SENATE REPORT

Lot Corrections Urged In Bills

Finding itself with little to do concerning current legislation, the ASCC Senate held one of its briefest sessions of the year, passing only two bills, both of which were concerned with parking lot markings.

The first bill presented to the Senate was introduced by Carole Liperr and was designed to alleviate certain discrepancies in the painted stall markings in the parking lots. It was noted that such action was currently being considered by the Parking Lot Committee, and the legislation by the Senate was just an added boost for the action.

The second bill presented dealt with signs labeling each of the parking lots so as to avoid confusion of visitors to this campus. The bill passed by a vote of 16-7-4.

Other discussion of the day concerned bills presented and to be voted on next week. One dealt with the firing of the cannon to announce rallies and other events, and the other was to recommend that the Administrative Council institute and aeronautical technology course at Cerritos. Both bills will be voted on next week, and interested students are urged to voice their opinions of the bills to senators.

District Voters To Elect Three CC Trustees from Five Hopefuls

Residents of Artesia, Bellflower, Cerritos, Downey, La Mirada and Norwalk will go to the polls Tuesday to select three members of the Cerritos College District Board of Trustees.

Five candidates are seeking the three seats held by incumbents Al Sommer, Dr. Leon Richards and Board President John Nordbak. Sommer is from Bellflower, Richards from Hawaiian Gardens and Nordbak is from Downey.

District voters will select the three new four-year-term Board members at their local polls which will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., according to the County Registrar of Voters.

Following are brief biographical sketches of each of the candidates (in alphabetical order):

MRS. GLARUM: A 42-year-old student at Cerritos, she plans to continue her education after graduation from the college this June. She hopes to obtain her teaching credentials and eventually teach in the Cerritos College District. Her husband, Lawrence, is a graduate of Michigan State University and works at Autonetics. Residents of La Mirada for eight years, they have two sons.

NORDBAK: Born in Copenhagen, Denmark, incumbent Nordbak attended schools in Los Angeles and the University of Southern California. A Downey architect, he will be seeking his first re-election to the Board. He was originally elected in 1965, shortly after the Downey area became part of the college district.

Nordbak and his wife, Betty, have three sons and have resided in Downey since 1950.

RICHARDS: Seeking his first election to the Board, incumbent Richards is a 64-year-old retired pharmacist and former Dean of the School of Pharmacy at Howard College in Birmingham, Ala. He was also a member of the faculty at the University of Montana.

The Hawaiian Gardens resident is a past president of the Artesia Rotary Club and past president of the Hawaiian Gardens Chamber of Commerce. He was also president of the former Bloomfield School District Board.

SOMMER: A Bellflower resident and charter member of the Cerritos Board, Sommer was first elected in 1956. He will be seeking his fourth re-election and has 23 years of experience on boards of education. He is a former member of the Excelsior High School Board.

The 60-year-old incumbent has served as president and secretary of the Cerritos Board. He is also a member of the Bellflower Rotary Club, a past youth director, a member of the Board of the YMCA and an active member of the Holy Redeemer Lutheran Church. For 23 years he owned and operated a local feed and grain business.

VALDEZ: A 45-year-old resident in Norwalk, he is currently principal of Ynez School in the Alhambra City School District. He began his teaching career in 1959 as an eighth-grade teacher. Since then he has taught at Excelsior Adult School, UCLA Extension, USC and Los Angeles Trade Technical College.

Residents of the Cerritos District since 1954, he and his wife, have three children. Valdez was a candidate for the Board elections in 1967. He is a former supervisor for the National Teachers Corps, responsible for the recruitment and training of teachers for the poverty areas.

A heavier than usual voter turnout is expected, according to college officials — the result of a number of issues brought out during the campaign and other issues developing in surrounding school district Board elections.

Wilde's 'Earnest' Play Will Debut on April 17

By CATHY READE

The spring play, "The Importance of Being Earnest," will be presented by the Theater Workshop in BC 31 Thursday at 8 p.m. There will be six following evening performances April 18, 19, 22, 23, 24 and 25 at 8 p.m., and a matinee on April 24 at 3:30 p.m. Admission will be $1.50.

"The Importance of Being Earnest" is said to be the perfect field trip for English and social science classes, lending an opportunity for a stimulating adjunct to the classroom processes in an engaging and highly entertaining form. Psychology and philosophy instructors will also find the presentation very beneficial.

An entrance charge of 50 cents has been arranged for "field trippers." Therefore, all instructors are cordially invited to take an "arm chair tour" of uppercrust London with their students at one of the performances.

The cast for this London demonstration of triviality and simplicity will include: Walter Orange, Lane; Mike Green, Algernon; Paul Laramore, John; Rosemary Price, Gwendolyn; Mary Jacobs, Lady Bracknell; Debby Graham, Miss Prism; Laura Vale, Cecily; Jerry Herbener, Chauncey; Glen Olson, Merriman; Jerry Derloson, Manservant.

Don't miss the opportunity for a guided excursion into the sterile "courtly" period of the English upper-strata.

Speech Squad Repeats As State Champion, Looks to Nationals

Cerritos College has again captured the title of California State Junior College Speech Champion, at the annual competition held this year in Hayward, near San Francisco, from March 26-30.

Cerritos has had the honor of holding this position for six years. This is due to the outstanding students and faculty in the speech department.

There were over 50 schools, the best speech squads of the state junior colleges, in competition, including over 300 participants. This year saw the closest finish ever in the sweepstakes division for out of the total 2,700 points awarded the winning margin was a slight 21 points.

The outstanding speakers and their awards are: First Place in Men's Extemporaneous, Pat Schwerdtfeger; First Place in Speech Analysis, Judy England;

First Place in Women's Interpretation, Judy England; Second Place in Expository, Mark Siegel; Second Place in Speech Analysis, Bill Larson; Second Place in Men's Debate, Schwerdtfeger and Larson; Third Place in Women's Debate, Miss England and Sharon Walton; Excellent in Men's Debate, Joe Russo and Siegel; Superior Impromptu, Schwerdtfeger; and Excellent Men's Expository, Bob Bornemann.

Miss England repeated a phenomenal performance by winning the First Place Award in Oral Interpretation for the second year in a row. It is hoped that she will be able to do this at the National Championship.

Other participants who traveled to Hayward were Debbie Hanson, Kathy McNabb, Sharon Novak and Larry Guevara.

The forensics squad will soon be traveling to the National Championship, which will be held in Phoenix. They will be facing the best teams in the nation, and anything can happen.

The toughest competition will be from Hutchinson, Kan.; Odessa, Texas; and Miami-Dade in Miami, which is now the top school on the East Coast.

Cerritos has won the title of National Champion four out of the last five years, so it at least has a good background to give an extra push toward success.

Four CC Students Win Metallographic Awards

Four students from Cerritos took honors in the Seventh Annual Student Metallographic Competition held on March 27 which was sponsored by the Los Angeles Chapter of the American Society. Richard G. Pacheco took third place and was awarded a $100 bond plus an ASM Handbook. The honorable mentions were Anthony Giamone, Robert Hope and Charles Marinoff, all of whom received ASM handbooks.

All schools in the greater Los Angeles area participated in the competition. Each student was required to do all of his own work in preparing the sample and photomicrograph. In order to do this the student had to take the metal sample, cut a small portion, encase it in plastic and polish it. It was then ready to be photomicrographed. The entries were submitted to the ASM and were evaluated by a panel of judges.

The competition began on Jan. 1 and closed on March 1. The entries were mounted on boards furnished by the ASM.

Judging was based on: clarity, sharpness of detail; preparation, surface finish and workmanship; originality, choice of subject; and composition, photographic balance and arrangement. Each entry was graded with a maximum possible score of 40-10 for each characteristic.

There were many excellent photomicrographs submitted due to a wide participation. Dr. Jack Medoff, head of metallurgy here, is confident that in the future there will be more student participation from Cerritos because of the extensive program available in this field.

"In order to prepare ourselves for the fantastic things to come," Hendrickson said, "we will examine the unforeseeable tomorrow. Much of what we rely on today was completely unanticipated before its appearance — including x-rays, laser, relativity, nuclear energy, photography, transistors, television and organic transplants."

"We continue to teach yesterday's matter, not as history, but as if we were preparing for the world of yesterday," he continued. "Anything that is theoretically possible will be achieved."

Hendrickson received his A.A. degree from Compton College, his B.A. and M.A. from California State College at Long Beach and has attended the University of Southern California, the Foreign Service Institute, the University of California at Santa Barbara and San Fernando Valley State College.

Good Old Apathy--Is Two Voices Break It Here for Good? The Campus Silence

The charge of "student apathy" has been hurled at all of you many times in the past, and the answer has always been the same... usually silence, and a yawn or two if we're lucky. Yet some indefinable force drives me to once again wonder in print if anyone out there does care enough about the issues of world and campus importance to make his opinion heard.

Several weeks ago TM offered an entire page to student opinion, and the result was gratifying. Many students received exposure on a variety of issues, and still more students applauded this gesture as the proper and healthy outlet for campus tensions and controversy.

The only trouble was that the outlet must have been so healthy and so gratifying that it is completely exhausted the literary capacity of the student body. Having yielded up 13 letters out of a total of 10,000 potential writers, Cerritos College evidently felt it could rest on its rather dubious laurels for the rest of the semester.

The "Open Forum," which should have inspired an avalanche of response, received literally none. Since the day it was published, only two letters, published in this issue, have crossed the editor's desk.

Anyone who walks through the Student Center knows the opinions being exchanged, pro and con, on the desirability of a free speech area, a Mexican-American organization, the questions involving ICC, not to mention the issues of war, racism, law and order, taxes and others affecting each one of us.

Is it asking too much for the involved and opinionated to translate their stands into written word? I wonder.

PRESIDENT'S VOICE

Curriculum Committee And Spring Luau Due

Welcome back to Cerritos, I hope that everybody had an enjoyable Easter vacation.

Recently the ASCC Cabinet initiated legislation which was passed by the ASCC Senate in the form of a recommendation to the Administrative Council that two student senators be seated as regular voting members on the Cerritos College Curriculum Committee.

This step was suggested by the Administrative Council in the past and is a definite sign that the students and the Administrators are continuing to work together in providing the best junior college education program possible. Again this proves that Cerritos is the best junior college in the state concerning student and administrative cooperation.

There is also pending discussion in your ASCC Cabinet in regards to seating students as division committees. It has been expressed to me that more students could be and should be more involved in their college concerning curriculum and other aspects as well. This will not only provide for student's opinions but will make for a stronger communications link among all facets of student life here at Cerritos.

On May 2 the ASCC will be sponsoring a Spring Luau. Much preparation has gone into preparing and planning this college event. This event is replacing the Spring Formal that we have had in the past, and it is my hope that it will be a great success. Entertainment will include a "Fire Dance," Tahitian dancers and a slap dancer. There will be two bands to provide music, one will be a rock group and the other an Hawaiian vocal-dance group. It will be one big night to remember.

The menu will be a choice of three items -- chicken teriyaki, baked fish in season, and roast beef -- or hors-d'oeuvres served continuously during the festivities. The luau will be held at the Lobster House in Redondo Beach. I would suggest that everyone be making plans to attend now. Tickets will be available at a later date.

Wednesday there will be another "All you can eat" buffet in the cafeteria. The price will be $1. According to ARA manager James Blaine, the last buffet we provided was a smashing success. So for those of you interested bring a buck and eat all you can.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I am a veteran of the present military war. I served two years as a seaman in the U.S. Navy.

This past fall I entered Cerritos College as a new freshman. I learned at that time that I would not receive any academic credit for my military experience, even though some local schools do give veterans credit for P.E. and Health Education. Long Beach State and Fullerton do, for example.

However, what I find especially annoying is that I turned 21 this semester but cannot drop my P.E. because I am taking more than eight units of work. I would like to know if Cerritos College is alone in formulating this policy.

Also, I feel like I'm still in high school and we're treated like little children -- "let's go out and play games." Yet we're supposed to be adults and determine our own lives.

I find this particularly difficult to accept inasmuch as I was deemed mature enough to serve my country.

Dear Editor:

After careful consideration and prolonged debate on the topic of the controversy concerning ICC, its practices, rules, and penalties, the Dorian Society feels it necessary to state publicly that we of said society stand behind the position held in contention by Mrs. Bluske.

Except for one no vote and just two abstentions, the motion to write this letter passed unanimously. Our stand is now known to be along the same lines as that of Mrs. Bluske.

So -- Surprise Me Already!

By GEORGE WOODWORTH
Executive Editor

All in all this hasn't been too surprising a week. Not very good for newspapermen as weeks go. Some people probably think that the week's biggest surprise is that this paper has even hit the stands again but wait just a minute...

Was it surprising that "The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour" was canceled by CBS? Two weeks ago CBS renewed their show and now with the cancellation, Tom Smothers has a threatened to sue for $4,500,000. That's not news. Right?

Was it surprising that Mayor Sam Yorty would call his colored opponent, Councilman Tom Bradley, a "racist" after being soundly beaten out of the top spot in the mayoralty primary?

Was it surprising that even in a sports setting Nixon "dropped the ball" before he let off his misguided missile at the Washington Senators opener?

Is It Surprising?

A national youth survey finds that nearly all of the students polled indicated that a lack of parental understanding was one of their biggest problems.

A 22-year-old woman in hippie attire reports to the St. Louis police that an assailant accosted her with a knife and asked, "are you a boy or a girl?" and then raped her.

The Soviet Young Communist League charges that pictures of naked women in Czechoslovakian newspapers are being used to hurt the cause of true Communism by distracting attention from politics.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike shooting spree of Donald Lambright that resulted in the deaths of two motorists plus his own and his wife's, comes two weeks after he had been advised by his uncle, a New York psychologist, to seek psychiatric help.

Beyond surprising, was it just plain overdue that the Supreme Court would finally rule that Americans have the right to read "obscene" books or look at "stag" movies in the privacy of their homes if they so desire?

Surprise--No Rights!!

The ASCC Court feels that it is not within their jurisdiction to consider the complaint of a student (Russ Jobin) against an administrator (Mr. Siriani) that was lodged out of the recent quad controversy. Jobin thinks that someone someday will come up to him and say: "Surprise--you have no rights!"

Should we be surprised that the top speech squad in the state (Cerritos) has wrapped up the state championship for the sixth straight year? They surely surprised their coach.

Was it surprising or just downright disappointing that the week following our well-accepted "Open Forum" we did not receive even one student letter? Was everyone all talked out?

Will it be very sad if we don't receive any letters for the next "Open Forum" coming up very shortly?

I wouldn't be a bit surprised.

Pasquinade Tagline: Look for an announcement soon by the Smothers Brothers concerning the Canadian C.T.V. network or the American Broadcasting Company.

New Attitudes on Alcohol Are Urged

New social attitudes and policies are required to reduce the rates of alcoholism and other types of problem drinking, according to a $1.1 million report issued by the Cooperative Commission on the Study of Alcoholism.

To provide some guidelines for dealing with and preventing alcohol problems in a modern society, the commission recommended, among other things, that:

1. Public drunkenness should be regarded as a medical and social problem, rather than a legal and criminal matter.

2. Both advertising and state licensing should discourage drinking for its own sake, providing instead for its integration with meals and other social activities.

3. The legal age for the purchase and consumption of alcohol should be lowered to 18 because the age limit of 21 is largely unenforceable and creates "a hypocritical situation reminiscent of the Prohibition era."

4. The undesirability and disapproval of excessive drinking should be both implicit and explicit in liquor, beer and wine advertising.

The commission also declared that "the climate is now favorable for the development of a reasonable American alcohol policy, and it is now possible to consider ways of encouraging appropriate drinking behavior--and discouraging other kinds--while still leaving people who wish to abstain entirely free to do so."

New Certification Provision Is Enacted for Transfer Students

By A. G. Bufalini, Counseling Officer

If you are intending to transfer from Cerritos College to one of the state colleges for the purpose of acquiring a bachelor's degree, you are probably aware that students in all major fields of study who wish to become eligible for the bachelor's degree must complete the same pattern of general education requirements established by the transfer school. Most students attempt to complete as many of these breadth requirements as possible during their lower division here at Cerritos.

Most upper division schools issue to the new transfer student an official evaluation of transfer credit, showing those courses which have been accepted toward satisfying the general education requirements of the college and those courses remaining to be taken.

As a result of this practice, the junior college student has had to constantly ask himself, or his counselor, "Will this course meet the general education requirements at this or that school?" The question will soon be answered, at least in part, by a new policy being established by the state four-year and two-year colleges.

On Feb. 29, 1968 the State Board of Trustees of the California State Colleges adopted new General Education Breadth Requirements to become effective Sept. 1, 1969. The most striking changes from current requirements are (1) Provision for "certification" by any accredited college "that the minimum General Education Breadth requirements (for the bachelor's degree) have been satisfied in part or in toto through the student's completing course requirements designated as General Education in the catalog of the college." And (2) Substitution of courses for units in general broad areas of the liberal arts and sciences.

This certification provision is primarily of concern to California public junior colleges because it permits each junior college to evaluate and certify up to 40 semester units of a state college-bound student's program.

This provision thus makes unnecessary any evaluation of these units by the state college the student enters.

The net effect of this new ruling is that the state colleges must accept these certified units of work toward the bachelor's degree. The individual state colleges may impose additional general education breadth requirements for the bachelor's degree. However, the additional units required must apply to all students, to their own as well as to the transfer student. The student transferring with the package of 40 general education units may find, for example, that at Fullerton State he will have to take 10 additional units there, at San Bernardino State an additional 24 units.

One of the problems confronting the junior colleges is the working-out of a program of general education courses which will satisfy the various state colleges.

The State Board of Trustees has stipulated that each student must take two courses in each of the following broad areas: social science, humanities (to include fine arts), natural sciences and basic subjects.

The Cerritos College Sub-Committee on General Education is attempting to define and delineate suitable courses within these prescribed areas. The courses taken in these areas must total 32 semester units. An additional eight units will be chosen as electives. What elective subjects can or will ultimately apply toward the total package has not been determined as yet.

Health education, physical education, American history and institutions are still required by the State Education Code. In addition, the State College Board of Trustees states that "instruction must be given" in written and oral communications.

The mechanics of this certification program have been the subject of dialogues between the junior colleges and the state colleges for the past several months. Representing Cerritos College at the various meetings have been Dr. Browning, Dr. Stamm, Dr. Bos, Dr. Nogle, Mr. Siriani and Mr. Wagner.

Cosmetology Classes
Open Doors to CareersBy BONITA SCHLEINITZ
Managing Editor

Blondes, brunettes, redheads—Is that the natural color of her hair or not? Only her cosmetologist knows for sure. Hair color that is blended and matched with the right skin tone makes it difficult to tell whether or not the color of a woman's hair is natural. This may be a result of a well-trained cosmetologist's skill, one who is always "up" on the new hair styles and colors.

Becoming a cosmetologist isn't easy, but it's very rewarding and a challenging opportunity. Cerritos has a fine program to offer in cosmetology, which is a well-established, highly-skilled occupation open to both men and women.

This program will prepare the student to be an "all-around" cosmetologist or to become a hairstylist, haircoloring technician, permanent wave specialist, makeup artist, salon owner or manager or cosmetology instructor.

Cosmetology involves more knowledge than just a limitation of hair studies. Training as a cosmetologist includes courses in hairstyling, hair shaping, permanent waving, hair and scalp treatments, facials and makeup, hair coloring, manicuring, pedicuring, wigs, salon management and chemistry.

Cerritos is one of the few colleges requiring one semester of Chemistry 50. It enables the student to discover what hair looks like under a microscope, how hair curls, what actually are the things that damage hair, and how hair behaves under certain conditions. The student, also has the fascinating opportunity of making his own cosmetics.

Three days a week the students who have completed one semester of the program have the opportunity of working with the public. The hours are from 10 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. No appointments are accepted after 2 p.m. During these days the class is conducted as a salon would be. The students run their own dispensary, and the reception desk is handled by them. Available for the public are pedicures and chemical hair straightening procedures. These facilities are not offered by all cosmetology schools.

The failure rate of students taking the State Board Exam, based on private and public school statistics, is 28 per cent. According to Mrs. Olive Scott, cosmetology department chairman, "Cerritos is very proud that we have only had two failures in 10 years. The students feel confident because of the vast experience they get here."

There are six instructors at Cerritos including Mrs. Scott, who teaches several classes herself. In order to qualify for an instructor position, seven years of trade experience is required. There is a night class available in wig styling for licensed cosmetologists.

Those students who complete the curriculum and pass the State Board of Cosmetology Examination are eligible for employment as licensed cosmetologists. Part-time work is also available. There are beauty salons in shopping areas, residential areas, cities large and small, hotels, department stores, hospitals and even aboard ships.

Movie Reviews

Flesh, Intercourse, Lust Bring
Yawns to Oversaturated PublicBy RANDY HENDERSON
Associate Editor

I've been told that a person who sees as many movies as I do must be a masochist at heart. After a Saturday night orgy in which I endured both "The Miracle of Love" and "The Big Bounce," I'm almost inclined to agree.

"The Miracle of Love" is the movie that "all married people should see and all single people must see." I personally feel that a married person has just as much right to be bored to death as anyone else.

"Miracle" starts with a staged debate on sexuality in marriage between the film's producer and two "authorities." They all exchange logic and opinions with a perception worthy of any grammar school health class, finally getting around to the consensus that a picture is worth a thousand words. This, of course, excuses the following two hours of pornography as being invaluable educational material. I suppose that would depend on what you didn't know before.

After a few scenes showing children being misinformed about sex ("Never mind why—just watch out for the boys, that's all"), the picture gets down to business. The producer narrates the first situation: Tom and Pauline indulge in about 20 minutes of irrelevant intimacy right off, presumably so we'll really KNOW them from the beginning.

Pauline, after six months almost continuously between the sheets, has decided that her marriage isn't all she hoped for. Her husband contends with rage and rather ungalantly accuses her of frigidity. "You drive me mad with passion," he explains. (Please remember this is all dubbed in.) The producer intervenes to tell us how much they love each other.

The couple talk out their problem (i.e., her problem) totally in the nude, naturally, and then decide to try again (symbolically and literally). Another 20 minutes of wide screen thighs, hips and ankles transpires before we are told of the happy ending—Tom and Pauline are now "spiritually united."

Sequence No. 2 involves Claudine and her successful (in the business sense) husband John. Because the wife is often left alone, we are allowed to view her hilarious "erotic" dreams for several minutes before she socks it to John—laying it on the line (metaphorically, of course) that she isn't happy.

He instantly sees the error of his ways and the two dash off for a mad fling in the motel room they shared years before. "The same squeaky springs," she observes. Thus we are treated to another interminable "educational" scene.

The fun of guessing whose legs, toes and ears are on view palls after the first five minutes. Our narrator ties it all up with a few carefully chosen words about the "miracle of love." The miracle is that the word "love" is even mentioned. "The Miracle of Lust" would be far more apropos.

"The Big Bounce" is a film dedicated to the proposition that it's perfectly all right for a girl to be a nymphomaniacal violence-

ODDS AND ENDS

Do Politicians
Run or Rerun?By BOB HARDIN
Feature Editor

In a few weeks all the TV stations will start their new season of reruns. This is the networks' attempt to put the viewer into a state of summer hibernation until the new season begins in September.

However, reruns aren't restricted to the television medium alone. In this weekly rerun of my column, I will attempt to show how this word and other TV terminology can be applied to politics.

On the national scene, the Vietnamese War has been rerunning longer than "I Love Lucy." President Nixon will have to find a peaceful solution to this war or he might discover that his term in office has been canceled in '72. He won't be able to watch the reruns of his inaugural address on the "Eleven O'Clock News."

Late show viewers will find the governor of California no stranger. For years they have watched him portray different people with different hang-ups into the wee hours of the morning. Now he has his own show in Sacramento called "Ronnie's Amateur Hour," in which he plays the part of a typical amateur governor of a typical large state.

The ratings on this show have been low after a promising start, and the show is in danger of having a summer replacement after the June primaries in '70. If this happens, the state legislature can syndicate his show for reruns in some of the local city governments.

Sam Yorty is looking forward to renewing his "Happy Wanderer" series but is running a poor second in the rating race for the Los Angeles audience to "Tom Bradley's Variety Hour," 27 per cent to 43 per cent. The way it looks now, Yorty will have to pay the people to watch a rerun of his last two terms.

After seeing these three examples of word substitution, wouldn't it be easier to use TV terms instead of such complicated words as: fighting, fired, not qualified, stupid, election, graft and other words used to describe political unpleasantness?

If not for us — then at least for the politicians?

Money Raising Carnival Opens
For Yung Woon Choi, April 21-25

A car bash and a pie fling will be part of carnival festivities to be held April 21-25 by the Yung Woon Choi Committee. Profits from week-long carnival go to the Yung Woon Choi Fund to pay for food, school expenses and supplies for the Korean boy.

Every year the sum of $150 must be sent to Yung Woon. A fund is also being kept with the hopes of someday having enough money to be able to send and have him attend Cerritos. At present $517.80 is saved for this purpose.

The money tape competition and the slave sale were sponsored for this fund; however, the complete total is not known as yet.

The prospect of adopting a child was first looked into in 1961 through the Save-A-Child Federation. Within a year a letter was received with the case history of the child and the pledge for the support of the child. None of the money is used for any other member of the family.

(He has an older brother and mother.) The Ambra Band will conclude the festivities when they play for a dance to be held April 25, the last day of the carnival.

The purpose of the program is to help the underprivileged in an economically depressed area. It is their hope to inspire their ambitions enough to be come educated. The first six years of education are free, but in the remaining years a fee is charged. With the help of the program Korean children such as Yung Woon Choi can make something of themselves. The carnival will help.

Since this is a very pleasant and amusing way of helping an underprivileged child, everyone is encouraged to start saving for the carnival.

U.S. Air Force Band

To Appear April 29

"They are doing more good with their playing and courteous manner than could be done by a bundle of propaganda pamphlets or well-sounding words." Thus editorialized a Berchtesgaden newspaper about the United States Air Force Band which will appear in local concert at Cerritos on April 29.

The band has enjoyed a phenomenal success in the role of a goodwill ambassador. Since its organization in 1942, the band has made an unprecedented 10 international tours in which it has visited a total of 47 countries on five continents.

The Air Force Band will be joined by the Singing Sergeants in their April community concert. The 8 p.m. program will be conducted in the Gymnasium. There is no admission charge and free tickets are available from local Air Force recruiters as well as the Office of Community Services.

The Air Force Band has the distinction of being the world's most travelled musical organization and has flown in excess of 8,000 hours, covering more than 1.5 million miles. More important, it has played in person to a total of more than 25 million people from every walk of life, and every creed, race and political ideology.

Because it has given them a first-hand insight into American culture, it is credited with having helped create a better understanding among the people of the world.

World Campus Afloat,
is a college that does more than broaden horizons.
It sails to them and beyond.

Once again, beginning in October of 1969, the World Campus Afloat program of Chapman College and Associated Colleges and Universities will take qualified students, faculty and staff into the world laboratory.

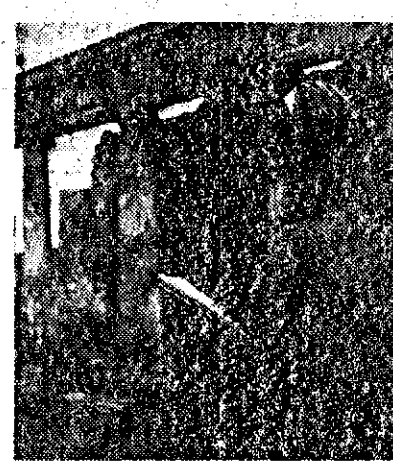

In-port programs relevant to fully-accredited coursework taught aboard ship add the dimension of personal experience to formal learning.

Classes are held six days a week at sea aboard the s.s. Ryndam which has been equipped with classrooms, laboratories, library, student union, dining room and dormitories.

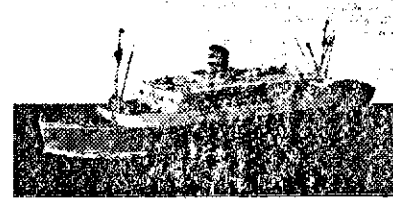

Chapman College now is accepting applications for the Fall and Spring semesters of the 1969-70 academic year. Fall semesters depart New York for ports in Western Europe and the Mediterranean, Africa and South America, ending in Los Angeles. Spring semesters circle the world from Los Angeles through the Orient, India and South Africa to New York.

Falcons Make Baseball Tourney Finals

Falcons Meet LACC in Final Of Rain-Delayed Stengel Tourney

Cerritos diamondmen appeared ready for their rematch Tuesday with El Camino, the only team to defeat the Falcons this season. El Camino, which handed Cerritos a 9-6 loss in their first meeting, met the Falcons on Falcon Field.

In their last conference action Cerritos, which now holds a 10-game winning streak, downed Pierce and L.A. Valley. The game against Pierce found freshman pitcher Gary Adeo recording his third victory of the season as he held the Brahmas to only four hits in the 10-1 win. Pitching the first six innings, Adeo later gave way to Bob Apodaca and Bob Sheehan.

The leading batsmen for Larry Diel, who went two for three with three RBIs, and Tim Steele and Gordon Douglas, both two for one.

Major scoring innings for the Falcons were the second, third and fourth. The second opened with Steele's double and ended three runs later, giving the Falcons an early lead. The third again found Steele with a hot bat as he tripled to start another three-run rally. Merced Salinas added to the inning with a double, and Larry Diel's single gave him his second RBI of the game.

Although the Falcons could only manage one hit in the fourth, it proved good for four runs as three walks and a stolen base gave them something to work with. The only hit of the inning was a single by Diel, giving him three RBIs for the game. Cerritos scored its final run on one hit in the ninth.

Valley Defeated

The game against L.A. Valley followed suit as the Falcons man-handled the Monarchs over nine innings, 9-1. Cliff Vaudreuil was the winning pitcher for Cerritos, allowing but three hits in seven innings.

The highlight of the game came in the fourth as Tim Steele hit his second home run of the season with one on. The homer was part of a three-run scoring binge.

The sixth was a repeat of the fourth as Cerritos again made three hits good for three runs. The seventh, the final scoring inning for the Falcons, produced three runs on two hits, one of which was a single by Jack Tedesco who had two RBIs in the game.

The action in the Casey Stengel Tourney last week found the Falcons in control all the way as they defeated Citrus, with McEachran, Sheehan and Apodaca teaming up to pitch a non-hitter, 14-0; Harbor, 8-1, with Bob Wolf earning the win; and Mount San Antonio College, 13-0. The final game of the tourney, which was to decide the winner, was rained-out Saturday after the Falcons had completed only three innings against L.A. City College. The game will be played on April 19.

Much of the credit for the tourney wins must go to Steele, who went three for five while scoring twice and knocking in four runs against Citrus, and three for five, including two triples and five RBIs in the game with Mt. SAC.

El Camino Rematch

With such a successful week under its belt the Cerritos nine had to apply itself to the winning of the rematch with El Camino. The Falcons have the ability and the momentum to avenge their only loss this year, and unless El Camino can overcome this and the home field advantage the Falcons should push their record to 15-1.

Other games this week find Cerritos taking to the road to meet Santa Monica today and returning home again on Saturday to play Pasadena.

Cerritos Edges BC for Lead In Metro Track Competition

Coach Dave Kahanowski's Falcon spikers took over sole possession of first place in the Metro race March 28 when they came out on top in a 69½-66½ thriller with the Renegades of Bakersfield on the Cerritos track.

Termed the Metro meet-of-the-year, it proved to be just that as the two top squads in the conference met head on all afternoon and produced one fine performance after another.

Though the meet went down to the wire, the Falcons never trailed from the start. Collecting their weekly sweep of the shot put and a victory in the 440-yd. relay, the Birds jumped to a lead and held it.

Several outstanding performances were turned in by both schools. A few upsets by the Falcon spikers spelled the downfall of the Gades.

Sutton Wins Three
Steve Sutton, the fantastic freshman from Exeter, again led the Cerritos point scorers, collecting three first places in the shot, long jump and triple jump.

Swift Bob Ballard led the Cerritos dashmen to a very impressive day against the BC sprinters. Ballard tied the Cerritos 100-yd. dash standard with a 9.6 clocking, and the fresh phenom from Bellflower also led a Falcon sweep in the 220-yd. dash with Dave Cohen and Dick Carter following behind.

A fine 41.9 440-yd. relay was turned in by the Cerritos team of Cohen, Joe Martinez, Carter and Ballard. Martinez also sped to a fine 49.8 quarter mile victory for the Falcons.

In the field events, Steve Johnson tossed the discus 147-1½ for first place, and freshman Dewey Weber from Artesia soared 6'2" for a second place finish in the high jump, losing on misses.

Not without importance were the fine non-winning times recorded by several Falcons during the afternoon.

Curran Runs 4:18

Pat Curran, third in the mile at 4:18; John McNeice, third in the two mile at 9:35.8; Mike Hageman, second in the 880-yd. at 1:56.5; and Dennis Ruby, second in the 440-yd. intermediate hurdles at 55.6 all turned in times among the finest in the state this year.

Probably the most pleasant surprise of the day was the first and third place finish in the 120-yd. high hurdles by Cerritos. Larry Broy broke the tape at 15.2 giving the Falcons their first victory of the year in the highs.

The season is far from over for the Cerritos squad as they must take to the road for their final dual meets with Santa Monica today and Pasadena April 18. Both should provide plenty of opposition for the Birds and a final lineup before the conference finals begin April 30.

Easter Relays

The Falcons, who hold a spotless 5-0 record in Metro dual meet competition, nearly pulled off one of the super-human events of the season last week, taking second place in their division of the Southern California Relays. Despite the loss of Sutton, leading competitor for the Falcons who was not able to participate in the Good Friday event, the Falcons placed second to full-strength Bakersfield.

Info Desk Proposed By ASCC Cabinet

An information desk manned by students came under discussion by the Executive Cabinet of the Associated Students. Many incoming students have difficulties with locating classes, registration problems, library procedures, student activities and general student life that the need for such an information desk appears near.

Originally brought up in the student Senate, the proposed information desk would be staffed by volunteer students during the first three weeks of each semester and more than likely be located in the Student Center or central Quad area.

More discussion is scheduled before any final recommendations or action is taken, according to ASCC President Monte Gualtiere.

BATON PASS—Joe Martinez gets the baton pass from Mark Johnson in the mile relay during the Southern California Relays over the spring vacation. The Cerritos relay team finished fourth in the event with its fastest time of the year, a 3:23.3.
