

Cerritos Welcomes CJCSGA Delegates

By NANCY RAMIREZ
Over 300 student government leaders representing 11 junior colleges are expected to attend Thursday's CJCSGA Area III Fall Conference being hosted this year by the college.

Area III is one of the nine areas within the state organization. Its main purpose is to share ideas and resolve problems which are common to all community college students throughout California.

The conference is scheduled to get under way at 11:15 a.m. starting with registration and refreshments in Burnight Center. During this time workshops chairmen will meet in the Student Affairs Office for a last minute briefing.

At noon the first general assembly will be conducted in the Burnight Center Theater. Delegates after being welcomed by ASCC President Monte Gualtiere and CJCSGA President Richard Rice, will hear keynote speaker Rabbi Will Kramer.

Also, at this time, introductions of workshop chairmen and instruction on the workshops will be given by CJCSGA Vice President Steve Alvis. The assembly will then be dismissed for the workshop sessions.

The workshops will continue until 4 p.m. with a 15 minute break in between. Following the workshop sessions will be a buffet dinner in the Student Center.

After dinner a 50-minute Caucus of college delegations will be held. Rooms will be assigned.

The closing general assembly will be held from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the Burnight Center Theater.

Each of the 11 colleges have been asked to send 25 representatives, so that each of the workshops will be adequately covered.

Junior colleges attending will include Cerritos College, Compton College, Cypress Junior College, Fullerton Junior College, Golden West College, Long Beach City College (LAC), Long Beach City College (BTC), Mt. San Antonio, Orange Coast College, Rio Hondo, and Santa Ana College.

The workshops will be in the following areas:

PRESIDENTS, Chairman Gary Young of Santa Ana College, will meet in room BC 47 to discuss the mandatory ASB Fee; to carry through the state conference, state legislature, board of governors, and Board of Directors; and organization and followup.

VETERANS, Chairman Ron Grasman, of Cerritos College, will meet in room SS 138. The workshop will discuss the Veterans Club Federation, the role of the veteran on campus, institutional relationships of the veteran, and interest of the veteran in matters at the state and federal level.

CAMPUS COMMUNICATIONS, Chairman James Lawson of Cypress College, will meet in room SS 213. The workshop will cover student-to-student government communications, student-faculty communications, and student administration communications.

PUBLICATIONS, Chairman Mike Bower of Cerritos College, will meet in room SS 225. The workshop will cover the college newspaper, the college magazines, unauthorized publications, and journalistic competition.

CAMPUS SECURITY, Chairman Vinson J. Gilliam, of Rio Hondo Junior College, will be held in room SS 306. The workshop will include current security systems, financing, types of securities, duties of the patrolman, authority of the patrolman, and the power of the student court.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT, Chairman Richard Serpe of Mt. San Antonio College, will be held in room SS 214. The workshop discusses reasons for involvement, campus involvement, community and local involvement, and national involvement.

CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS, Chairman Bill Baker of Long Beach City College (LAC), will be held in room LA 35. The Workshop will cover current programs for clubs and organizations on campus, board of control, financing, and methods of expanding present club programs to meet the demands of expanding student bodies.

AMS-AWS, Chairman Ken Panko, will be held in room LA 4. The workshop will cover functions of AMS-AWS, structure, value and finance, and types of programs most valuable to the college.

PUBLICITY, Chairman Beverly Hensphill of Compton College, will be held in room BC 51. The workshops will discuss audio visual, the school paper, community paper, school radio station, local radio station, publicity, and announcement centers.

ACTIVITIES, Chairman R. Bruce Figurski of Golden West College, will be held in room EL 1. The workshops will include encouragement of more intercollegiate activities, and junior college day at Disneyland.

THE ROLE OF THE EXTENDED

DAY STUDENT, Chairman Randy Mitchell of Long Beach City College (BTC), will be held in room EL 11. The workshop will include the role of the extended day student, and activities for the extended day student.

All official action taken during the workshops will be automatically forwarded to the state conference in December. The 46th semi-annual CJCSGA State Conference is scheduled for December 5, 6, and 7 at the Del Webb Townhouse in Fresno.

CJCSGA acts as the political action arm of community college students of all two year colleges, both public and private.

Action from the state conference is then carried to the proper government agencies. Followup procedures are done by the state conference executive secretary who acts as a lobbyist for the student association.

Parry O'Brien Serves As Grand Marshall

Four times he represented the United States of America in the summer Olympic Games. Twice he won gold medals in the shot put and once he earned a silver. He was known as the "King of the Shotput" and tomorrow night he will serve as grand marshal of the 1968 Cerritos College Homecoming game and parade.

He is Parry O'Brien, former Olympic hero and now public relations man for Crocker-Citizens National Bank, and commentator during the recent Olympic Games.

Parry had the distinction of becoming the first man in history to surpass 60 feet with the big, iron 16-pound ball. This was equivalent to cracking some of the other so-called "barriers" in track and field such as the 15 foot pole vault and 4:00 minute mile.

The gigantic University of Southern California graduate won his first Olympic championship at Helsinki during the 1952 Olympics with a toss of 57' 1 1/2" breaking the previous Olympic record by 11 inches.

In 1956 he repeated his performance at Melbourne and bettered his old mark with a put of 60' 11".

1960 saw him as runner-up to Bill Nieder of the U. S. and earning a silver medal at Rome. In Tokyo he was nosed out in his bid for a third place medal and his fourth medal in four games.

The former world record holder is the developer of the style used by most of today's shot putters.

O'Brien was named winner of James E. Sullivan Memorial Trophy in 1959 as the amateur athlete who does most to advance good sportsmanship during the year.

As grand marshal of "It's a Sign of the Times," O'Brien will head the parade of floats, select his choice for the recipient of the Grand Marshall's Award, and participate in halftime and post game portions of the ceremonies.

Tina Romero Crowned Queen During 'Olympiad' Dinner Dance

Tina Romero, pretty 19 year old sophomore from the City of Cerritos, is the 1968 Cerritos College Homecoming Queen.

Miss Romero was selected to reign over this year's festivities in the election October 23 in which a record-breaking 1207 voters cast ballots.

The announcement came at last weekend's annual Homecoming Dinner Dance, which was held at the Los Angeles Airport Marina Hotel.

Tears and Applause
Tina was crowned amid applause and tears by ASCC president Monte Gualtiere in what is probably the most dramatic moment of each homecoming.

Joining Queen Tina on the 1968 court will be princesses Cyndi Evanson, Nancy Heaton, Judy Mikkelsen, Sandy Pearson, Joyce Puharich, and Linda Reed.

"The Olympiad" was the theme of this year's dinner dance. Chosen because of the significance of the Olympic Games in Mexico City, the theme will carry over and be used as the Queen's Theme during the Homecoming Game.

"New Establishment"
Approximately 200 Cerritos students, faculty, family and friends attended the dress affair. Music was provided by the Cerritos College Stage Band and special entertainment was furnished by "The New Establishment," a hot new folk-rock group from Disneyland.

It was an evening that all will remember and especially Queen Tina. The seven young ladies were marched to the coronation platform approximately at 11:30 p.m. to the strains of "March of the Olympians."

Introduced by Don Butler
The lovely coeds were introduced by Homecoming Chairman Don Butler to the anxiously awaiting audience. A young man dressed in Grecian attire and carrying a torch entered the room and stood before the girls with the room in silence.

He then proceeded to hand the torch to Miss Romero signifying her selection as Homecoming Queen.

Fathers Cut In
A surprised Tina and her escort Mike Hamrock then led in the traditional Queen's Dance. Halfway through the dance the fathers of the seven young ladies cut in and finished out the dance with their girls.

The 1968 Homecoming festivities will conclude tomorrow night when Cerritos meets Pierce College in the annual Homecoming Game. Queen Tina and her court will reign over the proceedings from their seats atop the stadium.

Tina was sponsored by the Veteran's Club; Cyndi Evanson, the Wrestling Team; Nancy Heaton, Sigma Phi fraternity; Judy Mikkelsen, Circle K; Sandy Pearson, the football team; Joyce Puharich, LDS Club; and Linda Reed, the Pep Squad.

Deadline Set for Federal Summer Jobs

The Cerritos student Job Placement Office has received notice that Nov. 6 is the first deadline for filing for summer jobs with the federal government in 1969.

The Federal Civil Service Commission has announced that there will be summer employment available next year as postal clerk-carriers, office clerks, office machine operators, library assistants, medical and editorial assistants, typists-stenographers, engineering and science aides.

All applicants are required to take a special summer employment examination. Filing deadlines are Nov. 6, Dec. 6, Jan. 3 and Jan. 30.

For further information on these summer jobs, contact Madge Coto or Carl Specht at the Cerritos Job Placement Office.

Float Winners To Be Revealed During Court, Judge Luncheon

Payoff for many of the clubs entering floats in competition for Homecoming will come during tomorrow's Annual Court and Judges' Luncheon in the Student Center.

Representatives of the competing clubs, judges, the 1968 Homecoming court and the chairmen of the various Homecoming committees will be in attendance.

Prior to the luncheon will be the judging at 1 p.m. in the float area.

Tallying of the judges' sheets will be made during the luncheon. By the end of lunch the results will be known.

Winning clubs will receive ribbon awards, which they will immediately take to the stadium and tie to their floats. Trophies will be presented at the Fall Awards Banquet.

The luncheon will consist of various sandwiches, salads, and pastries. Little Snoopy's will decorate the tables.

The luncheon was planned through the combined efforts of Luncheon Chairman Marsha Vail, Decoration Chairman Barbara Sodaitis, and Mrs. McCoid who catered the affair.

Sides of the weeks of publicity stunts that lead up to Homecoming will also be shown.

GEORGE REIDENBACH, assistant dean of admissions, Junior College Relations, United States International University (formerly Cal Western), will be on campus to visit with students interested in attending that institution at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 13. Students wishing an appointment with Reidenbach should contact the reception desk at the Counseling Office.

READING DEVELOPMENT, a new class in speed reading, will be offered at Cerritos College during the upcoming spring semester. English 52, as it is called, will help students improve their reading speed and comprehension. It will provide practice in scanning, analysis of reading defects and vocabulary work, and use the latest machines to increase reading speed.

THE CERRITOS COLLEGE CHAPTER of the California School Employees Assoc. is now selling tickets for its fourth annual turkey drawing. Tickets are only 50 cents each, and one turkey will be given away for every 25 tickets sold. The turkeys are supplied by Earnhart's Turkey Ranch in Artesia. Thirty turkeys were given away at last year's drawing. If you are interested in purchasing a ticket, any member of the classified staff will be happy to sell one. The drawing will be held Friday, Nov. 22, at 3 p.m. Winners do not need to be present at the drawing; all winners will be notified.

Rally Salutes '68 Homecoming Court

"For Her Majesty's Pleasure" was the theme of the rally held yesterday at 11 a.m. in the Student Center. This was the last in a series of four rallies incorporated in the homecoming festivities.

Highlighting the spirited half hour was the official introduction of the 1968 Homecoming Queen Tina Romero, and her six princesses.

All of the entertainment was dedicated to the royalty and featured was a court minstrel playing folk music. There were also the usual humorous skits.

JIM HEIMAN

The Negro: Is He Accepted?

The Negro will never be accepted socially by the white society of this nation, and he knows it. Further, he is aware that every action involving legislation in his behalf is simply an act of tokenism, used as one might throw a scrap to a howling dog to appease him. He would be a damn fool if he didn't know this and has given every indication through his actions in the last few years that this is one title he won't bear.

Frankly, I have no desire to go into any long dissertation into my rationale in coming to this conclusion. It is more effective to allow you to prove it. How many Negroes do you members of the ASCC of Cerritos College know? How many of your local church congregation are Negroes? How many of you ever stop to talk to such a fellow human being for anything other than a zoo-like curiosity?

Patent Leather World

We sit in our patent leather little insulated world as white Americans and watch with amazed curiosity that fat mammy and the dumb bucks have suddenly turned militant on the greatest "white" country on earth. We are now prepared to stand against the ghostly scent of black militancy by voting for law and order, and indeed we may get it — perhaps as that which was gained against the American Indian at Sand Creek. But that is another story, the remnants of which we have well hidden in some of the most remote areas of our nation.

But don't be depressed, this nation will overcome. After all, we have overcome Martin Luther King, John Kennedy and Robert Kennedy. The serpents head is now destroyed; all we need do is scissor the remains of the writhing body and bury it deep. No doubt the headless body will have a few final acts left in its own behalf, but its Alamo has come. The parapets are manned. All that is left is for the dead to do their dying.

We will no longer be forced to go to our places of worship to pray for the end of our social chaos or plea to our leaders for the same. That malignant germ that began to manifest itself in our culture, the germ of humanity, will be removed for the foreseeable future and this country will again be safe for democracy.

Correct Social Ills

But let it not be said of we whites that we did not try to correct these social ills among us, without resorting to the discipline of violence. We offered our hand to the American Negro. It wasn't our fault the odor left on our hands after clasping theirs was of an unpleasantly foreign nature to us.

Really, don't think I'm not with you white folks all the way. I know as well as you when we march on Watts to make L.A. safe for democracy we are simply attempting to secure our right to again pray in our white marble temples, in front of our white alabaster statues, to our pure white God, in peace — without the interruption of those black soul people. "And Virgin Purity Will Again Prevail."

Points for a Better Food Services Plan

By MIKE BOWER

It is safe to assume that everyone on the Cerritos College campus has ventured into the Student Center at least once during their stay.

It is almost as safe to assume that many have taken the opportunity to partake of a meal while on the premises.

This is why I feel safe in coming out with the statement that a majority of students are displeased with the accommodations presented to them for their dining pleasure.

No, this is not the old standby gripe of "too high prices and low quality food." To each his own. Our gripe is the atmosphere in which the food must be eaten and the type of variety presented to the everyday eater.

One could walk into the Student Center on any named day at any hour and find a sight that would give his appetite second thoughts about even existing. As you plow your way through the puddles of Coke on the floor and the myriad of tiny tables overloaded with garbage, you may come upon a seat that is empty . . . and you soon see why. Someone has dropped a hamburger and left it for nature to dispose of, right on your seat-to-be.

You decide you'll get your food and then look for another seat. As you walk toward the counter, some dear young lady who happens to be going in the opposite direction accidentally brushes a tray off a nearby table right onto your pants. This was bound to happen sooner or later; with seven trays stacked on top of each other, the odds would have it.

After a quick mop up job on your clothing, you advance to the counter once again and this time make it. You get there to find two types of hamburgers . . . cold or colder.

Deciding on a burger and a Coke, you continue your journey to the dispensary counter where you are astonished to find that you don't have to mix your mustard, onions, and relish . . . it is already done for you.

You leave the room, heading for the open spaces of the lounge and cafeteria. But, alas, you find the scene no better. Trash everywhere, and no place to sit. Sad and dejected, you head for the door to eat your now hardening hamburger in God's great-out-of-doors.

Mean and cruel you say? No, not really. The truth is there staring each and everyone in the face.

It is not fair to criticize and not recommend solutions. These are just a few that might alleviate some of the aforementioned problems . . . they at least might make a greater number happier.

1. Rearrange the tables in the Student Center into a booth-type setup. Have booths going around the sides and some tables in the middle. This would lessen the traffic in the center and would give the place a neater, warmer atmosphere.
2. Take into consideration that a great number of students are in the "Met-recal for lunch bunch." Provide a low-calorie diet lunch and even publicize it as such. Also non-fat milk and low-cal soft drinks are in order.
3. Make an increased effort to get away from the "mass-production-hamburger" that is usually hard and getting cold when one receives it. Anticipate the crowd but also anticipate how one feels upon biting into cold food.
4. Strive for cleaner and more sanitary conditions. This is not only the job of food services people but should also fall on the shoulders of everyone who eats there. Throw away your trash and don't play with food. Think of the person that will be eating there next . . . or a visitor's impression of the college from the Student Center.

These four points should be carried out to aid not only the student who eats there but the food services staff itself. The time has come for some changes.

INSIDE RADIO AND TV

Cerritos Needs Radio And Television Classes

By JIM HARRELL

Why doesn't Cerritos College offer more courses in radio and television? This question has been pondered by many people, primarily in the theater arts department, where the courses, if offered, would be taught.

I'm sure, if the course were offered, students would take advantage of it. Several junior college have courses in radio and television, and some even have their own radio and TV stations. Long Beach City College, for example, provides several courses in the broadcasting area and also operates its own FM station, which is run by the students.

In 1965 the idea was discussed on campus when Frank Bock, an instructor in the theater arts department, submitted a three-page memo detailing how closed circuit television would benefit other departments, as well as a broadcasting department.

The biggest problem would be getting equipment. Several of the aforementioned schools managed to get some of the local stations to donate old equipment; in fact, one school outfitted almost three complete radio studios with professional equipment that had been donated by various studios in town.

Once a broadcasting studio has been set up, students who are interested could even pipe their own shows into the Student Center and run a regular radio station. It could even be feasible to sell advertisements on the station to local merchants to help pay for operating costs. Record companies would be delighted to donate records, and it would give students an insight into the practical operation of a radio station, in the case they should ever enter the industry.

Almost every major four-year school has some type of broadcasting department and in some cases even operates its own public radio and television stations.

The college could also profit from a broadcasting department. Closed circuit television has already proved a tremendous aid to education.

The expense factor could be borne in part by obtaining a government loan and approaching organizations, such as the Ford Foundation, which provide help to schools starting a television and radio program. All three networks could be approached on any help they could render in donating old equipment. There is no question that a broadcasting department at Cerritos College could definitely be an asset.

Longer Library Hours Means Better Grades

Dear Editor:

There is a question in the minds of many students on the Cerritos campus. Why, if we have to go to other college libraries for late hour research and cramming, is it necessary for students to reside in the Cerritos College District in order to attend Cerritos College? Why are our living areas so well defined and so confined? We are aware of the monetary reason (i.e. the taxpayers in the Cerritos district have paid for this fine institution; therefore, they are justified in wanting only students from this district attending Cerritos).

The time-worn answer of the establishment is, "Three years ago a policy of this nature was implemented; however, after much publicity (signs, posters, an announcement in Talon Marks, etc.) only a very few students put the extended services of the Library and its personnel to applied use." Frankly, I cannot counter any side of this matter, for I was elsewhere. I defer to the student and faculty members of old.

Having cognizance that there are students enrolled at Cerritos who do manage a 3.5 - 4.0 average can only strengthen and accentuate the positive. After all, there is no known limit to one's abilities if he applies himself and if he is given a helping hand. This is a direct correlation of "Mom and apple pie."

The plight of the night student, upon enrolling at this institution, must be one of bewilderment when he finds that he has been assigned work in the audiovisual section which he must utilize for a passing grade (some teachers use this as a check to see if the students are applying this stoned knowledge to be advised that if he cannot make it within the present hours, sorry about that). Night students, how do you manage?

In the very near future there will be a ground-breaking ceremony at Cerritos College for the express purpose of enlarging our Library. With all of the banal construction devices, noise will be at a peak throughout the day. When will we be able to study in the coming year?

There are many junior colleges in California presently open on weekends. Why then not our own? It is indeed a shame to have large sums of money spent for education ($1,000,000 for the addition to the Library) and not just a little bit more for the salaries for the Library to stay open at night and on the weekend. This is the best junior college in the country, so why do we have to follow instead of lead?

I feel that the Cerritos College administration should make a most concentrated, aggressive effort in our behalf, that we too can achieve the goals that they have. The very existence of this country depends upon the education of its young people. I sincerely believe that with extended library hours we, the students of Cerritos College, would try and would get better grades. In doing this not only good grades would be achieved, but the scholastic standing of Cerritos College would be one of superior excellence.

Anyone interested in longer night and weekend hours at the Cerritos Library can fill out a Library Hours Survey, which will be made available to every student within the next week.

PRESIDENT'S VOICE

Another Record Set in Voting

In this column I have often mentioned the voting records we have established here at Cerritos. Last Wednesday another record was set by the students. The homecoming queen campaign garnered 1207 votes. This is the first time ever that the student body has attained the "unreachable" 1,000 number.

Almost one tenth of the student body voted for their choice of the seven finalists. This is definitely a feat to be proud of and one that is going to be hard to beat. No longer can people cry that Cerritos is covered by a blanket of apathy.

Absence of participation tends to produce lack of interest and concern on the part of those shut out. But this is a college of participation and I am hoping that the trend will continue. I would like to thank all those students who voted and the clubs that campaigned hard for their candidates. The clubs that campaigned were the motivational factor which stimulated the election interest.

I would like to extend congratulations to the 1968-69 Homecoming Queen, Tina Romero, and her lovely court. May your reign prove to be a very prosperous experience that you will remember long after you have left Cerritos College.

Tomorrow night is our homecoming game, and I would hope that everyone will be on hand to witness the spectacular halftime show and the whipping our Falcons will give Pierce College.

Homecoming Chairman

There is another student who deserves recognition for the outstanding service he has performed, and that is Don Butler, the 1968 homecoming chairman. Don and his committee were the moving force behind this year's homecoming activities, and I feel that they have made it the best that Cerritos has ever had.

On Thursday, Nov. 7, the California Junior College Student Government Association (CJCSGA) Area III Conference will be held here. Cerritos is hosting the conference, and we hope that many things can be gained by the college's participation with the different Area III colleges. This is one of the many ways that the junior colleges have a voice insofar as state legislation is concerned.

On behalf of the Associated Students of Cerritos College, I would like to welcome all the Area III delegates and their advisers. I am sure that this conference will be productive and will aid us in passing resolutions that can be sent to the state conference to be acted upon.

Student Body Cards

For those of you that don't know, the student body card that you possess is yours as an individual and is non-transferable. It has been brought to my attention that many students have been using other persons' student body cards to be admitted to athletic events, dances and also to vote during elections. According to our student body constitution, this is a direct violation and can result in loss of student body privileges. So I urge you to use your own student body card and don't lend it out to anyone! By doing so you will protect your own rights and privileges as well as the rights and privileges of other students.

Recently, I formed a library hours survey committee. The purpose of this committee is to survey the hours which would seem most beneficial to the student concerning the Library. It has been brought to my attention by several students that the present operational hours of the Library are not beneficial or satisfactory to the students, and it would seem to me that the Library on campus is for the "students" and it should be open for their convenience.

So we have prepared the Library Hours Survey, and you will be contacted when it will be available for you. If you have any ideas or suggestions concerning this matter, I would appreciate any help you could give. I have a mail box in the back of the Office of Student Affairs, and my office is located there. So please feel free to drop in and confer with me.

VILLAGE IDIOT

A Halloween Suggestion for You

By STEVE ALVIS

Greetings and salutations of the day. Halloween is over, and for that we can all be grateful. We are no longer beset by the ancient hobgoblins who inhabited the dark rites of Halloween. But modern man in his redundant wisdom has managed to create a whole new crop of beasties and things that go "bump" in the night.

Today's witch is found abundantly in our school system. No doubt you have been persecuted by one of these old cronies at one time or another. They spend most of their time charting demonic incarnations to the class, making you nauseous. One of their favorite tricks is to cast an evil eye upon you if you mutter dark utterances in the back of the classroom. These witches cast evil spells over you at test time, making your mind cloudy and confused.

They finally seal your doom by inscribing a terrible cursed symbol by your name at semester. Unfortunately for the hapless student, witch-burning has been outlawed.

Other ghastly goons are the phantom politicians seen only around election time. They bellow, rage, pronounce curses and wreak havoc for a while, disappearing without trace soon after the ballots are cast. Vampires now operate in the open proclaiming, "We want your blood." Using modern techniques, they draw it out with long, sharp needles attached to ten-gallon jugs. Beware, lest ye be drained.

With Liberty and Justice for All

By GREG HUTSKO

"...nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law . . ." This statement, taken from the fifth amendment to the U.S. Constitution, is the basis for the greatest legal protection that an individual can get anywhere in the world. However, through numerous interpretations and a myriad of technicality, our fool-proof court system is becoming a major problem.

Today one who goes to court expects to pay a lot of money. This is true, of course, because court expenses are high. But a major problem that adds to the cost is time. A simple case can drag out for years. Procedures, delays and appeals go together to greatly lengthen a case. A classic example is the Sirhan Sirhan case.

Trial Hasn't Started

Sirhan was taken into custody almost five months ago, and yet his trial hasn't legally been started. It would seem that such an important case would be held as soon as possible, but this is not so. And as Sirhan's case drags on, more cases are piling up. Today if one person wishes to sue another, he must wait two years simply to get to court.

In trying to uphold the writings of the Constitution, the Supreme Court has made many rulings which not only do nothing for the average citizen but actually help the criminal. When it rules that wire-tapping is illegal, this means nothing to the average citizen who has nothing to hide in the first place. For the criminal, however, a wall of protection rises. He is now free to carry on conversations without fear of apprehension. Unfortunately, the High Court has catered to the criminal.

Wire-Tapping Decision
Of course, this only comes about because the Court attempts to be fair in interpreting the Constitution. Actually when it makes a ruling like the one on wire-tapping, it is right — at least the way the Constitution is written. If only the writers of the Constitution had added a prerequisite to their writings, perhaps something like, "These times are written for and are to be used only by those citizens who are considered to be innocent of crime." In other words, a person never convicted of a felony retains the rights of the Constitution. A convicted person loses them.

Sirhan Not Guilty Yet

Russell Parsons, attorney for Sirhan, has asked that certain evidence, including the notebook which contained "Kennedy must be killed," be struck from the record. He claims that said evidence was illegally obtained and therefore is unfair to his client. And according to the Constitution, he is right.

Sirhan as of yet has not been proven guilty of any murder, so he retains all the rights given him in the Constitution. But is this fair to the people? Is it fair to Kennedy? In front of dozens of witnesses, Kennedy was shot by Sirhan. And yet Parsons claims that we are being unfair to Sirhan by infringing on his rights. For the sake of being fair, those rights should have ended when Sirhan pulled the trigger.

Too Much Justice

The United States can be proud. In almost any other country in the world Sirhan would have been shot on the spot for his action. We brought him to trial. If, however, he escapes on a technicality, we will be left to lower our heads in shame. Too much candy is no good for a child. Too much justice is no good for a country.

And Here's to You ... Mr. Robinson

By JIM HOWARD

If you're looking for a phrase that captures the attitudes and actions of the Cerritos College Dean of Men, Richard Robinson, try easy-going or intensely active or perhaps deeply proud. Actually all three phrases are applicable to the man in question because he is, literally, a combination of attitudes and actions.

His manner is pleasant and easy-going; he seems constantly in a good mood. Known by all as being congenial and good-natured, he attributes his amiability to an attitude of "Take on the big problems as they come and don't worry so much about the little things, because they'll probably take care of themselves."

RICHARD ROBINSON

This outlook is seen in much that Robinson does, as he attends one meeting after another and yet always seems to be in perfect control of every situation. Whether the problem is an unruly student or a disgruntled instructor, it is met calmly and with a positive attitude.

Intensely Active

Although his manner is easy-going, his job isn't. At least not in the sense that it doesn't keep him busy. The Cerritos College Dean of Men is almost constantly on the go. The responsibilities of his position demand full-time attention and leisure hours are few and far between.

However, according to Robinson it's a welcomed task. He has served as an instructor, counselor and assistant principal at several local high schools. Having never really worked outside of the immediate area, being at both Bellflower and Mayfair high schools before he came to Cerritos in the fall of 1965, one can see that Robinson also favors the Cerritos district.

Deeply Proud

Perhaps his close affiliation with the Cerritos district is part of the reason for his pride in working at Cerritos. However, the main reason appears to be his genuine appreciation of those around him, both advisers and students. Compliments from his professional colleagues were many, and, I'm sure, well-deserved. He expressed his job as being part of a team effort that relies upon each and every member equally.

Hours of Work Make Queen Float Reality

The 1968 Queen's Float is now becoming a reality after many hours of hard work by the Veterans Club, Dean of Men Richard Robinson and Don Butler. It was constructed last Sunday, and stuffing began on Tuesday and Wednesday. Many clubs turned out to help stuff.

Hours of work were needed in order to put the finishing touches on the float. Phi Kappa Zeta and Delta Phi Omega sororities each made over 300 red roses that were attached to make the float complete.

The '68 Queen's Float is the most elegant float ever to be constructed at Cerritos and one well worth the time and effort involved. Homecoming Float Chairman Judy Kenyon expressed her thanks to all the clubs that helped construct it.

Souvenir Programs Available at Game

At Saturday night's game with Pierce College, souvenir football programs will be sold for 25 cents. The program has 24 pages jam packed with information about the Falcons, and it contains 35 photographs. Many of the photos are of the 1968 homecoming highlights that have taken place over the past three weeks.

Included in the program also will be pictures and information about homecoming queen Tina Romero and her court.

Saturday night will be the pinnacle of this year's homecoming events when the queen and her court will be presented to the students and the community. Surrounding the college's lovely seven ladies will be a fantastic halftime show with floats, fireworks and a great football game in which the Falcons will be looking for their second win of the season.

CHIEF FALCONETTE—Linda Haregame, Falconette Captain, will lead the Falconettes during the Homecoming Halftime Show.

Homecoming Halftime Will Come Complete with Commercials

Highlighting the traditional Cerritos College homecoming game Saturday will be the Cerritos Marching Band and Falconette Drill Team in what can truly be termed a halftime spectacular. The halftime production is designed to fit in with the homecoming theme for this year of "It's a Sign of the Times" and will be titled "Homecoming 1968."

The entertainment scheduled is definitely a sign of the times, built around the idea of a mock television production, and will feature many current television jingles.

The halftime production will be presented as a gigantic television special, complete with commercials. For the opening number the Falcon Band will perform a precision marching routine, representative of an opening dance scene. Following that will be, appropriately enough, a commercial. The word from the sponsor takes the form of a popular commercial with the band forming a car and playing the theme of "See the U.S.A. in your Chevrolet" as the car dealer tries to sell the car, claiming its last owner was a little old lady from Pasadena.

Following the station break will be the Falconettes and their alumni performing the traditional St. Louis Blues routine.

Then once again it's time for a word from our sponsor as the band and drill team perform the proverbial close shave to the tune of the "Stripper," poking fun at the popular Noxema commercial.

Prior to the traditional circling of the floats, the band moves into position as an airplane and plays "Up, Up and Away" as the plane flies off the field.

The parade of club floats will include, in the following order along with the club and float theme: Sigma Phi, Reality; Phi Kappa Zeta, Politics '68; Phi Beta Lambda, Up, Up and Away with Snoopy; Circle K, Man's Last Frontier; Tau Rho Beta, Prepare to Meet Your Future Challenge; Delta Phi Omega, The clock shows signs of the times; Dorian, Freddy's First Flight; Theta Phi, An Apple for the Teacher; Sinawik, Headache No. 1968; S.C.O.P.E., Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow; Republican Club, The Year of the Elephant; Lambda Alpha Epsilon, A Light in the Sky; LDS, Protect Patriotism; Folk Music Association, Folk Music International; Newman Club, What's So Hot about U.F.O.?; Delta Chi Omega, Era of Progress; and Sigma Alpha, Education Remembers When.

First Concert Set for Sunday

An opening concert featuring the Cerritos Concert Choir and the Collegium (Community Choir) Chorus will be held Sunday afternoon at 4 p.m. in BC auditorium.

The annual fall concert has been in preparation since September.

"There will be a wide variety of music although the program will be short. It will include important compositions from every period of music, all the way from polyphony to contemporary selections," announced Stan Porter, director of the program.

Margaret Shanor will sing an alto rhapsody by Brahms with the combined men's chorus. The brass choir will accompany the combined chorus in a finale, Psalm 150.

The accompanist is Mrs. Marion Weide.

The chorus will wear their new gold academic choir robes with blue and gold hoods.

General admission will be $1. And for students the price will be 50 cents.

Band Looks to Homecoming

The Falcon Marching Band and Falconette flag unit will again take the field this Saturday night at the traditional homecoming game, which this year is against Pierce College.

Pregame will start at 7:30 with the entrance of the marching musicians, aided by the Falconettes, in the formation of a crown. Keeping with the homecoming theme, "It's a Sign of the Times," the band will play "March of the Olympians" for the Queen and her court. As soon as the royalty takes their place in the stands, the Cerritos units will move off the field making way for Pierce College, which will then perform a 10-minute pregame.

Monte LaBonte, band director, stated that after the heavy Bakersfield schedule this lighter weekend is very agreeable.

On the lighter side . . . three humorous incidents occurred during the band and Falconette visit to Bakersfield.

First of all the band director LaBonte was left behind by the three buses and had to hitch a ride with the Falcon football team to Bakersfield.

Then there was the hour of anxiety while the buses were roaming around the town lost on the way to dinner.

And finally, there was the incident at the end of the game when both the cannons of Bakersfield and Cerritos nearly deafened half of the Cerritos band and drill team.

All in all though, LaBonte said it was a very enjoyable and interesting 15-hour day.

Hard Work, Abundant Talent Keys to Speakers' Dominance

As the winning team in sports is the most successful, so is the winning team in speech. According to Wendell Hanks, debate coach at Cerritos College, success is measured in three areas: understanding the students inherent ability, knowing how to apply that ability, and practice.

Apparently this technique is working, because the Falcon speech squad has won the state championship for the past five years. Four out of those five years Cerritos went all the way and won the national championship.

In comparing speech with other areas of competition like sports, Hanks said, "In sports you get a decision. In speech you're getting more than a decision. In a football game you know the score at the end of the game; in speech you don't know the score until you read the ballots."

Coaches Key

One of the keys to Cerritos' speech success is in the individual work that each of the five coaches put in with the various students that compete in tournaments. Hanks told the Talon Marks that the biggest challenge in coaching a speech team is getting the student to think rationally. The challenge has been met by Hanks.

"I think the image of the speech program is that people think you have to be a brain to take part, and that's not true," Hanks said.

Hanks lives by the law that by being a better speaker, you're a better person. "So many of the top employers are seeking people who have had some speech experience." He cited one example of a high school speech student who was besieged with job offers after his graduation.

Feedback and Improvement

According to Hanks, students who participate in speech have two things in common: "They like feedback, and they want to improve. Most speech students are up on things. They may not have the knowledge, but they want more information."

The speech coach said that the average student of speech at Cerritos earns a B or C average. Five out of 10 want to become teachers, and one out of 10 wants to follow law as a career.

Getting Popular

Speech is getting more popular on college campuses, as evidenced by the large turnout for tournaments. Each tournament hosts several schools.

The larger colleges and universities are also becoming more mindful of speech. Each year six or seven students are lured to USC by scholarships.

Previously, debating students were denoted by thick horn-rimmed glasses, always carrying a brief case, and were among the most scholastically adept on campus. Now that profile has changed somewhat, and today debaters form a prominent cross section of the Cerritos campus.

Water Poloists Remain Atop Metro

STROTHER SCORES — Freshman Loy Strother from Norwalk scores in the game against Pasadena Wednesday, Oct. 23. Buckley, Shupp Lead Cerritos to 11-2 Win Over Pasadena Lancers Cerritos water poloists host L. A. Valley this afternoon in a Metro Conference contest scheduled to start at 3:30 p.m. The Falcon aquanauts are currently in first place in the conference with a 4-0 record but are closely followed by Long Beach and El Camino who each sport 3-1 records.

Pasadena Treated
Wednesday, Oct. 23, the Cerritos squad bid welcome to Pasadena, a new conference member, by drowning the Lancers, 11-2. Pat Tyne, coach of the Cerritos team, started his second string in the contest and they did an adequate job, holding Pasadena scoreless while taking a 2-0 lead in the first period.

Loy Strother scored the first goal of the game and Steve Oliver added the other score. Not satisfied with a two-goal lead, Tyne inserted the varsity in the second quarter and freshman Dave Buckley promptly rammed in four shots. The Lancers managed to score one goal on a penalty shot, and the score stood at 6-1 at the half.

The same players started the third period and held Pasadena scoreless while increasing their lead to 11-1 on the strength of the scoring by Bob Shupp and Jack Robinson. Shupp tossed in three goals, and Robinson scored twice. Pasadena scored once more in the final period against the second team but had to go home with an 11-2 defeat at the hands of the conference leaders.

Last weekend the Cerritos team traveled north and engaged some of the top teams in Northern California.

Cal Poly First Victim
They started the trip by beating Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, a four-year team, by a score of 16-12 last Thursday. Buckley and Shupp again paced the Falcons. Buckley scored all four of his goals in the first period, and Shupp scored twice in each of the first three periods. The Falcons held a 15-7 lead at the end of the third quarter and coasted to the win.

On Saturday morning the Cerritos team defeated San Mateo, a team that finished second to West Valley of Santa Clara in the Northern California Invitational Tournament a few weeks ago. San Mateo led through the first three periods as the Falcons were wild in their shooting and couldn't buy a bucket. San Mateo took a 2-1 first-quarter lead and was on top at halftime, 5-4. They maintained their one-goal lead in the third period also, going into the final quarter on top 6-5.

Shupp finally found his scoring arm in the quarter, however, as he scored five goals to lead the Falcons to a 12-6 victory.

Tyne was pleased with the performance of Nelson Swartley. "He was the guy that kept us in the game with his outside shooting in the second and third quarters. The rest of the team was wild and just sat there in the water without moving."

De Anza Drops Falcons
That afternoon the Cerritos team met De Anza of Cupertino and dropped a 6-4 decision. De Anza finished third in the Northern California Tournament and is picked as one of the top two teams in the north. De Anza took a 2-1 first-quarter lead and increased it to 6-2 at the half. From there De Anza just coasted to victory as the Falcons were unable to make up the gap. Shupp scored twice to lead the Falcon scoring and was aided by Swartley and Craig Vincent, who each scored once.

"We just made a few mistakes in the first half," said Tyne. "De Anza has a very good team, and they outplayed us. They played good ball control, and we just couldn't catch them. They should be one of the Northern California representatives in the state tournament." "Doug Smith played very well at goalie on the tour, and I was especially proud of the play of Vincent and Swartley. They hustled, moved around, swam well and just played good ball overall."

Tough Schedule
The Falcons have a very tough schedule next week. Tuesday afternoon they travel to Costa Mesa to meet Orange Coast. The two teams have met twice previously this season, with Orange Coast taking both decisions. The Pirates are the top-ranked junior college team in Southern California.

Tuesday night a 7 p.m. the Cerritos team will engage Cal State, Long Beach in the Plaza Pool in Belmont Shore. The 49ers are ranked among the top five four-year teams in the nation. Two years ago the Falcons earned the distinction of being the only junior college team to defeat the 49ers, and the Cal State team hasn't forgotten the incident.

HUSTLING HARRIER — Falcon Pat Curran, freshman from La Mirada, is enroute to a 12th place finish in the Mt. SAC Invitational last week at Mt. SAC. Curran turned in an excellent 22:23 time over the rugged four-mile course. Pasadena captured first place in the race, and five of the top six teams entered in the competition were from the Metropolitan Conference. (TM Photo by Keith Nordine)

Powerful Renegades Beat Falcon Gridders

By RICHARD FRENCH
Sports Editor

Bakersfield's top-ranked Renegades maintained their domination over the Cerritos gridders Saturday with a 22-12 conquest of the Falcons and set the stage for their crucial battle with the El Camino Warriors tomorrow night for the Metropolitan Conference crown.

The Gade running game proved to be too much for the Falcons as Bakersfield amassed a total of 408 yards on the ground. The Falcons gained 285 yards total offense but were limited to 165 yards on the ground, most of which was supplied by tailback Mike Campanale who rushed for 133 yards on 33 carries.

Quarterback Mike Ernst completed 15 of 40 aerials, good for a total of 220 yards, but the Falcon defense couldn't contain Gade flanker Lindsey James and tailback Joe Nigos, who rushed for a combined total of 246 yards on 25 carries.

Bakersfield Takes Lead

Bakersfield scored first in the game when James broke loose on a 67-yard blast. The Renegades increased the lead to 13-0 with 5:11 left in the opening period when Nigos climaxed a 95-yard drive by bolting over from one yard out. Bob Stone's P.A.T. attempt was wide, leaving the score at 13-0.

The Bakersfield defense set the stage for the Renegades next score when safety John Mears picked off a pass from Ernst intended for Hank Fein and returned the theft 59 yards to the two-yard line. Quarterback Don Kennedy swept around left end for two yards and the score, and the tally stood at 20-0 following Stone's point after with just 3:08 gone in the second period.

Falcons Score

The Falcons got in the game with 4:10 left in the half when Campanale plunged over from the one-yard line, climaxing an 84-yard drive that took 18 plays. Ernst's attempted run for a two-point conversion failed, and the Falcons trailed at halftime, 20-6.

Following a scoreless third period, Bakersfield increased the lead to 22-6 midway through the fourth quarter when linebacker Mike Ornelaz blocked a punt attempt by Randy Wersching in the end zone for a safety.

The Falcons' final touchdown came with 1:32 left in the contest when defensive back Mike Hlavac intercepted a pass by Gade quarterback John Duran and sprinted 77 yards down the sideline to run the score to 22-12. Hlavac lost his right shoe during the run but still managed to run the final 60 yards without it, bringing the 18,600 fans at the game to their feet.

The determined Cerritos squad still kept trying, but time ran out with the Falcons in possession inside the five-yard line of Bakersfield.

Hamilton, Hemphill Cited

Freshman fullback Ken Hamilton was named back-of-the-week for his fine interference blocking for Cerritos, and Mark Hemphill, a freshman playing center, received lineman-of-the-week honors for his downfield blocking and tackling against the undefeated Renegades.

Top receiver in the game for the Falcons was Fein, who grabbed six passes for a total of 112 yards. Fein now has 25 receptions for 382 yards on the season, good for third place among receivers in the Metropolitan Conference.

Homecoming Tomorrow

Tomorrow night the Falcons will host the Pierce Brahmas in the annual homecoming game starting at 8 p.m. Pierce is led by quarterback Tim Van Dulin who ranks fifth in the conference behind Ernst with 74 completions for 909 yards and six touchdowns. The Brahmas won their first game of the season last Saturday by upsetting Pasadena, 10-7.

Pierce also boasts the top receiver in the conference in the person of Mark Laughrey, who has caught 38 passes for 469 yards and four touchdowns on the season.

Falcon coach Smokey Cates was pleased with the strong effort turned in by his squad against the Renegades last week and intends to start Campanale at tailback again tomorrow. Joining Campanale and Ernst in the starting backfield will be Hamilton at fullback and Bain Brick at the wingback position.

Pat Curran Paces Cerritos Harriers

Freshman Pat Curran of La Mirada turned in a time of 22:23 to finish 12th in the Mt. SAC Invitational last Friday at Mount San Antonio College. Curran's time was little more than a minute off the winning time of 21:15.8 turned in by Ricky Hitchcock of Bakersfield.

Mark Covert of L.A. Valley was second in the meet, turning in a 21:25 time.

Falcon ace John McNiece of Mayfair was bothered by an injured leg and could only manage a 24:04 time. Randy Mason, another Mayfair graduate, finished the course with a 23:54 time but could only manage to finish in spot number 62. McNiece finished 67th and Jim Hill finished in the 71st spot. Hill, the only sophomore on the team, turned in a time of 24:14.

Falcon coach Dave Kamanski was pleased with the performance of his Falcons, who finished 13th in a field of 17 teams. "They ran a good race, but the injury to McNiece hurt us and I had Dave Castleman running in the junior varsity meet."

"The Metropolitan Conference dominated the meet," Kamanski added. "The top eight finishers were from our conference, and five of the top six teams were from the Metro. It shows you how tough our conference is."

URGE TO KILL

Girls Are a 'Drag' at the Drags

By DARRYL JACKMAN
Asst. Sports Editor

Guys, have you ever taken your girl to the drag races? Beware, because when you do you will be in for some of the dumbest and some of the funniest questions ever asked. And you may suffer bodily harm.

It all starts out when you go over to a friend's house who owns a race car. The first thing she notices is the pictures of rather buxom women wearing very little if anything hanging on the wall. Then she wonders all day what kind of a crowd you hang around with.

What's That?

The first probable question she will ask about the race car is, "What is that?" You try to explain that "That" is one of the fastest race cars in the country. "But why the little bicycle wheels in the front?" Those are motorcycle wheels.

After the first round of questions you depart for the strip wondering whether the whole thing was such a good idea after all. Maybe you should just leave her at home. At the strip your suspicions are confirmed when she tells you the noise and the smell are terrible and that she wishes that she had never heard of you.

Before the argument can get started, your friends pull in and you lend a hand to unload the race car. After the car is unloaded it has to be warmed up. As your girl friend is about to find out, "warming up" can be a shattering experience with an AA fuel dragster. As she moves in closer, she gets a good whiff of nitro and starts crying. There goes her eye make-up and your stock drops about 10 points.

You decide to leave your friends for a while and go up to the stands to play spectator with your girl. Usually her first question is, "I thought that these were supposed to be races. How come he's going down the track by himself?" Then you explain that this is just qualifying for the nighttime program which begins at 7 p.m. Hearing this, she is again mad when she asks why you had to pick her up at 11 a.m.

After the first car runs, the announcer gets on the public address system, and yells something about the Howard Cam Rattler running 6.91-231.12. So the first thing she wants to know is, of course, "What does that mean?"

After watching qualifying for a while, you decide to go see how your friends are coming. The first thing your girl notices is the fact that her clothes are covered with dirt. (Some drag strips are not exactly known for cleanliness.)

Food Poisoning

If you have survived to this point, it might be time for dinner. Maybe your girl will brighten at the thought of food you think. Let me warn you in advance to have Alka-seltzer on hand. Believe me, the female is fragile when it comes to the ptoimaine palaces that serve as concession stands at most strips.

All afternoon you suffer with your friend to get the car qualified for the evening program. This includes wild rides down the strip in the back of the pushtruck, guaranteed to spoil any young lady's hair-do. Of course, after all the build-up, your boys will fail to qualify. It always happens when you are trying to impress someone.

In short guys, if you take a girl to the races, be prepared to either lose a friend or pay for your hospital room when she gets the urge to kill!
