"All You Can Eat" will be the theme of the annual ASCC-Bench Barbeque Saturday from 5.7 p.m. This pre-game food fest will take place at the east end of the tennis courts. All students and staff are admitted for 50 cents. There is a charge of $1 for others attending from the community. The menu consists of quarter pound hamburgers. Boston baked beans, cole slaw and all the trimmings. Beverages include coffee, milk and coke, topped with ice cream for dessert. Donations for the food were made through the Food Service Department by many local merchants and individuals. During the meal the band will play pop music and marches. Such tunes as "Light My Fire" and "The Age of Aquarius" are to be heard. After the barbeque the Cerritos Falcons will play Rio Hondo Junior College in Falcon Stadium. Concluding the evening will be a free dance at the Student Center.

"The idea of the barbeque was to give the Cerritos Bench (the local booster organization) a project to work on with the ASCC," said Donald M. Hall, athletic and recreation director. "It has been beneficial to both groups."

Until three years ago the Bench ran the barbeque as a membership drive. Now it's with the ASCC to give the community the benefit of broad base of participation. The ASCC underwrites half the cost of each student ticket.

Anticipation of about 1,400 participants might be due to the attendance increasing steadily each year. According to Hall, only 300 to 400 people came two years ago. However, 1,000 participated last year. Everyone is encouraged to

New Library Hours Set for Semester

Studying on Saturday might be the new habit of many students due to the new Library hours scheduled for this semester. Influenced by the spring semester response by the students from open hours on Saturday and the increased enrollment this semester, Library hours available will be increased.

For the rest of the semester and perhaps the year the new hours are still on a trial basis. Hours are: Monday through Thursday 8 a.m. until 9:50 p.m., Friday 8 a.m. until 4:30 pm. and Saturday 12 p.m. until 4 p.m. Everyone is urged to make valuable use of this new

Is This College a Real Administrator's Land?

Have any one of you realized that Cerritos is the Land of the Administrator? In "The Land of Oz" the administrator is all POWERFUL, and he is extremely

Have you noticed that there are no other newspapers than Talon Marks on campus? Why must the bberally-minded be silenced through unfair censorship? Forbid Other Papers

The answer to the first question is that here at Cerritos we are afflicted with a malady called "Vandalism" which causes the administrator to forbid any off-campus newspapers. The administrator I spoke to told me that if students need a newspaper they can read it in the Library, or they can buy it across the street at the local Rexall Drug Store.

· What is the administration afraid of? I'm sure that it doesn't think that those nasty, ugly underground newspapers like the Free Press will pervert their poor

I'm not saying that the underground papers are correct in their philosophies, but I am saying that freedom of the press is essential for an informed and responsible population. I personally think that the Free Press is humorous and enjoyable reading just like the Sunday comic papers, and I'm sure most people feel

Able To Print Truth? But let's go back to the exclusive right of the Talon Marks to be read on this campus. Since all other newspapers are banned, it would be logical that the TM should be able to report to the fullest of its ability the true news. But how can the TM report fully and accurately if, and I quote from the Student Government Manual, "... they (the student government representatives) shall have the right to summon and discuss with the adviser (of the TM) matters relating to such complaints (brought before the ASCC reps)"? Then it goes on to say that the ASCC Executive Cabinet should not be considered as an outside pressure group. But that is just what they are! By this "rule" the ASCC Executive Cabinet can, if it so desires, dictate what will and what will not be printed in Talon Marks.

No Slanting, Masking A free press publishes what the creators of that paper feel is the truth. No slanting by student government or anyone else can benefit the campus by masking the potentially detrimental images and things that go on here.

As George Woodworth, an ASCC student senator and TM page editor, once said, "Any form of truthful and honest communication is hemlock to tyranny and oppression in any set of circumstances..." And a college newspaper that is dictatorially censored is just so much trash. If this is freedom of the press, it is printed on cow pies.

What are your reactions to this situation? The editorial page, wide open to letters to the editor, awaits your comments.

Editor Reviews ASCC Contingency Listing

Newspapers traditionally come in for a lot of abuse from some of the articles they print and the ideas they express. Some papers bend to tht will of the outside pressure groups and change their format to comply. Others continue to print the way they feel and believe, regardless. But no paper that bends to the will of others is doing a fair job of reporting the facts as they stand.

Last year student government tried to tie the hands of the student newspaper through the use of 14 contingencies that it tacked onto the Talon Marks budget, and later put in the Government Organizations Code, I would like to take these one by one and ask students to form their own opinions. (See column titled: TM Contingencies.)

The first contingency states that all ASCC events and activities must be reported in Talon Marks. Student news has priority over anything else, and this is only common sense. Why should student government demand something that is a

According to the second contingency the instructor of the newspaper is given legal authority for its publication and is responsible to the Board of Trustees and the ASCC. The adviser, and take note of the title, is here to advise and teach fournalism. The students are responsible for their own actions.

The students of Talon Marks are not to have the final say in matters concerning the final production of TM. Who does have the final say? Let's have student government, the Board of Trustees, the administrators and students read all the copy before it's printed to make sure it's safe for human consumption. A liberal portion of the paper is to be devoted to student opinion and letters to the editor, states the contingencies. How many times last year were whole pages and most of some other pages devoted to those very letters? Rules were even stretched as to length to incorporate letters from various points of view to run. Those people who back the list of contingencies say they want the free exchange of student ideas but turn around in another rule and say that only people who are taking the class can have ideas every week.

How much further do I need to go with these contingencies except that one of them includes the statement that ASCC officers will not suppress, dictate or censor any material; and another says that the Senate should not be considered as outside pressure group? But above all this, both groups reserve the right to call the adviser before them in case of a complaint. It even restricts the mailing list to junior colleges, journalism competitions, members of the Board of Trustees and the

I hope that some of these problems can be worked out this semester with the Publications Board on campus. If I become a member of the board, I intend to see that this is one of the first things that is brought before it.

Is New Court To Be ICC Toy?

By BOB HARDIN Feature Editor

As a new member of the Inter-Club Council, known as ICC by most and called unprintable names by a few, the first meeting went as I had anticipated, with pep talks from advisers Director of Activities Don McCain and Dean of Women Amy Dozier.

After all the business had been taken care of Don Butler, Vets Clubs representative, brought for discussion a proposition for the formation of a "lower" or "inferior" court exclusively for ICC's use when taking punitive action against a club which has strayed from the

This lower court would be created so ICC wouldn't have to go to the college's Supreme Court every time it wished to take action against a club. I looked into this proposal and found it would legally be giving ICC back its power to "kick" clubs off campus, a power it never had constitutionally but used in last year's railroading of Omnibus.

Tet of ICC

wuld be made a

of the smaller, "least popular" campus clubs.

In this lower court there would be nine justices and four alternates with new justices being chosen for every case. The representatives themselves would not serve, but members from their respective clubs would fill the nine vacancies, members who more than likely will be influenced by their club's interest in the outcome of the case. This gives ICC almost complete dominance over the actions of the court and once again control over every club's campus

Need for Lower Court

Almost everyone involved in student government will agree to the need of a lower court to take care of ICC matters, but not in a manner to create the situation that started its downfall last semester. What's needed is a lower court working independently of ICC, away from its influence.

One way is to have the ASCC President appoint the nine justices and four alternates for a full year term instead of having ICC pick them every time they need to convene court, The proposal is a good idea in that The relation- it will take a lot of burden off an aldy sus- ready crowded Supreme Court agenda, pres- but this court must not become a tool s to be manipulated by ICC.

Students, Apathy Start New Year Together

An epidemic has hit the campus! Its effect is reaching students as well as faculty members of Cerritos. It's called APATHY, a lack of emotion or indifference, so the dictionary states. Out of an enrollment of 13,000 students we have approximately 700 students who take part in club or student government affairs. Yes, this is all old hat. You've heard it before. It's a free country and you have the right to be left alone. First let me tell you as I see it. You have no such right.

You're attending Cerritos, one of the finest junior colleges in the State. We have won numerous awards in athletics, speech programs, journalism, as well

As a junior college we are impressive, Cerritos is giving most of you a start or a new start in life. How inexpensive can it get, then-7 dollars for a student body membership card?

How many of you plan to attend the Scott Carpenter lecture, one of the football games, or one of the movies free to student body members?

It seems many of us are taking and not giving back. Sure, you are busy, but ... don't you find the time if you really want to do something? A lot of you are new and don't know very many people. You won't know them any better by standing around doing nothing. Faculty are included in this. They should be setting an example. What kind of an example is it? We need their support, help and experience. We're still new

We have numerous clubs which help the community as well as the college. What better way to gain experience in living, making your own laws, getting along with others and helping others than here? Don't we all get concerned with the "I" image? "I'm so tired; I'm so busy;

I don't care about that." There's a lot of 1's in this world, and if everyone had this outlook we would be in one heck of a mess.

The only things the "I" image has brought us are communism, Hitler, the Vietnam War and the rioting in colleges all over the country.

How does this concern you here at Cerritos? We have a care if we're going to keep Cerritos one of the best junior colleges in California. We owe this, Give back some of what you're taking. Get involved.

This doesn't just mean student government or a club. Participate in athletics, join a speech contest, the band or Falconettes, any area which interests you. -We can do a lot here at Cerritos to benefit the college, the community and

The "1" in your life will get down to its right size, Don't wait around until someone else does it, You do it and let's see if we can change that epidemic to "I Care."

Real TM 'Freedom' Issue Clouded Behind Authority Rationalizations

By GEORGE WOODWORTH Associate Editor

It is a very sad week for Cerritos College. My journalism adviser has just informed me that we have been harping on the same basic issue for the last two semesters in this newspaper, The issue as I see it is shall we, indeed, have freedom of the press for this college's newspaper or shall we have a continual smoke screen of "standards and JC journalism style" thrown at us to make us conform to the beliefs and the ideals of others in more powerful positions.

I have to wonder at the justifications or rationalizations of the people in power that one has to deal with at this institution. Sure, we have been harping on the "freedom of the press" issue. It can't be talked about too much. If you don't exercise, you get fat and lazy. If you don't talk about and get involved with "freedom" as an out and out right, you will lose that too along with your slim

Psychologists tell us that man has two basic drives-sex and aggression. Men do try to aggress upon one another. They try to infringe upon others property, their liberty, their dreams and even (in this country) their constitutional

Can I talk about that too much? Can I fore you to lears teaming you that a group of very great Americans once sat down in some dim chambers in Philadelphia and wrote a living, breathing document of freedom for all, irrespective of race, creed or color? Is it important?

May I suggest that our "freedom" muscles might need exercise too? Don't they need to be used along with our other activities? Shouldn't we be concerned about undue suppression, inhibition and censorship?

It is my own belief that these muscles are not in use at Cerritos College. There is little journalistic freedom here.

I have not been allowed to print my original column this week because it is too hot for this college to handle. One cannot talk about one of this school's top administrators and give the other students a few thoughts and opinions about him and his policies. It is not done. We will be sued. He might lose his job. It is not a public service. It's not the kind of thing that we should print-ad nauseum.

Bore you with journalistic freedom-I wouldn't waste my time or yours. Talk is cheap, everyone knows. But, someday, someone is going to listen.

Mind Disease?

Not too many students think of apathy as a disease of the mind, the etiological agent of which appears to be a profound lack of concern. At onset, apathy is characterized by insensibility and general malaise of the spirit. Complications usually are quick to set in; these would be lethean uncertainty and common obliviousness, which eventually become readily noticeable in the general attitude and specific point of view if and when those traits are present in the affected student.

Unlike so many other infective, contagious disorders common to the student body, the apathy syndrome cannot be broken by any known means of applied treatment, though physiotherapy has often been suggested. Large and frequent dosages of factual information mixed with sharp wit and intelligent editorial comment, administered by any means possible, is definitely indicated. Such injections, though inflammatory must be continued until the patient is aroused to the point of altruistic concern, whereupon he will suddenly find himself involved, an uncommon but extremely healthful condition not known to have any degenerative of registration. I went to the Office of Student Affairs to acquire an application for a student loan. There, I was told by one of the secretaries that the small portion on the application that had to be completed by the administration could not be obtained because the individual in charge was on vacation until Sept. 2. Since I'd received a government loan last semester, I knew it took the banks four or five weeks to process the loan.

It was one of my more brilliant days, so the thought occurred to me to inquire if there was an alternate to fill this requirement. The reply I received was "nobody." I then asked that if something should happen to the individual in charge of loans, would it mean no more student loans for the entire life of Cerritos College. The same answer.

By this time I realized I could not procure an adequate answer, and it was then time to climb that never-ending mass of bureaucratic structure, After darting from one administrator's office to another, I finally found a sympathetic ear, and my ambition was rewarded.

I pointed out to this administrator that the only reason I had accomplished

my goal was that I knew the areas the student who doesn't know how to circumvent the structure? He would have to wait until sometime in October before he would receive his check from the bank, and that's not filling the needs of the students. •

Scorer Gives His Team 2-1

Lead in Semester Battles

There are now three people capable of handling student loans. That is one for us, and none for them.

I was feeling rather well until I heard that the appointments to the committee to go over board policies in regards to organizations had been decided before school began. Perhaps you are unaware of how and why this committee was formed. I think it would be to your advantage if I informed you of the events leading up to the establishment of this committee.

Last semester the Omnibus Society had a number of confrontations with the administration each time coming out on the wrong end of an arbitrary decision by the administration, (We believe these decisions to be the practice of a double standard.) The fight culminated when the Omnibus Society was illegally removed from campus oy the ICC and then reinstated by the ASCC Supreme Court after a very legallyoriented and well-publicized trial.

Once this decision was rendered the Board of Trustees went into action and passed a motion to form the committee made up of administrators, faculty senators and student senators to go over board policies.

It was fairly well known that I would have given my left arm to be on that committee. However, my appointment to the student senate would not occur until the first week of school. At this time I cannot say whether or not the decision to appoint the committee during that had to be traversed. But what about the summer had any relationship to my appointment to the Senate, but it would be a tactful maneuver.

Now we come to the point I want to make. I believe there are only two people out of the nine on that committee who actually have academic freedom at heart. And it is also my opinion that the committee is obviously stacked against us, and no meaningful change will be made.

Let's hope that a new precedent will be set up by being wrong-but don't hold your breath.

That makes the score one all, Our second win cannot be reported in this newspaper due to the contingencies placed on Talon Marks,

RELAXATION-Don McCain, newly appointed Activities Assistant, relaxes while

Involving the Student Goal of New Director

By GUY SCANDLEN

"I want to attempt to involve as many students as possible in the activities of Cerritos College because students have so much to give in energy an dtime and work," remarked Don Mc-Cain, new Activities Assistant,

Activities are important, McCain continued, not only in the development of a well-rounded person but in securing jobs. "Activities listings are important to employers, who always ask to have such listings in applications. Involvement is vital to student life, and students should be willing to give as much to Cerritos as they are to take from it."

To help involve students, McCain, who is adviser to the Inter-Club Council and the Panhellenic Council, is encouraging clubs, sororities and fraternities to recruit new members vigorously. He feels that through clubs students may find a new identity. He is encouraged by the results of Club Booth Day.

Last spring, he said, 15 organizations built booths. This fall there were 32 ormoment he is forming or reorganizing six new clubs and sororities.

One of his chief objectives this year is to bring about a harmony in the ICC and to strengthen it so that it can become "a more dynamic organization on campus." He feels that in the past the disciplinary aspects of the ICC might have been "overstressed." He would like to channel the ICC to take "a more positive approach."

The primary purpose of the ICC, he feels, is to help keep clubs and organizations on campus while still following the stated rules and regulations. Organizations should be active and beneficial to Cerritos.

McCain is available to assist in organizing new clubs and organizations. He also works with students seeking federally-insured loans.

Born in Great Bend, Kans., McCain was raised in Silver City, New Mexico, where he attended high school, completed his B.A. in industrial technology and earned his M. A. in guidance and counseling. Both degrees are from New Mexico University. His first two years of college were spent at Abilene Christian College in Texas.

He and his wife, Jo Ann, looked to California because of the climate and economic possibilities. He taught mechanical and engineering drawing at Tehachapi, Calif. for two years. In 1964 he went back to Springfield, Ark. to go into business with his father. But he says, "There's nothing like a year in business to make you appreciate working in education."

Consequently, he returned to California and taught auto shop at El Rancho High School in Pico Rivera in 1965, became a counselor the following year, and in 1987 was made principal of the El Rancho Continuation High School. He has taught graduate courses at Pepperdine College in "California Juve-nile Law" and "The Scope and Function of the Continuation School." He holds three credentials: a General Secondary, a General Pupil-Personnel and a Secondary Administrative credential. "I feel extremely fortunate to enter junior college work at my age," he says. McCain The McCains are "avid football fans," following the Falcons and the Rams closely. Of course, they still keep tabs on the El Rancho Dons. He likes to fish and water ski (in Arkansas) and plays golf, shooting in "the high 80s or 90s. He's particularly proud of his recent 145 yard hole-in-one ("on the fifth hole with a six iron") at the Whittier Narrows Golf Course.

A member of the Church of Christ, he serves on the church's education committee and teaches high school and college level Sunday school.

He's looking forward to this year very much and is "extremely happy" with his job and his colleagues. He's particularly pleased with Cerritos students. "I find great job satisfaction in the enthusiasm of the students I deal with."

Entertainment Roundup

World of Art Explored by Coed At L.A., Long Beach Museums

By SUZANNE NICASSIO One of the true "finds" for bargain hunters in quality but cheap entertainment is the art museum. At one time the refuge of oversized, dusty semi-masterpleces, society dowagers and represent ational sculpture with fig leaves, the art museum is now one of the most exciting places around. And they tend to have a fast and abiding sympathy for poverty-stricken students, art or otherwise. L.A. Art Museum Ranging from the vast new Los Angeles Museum of Art, they offer exciting exhibits of multi-media artworks (fur-lined scipture and paintings wired for sound%!); film festivals by the gross; modern and classical chamber music concerts; free guided tours; and, depending on the particular institution, any number of special goodies by the season or by impulse. Long Beach The Long Beach Museum of Art at 2300 East Ocean Bllvd. is going to present one in a series of avant garde film collections on October 9 at 7 p.m. and at 9 p.m. Admission is free to museum members, but the rest of us peasants can get in for fifty cents.

The films are all short experimental in nature and include some that sound quite interesting: "Pianissimo," for instance, features a player plano that decorates itself in time to its own music; a satirical, animated "History of the Cinema" from England; a film of "The Grateful Dead," the San Francisco rock group; what is billed as a satirical Bufferin commercial; and "23-Skidoo," a fantasy-documentary of life in the future. And there's a prize-winning color film called "Looking for Mushrooms"-the subject isn't listed, but the title suggests all sorts of great possibilities.

The Long Beach Museum also features chamber music concerts free of charge. The next one is coming up Oct. 16 and will be detailed in next week's

Downey Art Museum The Downey Museum of Art, tucked away in Furman Park on Rives Ave. in Downey, has a wide reputation among artists as one of the best small museums

Their current show, through Oct. 12h presents four confemporary sculptors, all of whom are working in industrial materials. Their plastic and aluminum constructions vary from the representational to the abstract. Admission is free, and the museum itself is well worth a visit.

Open End Theater Our old friend, the Open End Theater, 2815 Villa Way in Newport Beach, is continuing its comedy film festival tonight and tomorrow night with a classic Marx Brothers picture, "Duck Soup." This is supposed to be a hilarious comedy about war and revolution (?), and with the Marx Brothers it probably is. Admission is $2.50, which includes the latest installments in the thrilling serial, "Radar Men from the Moon," and a midnight camp flick on Saturday.

Parting note: All you space fans be prepared for the Giant Rock Space Convention Oct. 11-12, featuring first-hand reports of UFO sightings and a time machine. Think about it.

ICC Discusses Forming Court

At the Inter-Club Council's first meeting Monday a proposition was brought to the floor for discussion about the formation of a "lower" or "inferior" court for ICC's use when initiating punitive action against a club.

The lower court would be created for the expressed purpose of giving ICC a court to go to besides the Cerritos Supreme Court when acting against a club. This court would be made a part

There would be nine justices and four alternates picked from the clubs represented in ICC. The club representative himself would not be on the court, but a member of his club would serve as a member, with new justices being chosen

Beanies Voted Off-Campus At 1st Fraternity Meeting

By ABE MOYA Club Editor

In a special meeting called early this week the members of Sigma Phi fratérnity voted their traditional beanies as a strictly off-campus activity apparel. Both sides were discussed in an hourlong heated debate.

It was decided that because the beanie has been a part of the fraternity and its members since chartering in 1958 that they would not be done away with entirely.

Other changes are in the making in an effort to update Sigma Phi, the oldest fraternity on campus, to parallel this fast-moving, modern pet set college and community.

McGrath Eyes Future Generation Respectful

By RUSS JOBIN

QUESTION: "Did you do a good job as a police office?"

ANSWER: I once did a good job of tearing up the back end of a radio car. I was parked in a gas station and received a red light and siren call. In order to get out of the gas station, I had to back out, so I jammed it into reverse and looked out the rear view mirror. There was nothing in sight so ${\bf I}$ floored it. I went about four feet, and come one of our instructors. "One of the reasons why I like young people," says McGrath, "is they are to leave the Sheriff's Department and be-open to new ideas. They have the ability to change and base their decisions on thinking rather than preconceived notions. Young people today are much more aware than my generation, and not only are they concerned about problems but they are interested in doing something "You know, we are getting a lot of liberal people în our pelice science classes, and I like it because it represents a challenge. I'd rather have a class that questions some of my statements than those that say nothing. It makes me think, and it makes them think."

McGrath also spends much of his free time with young people. He is the adviser to Lambda Alpha Epsilon, and he is an assistant scoutmaster in Orange County. He also devotes time to training teachers in four school districts on drug abuse.

McGrath told me, "I get to know quite a few of the teachers, and when they have a kid in class that is having a problem with drugs they give me a call and I go down to see him. One of the most important parts in counseling these kids is providing an ear. I always ask them if there is on adult they can trust well enough to discuss the problem, and almost every time they say 'No.' I never lecture them. What I try to do is get them to figure out what it is about drugs that makes them use them.

"I ask them, is it exciting, a kick, or do they have pressure at home? From there I try to ge them to think of something that would do the same thing for them without having the same kind of danger involved. Today we do too many things to protect kids. We put up fences around rivers, no trespassing signs in wooded areas, and if a kid wants to play ball he has to join the Little League. We have taken the spirit of adventure away from kids today. I'd much rather have my kids run the risk of breaking an arm or a leg than take the chance of ruining their minds by dropping pills or sniffing

Odd Combination He said the type of person that makes a good police officer has to have an old combination of talents. "And in some ways they are contradictory. He needs the ability to be very cool and calm and take an academic, detached look at a situation, be friendly, like people, but at the same time, when the situation calls for it, he needs to be capable of immediate physical action.

"Sometimes we run into students whose personality is really uptight, and no matter what we do he won't change. It is then our responsibilty to tell him that he is going to have a hard time in police work and that maybe he ought to change his major."

You need only to talk a few minutes with McGrath before you realize that behind that rugge dexterior lles a sensitive person who feels a repsonsibility not only for the safety of his community but for the individual as a human being. He is one of those individuals who possesses that rare quality by which you respect him not because he needs it or demands it but because he is worthy of

Cerritos Rolls Up 412 Yards In Victory over LBCC Vikings

Before 6.700 fans the Cerritos Falcons and Wershing attempted a 31-yard field rolled up 412 yards in total offense as goal. But Buster Lacoste had other ideas they coasted to a decisive 27.7 win over as he blocked the kick and raced 65 Long Beach Saturday.

Long Beach returned the opening kickoff 30 yards. The Vikings moved the ball to the Cerritos 40-yd line. On a second and six Len Gaeta fumbled and defensive tackle Mike Ballantyne was there to recover it.

Cerritos picked up one first down on the running of halfback Steve Sution and fullback Ken Hamilton but was forced to give up the ball. On the second play of the next series Long Beach had a second and third as it sent ace halfback Ed: Giles into the line. Giles was belted by linebacker John Montoya, and the ball squirted into the arms of Gary Smuls.

After Sutton picked up six yards on two runs, the Falcons faced a third and fourth situation. Mike Ernst dropped back, spotted Bain Brick open at the three and rifled a strike to him. Frick then glided in for the score. Rai Wershing's P.A.T. was blocked.

At the beginning of the second quarter Cerritos started to march. After Erns and Sutton picked up first downs on 11yard runs, Ernst hit Brick with a 12-yd. pass. After the catch Brick was hit extremely hard and fumbled the ball.

Neither team could do anything after that until LBCC took over after stopping at the 31. On the first play Gaeta fumbled and Ballantyne was in the right spot again to record his second fumble

The Falcons could not sustain a drive until early in the fourth quarter when it got the ball on its 32. Sutton picked up 31 yards in four plays, the last a 20-yard burst off tackel, LBCC was then penalized for piling moving the ball to the 20-yd line, Baca then raced through a huge hole on the left side, faked the safetyman and waltzed into the end zone. Cerritos got the ball right back as Stan McConnell intercepted a pass, but time ran out before it had a chance to start another drive.

Golden West Splashes Falcons; 5-4 Overtime Loss Spoils Debut

BY BILL HEEHT

The Cerritos water polo team received an unexpected dunking at the hands of the Golden West Rustlers Tuesday afternoon, losing to the team from Orange County 5-4 in overtime. The debut for the third place team in the state last year wasn't quite the success Falcon coach Pat Tyne had hoped for.

The game was a hard-fought afair with the decission in doubt until a Falcon penalty shot with 30 seconds remaining went awry.

The first period was played on a fairly even keel with Golden West drawing first blood with 5:40 left to play. The ball was taken down slowly with a Rustler player slipping behind the Fal-

Hariers Triumph Over Mesa 25-32

Falcon teammates Ruben Chappins and Mike Bernal waged a duel to the tape in last week's cross country clash at San Diego Mesa. Outclassing the rest of the field, Chappins and Bernal finished 1-2 in leading the Falcons to a hard-earned 25-32 victory. It was the second win in as many weeks for the harriers and marked the first loss for Chappins roared through the hilly four-mile course in 21:21 with Bernal hot on his heels at 21:23, only two seconds oif Chappins' blistering pace. The ever-improving Johnnie, Mendez, was fourth in 21:46, while John McNeice slipped in to sixth with a time of 22:04. Rounding out the top five was Roy Nilsson in 24.06.

Falcon coach Dave. Kamanski was elated over the victory, saying "A couple of strong finishes by Falcon runners made the difference in the 25-32 score.

Less than a minute later Swartley defuly lobbed a shot over the outstretched arms of the Rustler gealle to pull Cerritos ahead 2-1. The second half featured some outstanding individual efforts by sophomore Buckley as he continually harrassed the visitors with his hustle and alert defensive play.

With 4:05 left to go in the third period a Falcon score was disallowed. An infraction occurred as Falcon Ken Taylor zeroed in on the Rustler goalie and pumped in what appeared to be a clean score. The referee's unpopular decision scemed to take the steam out of the Falcons as well as perk up the Rustlers. A penalty shot by Golden West with 3:15 left in the period evened the score at 3-3.

Rees again put the Falcons ahead with only 3:25 left in the game to make it 4-3. But a bad pass by the Falcons and some beautiful teamwork between Rustler teammates Lippholt and Svenson, and the latter doing the scoring Jamage with a three footer, fied the core at 4-4.

The overtime period was closely self alone in front of the Falcon net ought until Lippholt again found himand whistled in an easy three footer to put Golden West ahead for good, week, it appears that the above phrase will definitely by one of the top backs might be true. Cerritos enters the new South Coast Conference this year and could surprise a few people. After their convincing 27-7 win over traditional rival Long Beach, the Falcons should be rated as a top contender for the conference

Other members of the new league are San Diego Mesa, San Diego City, Santa Ana, Mt. SAC, Orange Coast and Fullerton. The latter two were chosen as favorites in a preseason poll.

Fullerton Strong Again

The Hornets of Fullerton JC are very strong again this season. They have romped to early victories over the Cypress Chargers (53-0) and the Pierce Brahmas (35-7). The Pirates of Orange Coast, it seems, have returned to the form of their golden years and will have to be reckoned with this year. They are still undefeated, with the most recent win coming against Cypress, 23-8. The Falcons seem to have all the makings of a championship ball club.

Intramurals Start

Intramurals will begin Thursday under the direction of coach Dallas Moon. The football program will run about six weeks, with awards given to the winning team at season's end.

Games will be played on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 11 a.m. They will last approximately 45 minutes with two 20minute halves and a two-minute rest period between halves.

"We would like to have at least three games going at the same time," commented Moon. "And maybe if we get enough teams we can break it up into an AFL and NFL and have a Super

The following rules will govern intramural action:

1. Seven-man team (four linemen and three backs) 2. Touch rules

3. No direct runs

4. No cleats Must wear shirt.

Although the JC season is in its third Fullback Ken Hamilton proved that he in the new conference. He picked up 60 yards on 13 carries against LBCC, most of them for first downs on short yardage situations.

Who knows, with Hamilton around the Falcons may never punt again. Steve Sutton and Joe Baca form a great onetwo punch at halfback. Sutton gained. 86 yards and scored on a four-yard run. Baca picked up 59 yards on the ground and 79 yards on two catches as he scored twice for the victorious Falcons.

Broke Records

Mike Ernest broke Cerritos passing records last year as if they were made of glass. If Mike can follow with another year like that, it could very well put the Falcons into the state playoffs. He has two excellent receivers in Bain Brick (who caught four passes including a 21yd. scoring aerial) and John Morrison.

Rai Wershing will give the Falcons an added scoring punch with his field goal kicking. (Rai's older brother, Randy, an ex-Falcon kicked California's winning field goal in its upset win over Indiana.)

Both lines are strong with many returning lettermen from last year's squad. Both lines did a tremendous job Saturday night's victory. The linebacker corps in the best in the year, while the deep backs have the material to get the job done.

The key to victory over LBCC was that we established our running game," said coach Smekey Cates. The boys played real well.

Two weeks before the game defensive back Jay Bohrcet broke his leg, and this will keep him out for the year. Last Friday he was visited by three teammates who assured him they would win the game for him.

"We went into the game to wn it for Jay," commented coach Dallas Moon, who secured the game ball for Boheer and nothing was going to stop us." Sunday the ball, signed by teammembers, was presented to Bohreer in his hospital room.

So it looks as though the Falcons stand'a good chance of getting off on the right foot in the new conference.
