CERRITOS COLLEGE

VOL. XII NO. 4

11110 Alondra Blvd., Norwalk, California

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1968

Seven Seats Open

Squads Now Forming For New College Bowl

Tryouts begin today to fill seven vacant seats on the Cerritos College Bowl team. Last year, in its first season, Cerritos captured the JC State Championship. The aggressive Falcon team only once defeated an opponent by less than 75 points and has never been beaten.

This year College Bowl plans several major outings including a large tournament here and some ASCC-sponsored trips for competition in Northern California. Also in the making is a television contest for the state champions.

The squad is losing one of its greatest assets in the person of Richard Lo Cicero, team captain and winner of the David White Award for competitive excellence, who has transferred to another college. Skeptics are predicting a rough season without Lo Cicero, but returning members Steve Alvis and Bruce Brown are determined to retain the title for Cerritos.

Russell Storkan, College Bowl adviser, said that the team needs people with high retention in a broad field of knowledge and, of course, quick recall. There are two teams with three positions open on the first team and four seats available on the second five-man team, of which Louise Benesma is the only returning member.

If you are interested in being on one of the teams please contact Alvis or Brown through the Office of Student Affairs or Storkan in the basement of the Social Science Bldg. Storkan's hours for consultation are 9 a.m.-1 p.m. MWF and 3 p.m. T-Th. Tryouts start today, so don't delay.

Seminar To Air Current Issues

Something new has hit the Cerritos campus this year. The ASCC is going to stage a seminar on current problems in American society Oct. 11 at 8 p.m. in Burnight Center.

The freestyle program is every student's opportunity to voice his own opinion on the state of our nation today. The panel representing the Cerritos faculty in this open discussion will be headed by Howard Tashitz, one of the most vocal and entertaining professors.

Be prepared to get involved in the vital issues concerning racism, the population explosion, gun control, the identity problem confronting college students, the effects of the mass media on our generation, the generation gap, the credibility gap, or any other gap that you want to talk about.

The purpose of the seminar is to discuss those topics that can't be talked about in class because of the course restrictions. This bold departure from the norm is intended to fill in those gaps in education that our stylized, classified system of learning may have created.

Korf Releases Fall Drama Productions

"David and Lisa" has been chosen as the first drama production of the fall semester, according to Lee Korf, adviser.

The play will run Nov. 7 thru Nov. 9 in the Burnight Center Theater. The curtain will go up at 8 p.m.

In summarizing the play, Korf called it "a study of youthful love that was the subject of high acclaim."

The second fall production will dramatize "The Child Buyer" on the Burnight stage Dec. 9.

A special matinee will be performed Dec. 11 at 2 p.m.

Also on the calendar for the drama dept. is a "Night of Entertainment," which will be presented Jan. 10 and 11 at 7:30 p.m.

Special Education Classes Offered

Airline Stewardess Training has been introduced in the curriculum to provide the student with a background for a career as an Airline Stewardess or Airline Secretary or for those young girls who are interested in the airline operations and procedures. Miss Vicky Zelsdorf will be teaching in this class.

Early Childhood Education is another new course offered. It is programmed for a better understanding of the handicapped child in his formative years. Many creative activities in music, art and science are stressed in their young years to enable teachers to study their behavior patterns and thus guide them in the right direction. The teacher's role in the early childhood education is emphasized.

The Special Education Aide Program is fully endorsed and financed by the State Department of Education. Cerritos is the first in the state to start the first program of training Special Education Aides for the physically handicapped children.

Perpetual Motion And Emotion

By MIKE BOWER
Executive Editor

If one takes a close look at the sport of football, he will see that through the years there have occurred many changes. Among these are the execution of plays, types of formations, styles in uniforms and coaching techniques.

Football has grown up with a heritage of tradition. The rah-rah atmosphere is probably more prevalent in the gridiron sport than any other.

Sousa and Hot Dogs

The words "college football" to the average fan conjures up a picture of a crisp autumn day, crowds of excited people, the sounds of John Philip Sousa echoing through the stadium, the smell of hot dogs and mustard, a panorama of brilliant colors, and the enthusiastic cheers of frenzied rooters.

Right in the middle of all this excitement, color, and drama, and responsible for much of it, you find football's own example of perpetual motion and emotion . . . the pep squad.

Bubble Over

These young men and women are just as much a part of the game as the ball itself. Like a bottle of champagne they bubble over with liveliness and enthusiasm and are the meter by which the school's spirit can be measured.

They are familiar sights along the sidelines. With a seemingly unending amount of energy, they bounce, prance, jump, and yell their way through each encounter.

More often than not they are the unsung performers at the game; in front of the scenes but taken pretty much for granted.

No Small Task

Becoming a member of this elite group of "dynamos" is no small task. Hours of practice and preparation have gone into what the average spectator sees as a polished piece of rhythm.

These students must learn routines based on the precision of a double reverse, with the smoothness of a touchdown pass, the finesse of a scaback weaving his way through the defenders, and in addition must have the endurance of a whole team.

This pep team begins working in early summer drawing up their "game plans". They spend hours of long practice getting into shape.

Formations must be learned, routines perfected, and committed to memory. They have no play book to follow. Each routine is made up by the guys and gals themselves.

Worst Seats

They are ready for all occasions. Finding the right cheer when the quarterback has just run 50 yards for a score . . . for the wrong team, or when your star lineman tackles his own ball carrier, or the ability to smile when the team is down 55-0!

They have the worst seats in the house . . . none at all. For the grueling 60 minutes of action they are up and cheering.

Long hours of practice are culminated when they receive the satisfaction of generating enthusiasm.

"Psyched Out"

More than once a visiting team has been "psyched out" by the tremendous spirit shown by the home crowd. This gives the home team a lift also. They know that there is a crowd of people behind them.

Our pep squad has established itself as one of the best in competition. They have worked hard at preparing themselves for the upcoming season. If the student body could take a part of this tradition that has so long been a part of football games and apply it to Cerritos College, this year we may lift the team and the school to new heights and join the "spirited" generation.

ASCC-Bench Serve 1,600 At Second Annual Bar-B-Q

The second annual ASCC-Cerritos Bench Barbecue was held Saturday to help kick off the 1968 Falcon football season, and judging from the turnout it was a huge success. Although the total attendance was close to 1,200 and some 400 short of the 1,600 predicted, the event was still a tremendous way to start the year.

This year was only the second in which the student body has helped sponsor the event. The barbecue was previously put on solely by the Cerritos College Bench, a group of interested adults in the local community.

Queen's Float Entry Forms Now Available

Applications for entries in the Queen's float contest are now available in the office of Student Affairs.

Rules for the contest are as follows. The design must be a variation of the Olympic theme. For each design you must submit two drawings. One of the finished product in color on a plain piece of 8"x11" of paper or poster board. One of its skeletal structure drawn as it would appear on the float. Base and should include all dimensions and the side and front views of the float.

Explain any details, directions or diagrams in full, either on the back of your design or on a separate sheet of paper, to show how it would be constructed. Attach your design to the application form and turn it into the office of student affairs.

The Queen's float committee will act as judges in the contest. Entries will be judged on how practical it is as well as originality and beauty. The winner will receive two tickets to the Homecoming Dinner Dance at the Airport Marina Hotel. Deadline for the design is Oct. 15. There will be no applications accepted after the stated deadline.

'Cold Steel' Sets Mood After Game

While dancing to the music of the "Cold Steel" last Saturday night students and faculty tried to forget the grueling defeat suffered by the Falcons at the hands of Orange Coast College earlier in the evening. Too many this part of the evening was pleasant with the dance lasting until midnight.

The dance was held in the Student Center with admission free to students with ASCC cards. Students wishing to bring a guest may purchase a guest pass in the Office of Student Affairs prior to such dances for 1.

Judging from those that attended many had a great time. The "Cold Steel" was enjoyed and the dance also provided a chance for all to meet fellow students and get acquainted.

An invitation is extended to all to come to the game and post-game dance tomorrow night.

San Diego Game Marks Debut Of Falcon Band

The award-winning Cerritos College marching band takes the field for the first time this year tomorrow during the San Diego City College game.

According to the new band director Monte LaBonte, this year's group is very spirited and bigger than in the past. A good frosh turnout has pushed the band's enrollment to 80, but there are still many openings available for interested students.

The opening halftime show will be a salute to Burt Bacharach, the noted composer. Featured in the performance will be the following selections: "The Look of Love," "San Jose," "Alfie," and "What the World Needs Now Is Love."

LaBonte hopes to make Cerritos a power in marching bands and noted throughout the state as they are in other areas of student life.

"We have a very fine football team this year, and we will have an equally fine marching band, drill team and pep squad to compliment them," stated the new instructor.

According to LaBonte, the band is looking forward to a very successful year and is in fine spirits.

The new instructor will also be conducting the band at Norwalk High School this year and will have his work cut out for him with the double duties.

"But we guarantee that every performance will be better than the first."

Clubs Compete In Money Tape Competition

The annual money tape competition will take place in the Quad on Oct. 3 from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. Clubs will begin their tapes at the line where the grass begins at the Student Center steps.

Tape will be available in the Office of Student Affairs at 9 a.m. Each club must have a representative at the tape at all times. The club is responsible for counting and wrapping its own money. All collecting will end at 2 p.m. The money must be turned into the Office of Student Affairs no later than 3 p.m. on the 8th.

Competition will be based on club divisions according to the ICC commissions. The service, curricular, and special interest commissions will be competing in one division. All Panhellenic clubs will be competing in the other division. Winners for their respective divisions will be determined by the total amount collected.

All clubs interested in participating in the money tape should turn an application in to the Office of Student Affairs no later than Friday, Oct. 4. The competition is being sponsored by the Indian Project committee.

AWS To Sell Apples For Scholarships

Daffy apples will be the subject of a month-long campaign by members of the Associated Women Students to raise money for scholarships.

Beginning Tuesday AWS representatives will be selling candy-coated apple-on-a-stick. Apples will be sold at 15 cents each.

All proceeds will go to the AWS scholarship fund. The fund provides $50 and $100 scholarships for transfer and continuing students. All women students are eligible to apply.

News Briefs

THE OPENING ICC presidential meeting of the fall semester is scheduled for Monday from 4 - 6 p.m. in AC 33. All clubs and organizations are required to send a representative.

AWS PETITIONS are still available for women interested in running for either freshman or sophomore representative. Deadline has been extended to Wednesday.

DR. HENRY E. CHILDS JR., an authority on ornithology, has just published the "Life Histories of the Brown Towhees of California." Call to Arms

Through the course of history it has been the plight of American Indians to be the scapegoats of the nation. They have been downtrodden and moved around so much that they seldom know where to call "home."

Recently, a few people in the nation have taken it upon themselves to atone for their leader's unthoughtful treatment of the "first Americans" by aiding relocated Indians.

The Associated Students of Cerritos have joined in this effort as a united project of the student body. This year the boys at LeRoy's are no longer under the care of the college. After a number of years of supporting LeRoy's Boy's Home, the ASCC has taken on a new project... helping the relocated Indians in Bell Gardens, Calif.

Not Financial Alone

This will not be the usual financial aid alone. Sure it is easy to fling down a quarter and free your conscience, but this project will give the students at Cerritos College a change to help those less fortunate than themselves—people that have been "stepped on" for years. This is a call to arms for each individual to unite to this cause, a cause that will involve every student on campus.

Workshops have been planned to help the Indian help himself. A varied program of topics will be covered hoping to aid these people in their striving for long-awaited and long-deserved "equality." Don't give your money and forget it. They need money, but more importantly they need their self-respect and confidence. There is a part of this program that can use each student at Cerritos. We sincerely hope that the students of Cerritos College will answer this call and will unite in this very worthwhile and gratifying effort.

Self-Satisfying

Sharing with those who have not had the opportunities you have can be a real self-satisfying experience and participating in a venture such as this can unite Cerritos to a meaningful cause.

Participation Or Passiveness?

Freshman election will be rolling around soon, and I see it as a big flop again unless people start caring about their school. Ten seats were left open during the spring elections, when sophomores are elected to the ASCC Senate. Those ten seats are to be filled by incoming freshman who are lucky enough to collect more votes than their opponents. The only problem is there doesn't seem to be anyone interested enough to pick up a form at the Office of Student Affairs and to get 20 signatures on it to qualify.

It appears that most students view the Senate, the cabinet and the court as being a flunky type high school organization run by flitty group factions. That's far from the real truth.

Something To Be Proud Of

Student government at Cerritos is something that students can be proud of for what it has accomplished. Without student government there probably wouldn't be a football team, basketball team, track team or any athletic program whatsoever. There probably wouldn't be a music program, which includes the band and spring jazz festival. You can throw out the speech department activities. For those who didn't know, our college is the home of the national speech champions.

We wouldn't have a newspaper, so I wouldn't be writing this. Cosmology and the College Recreation Association could also be tossed out. All this would be done without student government, unless of course the district would be willing to put up the money for the programs—and that would mean more taxes for you or your parents.

Student government handles approximately $500,000 a year, and the budget committee is directly responsible for spreading the funds out fairly. On that committee are three students and two faculty members, which gives the students the vote power.

Source of Funds

The biggest share of that half million dollars comes out of your pocket in the form of student body card fees. Money is also made from the bookstore, which is funded and operated by students. Money is made and spent in many different ways on campus but it's your money and you attend the activities or use the facilities provided by the student government, including the coffee shop and cafeteria.

I could go on and on about how many programs are subsidizing by your student government, but who cares? Do you? If you do care about what happens on this campus to you and your money then you can be heard. You do have the power to make change. Your voice could be heard all the way up to the college Board of Trustees by way of student government. Our student body president has a seat on the Board of Trustees.

Rare Student Representation

Cerritos is about the only college in California that has seen fit to give the student body president such a position. If you think that it doesn't matter, go in and talk to him in the Office of Student Affairs. His name is Monte, and you might even get to like him. If you don't like him, we have a Dean of Men and Dean of Women who would be more than willing to listen to what you have to say.

What it all boils down to is participation or passiveness. If you are a participant then get your feet wet and do something. Cerritos College needs you.

Nameless Organization Will Help Indians

The newest organization on campus, so new that it doesn't even have a name, has been formed to give a helping hand to the people of the Indian Revival Center in Bell Gardens. The project, which replaces LeRoy's Boy's Home, will benefit over 500 American Indians living in the Bell Gardens area.

What these people really need is incentive, a desire to make more of themselves, and the club hopes to help them do this. Many of these people are new to the area, and the organization hopes to help them get settled and achieve a more normal way of life.

have already been planned. The cost of its members to a workshop and will have an opportunity to participate in a money tape, bubble gum sale, tricycle race, and the annual Ugly Man Contest.

The money raised will primarily be used for the Christmas project. The club plans to fix Christmas dinner with all the trimmings for Indian families from the entire Los Angeles area who spend Christmas at the Center.

For some of the children, their only chance for a Christmas with decorations, presents and a tree is through the Center. The organization wants each child to be able to have this part of Christmas.

This project is open to anyone at Cerritos. Anyone interested in visiting the Center or getting more information on the club should contact the Office of Student Affairs or club organizers Mike Darrah and Phil Lizarraga.

Dr. Mears Selected As Keynoter For State Real Estate Conference

Cerritos College President Dr. J. W. Mears will deliver the keynote address tomorrow at the Seventh annual California Statewide Conference on Real Estate Education and Research in San Francisco.

Mears will speak to more than 500 delegates on "Real Estate and Higher Education: Partners in Progress" at a luncheon meeting in the Imperial Ballroom of the Hilton hotel. The conference is sponsored jointly by the California State Division of Real Estate and the California Real Estate Association.

Attending the one-day conclave will be state real estate officials, representatives of the University of California, the California state colleges, and community colleges throughout the state.

In addition to Dr. Mears, the delegates are scheduled to hear speeches by Burton E. Smith, California state real estate commissioner; Dr. Paul F. Wendt, chairman of the Center for Real Estate and Urban Economics, U.C. Berkeley; Dr. Fred E. Case, director of the Housing, Real Estate and Urban Studies Program in the UCLA Graduate School of Business Administration; Dr. William Hippaka, chairman of the State College Screening and Advisory Committee from San Diego State College; and Robert W. Karpe, president of the CREA.

Dr. Harlan Stamm, dean of academic affairs—extended day at Cerritos, will also be attending the conference, representing the college as administrator responsible for the supervision of the real estate education program.

Stated to present a report on "The Role of the Junior College Advisory Committees on Real Estate" during one of the workshop sessions will be Lowell Anderson, coordinator of the Business Education Division at Cerritos.

The Overpowering Call

The divine hand of our state government has again blessed us with its most gracious wisdom, seeking to control our childish search for some intelligent insight into the volatile question of racism. Specifically, I speak of the Eldridge Cleaver Lecture Series and the censure of those responsible for it by the Board of Regents of the University of California.

This incident of perversion of the legitimate function of the Regents should make us ever more aware as students and citizens of the political pressures that can undermine and subvert the very premise of education in this country. The case has a tendency to remind one of the very conditions of restriction of free intellectual expression and study found most abhorrent in other cultures.

With the Board of Regents vote to censure those responsible for the lecture series they quietly committed their inability to cope with the most important function of education, learning. Thus they sent their integrity off to join their intellects in the twilight zone of unreality.

As human beings we have no right to subvert the intention of knowledge to suit our own biases.

Missed The Point

Dear Editor,

You seem to have missed the point maybe because the point is black and not white. Your editorial concerning Negroes boycotting the Olympics (Aug. 22) was not inclusive of the total situation.

Sure Negro athletes should desire equality and recognition, but for themselves only—or all "negroes"? The black athletes are saying all black people. You assumed the reason for the boycott was "a growing expression of individuality" in America. I disagree.

Not individually, but collectively or equality at least. Or how about integration? There is segregation in this country, and not just in the South. Look around! Downey, Lakewood, Bellflower, Norwalk, etc. A few token Negroes at Cerritos is not convincing me.

The black athletes who are boycotting the Olympics should be highly respected for the immense sacrifice which they are making for freedom for all people.

AMS Will Hold First Meeting Next Thursday

Thursday at 2 p.m. the Associated Men Students will hold their first official fall semester meeting in the Office of Student Affairs. It is imperative that all regular members attend.

Every man at Cerritos automatically becomes a member of AMS when he purchases a student body card and is eligible to attend meetings or participate in AMS activities.

The first AMS activity is tentatively scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 30. It will be the second Cerritos drag festival featuring famous people from the world of drag racing and, hopefully, personalities from oval track racing. Anyone who is interested in helping with the drag festival, male or female, contact AMS President Dan Bisher or Vice President Steve Alvis. Contact them with a note in their boxes in the Office of Student Affairs.

President's Column

EDITOR'S NOTE: This column is new to Talon Marks and its intent will be to inform students on campus of all major events and functions of the executive branch of student government. This column will appear weekly.

As the newly-elected president, I WANT TO ESTABLISH A FORM OF communication between the students and their president. I have established office hours every day of the week from 10 a.m. until 12 noon. I would like to appeal to all those students who don't know me to feel free to come into my office, located in the Office of Student Affairs, and meet me. For those of you who have grievances, etc., you can come and air your feelings to me.

Youth for Citizenship Conference in Washington, D.C., where I represented you, the students of Cerritos College, and the city of Norwalk. Much to my amazement, the city of Norwalk, California, I was disappointed at the structure of the organization. It seems to me (and I can appreciate this more than most students) that the conferences held in California, no matter where, are better organized. Even though California wasn't represented by many people, I think now that Washington, D.C. knows that this state on the coast is willing and able to support this great nation of ours.

The ASCC-Bench Barbecue was a smashing success. On behalf of the students of Cerritos College I would like to thank the Bench, the Veterans Club, and Phi Kappa Zeta sorority for their many hours of hard work.

Although the football team lost to Orange Coast Saturday night, we want to thank them for putting on such a magnificent showing and to let them know we are still behind them. Good luck tomorrow with San Diego City College. BEAT 'EM FALCONS.

'Blue Hawaii' Theme Of Tonight's Dance

A Hawaiian flair with fish nets and flowers will adorn the annual Blue Hawaii Dance tonight at 8 p.m. in the Student Center.

Sponsored by Phi Beta Lambda, the business fraternity, the dance will continue until midnight under the beat of "The Other Side of Time."

Open to the public, tickets will be sold at the door. Following Hawaiian motif, leis will be sold during the dance.

"This promises to be a enjoyable evening and we certainly hope everyone will make an effort to attend," said Carol Sopp, president of Phi Beta Lambda.

Adding to the evening's entertainment will be a short skit which will feature Circle K actives and pledges. The skit will take place during the band's break.

Birds of a Feather?

Don't look now, but the falcon in the Quad has begun to chirp. That's right, our spirit symbol has taken on a voice, but it's hardly that of a falcon. It seems that a family of sparrows has adopted our metal mascot and added a new dimension to its already striking features.

However, along with the pleasant sounds of the birds come other less desirable aspects, one of which is the maintenance of the ground around the statue. I didn't ask, but I imagine the maintenance crew has the birds on its mind—and as far as I know they have no sure fire answers for getting rid of the birds.

'Year Of The Falcon'

The falcon statue was erected last year as a dedication to those who have given their lives in the service of their country. It had been in the planning stages for some time, but ASCC President Monte Gualtiere initiated a push for the completion and erection so that it would be finished for at least the second semester of last year, which was the "Year of the Falcon."

One of the determining factors in its early completion was the donation of worktime by the students of Cerritos and several members of the community. With the labor problem out of the way, all that was needed was the some $2,500 for materials.

Curious Composition

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the falcon is its composition. It is constructed of aluminum, brass, steel and various other alloys; is mounted on rails which are painted blue and white, the college colors; and has doorknobs for eyes. The entire statue is specially coated to prevent rusting. The concrete base at the foot of the statue was constructed in the summer and will have both an inscription plaque and a marble plate, which was donated by an interested community member.

Rally Centerpoint

Since its completion last year, the falcon has been the center of attention on campus, often bringing comments from visitors on campus. This year it will continue to be in the middle of things as it will be used as a centerpoint for rallies in the quad.

Whether or not the birds will be a problem at the rallies is yet to be seen. However, one thing is certain—the falcon is and will undoubtedly continue to be a spirit symbol and inspiration to the students of Cerritos College. It is representative of a youthful and creative generation's art and is a modern memorial to the gallant of that generation.

As for the sparrows, I suppose they're here to stay. At least they'll have a good home within the falcon with a bird's eye view of the entire campus. I just hope they don't spot the base below.

Carol Sopp Named Vets Sweetheart

Sophomore Carol Sopp was chosen by the Veterans Club as their September Sweetheart last week.

Miss Sopp is a 19-year-old secretarial major and president of the Phi Beta Lambda business fraternity.

She is also a member of Alpha Gamma Sigma honor society and she is an Inter-Club Council representative and is presently serving on the Homecoming Publicity Committee.

The "Vets Girl of the Month" stands 5'5" and weighs 115 pounds. She has dark brown hair and green eyes. Her hobbies are water skiing and golf.

A resident of Downey, she graduated from Warren High in '66 and plans to further her education at Cal State Long Beach.

College Features Fall Film Series

The 1968 ASCC Film Series began Tuesday with the cinemascope production "The Longest Day." The series is being held in Burnlight Center with one film being shown each month.

The next film will be "To Kill a Mockingbird" from the Pulitzer Prize winning novel by Harper Lee. The film stars Gregory Peck and is the story of a Southern lawyer's efforts to minimize the traits of hatred and prejudice in the growing minds of his two young children. It is the winner of two Academy Awards, one for Best Actor and one for Award-Winning Photography. "To Kill a Mockingbird" will be shown on Friday, Oct. 18.

"The Agony and the Ecstasy," next in the series, will be featured on Friday, Nov. 15.

Admission to the film series is free with a student body card. All performances begin at 8 p.m. in Burnlight Center.

Work-Study Offered Under Federal Law

Cerritos College will continue to offer on-campus, part-time employment during the fall semester to students who qualify for financial assistance under the Higher Education Act, public law 89-329.

The federal program provides part-time employment to students, particularly those from low-income families, who are in need of such employment to pursue courses of study at institutions of higher education, according to Carl Specht, job placement coordinator.

"The higher education work-study program has been approved for the current school year at Cerritos, and we urge every student with financial needs to call the Job Placement Office to determine whether or not they are eligible for this employment opportunity," Specht said.

"No student should be deprived of the opportunity to obtain a college education solely because of financial need," he added. "This work-study program combined with other employment opportunities should provide excellent sources of financial assistance for students attending our tuition-free college."

For further information about the work-study program and other employment opportunities, call the Job Placement Office at 860-2451, extension 411.

Young Democrats

The Cerritos College Young Democrats have scheduled their second meeting for the fall semester for Tuesday at 11 a.m. in room 313 of the Social Science Building.

At the first meeting the Young Democrats were concerned with two issues. First, the membership discussed the possibilities of supporting and working for various candidates as well as sponsoring speakers and other activities on campus.

Second, the Young Democrats formulated a "Declaration of Conscience" whereby it was decided that every member could determine which candidate he wishes to support.

As a result of this the Cerritos College Young Democrats shall not officially endorse any Democratic candidate but shall act as a coordinating agency for all candidates who have supporters on this campus.

All students who have an interest in seeking the election of any or all Democratic candidates are encouraged to attend the meeting.

Newman Club

A trip to Catalina is being planned by the Newman Club for Oct. 6 from 7:30-10 p.m.

The trip is being planned to promote friendship among new and old club members as well as other clubs on campus.

To sign up for the trip attend the Tuesday meeting in the LH1 building.

ing at 11. The fee is $7 for non-members and $8 for members.

Big 'C'

Big "C" will be holding a meeting to discuss the card section for upcoming football games and the election of president.

This meeting is open to all students at Cerritos. It will be held Tuesday in SS 136 at 11 a.m.

Christmas Project

There will be a meeting on Tuesday in AC63 at 11 for all clubs interested in participating in the Christmas project. This year's project will involve the Indian Mission in Bell Gardens.

In addition to the fund raising activities, the different phases of the self-improvement program will be discussed. The athletic, educational workshop, and the tutoring programs also will be discussed.

All clubs are asked to send one or more representatives to this meeting.

AWS

AWS encourages everyone to continue to save newspapers and bring them to the college on Oct. 9 and 10. If you can't deliver, the club is willing to pick up. Leave your name and address in the Office of Student Affairs.

CRA

Regular practice on archery ranges will be held every Tuesday and Thursday from 11 to 1 and is open to all interested students. Equipment will be furnished.

All ASCC members who like to shoot should meet on the archery field Tuesday.

Circle K

Pledging begins today and continues throughout next month for new members to the campus service club. Those interested in helping blind children, working on the Indian project and at Metropolitan Hospital, and in ushering at campus events with Circle K are urged to attend the next meeting in LA 24 Thursday at 11 a.m.

The Cerritos '67-'68 Club of the Year says that no hazing is permitted of its pledges. A pledge need only accumulate 200 points of service work, which is achieved through special projects at the rate of 10 points an hour.

Steve Alvis, Circle K pledgemaster, has made it known that he will be available to answer any questions concerning the pledge period and related matters at the Office of Student Affairs.

Females Needed For Modeling Of Hairstyles

Models are needed for the annual fall hairstyling contest held by the cosmetology department of Cerritos College. The event will take place on Monday, Nov. 8, in the Student Center.

All of the junior and senior cosmetology majors need models, and all students or friends of Cerritos College students that are interested are encouraged to contact the department at extension 277 or 278. Models must be 18 years of age or older, must have the right texture hair, and must be willing to have their hair cut to an appropriate length for styling. They must also be approved by the instructor.

Practice sessions start on Tuesday, Oct. 8 and will be held on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons for six weeks.

Everyone is invited to attend the program, which will consist of comb-outs by the students, judging, entertainment, and a presentation of awards. The judges will be prominent hairstylists in the cosmetology profession.

For those interested in modeling it is a great opportunity to get a professional hairstyle from one of your fellow students. And for the rest of the college community it is a chance in a million to see the cosmetology department of Cerritos in action.

Panhellenic Picnic Sunday

By JUDI KENYON
Greek Editor

It's a happening! And the Panhellenic Board chose the right spot for it. This is the first all-greek rush picnic at Hillcrest Park in Fullerton Sunday from 12-4 p.m.

There are many wild and exciting activities planned, where everyone will have a chance to participate. Football and volleyball games are in store for those who enjoy the challenging battles over the pigskin and the frustrating battles over the net. These games should prove to be very enjoyable and the highlights of the afternoon.

Food will be provided by Greek actives.

After the picnic each sorority and fraternity may have something in store for those rushing their own organization, so be sure to inquire so you won't miss it.

It is very important that rushes attend all the activities slated by the sorority or fraternity of their choice.

The activities planned throughout Rush Week are all for rushes. Everyone who is interested is encouraged to attend. Those students who have been questioning the greek organizations, this is your chance to find the answers to those questions. Find out for yourself what it's like.

Maps may be obtained in the Office of Student Affairs, along with answers to any questions.

ORANGE COAST 'COASTS' TO FIRST WIN OVER CERRITOS

By Darryl Jackman
Asst. Sports Editor

A crowd of 8,000 fans turned out Saturday night to see the Cerritos Falcons go down to defeat at the hands of the Orange Coast Pirates. Quarterback Paul Lemoine passed and ran the strong Orange Coast team past a bewildered Cerritos defense for a 23-7 victory in the traditional season opener for both teams. The win marked the first Pirate victory in four games against Cerritos dating back to 1965.

The Falcons took the opening kickoff and put the ball into play on their own 32-yard line but were forced to punt when two passes by freshman quarterback Rich Wilkins went astray. The Pirates took over the ball on their own 39-yard line and moved down to the Cerritos 11 with the aid of four passes to Robert. The Falcon defense stopped the drive there and the Pirates had to settle for a field goal by Lemoine from the 11-yard line, putting Orange Coast out in front 3-0.

Falcon Efforts Futile

Cerritos got the ball on the kickoff but was stopped once again and had to give it up. On second down with eight yards to go, Lemoine threw a pass to fullback Mike Ozden which was good for 28 yards to the Cerritos 41. Halfback Ramon Ricardo made the score 10-0 five plays later when he scored on a three-yard pass from Lemoine.

Cerritos was saved from another Pirate touchdown late in the second quarter when a Lemoine pass was intercepted in the end zone by Falcon Lonnie McConnell, and the first half ended with Orange Coast on top 10-0.

Falcon Drive Stalls

On the first series of downs in the second half, Orange Coast was forced to give up the ball when Lemoine was thrown for a 22-yard loss. The Falcons then moved down to the Orange Coast six-yard line but lacked the punch to put the ball across. Cerritos gave back the ball when a fourth down and goal to go Wilkins pass fell incomplete in the end zone. On the first play from scrimmage, Orange Coast halfback Wayne Tinlin romped 20 yards around the left side of the Cerritos line. Two plays later he went from hero to goat as he fumbled on the Orange Coast 32-yard line. The fumble was recovered by Mike Ponzocho of Cerritos.

Scores Only Touchdown

Jongsma swept the left end of the Orange Coast line for 20 yards down to the 13. On second and goal from the one-yard line, fullback Mike Campanile carried the ball across after taking a handoff from Wilkins. Randy Wershing added the extra point, and the Falcons had cut the Pirate lead to 10-7.

After taking the kickoff, Tinlin again fumbled on his own 37-yard line, and the fumble was recovered by Falcon Larry Diehl. After moving the ball only seven yards, Wilkins' pass was intercepted by Bruce Rogge, Pirate defensive end, who returned it to his 32-yard line. Cerritos took over the ball after another Pirate drive failed, and moved to the 42-yard line where fullback Ken Hamilton fumbled and Orange Coast recovered.

Pirates Score Again

Lemoine then moved Orange Coast 32 yards in ten plays. Ricardo culminated the drive by scoring again on a one-yard plunge through center with 6:37 left in the fourth quarter.

The Falcons, trailing 17-7 took the kickoff and ran three plays only to give up the ball again on fourth and five on their own 3-yard line. Lemoine again took command of the situation, running and passing his Pirates from their own 42-yard line in 12 plays to score with only nine seconds remaining in the game as Bill Jenkins swept the left side of the Cerritos line for seven yards and the touchdown. Lemoine then missed the point after touchdown and the final score showed Orange Coast on top, 23-7.

San Diego Tomorrow Night
Tomorrow night the Falcons will meet a new non-conference opponent, San Diego City College. Kick-off is 8 p.m. in Falcon Stadium.

Losing Football Not Commonplace In Eleven-Year Cerritos History

By RICHARD FRENCH
Sports Editor
Losing is not a commonplace thing in Cerritos football history. The Falcons have a record of 75 wins, 24 losses and three ties in the first 11 years of football at the college and have captured four conference championships and played in three post-season bowl games.

Junior Rose Bowl

Falcon football began in 1957 when the team, using a barn in Artesia as a fieldhouse, captured the fancy of the nation and ended up playing in the Junior Rose Bowl where they were defeated by Arlington, Tex. Earl Klapstein was coach of the Falcons during their first two years.

In 1958 Cerritos captured the first of three consecutive Western States Conference titles, losing only to Riverside, 28-27. That year the Falcons rolled up 417 points to only 67 for the opposition.

Hall Takes Over Reins

Don Hall, present athletic director at the college, took over the reins of the football team in 1959 and guided the Falcons to an 8-1 record and a second conference championship. The team again captured the conference crown in 1960 enroute to an 8-2 record and concluded the season by dropping a 50-28 decision to powerful Bakersfield in the Shrine Potato Bowl game.

Cerritos finished second in the Western States Conference in 1961 and left the conference that year after compiling an amazing five-year record of 28-3-1.

Falcons Join Metro

In 1962 Cerritos entered the Metropolitan Conference and finished in a tie for fourth place. Highlight of the season was a 21-7 victory over Bakersfield, avenging the Potato Bowl loss of 1960.

The Falcons moved up a notch in the conference standings in 1963 when they finished third with a 5-2 record and 7-2 overall. They also finished third in 1964 when Hall took over the duties of athletic director and was replaced by Smokey Cates, present Falcon mentor.

'Year of the Falcon'

1965 was truly the "Year of the Falcon" as Cerritos had a most successful season. The Falcons captured the conference title, went through an undefeated season, and concluded the year with a convincing 41-12 Potato Bowl victory over Boise, Idaho. They rolled up a total of 330 points to only 120 for the opposition.

The Falcons dropped to second in 1966 with a 5-1-1 record and were 6-2-1 overall.

Worst Season Last Year
Cerritos suffered its worst season last year and finished fifth in the conference with a 2-4-1 record but still managed to finish even with a 4-4-1 slate.

Falcon teams have always been known for fighting back, as history shows us, so don't count them out, ever. They have a winning tradition to maintain.
