CLUB DECISION — Cerritos College students can choose from over fifty different clubs on campus. Among the clubs and organizations are those groups are sororities and fraternities.

Strong Club System Boasts Something New for Everyone

One of the most active phases of student involvement on the Cerritos campus has to do with the students' participation in one of the fifty different clubs on campus. Every student is encouraged to join one of the clubs, fraternities, or sororities on our campus.

At the present time there are approximately fifty-five active clubs on campus covering almost as many different interests. Each year additional new clubs are added as students with new interests enroll. Admission requirements for clubs are minimal. A student must be carrying at least ten units and not be on academic probation. Information regarding the starting of a new club can be obtained in the Office of Student Affairs.

The clubs on our campus are divided into four different categories, the first category being the Curricular Commission. Clubs in this division are primarily concerned with creating an interest in a certain field of study. The members of these clubs are usually enrolled in one particular area of study and have joined together because of mutual interest. Last year's Curricular "Club of the Year" award went to Lambda Alpha Epsilon, the police science club.

The next category is the Panhellenic Commission. This Commission is made up of fraternities and sororities on our campus. At the present time we have a total of nine fraternities and sororities. This group of clubs is usually the most active group on campus. They are involved in all phases of campus activity.

The primary purpose of the fraternities and sororities is to encourage the students to participate in social activities. Although this is an important phase of fraternity and sorority life, it is not the only objective of these organizations. The Panhellenic "Club of the Year" award last year went to a new fraternity on campus, Upsilon Omicron.

The third division of clubs are the Service Clubs. These clubs were formed to serve the college and the community. Their primary purpose is to involve themselves in projects on campus and in the community which will be beneficial to all. The Service "Club of the Year" award was won by Circle K.

The fourth division of clubs is the Special Interest Group. These clubs were formed by students who have a special interest in specific areas. This group encompasses a very large area of activity, both intellectual and athletic. The Special Interest "Club of the Year" award for last year was won by the Vets Club.

Other important parts of club activities include the "I Care" Committee and the Yung Woon Choi Committee, sponsored by all clubs on campus.

The "I Care" Committee is a first-semester project which involves the students of Cerritos College with a local Indian Community. The "I Care" Committee is presently participating in the financing and building of a recreation hall and library for the Indian people. Last year this was a very active project.

The Yung Woon Choi Committee seeks ways of securing funds which are sent to South Korea for the total support of a Korean orphan, Yung Woon Choi. Students of Cerritos College have for the past several years been the total support for Yung Woon Choi. This Committee is a very worthwhile second-semester project.

The club activity program covers a very wide scope, and there are clubs to suit everyone's interest. Students interested in joining clubs should be in the Quad on Club Booth Day on September 23. Students having a special interest not covered by the present clubs on campus should see Mr. McCain in the Office of Student Affairs.

Board Acts On District Budget Plans Moving for New Year

At a regular meeting of the Cerritos College Board of Trustees, the Board approved a tentative budget of $8,478,826.00. Included in this budget is an approximate 6% increase in salary for both certificated and classified personnel at the college.

At the same time, the Board voted unanimously to levy a special Adult Education 5-cent tax to help meet the expenses of a burgeoning evening college program, and to offset an unbalanced budget. Many community colleges in the State are using this tax, some of them up to the maximum 10 cents allowable, to meet the growing demands of exploding enrollments.

The adoption of the salary schedules came after a year's study by a faculty-administrative study committee headed by James Simpson, Business Manager, and Don Siriani, Dean of Student Personnel. Twenty comparable junior college districts were selected by this study group and extensive research was made prior to the recommendation to the Board.

Restructuring of the certificated salary schedule resulted in an approximate 6% improvement for all teaching and administrative personnel. The classified salary schedule was completely overhauled in the study recommendation, resulting in a comparable improvement for the classified personnel.

Financial Crisis Hits California Schools Enrollment Jumps in Junior Colleges

BY EDUCATION NEWS SERVICE

A financial squeeze at a time of record enrollments is the main problem most of California's 93 community colleges face this fall.

Dr. Sidney W. Brossman, statewide chancellor of the California Community Colleges, notes that the colleges are now being engulfed by the wave of post-World War II babies that inundated the lower schools in the 1950's.

The community colleges are also having to enroll a higher percentage of four-year college and university-bound pupils than in the past and give them their first two years of lower division education. The reason is that the state colleges and University of California are diverting more and more freshmen into the community colleges as these institutions phase in more upper division and graduate enrollment.

Statewide enrollment at the community colleges this fall is expected to increase about 9 per cent. This is an increase of about 80,000 full and part-time pupils for a total of 800,000—the largest single system of higher education in the world.

"Most of the state's 68 community college districts are now on deficit financing and dipping into reserves," Brossman said. "Unless the community colleges get significant additional support from the state, there may be serious problems in the future regarding limitations on enrollment."

He noted that enrollment limitations have not been a problem in the past for high school graduates who wish to enter the community college of their choice, but a test of the situation is expected this fall.

"In a number of multi-campus districts such as Los Angeles (eight colleges) precautionary plans have been made to refer possible overloads at one campus within the district to another," Brossman said. "This alternative is not available to single-campus districts, however, and serious problems are anticipated at many of the smaller colleges."

Bench Seeks New Members

The Cerritos College Bench, men's community athletic booster club at the college, is continuing its drive for new members. Membership in the organization is $10.

Information regarding membership is available by calling the college at 860-2451, extension 235 or by contacting any Bench officer.

The group gets first priority in purchasing season tickets to all Cerritos home football games and will receive a newsletter about college athletic events.

The Bench sponsors such activities as the annual barbecue preceding the opening football game, the awards banquets for football, basketball and wrestling teams, ladies night, and others. It boosts all college athletic teams.

Members will attend weekly meetings to view game films of the previous week's football contest and will be able to question coaches on upcoming and past games.

Brossman added that two new colleges scheduled to open their doors in the fall will help alleviate the expected student squeeze. The College of Alameda in Alameda and Cosumnes River College, Sacramento, are expected to take some of the load off Merritt and Laney Colleges in Oakland and Sacramento City and American River Colleges in Sacramento.

Two other colleges, Skyline in San Bruno and Columbia in Columbia, got their start last year and will be operating on a larger scale this fall.

Another major problem facing the community colleges is the "admissions crisis." That, Brossman explained, is the fact that many community college graduates are having difficulty transferring to the four-year institution of their choice.

He noted that as of July only one campus of the University of California (Riverside) and only two campuses of the state college system (Bakersfield and the Calexico campus of San Diego State) were accepting admission applications for the fall. A number of the university and state college campuses still had openings for selected majors or at the graduate level.

"Many Northern California community college graduates, not wishing to attend college in Southern California, have had to enroll in private colleges or go out of state to complete studies toward their bachelor's degrees," Brossman said.

Brossman noted that the community colleges provide the best bargain in higher education in the nation.

For example, the cost of educating a California community college student is about $800 a year, while the cost at the state colleges is about $1,000 and about $1,500 at the University of California.

He added that Californians, based on the national average, could afford to spend much more on community college education.

For example, the $800 spent on California community college students is about $200 under the national average of $1,000.

Brossman said that increased state and local support of the community colleges is imperative because of their close relationship with younger students and adult students at the hometown level. He credited this close relationship and the responsiveness of the community colleges for the fact that they have been relatively free of violence in comparison with four-year institutions.

"Absence of violence on community college campuses is a direct result of their local responsiveness and community involvement," he declared.

"However, he warned, any future complacency and lack of consideration of student rights could result in the same type of campus disorder that is occurring at other colleges throughout the nation. We know that there is public reaction to everything that has been occurring on the campus. The Legislature is well aware of this. And we do not want the community colleges to be penalized financially because of this, but we also must keep in mind that one of the treasures of our society is the constitutional right of dissent."

SACRAMENTO—California's two-year community colleges will be hit the hardest this fall by increases in enrollment, while the number of students will drop off again at the kindergarten level.

Although the state as a whole will experience an increase in public elementary and secondary school enrollment, the rate will be slower than in the past several years.

These are among a number of conclusions that can be drawn from reports on public school, college and university enrollment anticipated for the fall. Reporting were the Population Division of the State Department of Finance, the Coordinating Council for Higher Education, the state offices of the California Community Colleges, the California State Colleges and the University of California.

Kindergarten enrollment is expected to be about 340,000 in the fall. This is a decline of 4.6 per cent, the biggest drop in the past three years.

The expected 2,825,000 enrollment in grades one through eight is a slight increase of one-tenth of one per cent. This is a lesser increase than last year which was estimated at 1.5 per cent over the previous year.

The expected increase in grades nine through twelve of 2.2 per cent for an enrollment of about 1,290,000 is also less than last year's estimated 3.2 per cent increase.

California's 93 two-year community colleges report an expected 9 percent increase in enrollment. This adds up to about 80,000 more full and part-time students, for a statewide total of about 800,000—the world's largest system of higher education.

The California State Colleges report an expected full and part-time enrollment of 244,000, an increase of about 18,000. Included in the report, but not counted in the total, are about 65,000 students in "non-state funded" extension programs, an increase of about 10,000 from last year.

The University of California reports that it expects about 106,364 students averaged out on a three-quarter basis. The total enrollment for the September quarter—always the highest—is expected to have three to four thousand students more than the highest of the other quarters.

STUDENT JOBS — The office of Job Placement is in the Administration building and is open to any member of the ASCC. Both full and part time jobs are available.

Student Government Leaders Plan For Sept. Conference

The Fall Student Leadership conference is to be held September 9, 10, at the Erawan Garden Hotel in Palm Desert. This conference allows the students, advisors, and Student Personnel administrators to review the coming year's programs as well as hearing ideas that will allow Cerritos to continue to grow and meet the many needs of its ever increasing student body.

The student representation is composed of student government leaders, club representatives, and students at large. This opportunity for incoming freshmen and the continuing student to meet informally without outside interruptions allows a rare opportunity in bridging the communication gap that exists on many campuses.

There will be general assembly meetings and special workshops. These meetings are designed to recruit workers and participants in the scheduled projects and programs for the school year 1970-71. An example of some of these would be: The Educational Environment Evaluation; Student Government — Its Purposes and Problems; Homecoming; I Care Indian Project; and many more. There will also be workshops that are designed for brainstorming and problem solving.

The planning of this conference is under the direction of Steve Berardino, ASCC President, working with a Student Planning Committee on the agendas and selecting and training workshop chairmen. If you have any ideas or suggestions relating to club projects, student government fund-raising projects, Associated Women Students, campus communications, and social activities, plan to attend and participate in this worthwhile conference. A special appeal is made to incoming freshmen.

If you are interested in participating in this conference, please contact Miss Dozier, Dean of Women, or any member of her staff in the Student Affairs Office.

Many Activities Announced for Student Orientation

Some of the interesting programs planned are: September 15-11:00 a.m. in the Quad area there will be a Dill Pickle Eating Contest. On September 17 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the gym there will be a co-recreational program which will include ping pong, volleyball, badminton, and basketball. Bring your date and join in them.

September 18 from 8 p.m. until 12 midnight in the Student Center there will be Howdy Hop Dance featuring the Enormous September 23 in the Quad is Cl Booth Day. This activity will allow all students to become acquainted with the clubs and organizations on campus.

If you have any questions or wish to join one of our many organizations on campus, this is the time to get the information.

The Orientation Program is under the leadership and direction of Diane Caves, Commissioner of Activities. She may be contacted in the Office of Student Affairs for complete details of any of the above activities or programs.

Annual Howdy Hop Planned For Sept. 18

Friday, September 18, is the date for the big annual Howdy Hop which is probably the most well-attended casual dance of the year. It is the time for new students to get acquainted and old students to renew friendships.

The dance is free to members of the Associated Students of Cerritos College. Because of the large attendance expected for the Howdy Hop, it is open to ASCC members only and they will not be allowed to bring guests.

For your dancing pleasure the fabulous "Emperors" will provide the music again, by popular request. Special entertainment will be featured and a light show will provide added attraction.

Diane Caves, Commissioner of Activities, has planned the event and hopes to see all students in attendance on Friday from 8:00 p.m. to 12 midnight in the Student Center.

Student Loans Extended

Financial Aids Program To Help Cerritos Students

Economically disadvantaged students will be given the opportunity during the academic year of 1970-71 of furthering their educations through financial aid made possible by federal, state and campus programs.

The college work study program is for students, particularly from low-income families, who need a job to help pay for college expenses. Students may work up to 15 hours a week while attending classes fulltime. During vacation periods, students may work fulltime (40 hours a week) under this program. All jobs are provided on the Cerritos Campus. Funds to support the College Work Study program are provided by both the federal government and the college. Hourly rate of pay begins at $1.60. Rate of pay is increased per semester to $2.20 maximum.

Educational Opportunity Grants is a program of direct awards to students with "exceptional" financial need to enable them to continue in school. Awards varying from $200 to $1000 are given to students upon proof of exceptional financial need. Most often this program is coordinated with the College Work Study Program. Funds from the federal government must be matched by college funds. The Associated Students "Bread Hunt Committee" is working on many projects to raise funds to match the federal money in this program.

Students who feel they may be eligible for the Educational Opportunity Grant or College Work Study Program should complete the Financial Aids Application and return to the office of Student Affairs. All applications will be reviewed by Mr. Keith Adams, Coordinator of Financial Assistance.

College Opportunity Grants have already been awarded to approximately 9 Cerritos students. These grants have been awarded to students from low income families. The grants in this program are to be used for the student's living expenses, transportation, supplies, books and educational expenses and will range from $500 to $1,100.

Work Incentive Program also provides financial assistance to students. Aid is available to adults who have a need for improving their job skills or re-training in a new job category. Students qualifying for this program are referred to the college by the State Department of Employment. These students will be assisted in securing educational books, supplies, uniforms, etc., by the Office of Student Affairs.

Many scholarships have been made possible by our community civic and service clubs and by our campus organizations and clubs. The list of scholarships available are posted in the office of Student Affairs and the Counseling office bi-monthly.

Counselors also have the lists available to help students with information regarding the qualifications of each scholarship. Scholarship applications are available in the Office of Student Affairs.

Loan funds have been created by community organizations and interested individuals. The purpose of the loan fund is to provide short term loans to students in financial need. The loans are given interest-free for specified periods. Loans are made in small sums with view to accommodating as many students as possible. Loans are made to students who have been enrolled at Cerritos College for at least thirty days and have demonstrated their capacity and desire to complete their college programs. Some loans are issued to incoming students in special programs. Applicants must file a written application in person to the Financial Aids Office.

Cerritos College has reorganized its financial assistance program. The financial assistance program is now coordinated and administered by Miss Amy Dozier, Financial Aid Officer, and she is assisted by Mr. Keith Adams, Coordinator of Financial Assistance, and Mrs. Madge Coto, Job Placement Interviewer. If you have any questions about our assistance program, please contact Miss Dozier or any member of her staff.

Cosmetology Department To Offer Two Year Program

The hairdressing program of the cosmetology department at Cerritos College has been revised so that students may complete their training in one year by attending semesters and a summer session.

All phases of beauty culture are included—hairdressing, haircutting, hair coloring, permanent waving, facials and manicuring, as well as extensive training in the coloring, cutting, fitting and styling of wigs.

Directional styling, or the pivot point method of hairdressing, is taught at Cerritos. Blow-comb styling, "curve" permanent waving, hair relaxing and hot dyeing of wigs and hairpieces are included in the basic training program. Evening classes for licensed hairdressers are given for advanced training in both hairstyling and professional wig care.

Students at Cerritos may compete in several hairstyling competitions each year. Forty-two college units are awarded upon course completion, which is tuition free.

The cosmetology department is open all year, with the exception of legal holidays, for patron services, and residents of the community may come the department for student work at a minimal fee.

Those interested in a career in cosmetology may contact the department for further information by phoning 860-2451, ext. 277.

Cerritos College has planned tryouts Aug. 19, a Wednesday, at 3 p.m., and Sept. 22, a Tuesday, at 4:30 p.m. for the Falconettes, college drill team.

Girls are required only to purchase boots—the student body will pay for the rest of the uniform and flags and special costumes.

The uniform committee has met and designed an exciting new uniform for the 1970-71 season," said Joan Schutz, chairman of the college health, physical education and recreation department.

Interested girls may contact Miss Schutz at the college, 860-2451, extension 275.

Two current members of the Falconettes, Bonnie Bonyea of Bellflower and Eileen Murvin, from Norwalk, attended a drill team camp at UC Santa Barbara July 12-16 to learn new routines in dancing, marching, flag twirling and novelty shows.

New Courses Offer Diversity

At least 20 new courses will be offered for the first time at Cerritos College this fall.

The new courses range in content from dramatic stage lighting to French civilization.

The new courses are among the hundreds of classes for which students began registering this week. The enrollment for the fall semester will continue through Sept. 10.

Among the new courses to be offered this fall are introduction to the language and culture of both Italy and France, storytelling, Hispanic civilization, French civilization, assisting the physically handicapped, career internships in health, business and technology, basic flight training, aviation ground school, care of hair and skin, a full-year's organic chemistry program, semi-independent study in math, intermediate life drawing, visual perception.

Vets Must Register For GI Benefits

Veterans were reminded by the Veterans Administration that it is still not too late to enroll in college this fall under the GI Bill.

While many of the larger universities have already filled their freshman classes for this year, according to Martin J. May, Acting Manager of VA's Southern California Regional Office, there are many smaller colleges and junior colleges that will accept new students up until school begins in September.

However, the VA advised, it is best to enroll as soon as possible.

The VA urged veterans to contact their nearest VA office immediately to get their certificates of eligibility.

The current G.I. Bill covers men and women who served after January 31, 1955.

Non-Credentialed for Top Posts

Governor Ronald Reagan says he has written into the state's lawbooks "one of the most fundamental and far-reaching breakthroughs in the history of California's public school system"—a bill to let local school boards choose the person they want to run their schools, solely on the basis of managerial and administrative competence, even though the person does not hold a school credential.

The new law (AB-122) also creates a five-member Commission for Teacher Preparation and Licensing, to be appointed by the governor, consisting of professional educators, two school board members and three private citizens. Regulations adopted by the commission will be subject to the approval of the State Board of Education.

The governor, at a special signing ceremony in his office said "the bill represents one of the most fundamental and far-reaching breakthroughs in the history of California's public school system."

"It is nothing less than a giant stride forward in this administration's efforts to reform California's archaic teacher credentialing system — through streamlining and modernizing the state's administrative machinery in this area."

"By insuring a continuing flow of new ideas from the teaching profession and the public, and bringing together the leadership of the higher educational institutions responsible for teacher preparation, it will give our state college and university education departments a better closer feel for the changing needs in curriculum development as they affect our young people studying to become teachers."

Governor Reagan emphasized that the new law "will, for the first time in a century, untie the hands of local school boards so that they will no longer be forced to limit their search for a district superintendent to only those members of the educational establishment who possess a credential."

Proper Class Withdrawal Necessary To Avoid Damaging Scholastic Record

The scholastic record you develop at Cerritos College will be with you throughout your life. Do not jeopardize this record. The success you attain in your classes is determined by your interest and effort.

Change of Programs or Withdrawals from College regulations must be adhered to. Do you know how to withdraw from college or change your class schedule?

A student wishing to withdraw from a portion of his program (a class or classes) must initiate the following action:

a. Complete a Change of Program form at the Counseling Office indicating the course or courses to be dropped.

b. Present the duly processed Change of Program form to the Admissions and Records Office.

Withdrawal from College: Withdrawals from college are processed in the same way as withdrawals from class except that an official Withdrawal from College form is used to complete the process.

Other Information Concerning Withdrawal or Change of Program:

Students who fail to follow the procedure listed above and withdraw unofficially may receive a "WF" grade for each course for which they are responsible.

Student initiated withdrawals from class or from college which are completed before the last four weeks of the regular semester or before the last two weeks of the Summer Session are usually recorded as "WF's". If a teacher initiates the withdrawal within these time limits, he has the option of recording a "WP" or a "WF" grade.

Students withdrawing from lab classes or others which require the return of keys or equipment must obtain a lab clearance prior to withdrawal.

The Counseling Office is your first stop for any change in your class program and will provide complete details regarding any aspect of your class schedule or your academic record. See your Counselor before you act.

CERRITOS AFTER DARK — Night time students see a different campus after the lights come on. Many adult students attend Cerritos part time at night. When final figures were released last year the number of part time students was far greater than the number of full time students. Also, many full time students took night classes to free their days for work.

Cerritos Powerhouse Boasts Win Record

Cerritos College athletic teams recorded the fourth best overall record in the school's history this past year, winning 122 games and losing 50 for a win percentage of .709.

Cerritos also wrapped up the South Coast Conference iron man trophy, symbolic of athletic supremacy. Points are awarded on the basis of finish in each conference sport and Cerritos totaled 106 points, easily topping runnerup Fullerton (95).

Other scores were San Diego Mesa, 79; Mt. San Antonio, 78; Orange Coast, 75; Santa Ana, 63; and San Diego City, 51.

Cerritos teams compiled the following records and conference finishes:

Baseball, 40-1, first; basketball, 20-6, second; cross country, 7-0, first; football, 7-2, third; golf, 3-18, sixth; swimming, 0-7, third (dual meets did not count in swimming, only the results of the conference finals); tennis, 11-4, third; track, 5-3, third; water polo, 17-7, third; wrestling, 12-2, first.

Wally Kincaid's baseball team upped its overall win percentage to .809 (.383-.91), second best for any sport at Cerritos. Wrestling (107-17) with an .863 mark is best and football (.729) is third. The overall win percentage for Cerritos teams in all sports in 13 years is .650.

There is only one change in the coaching staff for the coming athletic season for Cerritos College. The staff was announced by Director of Athletics Don Hall.

The change is on the football staff, where assistant coach Marvin Grim from Sacramento has been named to replace Dallas Moon, who accepted an assistant's job at the new program at California State College at Fullerton.

Grim, a former standout with Bakersfield College, will coach the defensive secondary at Cerritos.

Other coaching assignments include Jim Killingsworth, head basketball coach, and Robert Foerster, his assistant; Wally Kincaid, head baseball coach; Dave Kamanski, head cross country and track coach, and Lefty Pendleton, his assistant during the track season; Pat Tyne, water polo and swimming; Ray Pascoe, tennis; and Hal Simonek, wrestling.

Smokey Cates remains as head football coach and will be assisted by Grim, Pendleton and Wayne Harris.

No new golf coach has been named as yet. Hall coached the team last year in the absence of Frank Wright.

Football Tickets Ready for Sale

Cerritos College football ticket sales began Aug. 3, with members of the Cerritos Bench—the community men's booster organization—getting first crack at the same seats they had last season.

Bench members had until Aug. 13 to purchase the same seats they had last year, and then new bench members will be allowed priority in purchasing tickets until Sept. 1.

Ticket sales to the general public will be from Sept. 1-25 for five home football games.

Season tickets are $7.50 for reserved seating, a saving of $2.50 for the season. Tickets for individual games sell for $2.50 a piece.

An attractive home schedule awaits Cerritos this year. Teams the Falcons will meet in their own stadium include Long Beach City College (Sept. 26), Mt. San Antonio College (Oct. 17), San Diego Mesa College (Oct. 24), Santa Ana College in the homecoming game (Nov. 7) and Pierce College (Nov. 21).

The annual barbecue, sponsored by the bench, will precede the Long Beach game. San Diego Mesa was the team that knocked Cerritos out of a share of the South Coast Conference championship last year with a 24-21 win in the final 13 seconds.

All games are South Coast Conference contests with the exception of Long Beach and Pierce. Those two non-conference teams are from the Metropolitan Conference.

Other Cerritos games will be Oct. 3 (at Rio Hondo), Oct. 10 (at San Diego City), Oct. 31 (at Orange Coast) and Nov. 14 (at Fullerton).

Gridironers Commence Practice

On September 1 coach Smokey Cates and his staff of Lefty Pendleton, Tank Harris and Marv Grim will greet the 1970 edition of the Cerritos College football team. Between September 1 and September 15 the footballers will be engaged in the traditional two-a-day practices which will also include two scrimmages.

The scrimmages will be with Santa Monica on Sept. 5, at Santa Monica. On September 12 Cerritos will play host to L.A. Valley at 7:00 p.m. in the Cerritos Stadium.

In non-conference action the Falcon will play host at the opener on Sept. 26 against Long Beach City. On Oct. 3 the team will take to the road to visit cross-town rivals, Rio Hondo Road Runners.

Oct. 10 starts the South Coast Conference action against San Diego Mesa. On Oct. 31 the show will go on the road again at Costa Mesa against Orange Coast. Santa Ana on Nov. 7 will be the homecoming foe.

On Nov. 14 the Falcon will see action at Anaheim Stadium against the Fullerton Hornets, in a game that could decide the championship. Fullerton has perennially been a very strong team. The last game of the season will be a non-conference opponent, Pierce on Nov. 21 at Cerritos Stadium.
