should see Storkan as soon as possible.

Hell Is Heaven To "Satan" Cast

By RICHARD FRENCH
Staff Writer

Do you like to sin? If so, then you should make plans to see "The Death of Satan," the first production of the spring semester, which will be presented April 23-27 at 8:00 p.m. each evening in the Burnight Center Theater.

"Death" is a satirical comedy which finds George Bernard Shaw, Lord Byron, and Oscar Wilde, among others, enjoying being in Hell, much to the pain and discomfort of the Devil. In fact, what they do to him is really a sin. To top it off, a Bishop enters Hell and thinks he is in Heaven. Needless to say, this infuriates poor Satan, and his only consolation is that Don Juan is miserable in Hell because he longs for his beloved Donna Ana. Exasperated at the calmness of his guests, the Devil arranges to return Don Juan and his faithful servant Catalina to earth in order that he may reunite with his lover.

Returning to earth, Don Juan is really in for a surprise as he checks into a modern hotel built on the site of his ancestral home. It seems there is as much, if not more, sin and disregard for moral value on earth as there is in Hell. And we are all a part of it. It's fun, isn't it? Well, isn't it? Korf has announced the following cast changes: Mary Ann Monroe will now portray Lady Moreton, and Sally Honarvar is now playing Henrietta. The Receptionist is now portrayed by Donna Brass, Larry Hedman plays Waiter #1, Wendy Beck plays Guest #1, and Dan Young will now play Guest #2.

Tickets are $1.00 for General Admission, and 50c for students with ASCC cards.

"The Death of Satan" promises to provide a very entertaining evening so, if you like sin, plan to attend. Tickets are now on sale in the Student Center Ticket Booth.

Cerritos Vocalists Take First Place In Intercollegiate Festival

Weeks of preparation and anticipation ended last weekend for scores of Cerritos students and faculty when the second annual Cerritos Jazz Festival came to close.

Climaxing the festival was the gala Saturday evening finals, at which the top contenders in each category competed for the chance to compete in the National Finals in St. Louis. The Saturday competition was followed by a performance by the Steve Bohannon Trio and the presentation of awards.

Montebello High School was the winner in the high school competition, with Long Beach Polytechnic High School second and Burbank High School third.

The Cerritos Vocal Group, under the direction of Paul Walberg, took top honors in the vocal division. Members of the group are Caryl Sirrine, Sally Stone, Phyllis Van Buskirk, Carol Holbrook, Tom Roberson, Bob Sandstrom, John Thompson, and Mark Groher.

Combo competition was won for the second consecutive year by the combo from San Francisco State College. Second place honors went to the San Fernando State Combo with the Cerritos Combo placing third.

In the community college division, the Cerritos Night Stage Band attained third place with Los Angeles City College second and Los Angeles Valley College in the first division.

San Jose State received the first place award in the college and university level competition, finishing ahead of San Fernando State Stage Band and the San Diego State Stage Band.

In the overall band competition, Los Angeles Valley College placed first, San Jose State was second and Los Angeles City was third.

The groups that will compete in the Nationals at St. Louis in June will be the Cerritos Vocal Group, the San Francisco State Combo, and the Los Angeles Valley College Stage Band.

The award for outstanding original composition and arrangement went to Jack Jackson of the Los Angeles Valley College Stage Band for his composition, "The Antichrist." Gene Duke, pianist in the San Francisco State Combo, was selected best soloist.

Judging the competition were Shelly Manne, Gerald Wilson, Johnny Keating, Lenny Niehaus, Don Rader, Willie Maiden and Dr. Herb Patno. Shelly Manne also filled in as master of ceremonies, replacing Johnny Mann who was forced to cancel due to taping obligations in New York.

The evening's festivities, which were presided over by Jazz Queen Pat Perry and princesses Nancy Heaton and Colleen Brunetti, began at 6:15 p.m. with a banquet. The public was invited and a capacity house listened to speaker Shelly Manne.

FIRST PLACE — The Cerritos vocal group, under the direction of Paul Walberg, took top honors in their division in last weekend's Intercollegiate Jazz Festival. Members of the group are Caryl Sirrine, Sally Stone, Phyllis Van Buskirk, Carol Holbrook, Tom Roberson, Bob Sandstrom, John Thompson, and Mark Groher.

Democrat Club Set To Organize

"As the political season shifts into high gear, a number of students have indicated an interest in re-activating the Cerritos College Young Democrats' Club," claims Howard Tazlitz. "All that is needed in order to have a going organization is 10 students and one faculty advisor."

Tazlitz, Chairman of the Social Science Division has volunteered to advise the "Young Democrats" and has called a meeting at 11 a.m. in room 313 of the Social Science Building on April 2. Both students and faculty are welcomed, according to Tazlitz.

Although this first meeting is to be an organizational one, Tazlitz expressed the hope that the interested students will not only indicate a presidential preference but shall also be willing to carry their candidates' cause to the community.

Tazlitz stated "This election appears to be one of the most important in our recent history and young people are playing a significant role at this stage. The stake our student body has in its outcome is no less relevant than the stake of the older generation. Our students often complain that they are victims of a world they never made, but the events of 1968 may give them more of a voice in the future of this world. I do not believe that the students of Cerritos will refuse to accept this challenge to the young people of America."

Sophomores Must File A Petition To Graduate

Today is the final day for students to file petitions to graduate from Cerritos in June.

Petitions must also be filed by those students who will be eligible for graduation upon completion of six or less units taken during the summer session. Students who will have completed graduation requirements by February may also participate in commencement exercises in June if a petition is filed.

Petitions may be picked up in either the Office of Student Affairs or in the Counseling Office.

Cerritos Students Appear In Musical

Appearing in the forthcoming full-scale production of the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, The King and I, are three Cerritos College music students, Deborah Hackett, Karen Hazlett, and Cherie Higgins.

Miss Hazlett plays Tuptim, the romantic ingenue in the exotic musical story while Miss Hazlett appears as a Royal Wife of the King of Siam.

Six Cerritos Metallurgy Majors Receive Awards From A.S.M.

Six Cerritos Metallurgy students received awards last night at the American Society for Metals (A.S.M.) "Student Night" meeting conducted at the Roger Young Auditorium in Los Angeles.

The students were recognized for their entries in the sixth Annual Student Metallurgical Competition, which was sponsored by the Los Angeles Chapter of the A.S.M.

Competition was held in conjunction with the Western Metal and Tool Exposition and Conference, which was conducted at the Great Western Exhibit Center and the Biltmore Hotel March 11 thru March 14.

The show annually draws more than 25,000 persons through its doors in the short four day period.

Each contestant submitted a photomicrograph done by himself at the school he represents. The entries were then judged by the current and two former presidents of the American Society for Metals. The winners were notified and attended the special awards banquet held in Los Angeles.

This year Cerritos College placed four students among the top six money winning spots, missing only second and sixth place. Two other Cerritos students were among those winning honorable mentions. They are First place Dave Robertson, Third place Joseph Twombly, Fourth place Paul Quintana, Fifth place Javier Sanchez, and Honorable Mentions, Aloyzas Grigaliunas and John Biagetti.

Students are instructed by Dr. Jack Medoff, Chairman of the Metallurgy Department, who is assisted by a former Cerritos student, Dan Medellin.

Dr. Medoff came to Cerritos two years ago from North American Aviation. In 1962, a photomicrograph of some of the results of his research on Electron Beam Activation conducted at the Autotronics Division Research Center won high acclaim at the National Metal Congress. He was awarded the Grand Prize and his work has appeared on many covers of the various trade journals.

Coincidentally, his metallographer at that time was Medellin who is now assisting him with the instructional program in the metallographic laboratory at Cerritos.

Tim, Tricycle Perform In Gym

Blue-eyed, brown-haired, star of the California folk scene, Tim Morgan, sang to an impressive crowd Wednesday night in the Cerritos gym. Morgan, who has played at high schools, colleges and clubs all over California, captivated the Cerritos audience with the many songs which have made him famous.

The show included "Maria", "Joey", "The Cat Came Back", and "Follow the Drinkin' Gourd", along with songs from his most recent albums.

Also appearing were the Tricycle, who were formerly part of the "We Five". The voices of the three members blended to form a unique style. The group is composed of Pete Fullerton, Jerry Burgan, and Jerry's wife, Debbie.

Scheduled for April 6 is the west coast premiere of The Barbershop Symphony, next in the "Evening on a College Campus" series.

TALON MARKS

Are We Gutless?

Whenever we are fortunate enough to attend conferences with several other junior colleges in attendance, we never cease to marvel at how good we have it compared to other schools. Unfortunately, the vast majority of students don't have the opportunity to come into contact with students at other two-year institutions, so you'll just have to take our word for it.

It was with mixed feelings that we talked with a Cerritos alumnus shortly after returning from last week's CJCSCA conference at Santa Ana. Coming back full of enthusiasm and gratitude that we have so many advantages over the average junior college student, this former Falcon burst a few bubbles.

"Cerritos students have no guts," he said.

Our first reaction was one of indignation, but as he spoke we found it increasingly hard to argue as he cited instance after instance of half finished campaigns.

Nobly we suggest student "victories" in the auxiliary snack bar and the Falcon statue, but by this time our heart wasn't really in it.

"Maybe we're just satisfied with the workings of the administration and student government," he offered as a last alternative. He agreed maybe that was it and we parted feeling a little better.

Satisfaction or apathy? Are we gutless? Would we take a stand? We wonder.

MONEY: THE STORY OF AN ENGINEER

We all know, of course, that in this age of technology every engineering senior is receiving fabulous offers of employment, but do we realize just how fabulous these offers are? Do we comprehend just how keenly industry is competing? To illustrate, let me cite the true and typical case of E. Pluribus Ewbank, a true and typical senior.

One day last week while strolling across the M.I.T. campus, E. Pluribus was hailed by a portly and prosperous man who sat in a yellow convertible studded with precious gem stones. "Hello," said the portly and prosperous man, "I am Portly Prosperous, president of American Xerographic Data Processing and Birth Control, Incorporated. Are you a senior?"

"Yes, sir," said E. Pluribus.

"Do you like this car?" said Portly.

"Yes, sir," said E. Pluribus.

"It's yours," said Portly.

"Thanks, hey," said E. Pluribus.

"Do you like Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades?" said Portly.

"What clean living, clean shaven American does not?" said E. Pluribus.

"Here is a pack," said Portly. "And a new pack will be delivered to you every twelve minutes as long as you live."

"Thanks, hey," said E. Pluribus.

"Would your wife like a mink coat?" said Portly.

"I feel sure she would," said E. Pluribus, "but I am not married."

"Do you want to be?" said Portly.

"What clean living, clean shaven American does not?" said E. Pluribus.

Portly pressed a button on the dashboard of the convertible and the trunk opened up and out came a nubile maiden with golden hair, rosy knees, a perfect disposition, and the appendix already removed. "This is Svetlana O'Bole," said Portly. "Would you like to marry her?"

"Is her appendix out?" said E. Pluribus.

"Yes," said Portly.

"Okay, hey," said E. Pluribus.

"Congratulations," said Portly. "And for the happy bride, a set of 300 monogrammed prawn forks."

"Thanks, hey," said Svetlana.

"Now then," said Portly to E. Pluribus, "let us get down to business. My company will start you at $75,000 a year. You will retire at full salary upon reaching the age of 26. We will give you an eleven-story house made of lapis lazuli, each room to be stocked with edible furniture. Your children will receive a pack of Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades every twelve minutes as long as they shall live. We will keep your teeth in good repair and also the teeth of your wife and children unto the third generation. We will send your dentist a pack of Personna Super Stainless Steel Blades every twelve minutes as long as he shall live, and thereafter to his heirs and assigns. Now, son, I want you to think carefully about this offer. Meanwhile here is 50 thousand dollars in small, unmarked bills which places you under no obligation whatsoever."

"Well, it certainly seems like a fair offer," said E. Pluribus. "But there is something you should know, I am not an engineer. In fact I don't go to M.I.T. at all. I just walked over here to admire the trees. I am at Harvard, majoring in Joyce Kilmer."

"Oh," said Portly.

"I guess I don't get to keep the money and the convertible and the Personnas and the broad, do I?" said E. Pluribus.

"Of course you do," said Portly. "And if you'd like the job, my offer still stands."

Speaking of wealth, if you want a truly rich, truly luxurious shave, try Personna Blades, regular or injector, with Burma-Shave, regular or menthol. There's a champagne shave on a beer budget!

FOIBLES AND FABLES

Dove and the Lark

by Aesop

Once upon a time there was a zoo that was famous throughout the land for the many birds that were kept there. Even though they were caged, the birds lived contented lives. Having never known freedom, they had no objection to being prisoners.

Then one day a remarkable thing happened. A careless zookeeper left the door to the cages open, and when no one was looking, the birds escaped.

They flew to a lovely land of golden meadows and skies of crystal. It was a place where they could live completely free, and they decided it would make a very suitable home.

But many of the birds did not enjoy living away from the zoo. Almost immediately they divided into three groups.

The largest group saw no real change in the new life. They lived in the same dreary manner they had known at the zoo. The beauty that surrounded them went unnoticed.

A smaller group hated the new land. They were very miserable and very eager to trade the beauty and freedom for security and confinement.

The last group was very small. So small in fact that perhaps they could not even be called a group. One dove and one lark understood the magic of the new life.

The dove and the lark met for the first time in a meadow quite by accident. They hadn't known each other in the zoo, for as everyone knows, doves are kept with doves, and larks with larks. But they both realized the new life was only what they made of it. A warm and lasting friendship formed because they decided to make the new land a place of happiness.

The dove and the lark were together from dawn until sunset. They floated on pink clouds and chased yellow butterflies. One night they flew to the top of a high mountain and gazed in awe at the pin-points of light that covered the heavens like tiny freckles. From the summit they wondered why the other birds did not change their drab existence into lives as beautiful as their own. And when the first rays of sunlight appeared in the east, the dove and the lark flew homeward, with the North Star and the Big Dipper as their guides.

All too soon, the zookeepers discovered where the birds were living. They captured them easily, and transported them back to the zoo.

Some of the birds were glad to return. Most did not even care. But two of them were very sad indeed.

The dove and the lark had found joy in the loveliness of the land, and in the warmth of their friendship. To them, the loss of beauty and freedom was heart-breaking.

The other birds had not let themselves find happiness in freedom, so they felt no sorrow in confinement. They would soon forget their brief stay in the golden meadow, but the dove and the lark would always hold those few moments precious.

It was evening when the zookeepers unlocked the cages and put the birds back inside. The dove was caged with other doves, and the lark with other larks.

And as the doors to the cages were closed, the dove and the lark looked up at the sky. They could not even see the North Star.

Moral: The world is only what you make it. New friendship is priceless. And those who discover life's greatest joys, also find life's deepest sorrows.

ROCKY DIAZ

Is It Fair?

It's been an unusually bad day for me so there's no reason to believe that this weeks column will be any better than last's. However there is one particular message I would like to convey to everyone. Partake.

I had a little talk yesterday with a rather interesting conversation with a 6'4" polak with a bright many red beard. This dapper little gentleman's name is John De-Beer. John's a court justice, and an ex-navy corpsman.

His idea of a big time is going down (He-He) to Huntington Beach at midnight and flying a kite. John used to sell Kirby vacuum cleaners but gave it up because, "I couldn't ask people for that much money." John would like to see a free speech forum but also says, "I doubt if the students at Cerritos even have enough energy to demonstrate one way or another." He's a registered republican but says he plans to vote for any Democrat other than LBJ. Among other things, John is also a nice guy.

This weeks installment of the (anonymous) story is a dilly. (Not to be confused with a pickle).

It all started with an innocent little game of twenty two man tackle football. After the game our hero sauntered over to a nearby dwelling and proceeded to take part in an ancient barbarian rite, commonly referred to as "guzzling". Anyway 'He' took on all challengers, and finished the day with an unblemished record. 'He' lost to everybody. Three hours later 'He' was seen lying amongst a pile of empty beer cans that numbered fifteen. Having personally taken care of all but twelve, 'He' was obviously in no condition to do anything but pass out. 'He', not being one to pass up such an opportunity to "sleep" did so immediately.

Veteran's Choice

For March Beauty

Captivating sophomore Colleen Brunetti was selected by the Veteran's Club as their March Sweetheart of the Month.

Colleen was born in Los Angeles and presently lives in Downey. She graduated from Warren High School in 1966. While attending Warren, Colleen was active in the service club Les Fideles, also the school drama club.

In January the 19-year-old beauty was honored when chosen as one of Cerritos' Jazz Princesses to reign over the Western Regional Jazz Festival at Cerritos last weekend. She also served with the state basketball tournament royalty earlier this month.

Carrying 15½ units, Colleen is active at Cerritos in Sinawik and a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma, the honor society. She stands five feet seven inches and weighs 115 pounds, has green eyes and honey-brown hair.

The Vet's sweetheart's hobbies are traveling, modeling, ballet, sports and horses. She has traveled around the world and lived in Thailand for three years. Her interest in modeling carries over into her job as a model at Penny's in Lakewood. She also works as a ballet instructor for the Downey Parks and Recreation Department.

After graduating from Cerritos College Colleen plans to be an airline stewardess.

SPORTS MIKE

A DAME
AT THE GAME

By MIKE BOWER

Spring is here, and the young man's fancy turns to what the girl has been thinking about all winter ... baseball (?)

Yes, it's that time of year again when the grand old game of baseball comes out of winter hibernation and horsehide fans everywhere begin their annual migration to the baseball stadiums of the nation.

During the upcoming season one will find many fellas bringing their favorite girls along to take in the game. Let's listen in on the conversation between a couple on their first date to the ball game.

"Well here we are! How do you like it? What do you mean you don't like the colors? No, they don't make the seats in 'Hot Pink'."

"Before they start I'll explain a few things to you. That down there is the diamond. You wondered when I was going to get around to talking about diamonds? That's what they play on. Nine men at a time. I don't care if your lucky number is seven."

"That white thing down there is home plate. I know it doesn't look like a plate or a home. I don't know how it got its name. The batter stands up there with a hunk of wood called a bat and tries to hit the balls thrown from the pitcher to the catcher. That's the mound. What do you mean you're hungry? The plate, batter, pitcher, and mounds remind you of food? Forget it, we just ate."

"OK, so you don't like the lady singing the National Anthem."

"All right, the game is going to start now. As we go along I'll point things out to you."

"Yes, they have pretty uniforms. The first pitch is a strike. No he's not going to strike, it is a strike. It's a hit. Now watch him, he'll probably try for a stolen base. It is all right to steal in baseball."

"Strike three, he has struck out. He is yelling because he didn't like the umpire's call. You don't think it is nice of him to yell at the little old man?"

"Oh boy, a hit. It's going to be off the wall. Yes, the pitcher is cute. He's safe. Wow, what a play! He reminds you of Paul Newman? He looks more like Alfred E. to me. Watch the game."

"No, they don't have half time in baseball."

"Tough luck, he flew out. That's the bull pen. No, they're not anti-social, they're supposed to be down there."

"What do you mean, that pitcher needs a bath? How do you know? No, they all fidget around like that, he's not scratching himself."

"Wow, nice curves. Ow! What was that for? No, I didn't mean the girl, I meant the pitcher. Yes I do love her dress. Watch the game."

"There she goes. Going, going, gone. A home run. We lead! No, that's not a waste of money, they have plenty of balls. You think the players are mean? Why? Those boys are supposed to carry the bats back."

"Look, what do you think of the game so far? Do you like baseball games? You think it's stupid because men keep running around for nothing? Oh, forget it. Let's go to the show!"

Falcon Spikers Try
To Continue Streak

Today the Falcon track team will travel to Santa Monica with hopes to keep up with tradition. The Cerritos squad has never suffered a defeat in the past five years of competition with the Corsairs.

However, this year the usually weak Santa Monica team has one of its strongest squads ever. Field action is slated to start at 2:30, with running events at 3:00.

Last week in competition at Bakersfield, the Falcons were only able to win 5 of 16 events. This left the Renegades with 11 victories, and 6 of those were clean sweeps. The result was a 96-40 beating for the Falcons.

Standout of the meet was again Falcon Chip Minnick with victories in the 880 (1:57.0) and mile (4:18.9). The mile clocking is only one-tenth of a second off the record set by Craig Conaway last year. Minnick also ran anchor on the victorious mile relay which clocked a fine 3:22.5, the best time in Metro JC circles last Friday.

Sprinter Dick Carter was unable to come up with his usual wins in the 100 and 220 yd. dashes due to a foot problem. However, Coach Dave Kamanski feels sure Carter will be ready for Santa Monica today.

Dick Ring is still recovering from a bad case of shin splints and was unable to place in the 2 mile run. Ring, formerly of Warren High and number one man on the Falcon Cross Country team, has had trouble in the tendon area for the last four weeks and has not been responding to his doctor's treatment.

Falcon Nine Takes 11 Inning,
2-1 Decision; Regain First PlaceBy DAN ARMSTRONG
Executive Editor

Wally Kincaid's Cerritos baseball squad takes on a fighting mad El Camino team this afternoon on the Warrior diamond, after the Falcons climbed back into a virtual tie for the top spot in the Metropolitan Conference with a 2-1 win over Valley Tuesday.

The Falcons now stand at the top of the pack with a 7-3 record, although Bakersfield has a slight edge in percentage points with six wins in eight starts. Two of the three Falcons losses have been at the hands of Bakersfield, including a 4-2 loss last Saturday.

El Camino should prove more than a match for Cerritos this afternoon. The Warriors, always tough on their own diamond, have plenty to be angry about.

At the beginning of the season, El Camino was rated a toss-up with Long Beach and Cerritos to cop the conference flag. Four losses in the early going hurt the Warriors severely, however. Tuesday El Camino had a chance to climb right back into the red-hot race, but a 1-1 tie with second place Long Beach in 14 innings proved nothing. There's also the matter of an 11-0 setback suffered two weeks ago on Falcon Field that the Warriors want to settle.

Tuesday afternoon's win, although it boosted the Falcons back into first, left Kincaid in a less-than-jubilant mood, as Cerritos left 19 runners stranded on the bases in the 2-1 victory in 11 innings.

To make matters worse, the Falcons had to come from behind to tie the score in the ninth inning — on an error no less. Steve Wilkerson opened the inning by drawing a walk, and Falcon catcher Don Gillett handled the rest. Gillett, who is rapidly becoming the best bunter on the team, laid one down the third baseline, and in a futile effort to catch Gillett at first, the Monarch third baseman threw the ball away, and Wilkerson trotted home with the tying run.

Two innings later, it was Wilkerson and Gillett again, as the Falcons pushed across the winning marker. Wilkerson opened with a single, and Gillett sacrificed him to second. A two-out triple by Larry Diel proved the decider. Although batting eighth in the Falcons order, Diel leads the squad in RBIs, and ranks third in the conference.

Netters Downed Again
But "Doing Better"

"Wait till next year!"

With those words Cerritos College tennis coach Ray Pascoe wrote off the 1968 net season as "a rebuilding year."

The Falcon netters again fell at the hands of Long Beach and El Camino College racketmen by scores of 7-3 and 9-0.

The Long Beach encounter was highlighted by Cerritos freshman Ray Barnum's fine play. Barnum won his singles match and teamed with Terry Walsh to take the Doubles also.

Walsh wasn't present at the El Camino scalping and his presence was sorely missed, as the Falcons went down without a score.

"We are doing better," stated coach Pascoe. "I feel we'll have a fine team next year."

The squad faces Metro frontrunner East LA and Bakersfield next.

HARRINGTON SAVED

The last minute heroics saved Falcon starter Jack Harrington from suffering his first loss of the campaign. Harrington hurled the first seven innings, and although surrendering just two hits, he stood to be the loser as the Falcons went into the ninth on the short end of a 1-0 score.

Wayne Sinclair, who came on in relief, hurled the last three innings without surrendering a hit to pick up an important win.

Saturday afternoon the Falcons again felt their hitting woes, as Bob Coble pitched Bakersfield to a 4-2 win to move ahead of the Falcons in the conference standings.

Sinclair, although hurling perfect ball in the first five innings, suffered the setback when he surrendered consecutive extra base hits in the sixth for three runs.

SINCLAIR HOMERS

Sinclair, batting for himself in the bottom of the seventh with two outs, stroked a long drive over the leftfield wall scoring Diel ahead of him.

In the bottom of the ninth, the Falcons managed to get the tying runs on base, but Coble rallied to set down pinch hitter Don Dillinger and leadoff man Pat Miller to end the threat.

Last Friday afternoon the Falcons topped Rio Hondo 13-4, coming up with both their most productive game and productive inning of the year. Cerritos scored ten runs in the top of the fourth to put the game out of reach in a hurry.

Splashers Win,
Escape Cellar

"Falcon swimmers burst out of the cellar!", said Pat Tyne, coach of the Cerritos swimming team after his webfoot wonders defeated Rio Hondo, 58-30. "How's that for a banner headline?"

Victory over the Roadrunners gave the swimmers their first Metro Conference victory of the season, and left them in a tie for fifth place in the league with El Camino.

The Falcons captured six first-place finishes in gaining their second win of the season. Mike Pickup paced Cerritos in scoring as he placed first in the 200-yard individual medley and the 200-yard backstroke, in addition to participating in the victory by the 400-yard medley relay team.

Pickup was joined in victories by Ron Morales and John Witt. Morales finished ahead of the pack in the 200-yard butterfly while Witt bagged a first in the 200-yard breast stroke.

"Even though we haven't done much in the way of winning," said Tyne, "This team works just as hard as any team I have ever had. We are just short on experience, and can only look to next year. As I said last week, and was misquoted, 'this is our year to build characters'". OK coach?

This afternoon, Tyne and his "characters" will entertain conference leader Valley in a meet scheduled to commence at 3:30 p.m. in the Falcon pool.

"AN AFFECTIONATE AND TRANSCENDENTAL TRIBUTE TO THE GOOD HUMOR OF THE MAHARISHI MAHESH YOGI" at this moment THE BEATLES have never heard this album, neither has MIA FARROW nor SHIRLEY MACLAINE and DONOVAN. FRANK SINATRA couldn't care less and, unless the CIA got hold of a copy, PRESIDENT JOHNSON and MRS. HUMPHREY probably haven't heard it, we would have loved to audition this album for PRINCESS GRACE, LEE RADZIWIŁL and HUGH HEFFNER, but we couldn't get them on this phone. MAO TSE TUNG and SHIRLEY TEMPLE BLACK have nothing to do with the album, neither does CHARLES DE GAULLE and ELIZABETH TAYLOR, FIDEL CASTRO and PETULA CLARK, HOWARD HUGHES, DR.

SPOCK, EDDIE FISHER or JOHNNY CARSON and JOEY BISHOP, no, none of these people have heard THE MASHUGANISHI YOGI at this time. If YOU should decide to BUY this album, these liner notes will self-destruct in three seconds. Good luck.
