

Seven Coeds Vie For Crown Wednesday

By MIKE BOWER
Executive Editor

For seven Cerritos College coeds Tuesday morning, October 15, brought a moment that they will long remember and one that should lead to many equally memorable experiences.

The momentous occasion was the announcement of the 1968 Homecoming Court. The seven young ladies earned the honor from an election in which the voters selected from 18 lovely females, the seven who will reign over this year's festivities.

The seven are Cyndi Evanson, Nancy Heaton, Judy Mikkelsen, Sandy Pearson, Joyce Puharich, Linda Reed, and Tina Romero.

A record 986 turned out to choose the '68 court and fell just short of the all-time Cerritos College voting mark. It was the first year that night students were given the opportunity to vote and many took advantage of it.

A total of 298 night students took part in the election, and witnessed an extensive night campaign by many of the candidates the evening of election day.

The announcement began three weeks of activities for the seven girls in which one of them will be selected Homecoming Queen for 1968. The final queen election will be held October 23 all day.

Among the other Royal activities will be a Frisbee Contest today featuring the seven as contestants; A giant Pizza-Eating Contest sponsored by Shakey's Pizza in which the girls will feed their hunger representative in a battle of the mouths and stomachs; a Mini-Skirt Show with the young ladies modeling outfits; the annual Homecoming Dinner-Dance at the Airport Marina Hotel; and of course the traditional Homecoming game November 2 versus Pierce College.

Cyndi, Nancy, Judy, Sandy, Joyce, Linda, and Tina will be kept busy with the duties, honors, and responsibilities of their positions in addition to continuing their respective campaigns. They were officially introduced to the student body during yesterday's pep rally in the Student Center.

CYNDI EVANSON has been selected as the Wrestling Team's candidate. Cyndi is a Legal Secretary major at Cerritos and hopes to become an executive secretary upon graduation. The 5'7" brown-eyed, brown-haired sophomore lives in Bellflower and attended Downey High School. Cyndi is head song leader on this year's pep squad and belongs to Big C and Alpha Gamma Sigma. She likes to spend her spare time dancing, sewing, water skiing, and playing tennis.

NANCY HEATON is the Sweetheart of Sigma Phi. Nancy resides in Bellflower and attended Bellflower High School. She is a sophomore. Home Economics major and stands 5'3" with brown eyes and brown hair. Her activities at Cerritos have included membership in Delta Phi Omega of which she is now president, Jazz Festival Princess 1968, Miss Shamrock 1968, and she received a Bronze Falcon in the Spring of 1968. Her future plans call for Cal State L.A. and a career in food photography.

JUDY MIKKELSEN is the Sweetheart of Circle K. The blue-eyed blonde sophomore Dental Hygiene major graduated from Covina High School and lives in Downey. She comes to Cerritos from UCLA where she pledged Delta Delta Delta and was the Sweetheart of Sigma Chi. Her activities at Cerritos include being a member of the pep squad as a song leader, and a reporter on Talon Marks. She enjoys playing the piano, swimming, and baking in addition to song leading, water skiing, tennis, and volleyball. She hopes to attend the USC school of Dentistry next fall and become a dental hygienist.

SANDY PEARSON is a 5'6" brown-haired, green-eyed sophomore Sociology major. She is being sponsored by the Cerritos Football Team. Sandy is a world class figure skater and has competed in a number of beauty contests. She likes water skiing, dancing, skating, and weight training in her spare time. Among her titles are Miss Cerritos-Artesia 1968 and Third Place World Gold Skate Classic 1967. She plans to work in some phase of social service. Sandy resides in Cerritos and attended Downey High.

JOYCE PUHARICH, a 5'6" brown-haired, brown-eyed sophomore Spanish major, is LDS Clubs choice for Homecoming Queen. Joyce lives in Downey and graduated from Downey High. Her activities on campus include membership in Delta Phi Omega, Big C, Song Leader on Pep Squad, and reporter on Talon Marks. Her hobbies include water skiing, and collecting records. She plans to either continue her education or become an Airline Stewardess.

LINDA REED is the Pep Squad's selection. Linda is a resident of Lakewood and attended Artesia High School. The 5'3" brown-haired, brown-eyed sophomore is a Business Law major and a member of the pep squad as a song leader, and Big 'C'. Linda has appeared in Cerritos College drama productions and has won several awards for her acting talent. She also enjoys watching sporting events and dancing. Her future plans call for work.

TINA ROMERO is being supported by the Veterans Club. Tina is a 5'4" brown-eyed brunette sophomore majoring in Dental Assisting. She likes to water ski and ice skate. She is a song leader and a member of Big C. A graduate of Norwalk High School, she lives in Cerritos. Her future plans are to attend Airline School. Tina was very active in student activities in high school and was Girl's State Representative. She is the Vet's Club Sweetheart for October.

Falconettes Busily Prepare For Fall Events

"The girls this year have good morale as well as good ability," according to Joan Schutz, adviser to the Cerritos College Falconette Drill Team.

The team this year consists of 29 girls, all of whom are new with the exception of six returning twirlers. This constitutes the largest drill team since 1964-65.

This year's captain of Falconettes is Linda Harengame. According to Joan Schutz, she is doing a very fine job. Linda is a returning Falconette in her second year at Cerritos. She attended a drill team camp in Thousand Oaks last summer. The head Falconette works very hard with the band and her eight squad leaders in making up formations and routines for pre-game or halftime performances.

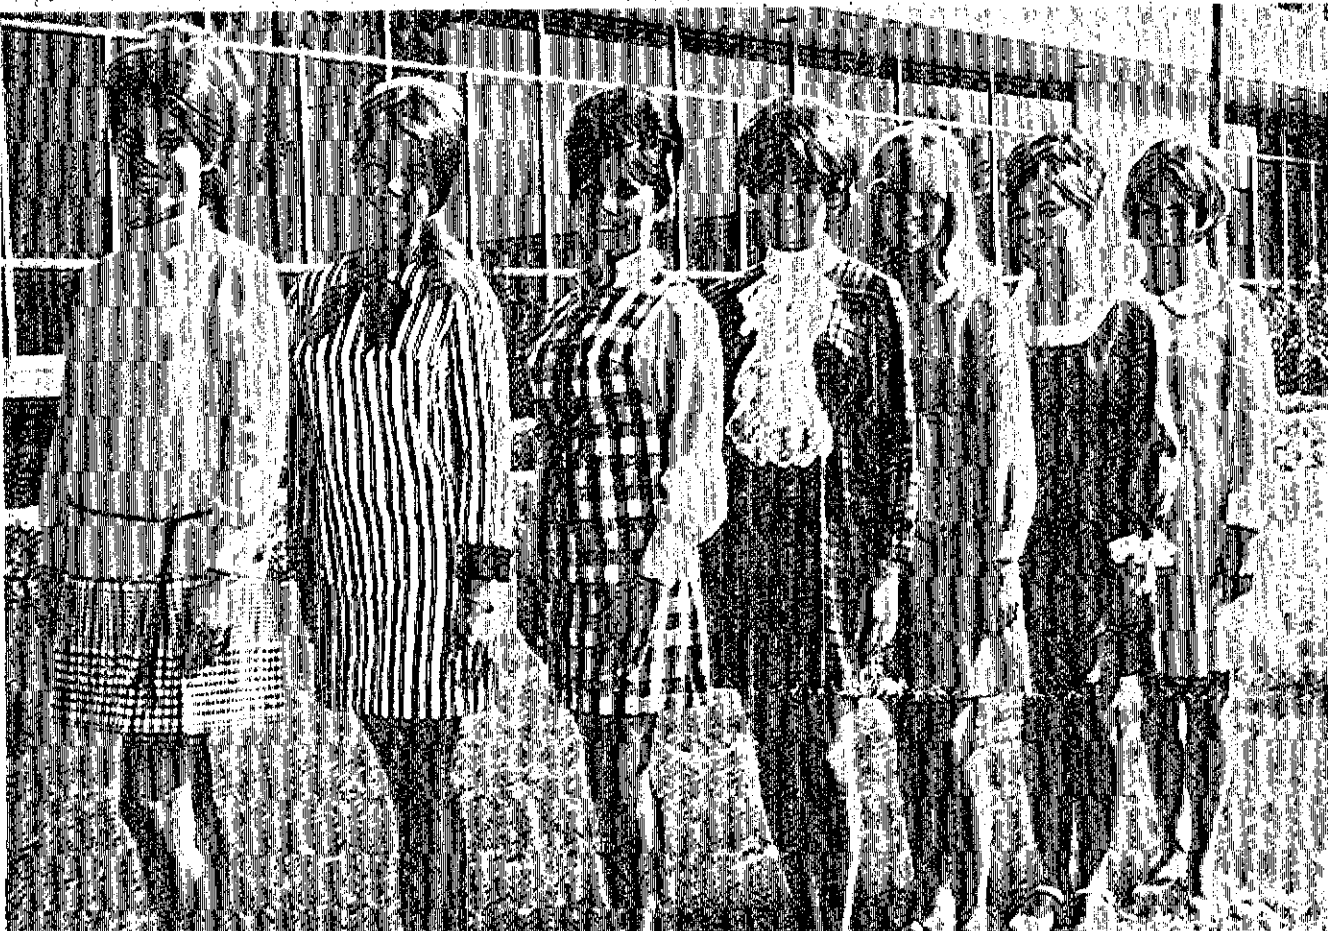

On the Falconette schedule is the halftime to be performed at L.A. Valley this Saturday night. The girls will put down their flags and entertain the rooters with a dante routine. The drill team will also perform at Bakersfield and looking forward to the following week and the homecoming game on Nov. 2.

Fifty to 60 girls who have been on Falconettes in previous years have been asked to return. They will all join together to do the traditional St. Louis blues routine during homecoming halftime.

Joan Schutz stated that something to watch for would be the famous black light routine in which the Falconettes use fluorescent flags of different colors.

Alvis Plans Year's Activities; Field Trips, 'JC' Day On Agenda

By GEORGE WOODWORTH
Copy Editor

Blossoming on the campus scene is an eventful year of activities for the Cerritos student planned from the bud stage by the ASCC Commissioner of Activities Steve Alvis. Last year's Freshman of the Year has already scored two successes with his Freshman Orientation '68 program and the Open Discussion-Seminar, both firsts for the campus.

Alvis has served this college well as a member of Circle K, the speech squad, College Bowl (first team) and as vice-president of the Associated Men Students. Turning his attention to campus activities, he has used his imagination and his knowledge of campus life to create activities of an all-campus nature.

Besides becoming involved in the current homecoming celebration planning with Don Butler, chairman of homecoming, he has auditioned all the bands for the current semester dances and planned many discount priced field trips to the Music Center, Melodyland and a special junior college day at Disneyland. Other places of interest are in preparation for the winter schedule beginning in December. There will be more discussion seminars this semester, and if the budget permits, Freshman Orientation II will be staged for the second semester.

In the spring, with the return of fair weather, paper bag lunch programs featuring musicals and guest speakers will be inaugurated. Quad dances will also be added to the list of spring activities. An ASCC luau will highlight the second semester bringing the taste of exotic foods, the look of shapely hula dancers and the sound of lilting guitars to the Cerritos campus.

Looking forward to next semester, one of the innovations that might be expected is another brainchild of the many-sided Alvis that he calls a Computer Dance. At the low cost of 80 cents per person, a computer corporation that specializes in personality matching for the purpose of dating will run a computer analysis on each of the dance participants selecting at least two members of the opposite sex for each as a matched partner. This will no doubt prove to be an interesting evening for all concerned.

Because it is that time of year when we welcome back our alumni and celebrate this opportunity to be educated, it behooves us to thank those who are working behind the scenes at all of the activities that we enjoy so much. Butler and Alvis have been working together on the homecoming celebration since last June hoping to make it one of the best for the Falcons, past and present. Mike Bower, who has been in charge of publicity, has done an outstanding job handling publicity stunts and posters scheduled for the next two weeks. Due to their work, it looks like another winner.

And thanks to Commissioner Alvis, Cerritos students can look forward to a year with an abundance of activities

Coronation to Climax '68 Homecoming Ball

The Fifth Annual Homecoming Dinner-Dance will be held Friday, Oct. 25, starting at 8 p.m. in the Regency Ballroom of the Airport Marina Hotel in Los Angeles.

"The Olympiad", in conjunction with the '68 Olympics now in progress in Mexico City, has been chosen as this year's theme for the Queen Coronation Ball.

Music will be provided for by the Cerritos College Stage Band and dancing will continue until 1 a.m. As an added attraction, a special entertainment program will be staged by "The New Establishment".

The dinner will start promptly at 8 p.m. Included on the menu will be supreme of fresh fruit princesses, attractively garnished and served in silver cups. The main course will be breast of Capon Riev, stuffed with sweet butter; mushroom sauce, pilaff of rice, and green beans almondine. For dessert baked soufflé Alaska with chocolate sauce will be served.

Climaxing the evening will be the crowning of the 1968 Cerritos Homecoming Queen and the presentation of her royal court. Among the regal hopefuls are Nancy Heaton, sponsored by Sigma Phi; Cyndi Evanson, Wrestlers; Judy Mikkelsen, Circle K; Sandy Pearson, football team; Joyce Puharich, LDS; Linda Reed, pep squad; and Tina Romero, Veterans.

The Airport Marina Hotel is located on 8601 Lincoln Boulevard at Manchester Avenue. Maps may be picked up in the Office of Student Affairs.

Olympics Prevail Over Halftime

Saturday night in the Cerritos Stadium during the intermission of the Cerritos-El Camino game a halftime spectacular was presented by the Cerritos College Marching Band and five participating high school bands in the First High School Band Night.

These five school bands met with the Cerritos group on Saturday afternoon to rehearse and were provided with a dinner in the evening.

Awesome Presentation
During the pregame activities the bands from Norwalk, Excelsior, John Glenn, Artesia and Gahr high schools marched around the track in what proved to be an awesome presentation of musical might.

The halftime presentation was a salute to "The Olympics" and was highlighted by stirring renditions of "March of the Olympians" and "The Impossible Dream."

The bands next performance will be tomorrow night at Valley. The halftime show will be "Music Everywhere." Band director Monte LaBonte and his band demonstrate "that where ever you go you are involved with music."

Mission Impossible
First the marching musicians take the crowd on the steamboat at Disneyland and then to the Mission Impossible tape recorder that will actually self-destruct in three seconds.

The third number will be the Dodge fever song, which features the Falconettes. The final song will be a salute to Odyssey 2001 which will have a theme depicting dawn — a fanfare to Zarathustra.

LaBonte said that pride is being built both inside the band and outside, as the crowds of rooters have shown.

Pat Paulsen Double

Wins '67 Corvette

The weekly 11 a.m. pep rallies, held every Thursday in the Student Center, are quickly becoming something to talk about. Yesterday the second in a series of four special rallies that are included among the homecoming festivities.

Featured were the seven queen candidates... the 1968 Homecoming Court. The special attraction of the rally was the Pat Paulsen Look-A-Like Contest. Judging was conducted by audience applause, and the winner, Jeff Stein, received a 1967 Corvette. The small-scale model was furnished courtesy of Sopp Chevrolet.

On the band to lead the rally were the spirited pepsters... the cheerleaders, songleaders and the pep band.

These rallies are held every Thursday at 11 a.m. at the Student Center. All Cerritos students are invited to attend.

Students To Voice Presidential Choices

A special ballot will be included during the Homecoming Queen election Wednesday. It will include all Presidential and California Senatorial candidates of both parties as they will appear on the national ballot.

"Since the elections are so close, it was felt that the students opinion of the national elections would be of general interest to the student body and it would add an incentive for students to get out and vote," according to Senator Margaret Saito, who sponsored the Bill at Wednesday's Senate meeting. The bill was seconded by Senator Nancy Ramirez.

Both parties will be on campus campaigning for their choice during the week.

Sinawik Beats Clubs; Collects Most Papers

Papers, papers, and more papers was the scene Oct. 9 and 10 when the ladies, AWS, on campus held their first Inter-club paper drive.

According to Sue Buckley, participating clubs managed to completely fill the huge bin designed for the paper. The bin was located in the parking area beside Burnight Center.

Beating out the other clubs in the contest was Sinawik, the women's service club on campus, with 324 inches.

Also competing were Phi Kappa Zeta, with 280 inches; Big C 180"; campus crusade for Christ, 92"; Theta Phi, 38"; and Tau Rho Beta, 32".

Proceeds from the paper sale will be added to the AWS Scholarship Fund. At the end of the year AWS presents $50 and $100 scholarships to transferring and continuing women students. All women on campus are eligible to apply.

Women interested in serving AWS should attend one of their meetings. Meetings are held every first, third, and fifth Tuesday of the Month in AC 72 at 11 a.m. The next open meetings scheduled for October 29.

TALON MARKS

Homecoming Brings Spirit and Enthusiasm

We'd like to extend our gratitude and commend those that took advantage of their voting rights and participated in Monday's homecoming election. The 986 students that used this opportunity was a record for homecoming elections and just missed the all-time Cerritos election mark of 996 which was set during an ASCC presidential election.

The spirit and enthusiasm of homecoming has been contracted by many, and the results show in the fine turnout and support thus far.

Each club is to be commended on its respective campaign. The seven young ladies that were selected came from a list of girls any one of which would have made a court member of whom the college could have been proud.

Probably more enthusiasm and spirit was shown in this past election than any other. One reason for the outstanding turnout was the unending campaigning done by the various clubs. A new night time voting record of 298 was set Monday. A large part of this was due to the clubs taking time out to talk with night students and to make an effort in their campaign to reach the night vote.

We're sure that those contacted by the "personalized" campaigning were impressed and encouraged by the enthusiasm. The clubs not only helped their cause but in doing so aided the college and the election as a whole.

Another election is scheduled for Oct. 23 for the purpose of selecting the 1968 Homecoming Queen. All polling records should be wiped out in this election. If the students of Cerritos College take advantage of their voting opportunity, we should have the best election in the history of the college.

Despite the new records, 986 is a small portion of those students who should be voting. Your vote is your say in what goes on at Cerritos... don't give up your voice on campus. Continue the fine participation in Homecoming 1968, and let's hope it carries over into other elections and other phases of student government. It's a good feeling when you know that you are a part of something great!

Playboy And Sensationalism

Criticizing the editorial policy of Playboy, a magazine I respect, is not a pleasant task. But in regard to the pictorial "The Real McNair," I think it thoroughly necessary to criticize. Veiled in the guise of the Playboy philosophy, this pictorial is nothing more than a flagrant attempt at cheap sensationalism.

The first three pages of the pictorial (Oct. 68) are composed of various photographs of Miss McNair; several of them being seminudes. As a personal comment, these photographs appeared to have some artistic sense and amply illustrate the physical beauty of the subject. This of course is something that might better be judged by one more educated in the realms of art and photography, something I do not wish to imply in reference to myself.

However, the next two pages can be much more easily judged by a layman. These pages are made up of excerpts from a love scene in the motion picture "If He Hollers, Let Him Go." It is a well-accepted fact that difficulty in maintaining some altruistic value in a love scene rises in proportion to its intimacy. But Playboy, not mindful of this obvious fact, has taken a few photographs of Miss McNair and a male Negro in intimate, nude embrace without even an attempt at order or meaning.

This alone is not the only judgment against the integrity of the pictorial. Playboy in the last 12 months has not given one-fourth this much space to such excerpts from a motion picture, although it has amply proved the availability of such. The reason for play of this type of material is easily discerned. The two individuals involved are Negroes. Playboy is a white, middle class magazine. When the reader looks upon this, he is quite possibly shocked. Hence the likelihood of them forgetting the pictorial, or Playboy, is lessened. Hence both the motion picture excerpts were taken from and Playboy gain through the use of sensationalism.

Further, the motion picture had its nationwide release approximately three weeks after this issue went into distribution. In a full-page advertisement appearing in the Los Angeles Times, September 11, reference is made to the following: "The October issue of Playboy magazine dared to print actual scenes from this far-out movie. Playboy readers were awed by the zingy, revealing Playboy photo spread showing torrid scenes of," etc.

Whether this cheap promotion was instigated by Playboy or the producers for profit is of little consequence. But the fact that Playboy allowed itself to be used for the purpose of such makes the total integrity of the magazine a matter of some question and the absurdly ludicrous nature of this pictorial obvious.

Stop the War?

By GREG HUTSKOE

When the war in Vietnam began, it seemed unlikely that such a minor skirmish would outlast each of the world wars. But that's exactly what has happened. The United States and North Vietnam have managed to propel the "minor skirmish" into a long and drawn-out war.

The U.S. has the military might to stop the war—indeed, it has always had that power. But the war continues. Why? Why hasn't it been stopped? Why should an aging Communist leader and his Viet Cong be allowed to continue a war that should long ago have ended? There must be some way to stop the war.

Many persons, questioning our presence there in the first place will suggest withdrawal. A withdrawal, however, is not satisfactory. Only an offensive force can withdraw. We, being the defense (of South Vietnam), must stay to protect. We have played this role before and those we helped have proven extremely grateful (enter South Korea).

Others will suggest an attempt at pleasing the enemy at the peace table with a bombing halt or a truce. This again proves unsatisfactory. Earlier U.S. bombing halts have done nothing. The enemy simply used the time to its advantage by stocking supplies and moving troops. During the last Christmas truce our people stopped counting after the Cong had broken the truce a thousand times.

Militants, then, come up with the only answer that makes sense to them—kill! Although they are a select few, they demand that our country take the right attitude into the war, even though it is an undeclared war (when a marine gets killed now, he's just as dead as he would have been in WWII). Deep down inside, though, they realize that this will probably never happen. Any country that allows a group of its citizens to be kidnapped on the high seas without retaliation doesn't seem to be overly aggressive.

If then, we aren't serious about Vietnam, maybe we should leave. Perhaps the South Vietnamese people even want us out. Perhaps they prefer communism to our way of life. But that doesn't seem too likely. At last count the number of persons jumping the Berlin Wall from East to West slightly outnumbered those going in the opposite direction.

Village Idiot

A Sample Freshman English Examination

By STEVE ALVIS

Greetings and salutations of the day. All college students share one experience in their academic life: Freshman English. As everyone knows, by now anyway, the most exasperating aspect of this wonderful (ugh!) course is that great educational institution, the "test." Here, then, is a sample of our own extraordinary cultural phenomenon.

1. Huckleberry Finn is: (a) an agent for the Red Chinese (b) the son of John Birch (c) a diabolical midget (d) all of the above.

2. Jim, the runaway slave, is accused of being: (a) a runaway slave (b) a Black Panther terrorist (c) the King of Ethiopia traveling incognito (d) badly sunburned.

3. In Huck Finn, the Mississippi River represents: (a) a figment of Mark Twain's imagination (b) water pollution (c) what happens when the stream of consciousness overflows (d) what happens when the entire state of Minnesota goes on vacation and leaves the water running.

4. What makes King Lear go mad? (a) The generation gap. (b) He left his family defenseless. (c) Reading "The Village Idiot." (d) His girdle was killing him.

5. In the new Broadway hit, "The Life, Death and Resurrection of Our Country's Savior," the part of Richard Nixon is played by (a) Milton Berle (b) George Wallace (c) Charles De Gaulle (d) LBJ.

6. Zorba the Greek is really: (a) a Turk (b) a Vatican spy (c) an upper middle class snob (d) the story of a boy and a horse that loved him (e) alive and well in the Cerritos English department.

7. The climax of "Catcher in the Rye" comes (a) when Holden decides to join the priesthood (b) when Ackley discovers Ultrabrite, Ban and Pond's 7-day beauty plan (c) and goes (d) about 10 pages after the end of the book.

8. ESSAY: Give the entire plot of Tolstoy's "War and Peace" in 25 words or less.

9. EXTRA CREDIT: Being completely honest and unbiased, tell why I am the greatest English teacher of your entire academic career. Remember kids, no cheating.

LETTERS

Talon Marks Needs Movie Review Column

Dear Editor:

I wrote a letter similar to this one last semester, but I thought I'd make my suggestion again. I'd like to suggest that you add a column to the paper in which current films are discussed.

Most surveys show that the vast majority of those in attendance at movies today are young people. And films of the 60s are becoming increasingly "youth-oriented," i.e. "Bonnie and Clyde", "The Graduate", "Wild in the Streets", etc.

Such a column would not only be an interesting addition to the paper, it would be a real reflection of student interests, and even if some kids get upset over a review with which they disagree, at last it might shake them up a little and get them aware of something. And if a college paper can move students at all I'd call it a success.

Anyhow, it was just an idea. I hope you'll think about it. Thanks for listening.

Parking Lot Fees Or Parking Fine

Dear Editor:

Once again the Cerritos College Board of Trustees discussed parking lot fees for students. Mr. Siriani indicated that there might be a problem collecting violator's fees.

Grades are withheld for nonpayment of library fines. Is there any reason why the same theory cannot be applied to parking lot fines?

President's Voice

Homecoming Election Draws Record Vote

ASCC President Praises Part-Time Student Voters

The homecoming election for the court was held Monday with very outstanding results. For the second time in the history of the college the vote was over 900. In a previous presidential election there was a total of 996 votes. This time 986 voters went to the polls in support of their choice.

The part-time student participation was 233, and the full-time student participation was 753. The freshman Senate election, which drew 31 part-time votes, was a mere beginning in this new era of participation. The part-time students are to be commended for their mass participation in the past election.

I would especially like to recognize those students affiliated with the Society for the Advancement of Management (S.A.M.). These are the people who want to see changes and who also want to become involved in the affairs of this college. Without their help we could not have broken the voting record at Cerritos. I'm glad to see that S.A.M. is taking the initiative of securing more campus participation from night students.

On the "very bright" side of things, I personally extend congratulations to the seven girls who were elected to the court. I know all 18 clubs that had selected girls to represent them worked very hard campaigning to win. But as in every election there has to be a winner and a loser. It's too bad that all the girls couldn't win.

Now the big push is on, and next week you, the students, will choose your homecoming queen. So to the seven girls I say good luck. To the voters I say it's a tough choice! But let's make this an even greater record. And for those of you who participated in the homecoming court election let's really get out and push for a record that will be remembered at Cerritos.

For those of you who enjoy playing ping pong outside the student coffee shop you can look forward to an addition in the equipment. It has been brought to my attention of the need for another ping pong table. Therefore, at the last executive meeting the executive branch of your student government has taken the initiative to recommend to the Senate for passage of legislation to purchase another ping pong table.

At a recent Board of Trustees meeting, I approached the Board about the installation of a sign on the San Gabriel Freeway (605) designating a Cerritos College off ramp. They also had seen a need for such a sign, and due to their action taken a sign will be installed on the freeway soon.

Our football team is one that we can be proud of. After dropping three games in a row the Falcons bounced back and nearly upset the nation's number one rated junior college football team, the one we all know as El Camino. The crowd that attended that game knows that Cerritos is still a school of champions and will continue to be champions win or lose. This Saturday the Falcons go against L. A. Valley. As supporters of our team let's go out and show the gridiron squad we are still part of them. You CAN do it team. Beat L.A. Valley.

As many of you know Cerritos College students performed another first by creating a card stunt section under the direction of Don Benschneider, head yell leader. As everything else we do, it was a big success. Many thanks to those of you that saw fit to participate.

ASCC President Monte Gualtiere

Stats Grow Greatly With New Semester

Parking lots seem just a little more crowded this year as Cerritos opened its 12th year with 10,853 students. This is the largest enrollment ever recorded at the college.

The enrollment included 2,172 full-time and 2,525 part-time students who are attending Cerritos for the first time. There are also 2,400 full-time and 2,758 part-time continuing students in attendance.

The staff totals 237 instructional and administrative personnel. Eighteen new teachers have been added to the faculty this year. They include: Elson Follett, Life Science; Jon Fultz, Data Processing; Joseph Gartner, Art; Doris Gori, Nursing; Arthur Guilford Jr., Prosthetics-Orthodontics; Duda Hentell, Nursing; Constance Immel, English; and Monte LaBonte, Music.

Inside Radio and TV

Radio And TV Enter Classes

By TIM HARRELL

Radio and television, being members of the mass communications family, reach millions of Americans every day. All too often people bring up the shortcomings of the broadcasting industry without realizing the good it does. An excellent example of this are the educational radio and television stations, locally KCET Channel 28.

Educational programs from both radio and television are being used successfully in the classroom. A leader in the use of TV in schools has been the Hagerstown Md. School District, which linked 43 schools with a closed circuit TV system. Now many high schools in the Los Angeles area are taking advantage of KCET's programming. Channel 28, realizing obligation to the community, programs certain shows that relate to classroom topics.

TV Will Replace Teachers

Some experts have even predicted that someday television will replace the teacher in the classroom. This sounds a little far out for me because just like teacher television is not infallible. It can make mistakes. Besides, I would hope that the system would never become that impersonal.

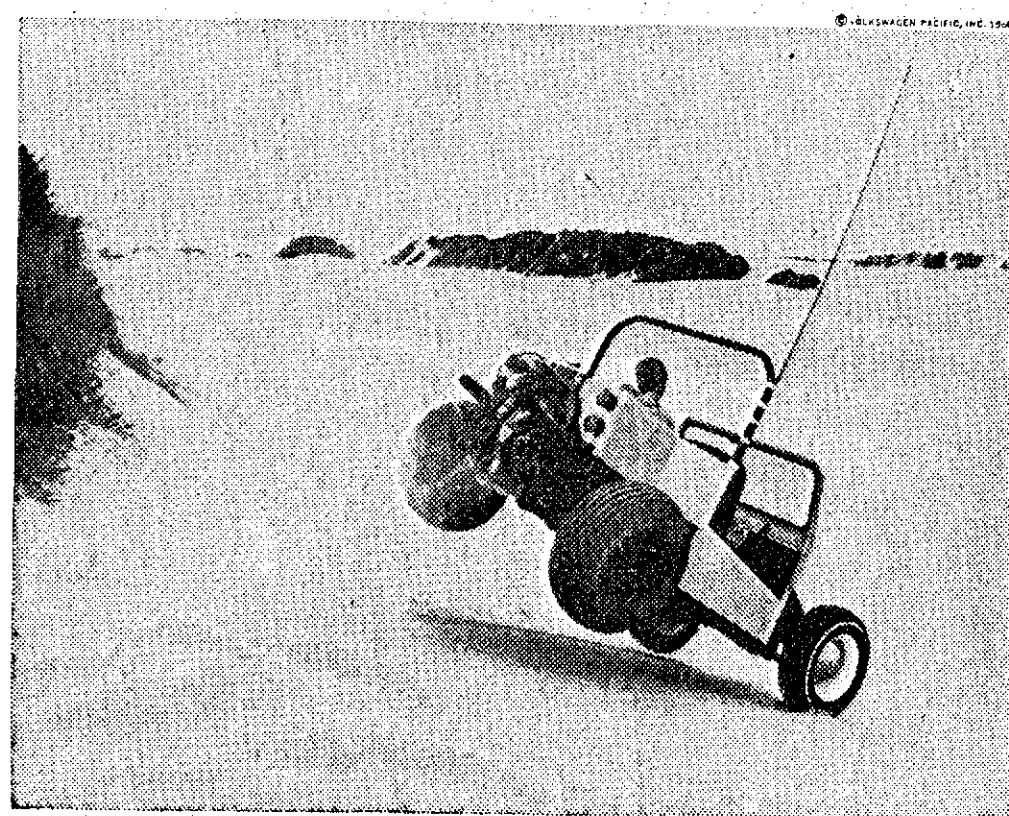

The one thing that educational television cannot do is answer student's questions.

Perhaps sometime the brains behind it will perfect a way to answer questions, but until that day I'm afraid the teacher on television will just have to assume everyone understands the lesson.

Colleges Use TV

Television is not the only education media. FM radio is becoming more and more popular on college campuses. After World War II the FCC allocated the 88-92 megacycle band for educational use only, which made it possible for many colleges and universities to start their own radio stations. Locally Long Beach City College and USC are among several colleges that have their own radio stations broadcasting regular programming as well as educational shows.

The future of ETV is a bright one. With the development of communications satellites it isn't improbable that in the future we may be learning French from a teacher in Paris, or students in Germany might be learning English from Los Angeles.

Old Volkswagens never die.

Some of them turn into dune buggies. And go racing, and bounding, and bouncing around on the desert.

Now, if you do all your driving around town, don't feel left out. Because the main point we want to make is this: The things that make a bug a good buggy are the same things that make it a good family car.

The air-cooled engine, for instance, can run all day in the desert sun without overheating. Your more conventional VW has the same advantage on a clogged freeway. When water and tempers start to boil.

The engine is also rear-mounted for better traction. Perfect for dune buggy drivers in all that sand. And not bad for you regular people just trying to get moving on a slippery street.

The Volkswagen has independent suspension on all four wheels. This is a very stable arrangement for racing — often flying — over the dunes. And very comfortable on a country road. Or an almost-paved street.

When an overly large dune is encountered, the VW's quick, precise steering can turn as fast as the driver can change his mind. Which can be a definite advantage in these days of defensive driving too.

Then there's the way the bug is built. Any car that could take ten years of normal driving, and then go banging around on the desert is obviously built to last.

So, if you need a good, practical, family car that won't give out in a few years, drive a Volkswagen.

And if you ever do hear the call of the wild, you'll be ready.

"See the yellow pages for the Volkswagen dealer nearest you."

FALL HAS FELL

The Autumn of the Year

BY REMY LEVY

The autumn season started officially on September 21 and ends on December 21. It is frequently referred to as "Fall," referring to the fall of the leaves.

The autumn leaves before falling turn into variegated colors, changing their tones into bright and soft hues. The leaves are beautiful beyond description. Many writers have tried to express the magnificence with their pens and they find themselves with a loss of words trying to describe their true value.

The artists with their paint brushes have tried to capture its grandeur on canvas but very few have given it justice. One of the greatest American painters is Robert Wood whose painting of "Autumn Leaves" has brought him recognition as one of the greatest masters of his period. However, in my opinion, only God could create such a masterpiece, where the indescribable harmony of colors is unsurpassed!

The weather, at this time of the year, tends to be cooler and the wind seems to

Final Activities

Full Schedule Ahead For '68 Homecoming

By SHERRY ANGELL

As preparations are being made for all the numerous Homecoming activities, clubs and organizations are planning for the final Homecoming Court elections to be held next Wednesday October 23. During the last weeks, these groups have been busily selecting their favorite representatives to run for queen, and now, after a week of poster making and campaigning, the race is on for the top spot.

The girls who were elected to the court on Monday are going to have many future days filled with court activities and queen campaigning. Quad dances have been planned for both election days, the first, planned for Monday, was rained out and the second being the Queen elections-dance held on Wednesday, October 23. The main objective of these dances is to encourage each member of the student body to vote and have a say in school activities.

Four pep rallies have been planned to keep the students informed of not only the court candidates, but also the winners of the elections. The third rally on October 24 will reintroduce each queen candidate, and at the rally of October 31, the Homecoming Queen and court will be officially presented to the students.

Other activities are lined up for the members of the court. On Oct. 18, each girl has to participate in a Frisbee Throwing Contest; October 21 will find the girls hunting down a good pizza eater to represent her in a pizza eating contest; cold legs will arise when the girls put on a mini skirt show on Oct. 22.

These activities are only a few of the events lined up for the girls. Not mentioned were the many hours of hard work to make posters and the tremendous amount of energy required to represent a group as a queen candidate; unrelated where the many hours for preparation, appearances at luncheons and other functions, and campaign pictures. These are all necessary court activities, and they must be fulfilled by each queen candidate. It's a busy job, but a very rewarding job, and as chairman of court activities, I am looking forward to one of the most exciting and vibrant homecoming's Cerritos College has ever hosted.

Airline Classes Offer Varied Program for Cerritos Students

By LINDA HURT

Girls who want to go "up, up and away" with a career as an airline stewardess now have an opportunity to prepare for this field with new course offerings.

There are four courses which are specifically related to airline training. INTRODUCTION TO AVIATION is a basic course on fundamentals of aviation. It shows the relationship of the stewardess to the total field of air transportation. Qualifications and duties of the stewardess for different airlines, and for domestic and international flights is covered.

AIR TRANSPORTATION surveys the many fields of employment found in aviation. Also covered is a history of the aircraft industry, passenger trade, government subsidy and regulation, airline route development, reservations and ticketing, schedules and airline reports.

The AIRLINE OPERATIONS course is a practical application of the theory of various airline organizations. It includes control tower operations, airport lighting, radio and meteorological service, reservations and ticketing.

IN-FLIGHT PROCEDURES helps the student to acquire skill and confidence in promoting passenger comfort and safety. Inflight navigation, meteorology and general services are also studied.

Anyone interested in this program must meet all the general airline stewardess requirements, which are: age, 20-26 years; height, 5'3" to 5'9"; weight, 102 to 140 pounds with weight proportional to height; vision, 20-50 without glasses (contact lenses are permissible).

The program leads to an associate in arts degree and employment as an airline stewardess or airline secretary.

European Tour For Local Co-ed

What is it like to spend a summer in France? According to Charlotte Whiting it is "an experience that no language student should miss, the most rewarding summer I've ever had."

Charlotte is one of three students who spent six weeks at the University of Aix Marseille, taking courses in literature, grammar, civilization, and conversation. They received six credits which are accepted by all universities in the United States.

When they arrived in France, the students took a placement test in French and were placed in the most advanced courses. They found the literature course difficult, the civilization course challenging and the grammar easy.

The students found that personal contact with the people is really the best way to understand what a country is like. Living with French families, using the language in everyday situations and exchanging ideas with people their own age made France seem almost like a second home.

They had the opportunity to experience many new things from playing Monopoly in French to learning to ride the traditional French motorbike.

The program included field trips which took the students to such enchanting places as Nice, Monte Carlo, Arles, and Aix.

'David and Lisa' Now Underway

Rehearsals are continuing in the Theater Arts Department for the fall production of "David and Lisa." The play, under the direction of Frank Bock, will open on the weekend of November 7, 8 and 9 in Theatre Thirty-One. It will also play on November 14, 15 and 16. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

"David and Lisa" is the story of two mentally disturbed adolescents during one term at Berkley School. It follows them and their fellow students through exhilarating progress and depressing retrogression.

David, played by Paul Laramore, is the only son of wealthy parents who is over-protected by a domineering mother. He is tortured by a mania against being touched. Lisa, played by Deborah Maner, has developed a split personality and is two entirely different people. One is a child who will speak only in rhymes. Jerry Herbener, as Dr. Alan Swinford, gives David and Lisa his sympathetic and understanding guidance.

The story has both laughter and heartbreak. It is a completely authentic story about problems which most of us know nothing about.

Bakersfield Tickets

Students are reminded that several hundred tickets for the Bakersfield football game Saturday night, October 26, are still available in the Student Center Ticket Booth. However, they are disappearing fast.

The game will be Bakersfield's Homecoming, and a sellout is imminent. Bakersfield has announced that no tickets will be on sale the night of the game, so Falcon rosters are urged to get their tickets right away. Tickets are free upon presentation of an ASCC card.

Tickets for the game will be on sale at the South side ticket booth of Bakersfield Stadium during the week prior to the game. The booth in Bakersfield will be open from a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 9 a.m. to noon on Friday of next week.

Tickets for the L.A. Valley game tomorrow night are also available in the Student Center Box Office and are free with ASCC cards. Students may also obtain maps giving directions to L.A. Valley College. The Box Office will close at 4 p.m. today.

Falcons Frighten Top-Ranked Warriors

El Camino Stays Undefeated as Cerritos Loses 'Heartbreaker'

By DARRYL JACKMAN
Asst. Sports Editor

To say that a football team lost a "heartbreaker" is a well-used statement, but that's just what the Cerritos Falcons did last Saturday night in Falcon Stadium. With a little over a minute remaining in the game, Dan Heck passed to Jon Robertson of El Camino for 33 yards and a touchdown to beat Cerritos 20-17.

Perhaps the most surprising point of the game was the vastly improved Falcon defense. El Camino came into the game averaging 45 points per game and ranked number one in the nation.

The first quarter of the game was scoreless, with both teams making mistakes and blowing opportunities. Smokey Cates' Falcons moved the ball well down to the El Camino 31-yard line where, three straight Mike Ernst passes went incomplete. With a fourth-and-ten situation, Randy Wershing came on to try a 47-yard field goal. The kick was long enough but wide to the right. Wershing's field goal kicking was to become all important later on.

Defense Stifens
After a Warrior drive stalled, the Falcons got the ball back only to lose it on a fumble by Ernst. Cerritos had moved 16 yards in three plays to the El Camino 42. The ball was recovered by Mark Leany, defensive right end of El Camino. From their own 42 the Warriors moved down to the Cerritos 15-yard line. Suddenly the Falcon defense came to life, stopping hard-hitting El Camino halfback Dave Boyd for no gain. On the next three plays the Warriors lost a total of eight yards and had to punt.

Warriors Score

Cerritos again failed to move the ball and had to punt. El Camino was not to be denied this time. Just seconds before the end of the quarter Heck passed twice to Skip Harry for a total of 32 yards to set up a first-and-ten on the Cerritos 28. At the beginning of the second quarter Heck kept the ball himself and moved down to the Falcon three. Again it looked like the Cerritos defense was going to rally when it held for only two yards in three plays, but on fourth-and-one Heck kept the ball and plunged in for the touchdown. The PAT was added by Don Ott, and the Warriors lead 7-0.

The rest of the second quarter was uneventful as neither team could find an opening and traded punts several times.

Falcons Score

The second half opened with the Falcons kicking to El Camino. Again the Cerritos defense held the Warriors for no gain and forced them to punt. The Falcon offense caught fire this time, and on second-and-ten Ernst found the range on Al Jongsma for 41 yards down to the El Camino seven. Two plays later Hank Fien caught a pass from Ernst good for six points. Wershing missed the extra point and El Camino lead by one 7-6.

A little miffed at missing the extra point, Wershing boomed the Falcon kickoff into the end zone. El Camino got the ball first-and-ten on their own 20. At this point the Warriors and the Falcons exchanged punts. Heck passed complete to John Featherstone for 33 yards. Cerritos contained the Warriors in two short running plays, but on third-and-three Heck found Harry again for a 21 yard touchdown pass. Ott added the PAT and El Camino led by eight, 14-6.

Game Tied

At the beginning of the fourth quarter, the two teams traded punts twice until Cerritos got a break. The break came when Boyd fumbled on his own eight-yard line and it was recovered by John Montoya for Cerritos. Suspense built as Ernst missed twice on passes but the third time was the charm when he hit Hank Fien for the touchdown. The Falcons trailed by two, making it an eight-yard play when Ernst passed to Mike Campanale for the two points. The Falcons tied the score at 14-14.

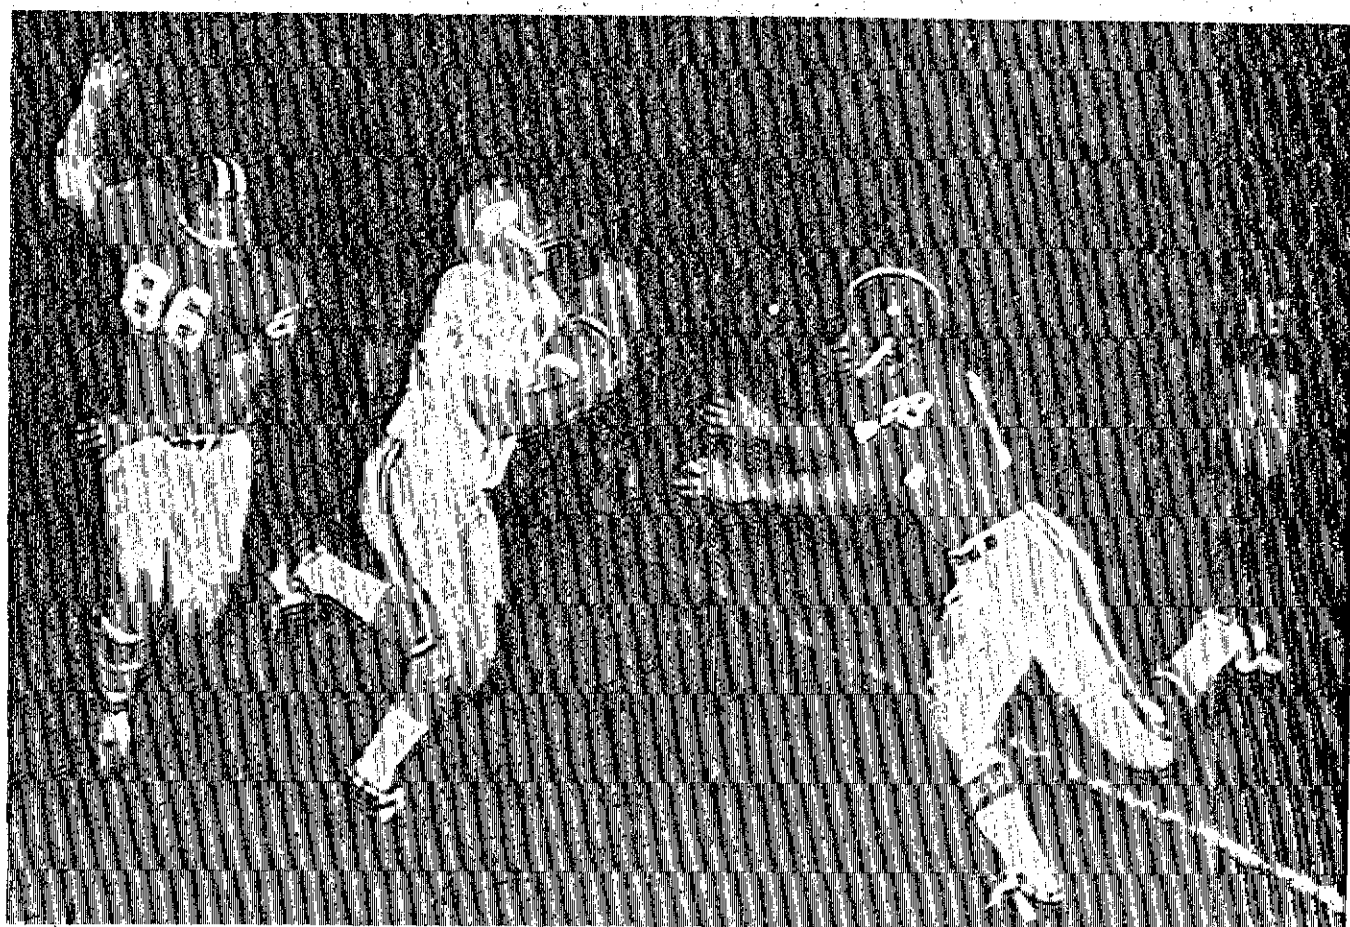

Cerritos again marched down to the Warrior's goal with a balanced running and passing attack that seemed to throw the El Camino defense off. On third-and-two from the El Camino two, Dan Tsujoka came within inches of scoring. On fourth down Wershing kicked the field goal that put Cerritos in the lead for the first time with 2:28 left in the game. The score was 17-14 with Cerritos on top.

Desperation Score

After the kickoff it looked like Cerritos was going to hold on when Heck threw a desperation pass on fourth-and-twelve from his own 23-yard line. The pass was caught by Featherstone for 20 yards and a first down. This had to be the turning point of the game as the next pass play went for 24 yards and the next was a 33-yard touchdown pass from Heck to Robertson with just 1:13 left on the clock. This gave El Camino the winning margin, 20-17. Heck's pass for the point after was incomplete. Ernst passed to Campanale for 32 yards, but his next pass was intercepted to end the game and Cerritos' chance for an upset win.

Valley Tomorrow

Tomorrow night the Falcons travel to Los Angeles Valley College in search of their first win of the season. Last year the Falcons dropped a close one, 7-6, to the Monarchs and will be out for revenge. Cerritos has won four of six encounters with Valley. Game time is 8 p.m.

THAT'S THE BALL GAME — Warrior Jon Robertson hauls in a pass from quarterback Dan Heck and scores the winning touchdown with just 1:13 remaining to play in the game with El Camino last week. Robertson barely eluded Falcon defenders Mike Ponczocha and Jerry Maynard on the play and scored to give El Camino a thrilling 20-17 victory.

Where Were You?

Polo Support Pitiful

By RICHARD FRENCH
Sports Editor

When was the last time you saw a water polo game? It certainly wasn't last Friday afternoon at the Cerritos pool, where the Falcons defeated Pierce 14-7. I was there, and I didn't see very many Cerritos fans other than members of the team. In fact, there were more guys from Cerritos sitting on the bench than there were in the stands. I had to bring my wife and three-week-old daughter to the game; just to insure that Cerritos fans outnumbered Pierce fans.

Believe me, it was a sad showing to view a team that finished second in a tournament composed of all the best water polo teams in Southern California. Since Pat Tyne took over the reins of the Falcon poloists, Cerritos has been one of the top powers of junior college polo in the country and was state champion just two seasons ago. Last year they finished sixth in the NCAA poll and fourth in Southern California. It's a good thing our team doesn't have to depend on the proceeds at the gate. Of course, the games are free, so they aren't losing money.

Soccer In Swimming Pool

It stands to reason that most Cerritos students have never watched a water polo game because they don't know anything about the game. Water polo is essentially soccer played in a swimming pool. At each end of the pool is a goal, consisting of a net stretched between two upright posts under a crossbar. The posts are 10 feet apart, and the crossbar is three feet above the water. The ball is similar to a soccer ball — an inflated rubber bladder in a leather cover.

Water polo teams consist of seven members. Each team has a goalkeeper, or "goalie," who is responsible for keeping the opponent from getting the ball into the goal he protects. He is restricted to an area four feet in front of the goal, but the other players are free to roam at will.

The general principle of the game is to put the ball into the opponent's goal. To begin play, the teams each line up at their end of the pool. At the sound of the whistle, the teams, except for the goalies, break for the middle of the pool as the referee throws the ball in. The team obtaining possession of the ball then advances toward the goal of the opponent.

One Hand Only

The ball may be handled by one hand only, with the exception of the goalies who are allowed to use two hands. Players may pass, push or otherwise move the ball around in their attempt to score. As in basketball, specific moving patterns are developed in trying to score. The game is played in four quarters of seven minutes, with a half-time in between, and each goal counts one point.

Like any other sport, there are certain rules that govern the game. It is illegal to tackle, bump or otherwise interfere with any opposing player who does not have possession of the ball. It is legal however, to try and gain possession of the ball from an opponent by seizing the ball with one hand. Fouls are also called for unnecessary roughness, holding an opponent under water using the legs, standing on the bottom or holding onto the side.

When a foul is called, the players all remain in their positions and the ball is given to the player on whom the foul was committed, or to the player who was nearest where the foul was committed.

More Support Needed

Water polo is a very interesting and exciting sport and deserves far more support from Cerritos fans. I'm certain that Tyne and his Falcon poloists would be very pleased to see several hundred fans in the stands during home games. Now that you know something about water polo, take in the next home game. It promises to be worth your time, and we just may have another state champion team in the making.

FEIN TIES SCORE — Falcon end Hank Fein grabs the touchdown pass that tied the score at 14-14 in the fourth quarter against El Camino last week. Moments later Randy Wershing kicked a field goal to give the Falcons a 17-14 lead, but El Camino scored on a desperation pass to defeat Cerritos 20-17.

Poloists Lead Metro Conference Following Two Consecutive Wins

Coach Pat Tyne's Falcon water poloists are in first place in the Metropolitan Conference today after rolling up victories in their first two league games.

Last Friday the Falcons gave Pierce College a brutal welcome to the conference by drubbing the Brahmas 14-7. All-American Bob Shupp sank five goals in leading the Falcons to victory and was aided by Jack Robinson and Loy Strother, who both tallied twice.

The Falcons jumped off to a 7-1 lead in the first quarter and coasted to the victory.

Tuesday the Cerritos team managed to edge by one of their two main obstacles to the league title when they dumped El Camino 11-9 in a game played in the Warrior pool. The Falcons displayed flexibility in their scoring power as Mike Pickup scored three goals and was supported by Shupp, Craig Vincent, Steve Oliver and freshman Dave Buckley, who all tossed in two.

Tyne wasn't very impressed with either victory, although he felt his team "maintained poise" throughout the game with El Camino.

"We just got a few good breaks. El Camino played a very good game, but our guys were a little wild. It was our experience that won for us."

In the game with Pierce, the Falcons played most of the second half with only five players in the water because Tyne felt his team wasn't moving well enough. However, they moved well enough to outscore the Brahmas in the half, 6-5.

This afternoon the Cerritos team goes to Santa Monica to meet the Corsairs in a game beginning at 3:30. Next Friday they will host the Pasadena Lancers, another new member of the conference.
