Debators Take Superior Ratings At El Camino

The Cerritos Speech Squad attended their third tournament for the year at El Camino on October 23 and 24 receiving four superior ratings and coming out with a winning debate record.

Novice debaters Cindy Cockrill and Verletta Kelsheimer won three debates and lost one. They received an excellent certificate. Lower division debaters Dave Hornsby and Lou Magdaleno also won three debates and lost one, receiving an excellent certificate rating. As a group, the squad came out with nine wins and seven losses, the first time this year that the squad has had a winning record.

Individual speakers receiving straight superior ratings were: Steve Berardino and Dennis Pray, Expository Speaking; Jon Blankenbecker, Impromptu; and Verletta Kelsheimer, Extemporaneous Speaking.

Individual excellent certificate winners were: Sue Williams and Howard Andrews, Extemporaneous Speaking.

According to Mr. Lewis, director of forensics, "This is the first tournament in which any of our speakers have received superior ratings this year. The winning debate records and Superior ratings by our individuals is an indication that we are on our way to winning state championships again."

Cerritos has won the State Championship, six out of the last seven years.

Senate Report

'I'm Not Pressuring You' Berardino Tells Senate

By LOUIS ALBIDREZ
TM Staff Writer

During the ASCC Senate meeting on Wednesday issues came forward concerning Student Body President Steve Berardino's nominees for Vice President, communication between the executive and legislative branches, and the approval of Supreme Court appointments.

During Berardino's executive communication he announced that he has narrowed his possible choices for ASCC Supreme Court Chief down to two possibilities. They are Tom Cosgrove and Neile Smith, the final choice of which he plans to present at the next Senate meeting.

Berardino also emphasized to the Senate that he was not telling the Senate what to do in the case of his appointment of Dean Hampton as Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. That appointment was refused by the Senate in an earlier meeting. Berardino pointed out that his article on the case, published in Talon Marks, was not an effort to pressure the Senate but was only meant to explain his position and feelings on the case.

A bill which recognizes the importance of executive communications was also passed by the Senate. According to the constitution provisions are made for a party whip in the Senate and it is that party whip who conveys executive communications in the event that ASCC President is not able to do so. As a result the Senate approved the appointment of Eric Levine as Senate Party Whip.

During the Senate communications Senator Jill Furillo announced that a "Free Speech" rally will be held in the quad area on Tuesday.

Of a slate of bills for Supreme Court appointments, the Senate approved one and refused three. Approved was the choice of Al Brown. According to a resume of him, Brown is a freshman, he is an Army veteran, participates in many sports, and carries a 2.9 GPA.

Refused were the appointments of Dean Hampton, Dan Fitzgerald, and Neile Smith who had been one of Berardino's choices for Chief Justice. This refusal caused considerable dissatisfaction among some of the Senators.

In the case of Hampton, Senate Pro Temp Ed Kish ruled that the motion for his approval was out of order. He held that a motion, once defeated, cannot be re-submitted in the same session (one semester) of the Cerritos Student Senate.

Objections to this move were raised by Senator Jim Whitehead. He questioned whether such procedure was according to parliamentary law. Kish ruled the objection was "out-of-order" because he had ruled original motion "out-of-order."

Whitehead then appealed the decision of the chair. The appeal, in a Senate vote, failed in a vote of 8 ayes, 16 nays, and 8 abstentions. As a result, Kish's original ruling held.

The appointment of Dan Fitzgerald also failed even though he had a vote from the majority of Senators present. The vote for this appointment was 16 ayes, 9 nays, and 7 abstentions. This was short of necessary two-thirds majority necessary for conformation. Kish then changed his vote, making it 17 ayes and 9 nays, in order to create the necessary majority. The vote still stood at one vote short of conformation.

Fitzgerald is a history major, veteran of Viet Nam, a member of Omicron Society, and he carries a 3.16 GPA.

It was not brought out at the time but, according to the ASCC constitution, the Pro Temp of the Senate is only allowed to vote in the case of a tie vote among the Senators present. Such a situation was not the case in the voting on Fitzgerald's appointment.

Neile Smith, who was a potential selection as Chief Justice, was also turned down by a close vote. In the vote 12 Senators favored the appointment, 14 opposed it, and there were six abstentions. Smith, who is a psychology major with a 2.5 GPA, had strong support from some of the Senators present. Senator Gary Cope asked for a reconsideration but was refused when the Senate voted to continue with other items on the agenda. Later during the meeting there was another call for a reconsideration, which was heard after new information was added to Smith's resume, but that move also failed.

GET THAT VOTE—Larry Wright, Senate Majority Leader, has just voted for his favorite homecoming candidate. Turn out for queen voting is estimated to be 1500.

ARGUING A POINT—Debater Roger Parks challenges Cindy Cockrill as the teams of Kim Foster and Verletta Kelsheimer and Dave Hornsby and Rod Tucker take notes in preparation for the upcoming tournaments at Loyola and Riverside.

Free Speech is at Hand; Amplification Next Step

It's free speech time again, folks. Every semester for the past two years, Cerritos students have requested that a part of the quad be permanently reserved with amplification as an open forum for students.

And every semester for the past two years, the administration has steadfastly blocked any attempt at amplifying a free speech area.

The reason that concerned students have had such difficulty is two-fold. For one thing, few individual students feel that they have a cause worth conveying to the entire student body. They feel either that their convictions aren't strong enough or that "someone else can say it better than I can."

The second reason is that the administration has failed to see where a free speech area would be of any benefit to the students of Cerritos. The administration does not believe that a free speech area would be used except for "possibly" a handful of campus "radicals".

So for two years, Cerritos students have been denied amplification in a sanctioned free speech area.

Changing for the Better

But the situation is changing. For the first time there is a coalition of students backing the free speech movement here. Campus Crusade for Christ supports student efforts to get amplification. The Speech Department is behind the movement. Omnibus is no longer alone.

It is necessary to prove to the administration that a free speech area will be used effectively by a number of students. To accomplish this, student groups must be made aware that the free speech area is open to all student groups.

Various student groups must push for amplification for a designated free speech area in the quad. This equipment should be available as the ping pong equipment outside the Student Center, to be checked out by students or student groups on request.

Publicity Committee Formed

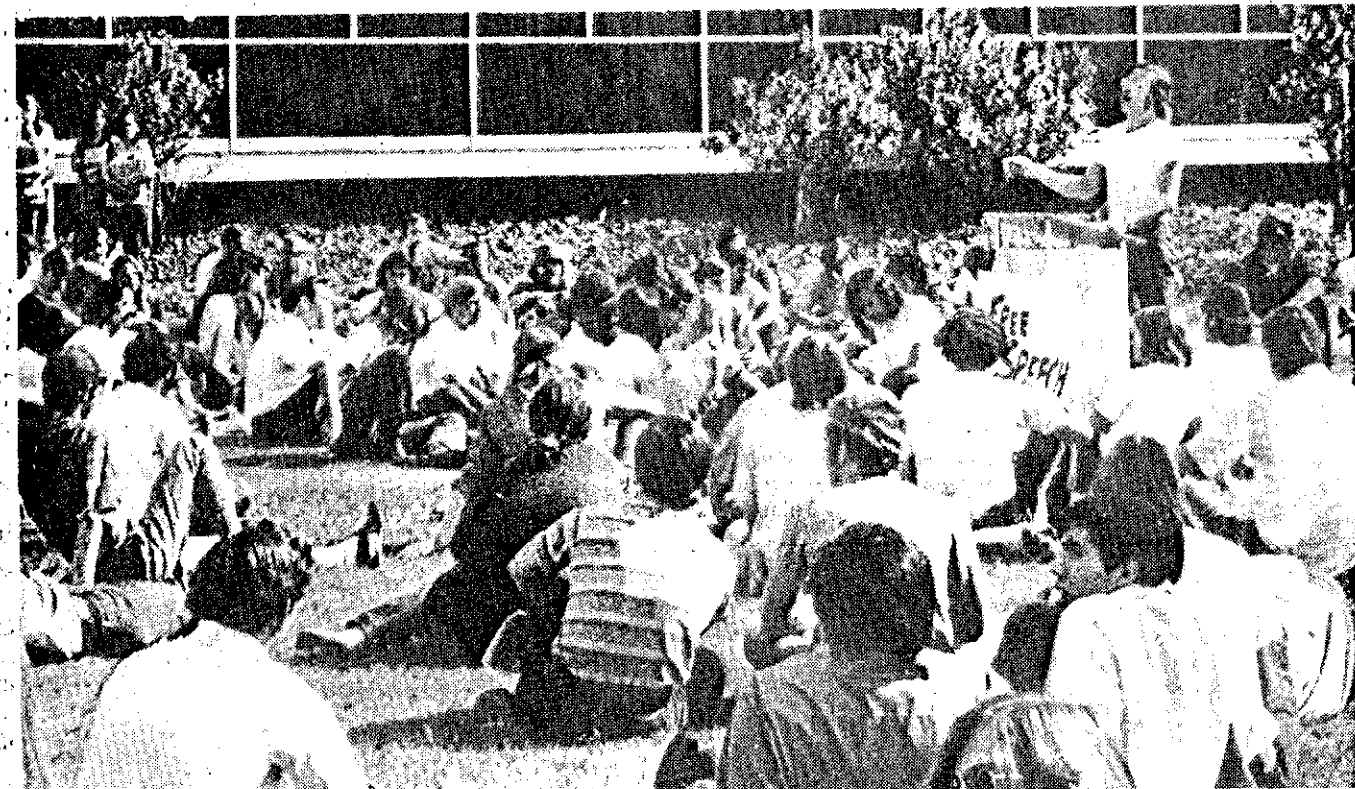

Also, to insure the widest possible participation by students, publicity for each rally will be handled by a new committee, formed specifically to cope with the free speech area issue: the Cerritos College Free Speech Committee.

It will be the task of the Free Speech Committee to organize and publicize each upcoming rally. Posters will be made if there is adequate time, leaflets will be printed and distributed on campus, announcements will be made through the Liberator and through Talon Marks. A lecture will be provided and, if possible, amplification equipment.

The Free Speech Committee can be contacted through Ben Dickson, TM Associate Editor, AC-34.

After two years, Cerritos seems to be on the road to getting what other community colleges have had for years: an amplified free speech area open to all students on campus.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Time Out

Dear Editor:

Most students are aware of the problems now being experienced from school clocks. Apparently, the school administration is not aware of the total problem which is the inconsistency of different clocks. It is a two-part problem, and one that is not hard to solve.

The first part of the problem revolves around the question, "What time is it?"

Last year, the school kept time with the radio stations most listened to by students. I don't know if the school got the time from the radio stations, but the coincidence was very convenient. Students driving to school could be assured of knowing how much time they had to get to class, which is especially helpful if one is to get to class, which is especially helpful if one is running a little late.

But things do change, and this year I've been late to class twice because of difference between the school clocks and the radio. Answer: keep the clocks set with the radio (most stations vary only by seconds) and keep all clocks running consistently.

Now the part of the problem that really makes part number one important: the school says it is very important to go to class and be on time. One point for the school. Most instructors are strict about tardies.

However, many of the instructors forget to look at the clock when it's time to leave. Many times, the subject matter is interesting enough to keep the students from becoming angry. But the students do have the responsibility to get to their next class on time. This responsibility is levied by the administration. So, Mr. Administrator, don't keep it a secret from your instructors.

We can see the problem and realistic answers have been offered. What will be done about it?

Chuck Swan
B 4096

Chuck:

Many people wonder why Cerritos is often referred to as "a high school with ashtrays". I think you have just demonstrated why. I suggest that if you don't want to get involved with your education enough to spend 51 minutes in a classroom rather than leave at ten till, then drop the class. On the other hand, if an interesting instructor is causing you to be late to another class, then get up and walk out. He won't mind. Remember, you're a big boy now and the responsibility lies, not with the administrators, but with you. — B.D.

Financial Aid

Dear Editor:

This letter is to inform you of the Financial Aid Program at Cerritos College. There are many disadvantaged young adults in our area who desperately need financial help. In some cases, the financial status of the family dictates that the only way these young people may be able to continue their education is by receiving financial aid through the college.

The Student Financial Aid Committee is raising funds to provide scholarships and grants for needy students through our Financial Aid Office at Cerritos College. We are raising these funds through several projects, but community assistance is needed to make them profitable.

You can help by saving newspaper, all kinds of glass (bottles, jars, etc.) and aluminum (foil, cans, TV dinner trays, etc.). Your donations may be deposited on the campus in receptacles in front of the gym or in front of the round lecture hall building. If you have more than a car load, call the Office of Student Affairs (860-2431, extension 246) and we can provide pick up service. These items will be sold and profits applied to grants and scholarships. You will also be helping the ecology program.

The second way you can assist is to donate items for our Thieves Market (rummage sale). All usable items will be accepted (clothing, furniture, knic-knags, toys, linen bedding, kitchen ware, appliances, etc.). Rummage donations should be brought to the Office of Student Affairs. Again, we will provide pick up service for items too large for your car delivery.

No student should be denied higher education due to lack of their own financial resources. We wish to provide assistance to the student needing financial aid to pursue their educational goals.

Please join our efforts to raise these funds. Should you desire any further information about our Financial Aid Program, please feel free to call the Office of Student Affairs at Cerritos College.

Chairman, Student
Financial Aid Committee

'Born Rich Pigs' Victims Of Fake Peace of Mind

Are the tobacco and alcohol lobbyist one of the main reason marijuana is not legal?

Was at one time marijuana used for medicine?

Do parents fear legalization of it because they didn't have patience enough to teach their children self discipline?

Does marijuana have the same or lesser effect as alcohol without a hangover?

yes.
But is marijuana habit forming like other habit forming stimulants such as liquor, tobacco and coffee?

Is the main part of the distributing of the stimulant control by the rich criminal organizations, such as the mafia?

Do junior flips 17 and under think they have more intelligence because finally people will listen to them talk about their knowledge of the "so called" controversial stimulant: marijuana?

Not Decreasing

Marijuana popularity is not on the decrease. In fact more people smoke it now than before it was made illegal in 1937. The dumbest part of the whole thing is the stereotyping of the users. The born rich blame the born poor and the slums as the place to find marijuana, but they themselves are the biggest users. The reason is simple. Poor people have more mental resistance against taking stimulants for a fake substitute happiness while the born rich pigs have no mind of their own and can't have a good time without drugs or stimulants.

Marijuana and drugs are producing a society of people who do not have a mind of their own. They will take drugs and stimulants to produce a phony happiness, to produce a phony peace of mind, to produce a phony new understanding of life, because their brain is not capable of producing anything without outside help.

No Mental Independence

Soon people not having a mind of their own will believe and do anything anybody tells them. Just to be a non-conformist, they'll all wear the same "non-conformist" clothes, all smoke the same "non-conformist" marijuana and all watch the same "non-conformist" movies. But is that different?

Do you smoke marijuana? Why do it when everybody has tried it once, and that is conformity. Do you need to try something your body doesn't need, after all, all your body needs is food, water, exercise and sex... not a fake substitute.

When asked to try marijuana, ask yourself, have I got along without it? If you say "no" to the person offering it to you, does he or she keep bugging you to try it, do you like to be pushed into things? Or are you dumb enough to try it just once to form an intelligent opinion, because once you've tried it you are just as bad as a big time user. You're not a virgin anymore.

Freedom Is Beautiful

The main reason nobody should try the fake substitute is that it is illegal; if caught your freedom is taken away, and freedom is beautiful and in jail you are nothing but a vegetable.

There are legal habit forming stimulants on the market today, but why take them? Why drink liquor, why smoke, why take nerve or sleeping pills. Do you need them??? Can you form natural habits to control your emotions naturally?

Some of the adverse conditions that will prevail if the problem is not licked are that more people will be taking drugs and stimulants legally through their doctors and prescriptions. Big time crime will benefit with the sale of marijuana. People will smoke it because it is illegal to show they are different and not tools of the establishment. The bigger marijuana gets the bigger the fact comes out, that nobody has a mind of their own and soon people who don't smoke it will be the non-conformists.

Legalize Marijuana

There is only one way to cure the problem: Legalize Marijuana with age limitations.

If people don't have minds of their own, they deserve to smoke pot and prove they're fools. If it's illegal, the temptation will be greater to smoke it. If it is legal, black marketing of it by organized crime will cease and if parents don't have enough patience to teach children self discipline, then it is the parent's fault.

To end... Don't believe anything this editorial says, because when your child smokes pot illegally and goes to jail, you will remember this editorial, and if you take pills from a doctor's prescription, you will remember this editorial, and when you smoke marijuana and prove you have no mind of your own, you will think of this editorial and realize you are nothing but a fake.

Trick or Treat: It's Time For Government Games

However, Jones stated he would not take the appointment until the now defunct court became operational.
Now this statement by Jones would fit into Bernardino's "Trick" because Senate turned down his court appointee, Dean Hampton, under unusual circumstances.

To bring another variable into the scene, Bernardino vetoed a bill giving the President Pro Temp the power to pick standing committees for Senate. But as it stands today the committees are nonexistent.

Tricky Game

By carefully manipulating the pieces of politics, Bernardino hopes to force Senate to approve his choice for the vice-presidency, with his veto of the Senate bill. Senate is supposed to do this in order to get active committees.

Now if Senate falls for this "Trick" it will be forced to approve Bernardino's court appointments, so Jones can be appointed as the new vep. This would mean that Dean Hampton could be appointed to the court.

However as it stands now, Senate did not approve Jones for vep and the re-submission of Hampton as court justice was declared out of order by President Pro Temp Ed Kish, tripping Bernardino at the doorstep. Now everything's defunct.

It looks as though this game of "Trick or Treat" will go on all year.

Happy Halloween.

Problem Pregnancy- Many Safe Ways Out

By Thom Lecoq
Feature Editor

Discovering that she's pregnant can leave a girl with many kinds of feelings. If she's married and been trying to conceive, it is a source of joy.

To many other women however, the discovery of pregnancy can be a fearful and alarming development. The question that follows the discovery is, what to do about it.

There are several courses of action open to the girl who discovers she has a problem pregnancy.

Marriage is frequently the answer to the problem of legitimacy for the child. Marriage, however, brings a whole new set of problems.

Many marriages which begin under such circumstances fail because of the lack of emotional maturity on the part of one or both partners.

Children Add More Problems

There are enormous problems in most marriages without children, when you add the complications of a child, an unwanted child, the patience of one partner may run out before necessary marriage adjustments are possible.

When a couple like this breaks up, the mother is left with the continuing responsibility of a child, the desire to make a home for it and her own personal need for a husband's affection.

A young, divorced mother has great difficulty meeting eligible men who want to marry into an already started family.

Another alternative which is chosen more often now than in the past is for the girl to bear the child and raise it without a father. The problems, financial and personal, are similar to the divorcee's but with the additional problem of lack of legitimacy of the child.

While the lack of a legal father is no longer the source of scorn for the child it has been in the past, it still affects the opinion of men who meet and court the mother of the child.

Placing Baby For Adoption

Carrying through with the pregnancy and giving up the baby for adoption, another long standing solution for problem pregnancies, reduces the problems for the mother. She may continue her life and activities pretty much as they were before the child came.

If the child is of mixed racial background however, it may not be placed with adoptive parents quickly, or even placed at all. If this happens the child will be raised as a ward of the state and will have to do without the emotional base a secure and loving home provides.

Abortion, long associated with back bedrooms, sleazy and dirty motels, and trips to Tijuana, have become a frequently resorted to way to deal with a problem pregnancy.

Since the recent revision of the state's laws concerning the conditions under which an abortion is acceptable, many women have used abortion to safely end an unwanted pregnancy.

The county health department, long considered the last place to seek an abortion is a good place to check if an abortion is being considered.

Not Everyone's Solution

While they do not recommend abortion for every one who asks, the health department helps those who can really justify an abortion cut through the red tape that's been set up to prevent abuse of the new law.

"The problem with abortions," according to Barbara Wood, Public Health Nurse, is the reaction the girl may have to the termination of her pregnancy.

"I try to have several pre-abortion counseling sessions and one or two sessions after the procedure to help the girl with the feelings which may arise later."

Miss Wood continued, "Many girls have a 'motherhood myth', a feeling developed through childhood by playing with dolls and watching parents, that they should have children and be mothers."

Better Mothers When They're Ready

We try to help them understand that terminating this particular pregnancy doesn't affect their ability to be good mothers later, when they're ready for it."

Help for problem pregnancies is available through the Youth Clinic of the County Health Department, located at 22101 Norwalk Blvd. in Hawaiian Gardens, phone 420-2420.

The Community Mental Health Services offices, 2215 N. Broadway in Santa Ana, area code 714-834-5040 can also refer you to agencies who deal with problem pregnancies.

Coach Simonek Creates Champions and Respect

By Louie Albidez
TM Staff Writer

Hal Simonek, a pleasant, soft-spoken man, is one of the most successful coaches in the college ranks. He continually brings forth league championships and state ranking teams yet is held in great respect by those who work with him.

Simonek, who hails from Inglewood, teaches P.E., Health and Safety, as well as coaching wrestling.

Simonek has many interests. He enjoys athletics in general and hunting, fishing and surfing specifically. On a different note, Simonek says he loves to watch good stage plays, particularly musicals and light opera.

Life Revolves Around Wrestling

But it is wrestling around which, next to his family, Simonek admits a great deal of his life revolves. Simonek loves wrestling and says that anybody who can earn a living at what he enjoys "has a good life." He says that what he has at Cerritos is "what a guy would want." He gives no thought to leaving because, as he says "I've found a home."

Simonek has been coaching for a total of nine years. Here at Cerritos he has coached for six years and before that he coached at Hawthorne High School for three years.

He has personally wrestled since the age of fourteen and ended his competitive wrestling in 1960. Simonek has run the gamut in wrestling participation going from a local "kids wrestling program" to international competition.

Flexible Coaching Philosophy

When it comes to the coaching of his teams Simonek doesn't approach it with an exact and rigid philosophy. Simonek is "flexible" and uses methods that will be best for the particular group he has.

He wants good sportsmanship from his wrestlers, and his efforts help to make the team happy as a group and as individuals. Simonek says, "I like to win in the way that is best for the wrestlers."

When asked about how he approaches young people Simonek answered, "As equals." He wants to become a friend with everyone he meets, and he wants that to be a "true friendship." For those people who don't want to act on these terms Simonek tries to be a friend "as much as they will accept."

Evidence of Simonek's successful ways with people is shown in the words of two of his wrestlers. Paul Strait described him as "not just a coach; but a friend."

Jarret Williams said he is a man who takes an "individual interest in every wrestler." He considers Simonek "one of the best coaches and persons in the nation."

Simonek extends his attitude toward the more progressive students and their politics. He feels that persons should act in the way they believe but he doesn't feel issues should be forced. Simonek will not push his beliefs on others.

Progressive Students No Problem

Along the same line he finds no difficulty in getting along with the progressive students of Cerritos. He holds the same attitude and respect for these students "as individuals" that he does for anyone else.

Simonek admits that Cerritos College has had "growing pains" but he is quick to point out that the college is "growing in the right direction." He adds that we have "what we need to get by."

Concerning the vast success Cerritos teams have had, Simonek holds that the school atmosphere is very important. Simonek gives credit to the administration, student body, and staff because they have "made it possible for us to have success."

Simonek says the present team "will have success this year." He praised the efforts of assistant coach Jim West and wrestlers past and present who help bring top performers to Cerritos.

It is Simonek's own wrestlers who give credit in a different direction. Ben Ohai says Simonek is the "best coach I ever had," and "probably one of the best coaches in the nation."

Paul Strait feels Simonek "ranks as one of the most knowledgeable persons in wrestling." Stacy Cody calls Simonek one of the "best in the country," and says he is "equal to any of the top ten coaches in four year colleges."

Hal Simonek

"Taking pride in knowing you've done your best."

Being a teacher

Seminar Aids New Teachers

"A teacher is many things: He is a guide, a modernizer, a model, a searcher, a counselor, a creator, an authority, an inspirer of vision, a doer of routine, a breaker of camp, a storyteller, an actor, a scene designer, a builder of community, a learner, a facer of reality, an emancipator, an evaluator, a conservator, a culminator and a person."

This is a quotation found in the book A Teacher Is Many Things by Dr. Earl V. Pullias, professor of Higher Education, School of Education, University of Southern California and president of the Los Angeles County Board of Education; and James D. Young, professor of Speech and Drama and Department Head of Drama at California State College at Fullerton. This is the resource document used for the instructional program at Cerritos for the first and second year teachers.

Each year Cerritos College conducts a series of seminars and sessions to orient in-service training to those already employed. Monthly sessions are held for about 25 teachers to acquaint them with the goals, purposes, and objectives of Cerritos College.

"But the emphasis is on teaching," says Dr. Stuart Bundy. "We stress the importance and improvement of teaching."

The resource document used for the sessions, A Teacher Is Many Things, is approved by the Agency for International Development. It has even been translated into several other languages.

Upcoming guest speakers will be Dr. Pullias on October 29 and Mr. Young will speak later on this year.

Making Sparks Fly . . . Part of the first basic course required for a Welding Certificate is learning how to join two pieces of metal with the Oxy-Acetylene technique. Learning how is Dave Shaw. His instructor, Jerry Shafner, gives pointers from a safe distance. While the technique is the oldest one still used in welding, it is still the basis for most welding skills.

Short Certificate Plan Offers High Earnings-40 Units or Less

By Thom Lecoq
Feature Editor

If you've heard radio ads or read newspaper ads, you may have thought how great it would be to train as a computer operator and earn more money than you do now.

When you check into these advertised programs and find out they have a large tuition fee attached to them, you may decide to drop the idea.

But wait, you can become a well paid computer operator, or an accountant or a dental assistant. A teachers aide or even a certified welder. In fact you can be certified in many other occupations, spend less than a year learning a specialty, earn very good wages and not spend more than a few dollars for all of it.

Occupational Specialty Classes

Cerritos has begun a large program of classes, in many occupational specialties. Many specialties offer certificates of achievement which qualify students for high paying positions after completion of thirty or forty units of classes.

Many classes in the program are offered at night as well as during the daytime. Ten thousand students are currently enrolled at night. Many are in the certificate program, taking a few classes each semester until they complete the program's requirements.

John Black, Chairman of the Business Division, said, "Many people in the certificate program are seeking better employment as soon as possible. They need money right away, but these same students often return later to complete work toward an AA or BA degree because they find out they really need a degree to succeed."

Most certificate program courses are transferable toward either AA or BA degrees. That makes it easier to complete degree work without having to retake any courses.

Updated Courses, Update Students

Courses are updated often so that a person may find it desirable to repeat a course several years after completing the program in order to catch up with new developments in their specialty.

Secretaries who've taken shorthand courses, for example, often return to take stenotype courses when they find out the new skill will increase their usefulness and make their salaries higher.

Because of overfilled facilities here on campus, additional facilities are being sought in local high schools or in temporary buildings which may be built on campus.

Several companies in the area have sponsored classes which benefit their employees.

Alpha Beta Markets now require all potential managers to complete the certificate program in supermarket management. Classes are held on campus and in several markets in the area.

North American-Rockwell offers an accounting class at their plant in Downey as a way of upgrading the skills of people in their accounting department.

Bektel Corporation, a large construction firm also holds classes in their local plant.

Other certificate programs offered include: Auto Body Technology, 36 units required; Business-Retailing, 33 units; Early Childhood Education, 31 units; Food Services, 19 units.

In the technology areas: Medical Assistant, 28 units; Special Education Aid, 33 units; Television Servicing Technology, 41 units; Vocational Nursing, open to both men and women, 40 units; Welding 37 units.

Many other certificate programs related to those listed above are offered. If you are interested in finding more about the program and how it might benefit you, contact the counseling office in the administration building.

Have you ever dreamed of playing a trumpet, and playing so well that your contemporaries thought that you were one of the best players ever? This is what happened to Pete Marchica.

Marchica plays lead trumpet for the Cerritos Jazz Rock Ensemble, the Neophonic, and the Night Jazz Ensemble.

Marchica pursues a full time course of study at Cal State Los Angeles and is majoring in music. He has stayed in the music department at Cerritos because he feels the music department here is one of the finest in Southern California and is probably one of the best in the western United States.

Even with being embroiled in music, Marchica finds time to teach in what has become his meaning in life. During the week he instructs at the Yamaha Music Center in Downey. He also gives private lessons on the trumpet as well as teaching woodwind instruments in the Downey Unified School District.

Between working toward his Masters Degree in music and time devoted to teaching, he has cut some very successful records. His first record was with the rock band, L. A. Happening, "about one year ago. He played lead trumpet for the Cerritos Jazz Rock Ensemble album.

All Star Cast Brilliant in Clapton Album

By Henry Samuels
Staff Writer

Eric Clapton's brilliance on the guitar is unsurpassable. His latest album simply called "Eric Clapton" including the single hit "After Midnight" creates some of the strongest guitar power ever heard.

He once entertained for no less than $50,000 a night. But since the death of Jimi Hendrix and Janis Joplin, he's reportedly had a change of heart and will give performances for considerably less.

In an interview about the late Jimi Hendrix, Newsweek magazine labeled Clapton as "The Great Eric Clapton." And in that interview Clapton said "The bigger you are, the more pressure, the more loneliness, the more fear you have as you get rich and famous." Perhaps those are some of the reasons Clapton is changing his style.

Clapton's First Vocal Album

His first vocal album includes an all star cast. The name of his group is called, "Derek and the Blazers." Jim Gordon (formerly from "Delaney and Bonnie") plays drums.

Base guitar gets the services of Carl Radle, also from "Delaney and Bonnie." Greg Allman plays slide and lead guitar. Clapton does vocals and rhythm guitar.

Can you imagine Clapton playing rhythm for another lead guitarist?

Former albums Clapton played lead guitar on are: "Delaney and Bonnie and friends," "Blind Faith," "Cream," "John Mayall and the Bluesbreakers," and "The Yardbirds."

Clapton started out as a blues guitarist with the "Yardbirds" and John Mayall, where he became the acknowledged white master of the blues guitar.

Clapton then moved to "Cream" where he did hard acid rock music for two years. Clapton was soon disillusioned with the heavy ego tripping required of the hard acid rock guitar. He then joined "Blind Faith" with Stevie Winwood of "Traffic" fame, but the group did not last.

It was Delaney who gave Clapton the confidence to sing. His voice speaks for itself in "After Midnight."

Powerful Guitar Sounds

Equally powerful are the sounds from his guitar in "Sunky," "Bottle of Red Wine," and "Let it Rain."

In the album, Leon Russel plays the piano. Russel received acclaim with Joe Cocker and company. Stephen Stills of Crosby, Stills, Nash and Young also plays in the album.

Clapton is presently playing original Rock 'n' Roll and Soul music. Don't expect old Rock 'n' Roll from Clapton, but rather something different.

"The great Eric Clapton" will be in concert Friday Nov. 20th, at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium, and also Saturday Nov. 21st, at the Pasadena Civic Auditorium. Tickets are $6.60, $5.50 and $4.50.

Those interested in attending are strongly encouraged to get tickets now.

Harriers Lose To Santa Ana; Travel to SAC

Dave Kamanski's cross country team wrapped up its conference schedule Tuesday with a dismal 19-44 showing against undefeated Santa Ana. The loss evened the Falcon's duel meet record at 3-3.

After the meet coach Kamanski flatly stated, "It was our worst performance of the year even though Santa Ana is probably the strongest team in Southern California and possibly in the entire state."

Last year, which was the Falcon's initial year in the South Coast Conference, they posted an undefeated record, a feat which the powerful Dons of Santa Ana were able to match this season.

The Falcons did have a chance for one undefeated record however and that went down by a total of three seconds. After leading the Birds all season in duel meets, Mike Bernal failed to capture the top spot. Santa Ana's Tom Lipske took first place with a time of 20:22 just a couple of strides ahead of Bernal's 20:25. Both were good times over the hilly course at Cal State Long Beach.

The Dons had absolutely no trouble as their five top finishers were across the finish line before another Falcon runner could catch up.

Cerritos number two man was only able to place tenth in the overall pack. Roy Essary in a time of 22:23 was the number two man followed by Bob Arce at 22:39. John Mendez was fourteenth at 22:52 and Matt Berenda was fifth at 23:17.

Earlier Cerritos had upped its conference slate to 3-2 with an easy win over the Fullerton Hornets on the losers back woods type course. Going into the meet both teams were tied for fourth place with 2-2 records.

Sophomore, Bernal, won his fifth straight race and set his second course record of the season at Fullerton. He won it in 21:04.5 over the four-mile course and was followed across the finish line by Falcon Bob Arce in 21:48, John Mendez at 21:55 and Essary at 22:09.

Cerritos now has this week's Mt. Sac invitational and next week's meet in San Diego to tune up for the conference finals.

Grapplers Show Great Potential

"We got out of it what we wanted, but we still need a lot of work." This was coach Hal Simonke's view of last week's scrimmage that his wrestlers had with Golden West.

The scrimmage consisted of each man wrestling two matches apiece. Out of 26 matches the Falcon grapplers won 21 of them. Simonke stated that Golden West is a strong team and the scrimmage proved very helpful to the Falcons.

"This gave us a good look at our men against some stiff competition and will help us prepare for El Camino."

El Camino and Cerritos are currently rated in the top three in the state and their meeting on November 25 should be one of the top dual meets of the season.

The Falcons will tune up for their titanic meeting with the Warriors Nov. 17 when they face Biola College here in the gym at 3:15. Biola will feature Jarrett "Deacon" Williams who was a standout wrestler for the Falcons last season.

McSHANE TO THE RESCUE... Falcon poloist Rick McShane makes game saving block in their 5-4 win over Mt. SAC. Coming over to help McShane is Reed Taylor.

Cerritos Athletic Future In the Hands of Fans

Is the professional sports world ruining the so-called minor sports on college campuses today? Will the lack of television and radio coverage make these sports become extinct in the minds of collegiate sports enthusiasts?

Many sports on campus here at Cerritos are not given the recognition they deserve because the students do not even know they are here or do not know enough about the particular event to take the time to go and watch it.

Even one of the major sports on this campus, although it won the state championship last season, has been getting only a handful of people out to their games.

If these sports, such as wrestling, water polo and cross country, were having losing seasons, it would be understandable why the attendance is so low. But if you will take a look at their records this season and in the past you will notice that it is better than most of the big time sports.

Wrestling finished high in the state finals last season and has done so many times in the past years. But last year at their matches only about 1/5 of the gym was filled and about 1/3 of these were parents. It will be a shame to see the same number this season with the team they will have this year.

Pat Tyne's water polo squad is undefeated in league play after knocking off defending state champions Fullerton last week. Last weekend they traveled up north and defeated the best teams up there before losing to Foothill. The team has a 10-3 overall record and with some luck could place high in the state finals.

The same goes for the rest of the other sports. It is very disheartening for a player to put out all week and then to perform before a couple of his friends. It is difficult to figure out the reason for the mediocre turnouts, especially when the events are free to all Cerritos students.

There is a movement on campus now to start a Cerritos soccer squad to compete this season. Although it is a very fast paced and interesting game and may contribute to the sports budget, it is probable that the apathetic sports fans of Cerritos will destroy this sport as soon as it gets on its feet. If things do not change around here in the next couple of years the athletic world will roll to a sudden halt because of a lack of concern.

readers a chance to get over his picks of last week. Jackman widened his lead over Michael Corner to three games as Corner has returned to his early season form.

Don McCain is ready to make his move to challenge the cellar dwellers Mike Barr and Bob Hardin. Hardin must have felt pretty depressed this week when he was notified that Barr would not be in the cellar this week with him.

Hardin pulled off one of his better predicting weeks as he came up with a marvelous 8-7 mark. Hardin definitely feels that he will catch McCain this week and march into the first division in the upcoming two weeks.

Combs Scores Twice in Thriller

Cerritos had just held the Olympians for three consecutive downs for no gain and had apparently iced the victory to stay undefeated in league and awaiting the big showdown with Fullerton.

But the Falcons could not move the ball and the Olympians were given the ball with less than a minute to go. To the dismay of Falcon fans they scored on a long bomb to win.

That was last year, but this year things were much the same except for a few changes in the script. The tables were turned as the griddier of Cerritos scored with less than 45 seconds to go in the game.

Medina—Big Block

Rick Combs went the final three yards for the score as he received a good block from tight end Don Medina who played one of his finest games as a Falcon.

Cerritos scored its first touchdown early in the first period as the Olympian's punter got off a poor nine-yard punt. From there freshman quarterback Jeff Brinkley hit Medina for 21 yards to move the ball to the Mesa 17.

The Falcons came out in a double tight end formation for the first time this year and it fooled Mesa long enough to move in for the score. Brinkley's next pass to the other tight end Ben Tyler advanced the ball to the one.

From there Combs dove over for the tally. John Morris' kick was perfect and the Falcons led 7-0.

Olympian Quarterback Mike Ottombrino showed why he was named second team all-conference last season as he marched from his own 13 to the Cerritos 23.

His Four Of Seven

He completed four of seven passes for 38 yards and rushed for 12 others during the drive. But two incomplete passes and a short run halted the drive on the 23. An unsuccessful field goal attempt ended the last threat of the half.

Cerritos' freshman punter Fred Strom kept Mesa deep in their own territory for much of the half. His first

Poloists Down SAC Mounties

The Cerritos water polo team still remains the team to beat in South Coast Conference action. They came home from three non-league games last week with a 2 and 3 mark and in Tuesday's action against Mt. San Antonio College the poloists came up with a 5-4 victory.

"We played all right, but we took a lot of quick shots," Reed Taylor and John Rees were the leading scorers with two goals each while Rick McShane contributed an important goal in the final.

The big game was played yesterday against Santa Ana in the Don's pool. A win for the Falcons will clinch the South Coast Crown.

The Falcons won two out of the three matches they had on their trip north. They defeated Cal Poly San Luis Obispo 7-4 and West Valley by a score of 8-5 but the poloists had to bow to a tough Foothill College with the score standing at 8-3.

Against Cal Poly the Falcon poloists carried only a 2-1 lead into the second half, but then Coach Tyne then some substitutions which really paid off for Cerritos. Tyne called reserves Bill Johnson, John Merritt and Kenn Jellerson off the bench and they all turned in good efforts to help bring the victory. Tyne said that Jellerson, with three punts were downed inside the Olympian's 10-yard line. Strom also played a fine game at his defensive back position as he came through with an interception.

Smokey Cate's men took the second half kickoff and drove to the Mesa 37 yard and were faced with a tough fourth and 22 situation. Cates elected to go for three points and sent Rod Garcia into the game.

Garcia then proceeded to kick the longest field goal in Cerritos history as he booted one for 48 yards breaking the old mark of 47 held by Randy Wersching, now a place kicking star for Cal Berkeley.

Mesa's First Score

Early in the final period Ottombrino marched into Cerritos territory and produced their first score of the night. Jim Victoria slammed over from the one and the Falcons' lead was cut to three points.

Three series later Ottombrino came back and drove Mesa to the go-ahead score on a drive that consumed 52 yards in only 5 plays. John Bonnell grabbed an 11 yard pass for the score to put them in the lead, 14-10, with 4:48 remaining in the game.

The next time Cerritos got its hands on the ball they were intercepted. But the Falcon defense, which had performed magnificently all night with the exception of a couple of long bombs, stopped Mesa and forced them to punt.

Joe Baca returned the punt to midfield to set the stage for a dramatic ending. Brinkley then hit Baca, Mike White, and Combs on three passes for 47 yards. Combs then punched it over from the three to clinch the win.

his fine performance, may have earned himself a starting berth for the teams next outing. In that victory Reed Taylor had four goals and John Rees had the other three.

At West Valley the Falcons built up a big lead and emptied the bench during the victorious 8-5 effort. In that match Taylor again led with four goals while Rees, Mike Morales, Jim Boldt, and Alex Gordon each had one apiece.

Coach Tyne said that, "The loss to Foothill was probably good for us. I think the guys thought they were better than they are, and the loss may wake them up a little."

Foothill jumped off to a big 3-0 lead and coasted in for the victory with the final score standing at 8-3. In the match scoring stalwart John Rees again came through with 2 goals and Rick McShane added 1. McShane who has been bothered with a cold played a fine game.

Tyne says that the team has come a long way but he is still not overly pleased with the performances so far. Other than the loss to Foothill the only other Falcon losses have been at the hands of Mt. Sac and to Fullerton both of which took place during the Southern California Invitational. Even so the Falcons are a top contender for the conference title and that's an impressive accomplishment.
