Senate switches seats Next vote-getter fills vacancy

By PHYLLIS DAVENPORT

TM News Editor

Another round of "musical chairs" is expected at today's student senate meeting.

At last Thursday's Court meeting, the ASCC Supreme Court ruled that Student Body President Don Collins could not appoint someone to fill the senate position left open by the disqualification of Monica Morrow.

The court decided that Collins should not make an appointment because the vacancy did not result from a resignation.

The next person in line on the ballot according to the number of votes will fill 36th seat.

Jim C. Phillips, representing Alpha Gamma Sigma, is slated to be the new senator.

"Musical chairs" — senators occupying seats 11 through 36 will move up one seat.

In another effort to define grade-point-average eligibility requirements, ASCC Vice-President Rich Goul approached the court last week acting in the senate Rules Committee Chairman Darla Sharp's absence.

Goul asked for the court's verbal interpretation of a bill authored by Senator Harley Griffith which calls for amending Section 2.885 of the Government Organizations Code to read:

"All ASCC officers must be students in good standing. They must have a grade point average of 2.0 or higher for their last semester of completed coursework. All "W" grades have no effect on GPA and will not restrict a student's eligibility based on previous record for any ASCC office."

There was, as Goul put it, a "philosophical argument" between the court justices and himself.

"We'd probably rule it unconstitutional now as it is written, because we don't feel a student is in good standing if a whole semester is passed over by dropping all classes," stated Chief Justice Gary Irvin.

Sleepers lose as time gains

When is two three?

Give up? It's on Sunday morning at 2 a.m. when all clocks should be pushed forward to 3 a.m. — resulting in a little lost sleep for everyone. During the fall, clocks are set back an hour.

It was reported that this time-adjustment system was initiated to accommodate farmers who needed the extra hour of sufficient sunlight for their work day.

According to Goul, the court's interpretation of "good standing" is not in harmony with the Cerritos Board of Trustees definition, which he stated was "no less than a 2.0 accumulative GPA."

"We're trying to decelerate the decline of standards in student government," commented Justice Clay Andersen.

Last Wednesday, the senate just barely passed a bill that puts them on the record in opposition to the Jarvis/Gann property tax initiative.

Requiring a two-thirds majority vote of the 23 senators present, the bill passed 18-1-5.

Griffith, author of the bill, told the senate that "students can now come to Cerritos for free ... if Jarvis passes, students may have to pay a tuition and parking fees."

He referred to a recent Talon Marks survey in which 60 percent of the students polled opposed the Jarvis measure.

"If the senate supports opposing Jarvis, it would be in line with the majority of students surveyed," Griffith stated before the vote was taken.

The senate will meet today at 2 p.m. in BK 112 located in the Student Activities Office.

Celebrated Cerritos jumping frog contest splats tomorrow at 11

By TIM CARTER
TM Editor-in-Chief

Some controversy may jump in tomorrow at the "Second Annual Cerritos College Incredible Jumping Frog Contest" which launches off at 11 a.m. in the Quad.

Although the rules mention the word "frog" specifically several times, no distinction is made between frogs and toads. At least two toad owners have contacted the Talon Marks office concerning this.

Dave Ruston, manager of the bookstore, who is sponsoring the event, stands by the rules, and promises to physically eject any toads that are present at the event. "The judges will be well versed beforehand as to the differences between a toad and a frog," commented Ruston.

The goal of the contest is to have a frog that jumps the furthest from the starting point in three consecutive leaps. This will be measured from the "launching pad" to the point where the frog lands at the conclusion of the third leap.

Time limit for each contestant is three minutes.

The owner of last year's longest leaper was student Mike Judd, whose frog measured out at nine feet, three inches. Taking second place was then Vice President of Instruction Jack Randall with his frog Leapin' Veep at nine feet, one and three quarters inches.

At press time, it is not known whether new VP Dr. Gregg Higgins will attempt to duplicate the success of his predecessor.

Many contest observers have expressed surprise that most contestants are keeping a "low profile" this year.

Last year's contest saw Coordinator of Student Activities Norm Price claim, "I have secured a winning frog from out of state. All contestants will be jumping for second place as I have first place wrapped up. This frog is a champion from a state a thousand miles away. We will have it flown out minutes before the contest begins to insure that nobody kidnaps it or injures it in any way."

This year Price has issued no press releases claiming victory. The fact that his frog, Arkansas Traveler only leaped one foot, seven inches, placing 52nd probably has nothing to do with it, however.

The Biology Department last year entered a human size "frog" that was disqualified, they may try again this year.

Last year, there was no limit to the number of people that could enter the contest. However this year a limit of 50 contestants has been set. There are only a few spots open. Entry blanks are available in the campus bookstore and a fee of $1 is being charged.

Contestants can either BYOF (Bring Your Own Frog) or borrow one from the bookstore, who will provide frogs before the contest begins.

The Talon Marks has decided to go out on a limb, and predict the winner of the big contest. Based on a quick glance of the list of contestants, TM predicts that TM will take first place and walk away with the 12-inch black and white television set.

In last year's contest, TM took fifth spot when its frog Contingency leaped eight feet, three inches. Since that time, TM has refined its training techniques to a fine art. To insure that everyone has an opportunity to see the memorable leap, TM has secured the number one leaping position. "We didn't want to keep everyone in suspense. Also our frog, Claim Jumper is a bit of a ham and demanded he be first in every way," said a spokesman.

Second place will be up for grabs as no single frog, except for ours, distinguishes itself from the others.

Last year's contest received wide publicity. Bill Smith from Channel 11's Metro News was on hand to record the event and several pictures appeared in the Los Angeles Times and other papers. This year is expected to be no different.

With second place up for grabs, it should be an exciting contest. Spectators are urged to arrive early to guarantee a good vantage point.

NO ROCK UNTURNED IN WEIGHTY DECISION

By PHYLLIS DAVENPORT
TM News Editor

Paperweights or pen and pencil sets. That was one of the big questions before the ASCC senate last Wednesday.

After a 20-minute discussion — more or less — on the merits, advantages, desirabilities and other positive qualities as well as the negative aspects of both ASCC award possibilities, the concerned group voted unanimously to leave the big issue to the "discretion of the awards committee."

Someone said that a paperweight was "just a rock." But, the pen and pencil set would be on a marble base — a rock with a pen and pencil attached ed in some admirable fashion.

ASCC Vice-President Rich Goul — who chairs the heavy goings-on — conjectured that Talon Marks may run a banner headline on this legislative biggie.

After due deliberation, the Talon Marks Editorial Board decided that it wasn't quite that big ... even though it did take up 20 minutes of the one-hour meeting of the people's duly-elected reps.

Some editors were heard mumbling some anxiety about possible Buckley Act invasion of privacy considerations if such a story were to run — especially one telling who got what after whatever was decided by whomever.

Who will be trustee vice-president?

Tredway named president, Nordbak and Fuentes in 3-3 deadlock

By STEVE EAMES
TM Associate Editor

Louise Hastings' tie-breaker vote last night was expected to decide a 3-3 split between Board of Trustees vice-presidential nominees Katie Nordbak and Chuck Fuentes.

Hastings was not present for the original vote at the trustees' annual reorganization meeting two weeks ago when Harold Tredway was named president for his third non-consecutive term in a long Board career.

There, they were scheduled to vote on that office again as well as discuss the 1978-79 budget, the auditorium/cultural center and a faculty salary proposal among other items.

The Board also named first-term trustee Merl Doty as secretary and approved his appointment, along with Hastings' and Fuentes' to the college's master planning committee.

For the president's chair, Nordbak's nomination of Tredway was seconded by Leslie Nottingham and with the trustees' unanimous approval, the gavel was turned over to the 14-year veteran of the Board by last year's president, Lou Banas.

Tredway, a Downey resident and attorney, will now preside over and maintain order at all Board meetings for the next 12 months. In addition, he will consult with College President Dr. Wilford Michael about all items on the agendas, sign all official college documents and make appointments to ad-hoc committees.

After his appointment to the Board in 1965, Tredway served as president during the 1969-70 and 1973-74 terms.

Fuentes nominated Doty as secretary of the Board and Banas quickly provided the motion with a second. Another unanimous vote by the trustees installed him at that capacity.

Doty's duties will be to co-sign with Tredway all official college documents. The Board traditionally appoints the college president (currently Dr. Michael) as secretary to the Board, relieving the elected secretary of all record-keeping and secretarial tasks.

At this time, the college's master planning committee is working hand-in-hand with the Cerritos

Redevelopment Agency on the pre-construction plans for the $5 million cultural center. Groundbreaking for the auditorium is scheduled for January 1979.

Tredway is most recently noted for his controversial proposal which sought legislation to eliminate coaches from the protective arm of tenure.

Although the proposal brought many concerned coaches out of the woodworks to voice their disapproval at the Board's last meeting, none of the trustees, including Tredway, made a motion to approve it.

Doty graduated from Cerritos College in 1968 with an Associate of Arts Degree in History and a Minor in Political Science.

ASCC awards recognize student contributions

By MARTIEAL WILLER
TM Production Manager

Just about any Cerritos student who is truly interested in the college, willing to work hard and inclined to give of self above and beyond the call of duty will find an award with his/her name on it at the end of a given semester.

A number of honors and awards are available to students on campus who show academic prowess, outstanding leadership and exceptional service to the school, officials point out.

The Omicron Chapter of Alpha Gamma Sigma, a statewide honor scholarship society, is geared to promote scholastic and social leadership.

Students who complete 12 or more units in one semester (but only as far back as three semesters) with a grade point average (GPA) of at least 3.0 with no grade lower than "C" are eligible for temporary membership in the succeeding semester.

Permanent membership is acquired when a student has completed the number of units required for graduation and (1) has been a temporary member three out of four semesters or four of five semesters and has earned a GPA of 3.3 or higher or (2) has a GPA of 3.5 or higher and been a temporary member for at least one semester.

Students achieving a 3.3 to 3.69 GPA graduate "with honors" and those earning 3.70 to 4.0 graduate "with highest honors." Both groups are permitted to wear a silver tassel on their caps at the graduation ceremony.

Academic honors are awarded to students in various departments who perform outstanding work in their major field of study. To receive a division/departments honor, a student must be a member of the Associated Students of Cerritos College (ASCC), have above average grades and be recommended by his/her instructor.

Academic awards are given by the following divisions: Business; Fine Arts and Communications; Health Occupations; Health, Physical Education and Recreation; Humanities; Science; Engineering and Mathematics; Social Science and Technology.

In addition to academic awards Cerritos recognizes full-time and part-time students who perform admirably in the area of service and leadership by awarding the prestigious Gold and Silver Falcon.

Gold Falcons are awarded to full-time sophomore students who have proven to be outstanding in three or more activities, is an ASCC card holding member, has a GPA of 2.0 or better and is enrolled in 10 or more units.

To be awarded a Silver Falcon, specifically reserved for full-time freshmen students, a recipient must meet the same requirements as a holder of the Gold Falcon.

Bronze Falcons are presented to students with the same requirements as Gold and Silver Falcon holders but need to have been outstanding in two or more school activities.

The Service Certificate is given to both full-time and part-time students (Continued on Page 2)

First encounters of the healthy kind takes off May 16

By FRED MATTESON
TM Staff Writer

The Student Health Service, in conjunction with Student Activities, will present a Health Fair entitled "Health Encounters of the First Kind" on Tuesday, May 16, on the Cerritos College Quad and in the Student Center.

Shirley Jankowski, head of the Student Health Service and school nurse, is planning many types of booths outlining and providing such services as breast self-examinations, blood pressure tests and other services aimed at providing early warning signals to students.

Many of the social and service clubs on campus plus students of the various health occupations will highlight the topics presented at the fair.

One of the main objectives of the fair, according to Jankowski, is to provide updates for parents on their children.

One problem that is becoming more and more serious is the fact that many young school-age children are not receiving the benefit of the many immunization programs available to combat many childhood diseases such as polio and measles that could strike their age group.

A majority of the equipment that will be used at the fair will come from right here on campus, furthering the objective of providing students with information on just what they can obtain as health services and early warning here on campus and locally as well.

Along with many demonstrations that will be provided on the Quad, many types of literature have been gathered from hospitals, health agencies and even the Fire Department on how and what to do in case of accident or sickness.

The Cerritos College Emergency Van will also be on hand to dispense pointers on what to do should an accident happen here on campus.

Information on what to do should a natural or man-made catastrophe occurs will be available offering such information as food and water storage pointers.

A potpourri booth offering information on a variety of subjects such as insect bites, sunburn, and the Tele-Med system where a person can pick up the telephone, dial a number, and obtain medical information and services will be available. There will also be information about what services are available from Memorial Hospital in Long Beach at the booth.

A booth offering Birth Control and V.D. information "on the educational angle," according to Jankowski, will be made available as this is a problem most prevalent among the young.

Audio-visual programs will be presented in the Student Center on such subjects as breast and testicular self-examinations plus C.P.R. techniques and the Heimlich Maneuver pointers.

As the fair approaches, additional topics and booths will be added to the list of valuable services that will be given. A tentative booth dealing with safety subjects such as automobiles, how to safely jump a battery, bicycle and Moped safety, and home safety tips will be presented.

The fair will run from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Fresh fruits and juices will be served at many of the participating booths by students of the various clubs.

More information on the fair can be obtained from the Student Health Service office located in the east wing of the Library on a walk-in basis or by dialing Ext. 249.

New dance club on their toes

By MARIAN GRIFFIN
TM Staff Writer

Students seriously believing in creativity and body expressions may be attracted to a new dance club on campus.

The impulse to dance often begins as a pleasurable release of energy, but members of the club find this form of self-improvement a challenging and moving experience.

Presently 35 people are involved with the club which is under the enthusiastic leadership of Diane Kovacic. Patient young people practice many new steps over and over until finally the dance steps are perfected. They are learning various forms of the dance: jazz, tap, modern, ballet, disco, and contemporary modern jazz.

The club was organized earlier this semester and was approved by the Inter-Club Council. Members have named their club Dancers Unlimited. Anyone who is willing to endure many hours of practice may join at the beginning of next semester.

Joining the club is easy. One must sign up for the dance class which is listed under the Physical Education section of the class schedule.

Active participation with the club's members may not be quite so simple.

Yet the rigid practicing seems to be balanced with harmony created by the close ties built from working with other club members. These ambitious young persons learn to become more tolerant of others as well as themselves.

The club participates in many shows, classes and parties. Club members have learned choreography, how to perform, techniques and the art of dancing.

Dancers Unlimited is open to anyone interested in joining. Club members have open arms to the future in hopes of nurturing their new club while becoming more successful.

RYAN AWARD WINNER

Redford top collegiate actor

Theater student Jeff Redford has been named one of the two best college-level actors in the United States and has received a $2000 scholarship from the Irene Ryan Foundation.

Redford, completing his role as Prof. Abraham Van Helsing in the Cerritos production of "Dracula" on April 15, flew to Washington, D.C. the following day to compete in the American College Theater Festival X at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

The 26-year-old actor performed scenes from "Marathon Man" and "Hadrian VII" before a panel of 10 nationally-known critics from newspapers, television stations and magazines.

Redford captured nine first-place votes and one second-place vote.

As the representative of Region 2, he competed against actors from 12 other regions in the nation. The actors were chosen earlier this year in semi-final competition.

Theater student Laura Campbell traveled to the nation's capital with Redford as his scene partner. She was awarded a certificate of merit for her participation.

Dr. Allan Boodnick, division chairman of fine arts and communications, accompanied the two actors.

Redford took his basic theater training at the University of Utah before transferring to Cerritos.

At Cerritos, Redford has played Philinte in "The Misanthrope," Van Helsing in "Dracula" and has the male lead (Fredrik) in the upcoming production of "A Little Night Music."

Earlier this month, he auditioned for a role in Bette Midler's first film.

He received his award April 23 in Washington, D.C.

AF recruiter coming May 2

Air Force Recruiter Dan Dumiller will be in the Student Center May 2, between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. He will answer all questions students might have about the Air Force. Dumiller can be reached by phone at (213) 861-9913.

...Awards for leaders

in recognition of exceptional service and participation in at least one program supported by the ASCC.

Full-time students who have been awarded two Gold Falcons and continue to be of service to the school are eligible to receive the President's Award.

A Resolution is presented to students who have received three Gold Falcons.

At the spring semester only, the Man and Woman of the Year Award is presented to a male and a female student deemed the most outstanding man and woman of the entire school year. To be eligible the students must have completed 10 units in the immediate prior semester and enrolled in at least 10 units in the semester of presentation. Both students must have been recipients of two Gold or Silver Falcons.

ASCC also recognizes and rewards the many instructional related activity groups on campus. Some are: Intercollegiate Athletics, Pep Unit, Homecoming, Forensics, Journalism (Talon Marks and Wings Magazine), Theatre, Music, Cosmetology, Tutoring, etc.

In addition, the many clubs and organizations on campus are honored for their service and participation in various programs.

An awards ceremony is held at the conclusion of each semester. The next one, the 1978 Spring Awards Banquet, is scheduled for Friday, June 2, 7 p.m. at La Mirada Country Club. Tickets are $5 each.

Any ASCC student or faculty member may nominate one or more persons for the various service awards.

Nomination sheets are available in the Students Affairs and Student Activities Offices now through May 9.

Forms must be completed and returned to the Student Affairs Office by 4 p.m. May 9.

Jumping the gun

For the sake of expediency, the Board of Trustees recently decided to shoot first and ask questions later when they adopted a revised grading policy after tabling all discussion until their special meeting last night.

Although there was a need for the Board to take aim at an inequity in the college's 12-week withdrawal policy — and notch a sixth provision in it, we wonder about the administration practically forcing the trustees to pull the trigger.

There were indications that a lot of discussion on the item was imminent. So much so, in fact, that as the meeting entered its fourth hour, Board Secretary Merl Doty said he would approve the new policy then, but only to be expedient.

Compounding this was the administration's contention that there were many transferring students awaiting the Board's decision. Thus, the trustees chose to appease the administration's request for action, without any immediate input from themselves or from concerned students.

In our book, expediency is not all that suitable a reason for adopting any piece of legislation.

In any event, we are compassionate enough to forgive all those involved because, through hindsight, we can only speculate on what would have been the most effective way of handling this issue.

It is obvious that the Board has a severe limitation of time which may be spent discussing each item—particularly substantive matters such as the grading policy. This is indicated by the recent frequency of special Board meetings and the often extended duration of regular ones.

For this reason we support Doty's recently rejected proposal to increase their meetings to twice a month.

This possible solution is designed to keep the best interests of the college within the Board's sights and to eliminate rapid-fire action on significant recommendations.

Mirror, mirror . . .

"O wad some power the giftie gie us
To see oursel's as ithers see us!"

"... Harley Griffith loses senate seat . . ."

An . . . student senator has not bit the dust . . . yet.

Griffith went before the senate last week and said that if he did lose his senate position, he would not like it if there was a banner headline proclaiming Harley Griffith etc., etc.—as in Monica Morrow's senate ineligibility case.

"Student publications should be careful about the reputations of people . . . I think it will hurt the student . . . All of us, not only Talon Marks, should try to be careful about other students' privacy," Griffith stated.

Perhaps it's time to get the facts straight.

In the first place, there was no infringement upon the Buckley Privacy Act and its ramifications.

Not one college administrator revealed the name of the senator who was rejected.

How did Talon Marks know it was Morrow?

Clues: Morrow's name was not on the roll call; four bills she authored were out of order for lack of an author; and—this was the big tip-off—Griffith was informing people (TM news editor included) that "Monica would not be a senator any longer because she was found to be 'ineligible'."

Apply the ASCC Supreme Court's ruling and presto—open sesame—it was elementary, my friends.

In the second place, student senators are duly-elected public servants of the Cerritos student body. Therefore, the Cerritos student body has the right to expect the news media to report to the public the goings-on of these public officials in an unbiased, unmalicious, accurate manner. Remember the first amendment.

A newspaper cannot unduly hurt "reputations" when the actions of public officials are reported in this way—unless, of course, the actions themselves hurt "reputations."

If some politicians feel that they have been defamed by the news media, take note: the media's defenses are provable truth, privileged information (public records) and fair comment and criticism (as long as it does not unjustifiably extend to the private life of the person involved.)

Traditionally, the press has been called the "mirror" and the "watchdog" of government.

If Cerritos politicians do not like their reflections as reported factually by the press, perhaps they should take heed to Scottish poet Robert Burns whose lines—when translated—mean if we could only see ourselves as others see us.

Beware of the dog—he's on duty.

Pardon the sssslip

Oops!

It seems that someone from the new E.O.P.S. student organization got a little too caught up in the spirit of things and spilled the goods on their upcoming "Happening."

A flyer recently circulated stated that "Beer and mixed drinks at low cost . . . cheap" would be served at their fund-raising party that "promises to be an outrageous event."

We gather they now realize that it is a violation of the Educational Code and the Cerritos College policies to serve liquor at a function that is an extension of the regular campus activities.

A follow-up flyer has explained the "misprint" and clarified the true meaning with "Rootbeer and soft drinks at low cost . . . cheap."

Remember the ghost of Upsilon Omicron, the fraternity that was expelled from campus for violating another school code on pledging?

There for a while, it appeared that the only "outrageous event" at the "Happening" might be the possibility of big trouble.

Do we hear an acknowledging quaff?

Enjoy . . .

Determination is a quality revered by many, possessed by few. To Cerritos student Jim Hall, it's a way of life.

Hall, 26, just never seems to run out of new ideas or different things to do.

His experiences range from taking publicity photos of "Starsky and Hutch" TV personalities Paul Michael Glaser and David Soul, to playing wheelchair basketball with the United States team.

Hall began playing basketball while going through rehabilitation at Rancho Los Amigos Hospital.

"I really liked playing," said Hall. "We didn't win anything . . . we had only one win, which was pure adrenalin force."

Hall went on to join the Orange County Raiders, through which he had a chance to compete against other organized teams.

"We played during halftime at a Lakers-Knicks game," recalled Hall. "All kinds of kids were jumping around asking for our autographs—it was really neat."

While touring with the U.S. team, Hall had the opportunity to visit such places as Mexico, South America, and Europe, receiving funding from sponsors in the U.S.

"They (U.S. team) send you a letter asking you to join the team," explained Hall. He further commented that being sponsor-funded was advantageous as he "doesn't know of any wheelchair athletes that can afford to pay their own traveling expenses."

Being disabled was not an easy thing for Hall to accept at first.

"My first conception of people in wheelchairs was of mentally retarded people," remembered Hall. "I thought people were looking at me more, but actually I was looking at people more."

"It really had its ups and downs. I really went bananas at first out of frustration," he continued. "You start isolating your coordination in other places in order to survive. You have to use what you have, isolate what you're able to do."

In addition to basketball, Hall also finds time to play tennis and ping-pong, and "likes to go over to the cafeteria and hustle a few ping-pong games."

Hall and his wife, Beth, live in Downey. "I like being married . . . surrounding myself with the whole family situation," he says. "I really dig my in-laws, they're far-out people."

"I love to go over and shoot the breeze with my father-in-law, he's really a neat person," he added. Born in Canada, Hall moved to the United States at the age of 12, eventually settling with his family in Hollywood.

He attended Hollywood High School, and went all-conference in football and gymnastics in his senior year. Through the people he met and experiences he had at Hollywood High, Hall became interested in photography—one of his first loves.

"Living in Hollywood, I grew up with kids whose parents were in the business," remembered Hall. "Hollywood is the center of the media. I just happened to be in the right place at the right time."

As a specialty, Hall would like to do agricultural and nature photography in northern California. He plans to become a photography teacher, as he likes to work with people.

Hall is currently enrolled in several photography courses at Cerritos, including the new color printing class.

"It's fantastic—I'm really blown away when I see what has been done here," says Hall. "The labs are open all the time, and everyone gets into each others things."

"I have all my own equipment," he says. "I scrimped and saved to buy it—I worked my tail end off for it."

Hall's suggestions for handicapped students on campus are to get involved in physical activities. He hopes to see a physical education class for handicapped students in the near future.

Looking through the eyes of Jim Hall is certainly a different view of life, but according to him, "The world's not such a bad place after all."

Keep those wheels turning . . .

You're not getting older, just better

IT'S NEVER TOO LATE — Caught the Women's Center presentation last Tuesday of Dr. Ciella Klinge, a dynamic career specialist from Cypress College who spoke on "Mid-Life Career Change."

She claims that contrary to the belief held by many, most people do not know what they want to do in life until about age 43.

"They really don't know enough about themselves to make a decision until then," she said.

A person has the potential to master eight life roles, but most of us develop only two at most, she pointed out.

She talked about things like intimacy vs. isolation and generativity vs. stagnation — and it all made sense. Too many people nearing age 40 or 50 are afraid to try something new.

All during her presentation, I wanted to stand up and say, "Send them to me. Let me tell them. Let me tell them what it's like at Cerritos for this age 50-plus person."

Yep, the last half really is . . .

SKI PRE, SKI PRE, SKI . . . — Don't mean to sound like a broken record, but feel compelled to correct the mistake in announcing the date of Ski Club's "Disco Down" preview.

If you went to the Student Center at noon last Thursday expecting to hear the sounds of Ski Club, you didn't. You saw Bert Sommer instead.

But, try again tomorrow. According to Stewart Chung, club president, you'll get a sampling of what's in store for Saturday night—and from all reports, it's good.

Have you seen the ingenious flyer the club is using to publicize the dance? It's a pretty good replica of a seven inch, 45 rpm disc complete with jacket.

Somebody in that group is thinking. For the record, that's some spin they're in . . .

WHOOO? — Think I'm being out-smarted by one wise ol' campus owl.

A couple of weeks ago one of the groundskeepers directed me to a tree housing a couple of sleepy-eyed birds. Naturally, that day I was without telephoto lens — violating the number one rule of photography.

Returned a few days later, found one of my fine-feathered friends, but he — it — refused to pose. Each time I aimed the camera his direction, he shifted position on his perch and gave me a backside view only.

After about four or five tries, I got so tickled I could hardly hold the camera. Told him that he had won this round.

But as indicated in this column head, where there's a will(er) there's a way. So, Mr. Owl, you'd better be on your toes — perch. Willer's on her way.

. . . And she doesn't give a hoot who's whooo . . .

THE DEAN'S WHAT? . . . — Been wondering what happened to the "Dean's List" that used to be released from the president's office recognizing students who achieve a 3.5 or better GPA while enrolled in 12 or more units?

Because of the schools interpretation of the Buckley Act (invasion of privacy) a "Dean's List," as such, is no longer compiled. Grade labels come from the computer each semester and are attached to the students transcript. In addition notation is made on the grade slip mailed home to the student.

Can't help but wonder if Mr. Buckley had this in mind when he authored his much publicized piece of legislation.

We see it as recognition of accomplishment—not an invasion of privacy.

ANOTHER CERRITOS #1 — Congratulations to softball coach Nancy Kelly and her fan-tastic Falcons.

She and her birds feathered their nest with some 17 wins in the South Coast Conference.

Overall, they're undefeated at 26-0. They've scored 234 runs while allowing only 9.

Strike-out pitcher Tippy Borrego is 10-0.

Like we said: fan-tastic.

For the first time this year, the Cerritos Women's Softball team was given a scare by an SCC opponent when they were forced to stage a come-from-behind 6-2 victory over Santa Ana on Monday, April 24.

The girls are now playing out their schedule as South Coast Conference Champions for 1978, and are preparing for the Sectional playoffs May 11-13.

Coach Nancy Kelly's team was down by two runs going into the sixth inning but made a high powered comeback to defeat the Dons 6-2.

Pitcher Linda Shamblin (4-0) held Santa Ana to no runs until the third inning when she walked one batter, who eventually made it to third base on a sacrifice bunt and a single. Shamblin threw an illegal pitch which brought the third base runner home.

The Dons scored again in the top of the sixth, when the first batter went to first base on a single. She moved to second on a sacrifice bunt, and came home on another single.

Karen Chavez threw the remainder of the sixth inning, striking out the fourth and fifth batters and holding Santa Ana to one run.

Cerritos staged a comeback in the bottom of the sixth, with third baseman Lynn Crist starting the rally with a first base hit and went on to steal second. Shortstop Donna Schultze ran to first on a bunt, bringing home Crist.

Kelly Beach then hit a line drive to left field, and also stole second base. With two outs in the sixth, Tippy Borrego hit a home run to left, scoring Schultze and Beach.

Santa Ana walked the next Cerritos batter, Paula Draper, and first baseman Robin Swickard followed with a single to left field. Barbara Johnson then powered a double to left field, picking up RBI by bringing in Draper and Swickard.

Karen Chavez hit a single after Johnson, but was unable to score as Lynn Crist hit an infield grounder and was out at first base closing the inning.

Pitcher Chavez struck out the first three Santa Ana batters in the seventh to give the Falcon squad a 6-2 victory. Chavez struck out all of the five batters she faced, and allowed no walks or runs. Shamblin had two strikeouts and two walks, and gave up three hits and two runs. Cerritos had four hits in the game.

Last Friday's action against Mt. SAC found the women's squad bringing in only three runs and three hits as the Mounties held tight until the sixth inning, when Cerritos scored its three runs.

With the bases loaded in the sixth inning, the Mt. SAC pitcher walked the next two Falcon batters, bringing home Lynn Crist and Donna Schultze. Pitcher Tippy Borrego also scored on a loose throw to left field while on third base.

Cerritos came alive with a sixth inning double play when the Mounties had one runner on first and another at bat. Kelly Beach caught a fly ball and threw to first base, blasting out both the batter and Mt. SAC's runner trying to make it back to first.

Freshman Tippy Borrego (10-0) held the Mt. SAC ballclub to two hits until the sixth, and replaced Linda Shamblin in the seventh inning eventually shooting down Mt. SAC's attempt at scoring further.

Borrego had a total of 13 strikeouts, five walks and two hits; Shamblin had one walk, one strikeout and allowed one hit. She was credited with Mt. SAC run.

"I'm just glad what we won and it's over," said coach Nancy Kelly. "We need the pressure, but Mt. SAC was definitely out to get us."

Falcons remain in top spot despite 6-3 loss to Pirates

By JOHN ALLISON
TM Sports Editor

Probably one of the biggest surprises in this year's South Coast Conference race has been the fact that Orange Coast, picked as the pre-season favorite by SCC sports information directors, has been able to compile a record just above .500 half way through the season.

With a record of 3-5, the Pirates decided to play as they were expected to so they've now won four in a row including a 6-3 victory over the visiting Cerritos College Falcons on Monday.

The loss dropped the first place Falcon's record to 9-2, still 1½ games ahead of second place San Diego Mesa and Fullerton (both at 8-4).

Cerritos now opens a crucial three game series which has the squad playing both of the contenders, with matches versus Fullerton here tomorrow at 2:30, and Mesa next Tuesday at 2:30 in San Diego.

On Saturday, the team travels to Mt. SAC in a 12 p.m. contest. The Falcons have won both previous contests with the Mounties by scores of 11-8 and 7-2.

Cerritos remained in a comfortable position by crushing Santa Ana 14-3 last Thursday before falling to OC Monday.

The Orange Coast contest was originally scheduled for Tuesday, April 18. The game was postponed due to the lack of umpires.

Steve Swartz (1-1) received the loss for Cerritos. Rick Costello led Cerritos hitting with a two hit performance out of five plate appearances. Louie Souza pounded two hits in four tries in a losing cause.

Orange Coast scored a run in the first, third, and added two more in the fourth. Cerritos scored in the second, fourth, and seventh stanzas.

streak over Orange Coast by previous Cerritos baseball teams, extending back six years.

Yesterday the team hosted Grossmont (1-12) at 2:30. Results were not available at press time.

On Thursday, April 20, the Falcons lashed out with 15 hits for a 14-3 decision over Santa Ana to raise their record to 9-1.

In all, five runs crossed the plate for the Falcons in the third, a feat which chased the starting Don pitcher after he yielded four runs the inning previous.

Nick Perri highlighted the offensive effort for Cerritos with a towering third inning home run over the center field fence, reaching 425 feet and bringing in two runs with it.

With their top three pitchers injured, the Santa Ana squad was forced to pitch their fourth string hurler and the Falcons unloaded quickly.

Greg Moyer (4-1) got the victory for Cerritos. Glen Prater (2-0) also saw action as did Steve Swartz.

Before Thursday's game, Cerritos had four pitchers in the top five in earned run average for the South Coast Conference. Prater (0.68 in 13 innings pitched) was tops in the league followed by Ed Hodge in second, Steve Swartz in fourth and Rick Costello in fifth.

Dave Schuler led all Cerritos bats with four hits and four RBI's. Tim Krauss, the leading batter for Cerritos, raised his average to .457 by pounding out two doubles, a single, and four RBI's.

Cerritos can clinch the SCC title theoretically by May 4 with a win over Orange Coast, providing they win their upcoming battles with Fullerton and Mesa.

The Southern Calif. Sectionals will be held May 19, 20, 21 followed by the State Finals May 26 and 27.

Netters miss chance to catch Grossmont

By JOHN ALLISON

The door was wide open for the second place Cerritos tennis team to move in to a two way tie for first place and a playoff for the South Coast Conference Championship last week but the Falcons slammed it into their own faces by losing to Orange Coast 8-1 at the Pirates own court.

Had the squad beaten O.C. as they did earlier in the year, they would have capitalized on a deadly mistake by league leading Grossmont, and would have another chance to be the SCC title holders with one match remaining.

According to league rules, a singles player may only be shifted one position up or down the "ladder" of play per week. Grossmont violated this rule by moving one of their players two positions, and were forced to forfeit their match, dropping their league record to 9-2, the same as second place Cerritos.

The Falcons traveled to Orange Coast and were beaten handily; rounding out a circle which left the Pirates in a tie for first, a decision which was totally unexpected.

After losing to Grossmont for the second time in as many starts, two weeks ago, Cerritos seemed out of the championship picture since the first place Griffins were a full game ahead with two easy matches remaining.

"The courts were slow and we weren't ready for it" said head coach Ray Pascoe. "They (Orange Coast) played real good."

Side-lines

In the interest of all concerned

ed that the sports page be left in tact because of its use as an effective recruiting tool.

Students also voiced strong objection to the change even though it was their votes that had prompted the decision.

The Editors have decided to stick with the new choice and have received full support from the advisor. After deliberating with College authorities, one of the groups demanding a reinstatement of the page has decided to sue the advisor to have their wishes granted.

The issues at stake have several implications, and will undoubtedly make a mark on student publications for a long time.

Although the feelings expressed from both sides may be overblown, the fact still remains that the students and faculty of the school at first expressed no real interest in the presence of a sports page until they became aware of the full implications of their opinions.

Is this type of feeling unique to the one college in particular or is it a consensus of feelings for the majority of Community College students?

Several papers from schools particularly in middle and northern California devoted only one-half or three-fourths of a page to athletics. Most had the same amount of teams as everyone else, but reader interest apparently wasn't there.

Could this be a reflection of public attitudes or is it restricted to the JC level?

Good question.

Falcon Wrap-up

TRACK MEET—Sprinter Houston McTeer will run for Cerritos in the upcoming South Coast Conference finals to be held this Friday at San Diego Mesa starting at 1:30 p.m. Several Falcon competitors will be vying for spots in the Southern Cal preliminary meet May 13. McTeer was recently married to Janette Gow, a native of Scotland, in a civil ceremony in Los Angeles.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL—Coach Jeanine Prindle's Women's Basketball team travels to San Diego Mesa tonight to defend their two game winning streak. The team beat Orange Coast 67-55 last Friday and Santa Ana last Wednesday by a score of 81-52.

MEN'S VOLLEYBALL—The Cerritos Men's Volleyball team fell to Orange Coast last Friday by scores of 13-15, 13-15, and 5-15, to drop their South Coast Conference record to 3-4. The team plays San Bernardino tonight at 7:30 p.m.

COED BADMINTON—Cerritos will host the California State Community College Badminton Championships on May 11-12. During the competition, several films will be screened on the sport of badminton along with speaker Chris Kinard, U.S. singles champion.
