Classified get 5% pay raise CSEA pact follows months of negotiation

By RICHARD M. GOUL
TM Assoc. Editor

Cerritos College's 236 classified employees have been given a five per cent salary increase, plus $15.27 per month and health insurance amounting to $245 per year.

The trustees delayed action after much discussion on the college's Equal Employment Opportunity Policy and Affirmative Action Plan until the November 15 gathering.

The California School Employees Association (CSEA) agreement subsequently met the approval of its membership, ending months of negotiation. The total package calls for a cost increase of $236,000 over last year's salary expenses and is retroactive to July 1, 1977.

Board Secretary Chuck Fuentes argued for the addition of a clause calling for representation of women and minorities on screening committees for hiring to the Affirmative Action Plan, while Board President Lou Banas questioned the need for the creation of an Affirmative Action Assistant position, citing that in private industry such positions are often created but soon become obsolete.

He said that in the planning stages such a position is kept busy with implementation of policy, but "after a while there is not much for him to do," and is a wasteful expenditure of the taxpayer's money.

Banas argued that affirmative action duties could be picked up by existing positions, and the 30-page document was referred back to the college administration for reassessment.

In other action, the Board approved independent audit reports of Student Body and District funds by Sharpe, Davis, and Company. As of June 30, 1977, the Associated Students of Cerritos College had total assets of $1,075,000. A total of $475,000 was in cash savings, with the remainder tied up in various trust accounts.

The Board also heard a report on Assembly Bill 591 that provides that each community college district include at least one non-voting student on the Board of Trustees. Cerritos has set the ASCC President on the Board for over 10 years and the bill will have no effect other than requiring a documented procedure by which the position will be filled.

The Board joined with the Los Angeles Community College District in their "amicus curiae" brief to the California Supreme Court case.

INSTRUCTION VP FIGGINS

STANFORD Ph.D

Figgins picked Vice President

By COY STEWART
TM Associate Editor

Dr. Gregg Figgins, who assumed duties yesterday as the new Vice President of Instruction, describes the differences between his position as Dean of Instruction at Victor Valley College in Victorville and his new job here as "advantages."

"The advantages of working with a larger and more complex organization...that will also allow me to become involved and active with student services and activities. In Victorville, my duties dealt exclusively with instruction, but I have always enjoyed working actively with student services and my position here will allow me to do that," Figgins said.

Figgins holds a Ph.D. in Community College Administration, a Master's in Curriculum, a

B.A. in English and, of course, an A.A.—in Poly Sci.

Dr. Figgins had already earned a B.A. and began work on his M.A. when he "like a lot of other guys" was drafted and after basic training at Fort Ord shipped east to Kansas.

Leaving the Army in 1959 after two years he once more began work on his M.A. at San Jose State College, and in 1968 he started for his Ph.D. at Stanford University.

During the time he was working on his Masters he also taught school at the high school and community college level.

Figgins is married and has two children. His wife, Jane, also has a B.S. in Education from Northwestern University.

"Although I hope to become involved as soon as I can, I will spend the next few months becoming oriented with it and I begin to see a 'pattern' emerge of where things are and how everything works.

"Concerning the recent rape on campus, I do have one suggestion to offer. We can all use this as an opportunity—an unfortunate one—to become more aware of things around us, and ourselves and our own actions as well," he said.

A field of about 40 applicants for the position, vacated by Dr. John Randall who became president of Mt. San Antonio College two months ago, had been narrowed to four outstanding candidates by a campus screening committee, officials said. The college's board of trustees interviewed each of the four and after lengthy deliberations unanimously named Dr. Figgins to the post.

Before moving to Victor Valley College in 1973, Dr. Figgins, 43, served as vice president for academic affairs at Sinclair Community College in Dayton, Ohio, and Director of Learning Resources at Kankakee Community College in Illinois.

He has also taught at the University of Dayton and Foothill Community College and two high schools in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Dr. Figgins has received the Educator of the Year award in Dayton, served on the Ohio Governor's Commission for the Mentally Retarded and is on the California Community College Chancellor's Advisory Committee on Instruction.

Ad hoc committee studies problems of rape, violence

By TIM CARTER
TM News Editor

Citing the problem of rape as an "immediate and growing, clear and present danger," the Cerritos College student senate has formed an ad-hoc senate committee to study the problem of rape and crimes of personal violence on the campus.

The senate bill reads as follows: Whereas, due to incidents of rape on the Cerritos College Campus, a climate of fear and apprehension about personal safety on campus has been raised;

and, Whereas the problem is an immediate and growing, clear and present danger;

Be It Therefore Resolved that an ad-hoc Senate Committee be formed to work in conjunction with other concerned individuals and groups on campus to disseminate information and work out new solutions to prevent incidents of rape and crimes of personal violence on campus.

The committee, chaired by senator Rich Goul, met last Thursday for the first time. In attendance were Norwalk City Councilwoman Peg Nelson, a representative of the Sheriff's Department, student body president Don Collins, Dean of Student Personnel Don Siriani, Coordinator of the Women's Center Vera Eckles, Talon Marks editor Martial Willer, Coordinator of the Campus Police Brad Bates, and other students and senators.

The meeting served basically as an orientation session, and will meet again tomorrow at 11 a.m.

At the senate meeting Goul raised the question that possibly the Student Supreme Court might be violating the Cerrito Constitution.

Article six, section three of the constitution states that "At no time shall any court have more than two (2) Justices who hold membership in the same organization on campus."

Report out-of-order phones

Students are asked to immediately report all out-of-order telephones to the college switchboard which is located at the information booth in the Administration Building.

pus, excepting honorary scholastic organizations."

At the present time there are five members of the court who belong to the Cerritos College Swim Team.

Rapist still free

As of this morning, no suspects are in custody for the rape of a Cerritos College Coed in a campus restroom three weeks ago. Sheriff's Department officials said they have questioned and released two suspects.

The assailant was described as a "male Mexican-American in his early twenties between 5-9 and 6 feet tall. He is of stocky build with heavy thighs, short black hair that he wears straight back. He has a medium dark complexion with a severe case of acne covering his entire face giving it a reddened appearance."

At the time of the attack the suspect was said to be wearing a gold wire earring through his right ear about half way up from the bottom of the earlobe.

Faculty Senate scrutinizes textbook shortages, costs

By GARY EHRES
TM Staff Writer

Problems of the Campus Bookstore such as non-arrival of texts and shortages of some of the books that do arrive as well as the cost of the books—are currently being discussed by the Faculty Senate of Cerritos College.

Several members of the Faculty Senate are voicing disapproval of the current policy under which the Bookstore is operated. According to Don Siriani, Dean of Student Personnel, the operation and procedures used by the Bookstore were implemented years ago.

David Ruston, Bookstore manager, was invited along with Siriani, to attend the Oct. 18 meeting of the Faculty Senate to discuss these problems and to answer some questions concerning the standard operation of the Bookstore.

Siriani stated that Ruston had repeatedly volunteered to appear at Division meetings to discuss procedures of the Bookstore, but that many of the Divisions didn't have time for this sort of discussion.

Several faculty members had charged that their orders to the Bookstore were being cut by the Bookstore. Ruston stated that all the cuts on Divisional orders are done by the Division itself and not by the Bookstore.

Some of the problem of the shortages may lie with the publishing representatives. According to Ruston, "The publishing representatives talk to the faculty alone or the Bookstore personnel alone. Because of this we find ourselves not knowing about new editions or new prices."

Ruston also added that the prices on the textbooks have been a problem. According to Ruston, the publishers set the prices, not the

Hargrove undergoes surgery this morning

Yell leader Terri Hargrove, injured in a 3-car collision Sept. 25 which caused the death of coed Linda Diane Teran, is still in the intensive care unit at Los Palmas Hospital in La Palma.

In a coma since the accident, Miss Hargrove only recently responded with eye movement, officials said.

According to hospital officials, Miss Hargrove is responding to treatment and her condition is stabilizing. "She's scheduled for surgery this morning," the spokesman stated.

Two other Cerritos students were injured in the accident at the intersection of Bloomfield Avenue and 196th Street, Cerritos but were released from the hospital with minor injuries.

Children's Theatre performs 'Hansel and Gretel' Friday

Nine original musical numbers will highlight the production of "Hansel and Gretel" which will be presented by the Cerritos Children's Theatre at 4 and 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 4; 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 5; and 2:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 6 in Burnight Theatre.

Set in a forest in Germany in the late 1800's, this three act family musical will be performed by a cast of more than 50 college students and young people from the college community. "Hansel and Gretel" tells the story of a boy and a girl who are lost in a forest inhabited by elves, witches and fairies. Before the children can save themselves and return home, they must outwit a comical old witch who attempts to bake them into Gingerbread.

In addition to the five performances, "Hansel and Gretel" will tour to Long Beach and San Fernando Valley.

Tickets for the musical are $1.25 for both children and adults. They may be purchased in advance at the Box Office or at Burnight Theatre immediately preceding the performances. Discount prices are available for groups of 10 or more. This play is recommended for children five years old and older.

"Hansel and Gretel" is the first event of four Children's Theatre productions which are being offered by Cerritos College. In addition to

Maintenance head Ray Cox succumbs

Funeral services for Ray Cox, 58, Supervisor of Maintenance for Cerritos College, were held yesterday at 2 p.m. at the Bethel Reformed Church in Bellflower.

Mr. Cox, who had been with the college since 1961, was in San Diego visiting friends when he succumbed to an apparent heart attack between 2 and 5 a.m. Friday, Oct. 28, according to officials.

He is survived by his wife Angie, and their two sons and a daughter, all of whom are married.

A retired Naval officer, Mr. Cox was a resident of Bellflower. Burial was at Rose Hills.

Prior to assuming the maintenance supervisory job three years ago, Mr. Cox was the college's air conditioning expert. He was on a two months leave of absence for health reasons, college officials said.

in support of the Peralta CCD position that part-time instructors who teach 60 per cent of a full load will be considered full-time employees. Cerritos, like Peralta, considers teachers employed for less than 60 per cent as temporary employees and thus not eligible for full-time permanent benefits. The Peralta Federation of Teachers challenged the District position and a decision in favor of the PFT could affect Cerritos.

The Board also approved an updated version of the college's Five Year Plan developed by Dean of Academic Affairs Olive P. Homecoming: after the ball

By PHYLLIS DAVENPORT
TM Features Editor

Lenora Peralta was named Cerritos College's 1977 homecoming queen under a bright display of fireworks over Falcon Field during the halftime ceremonies at the Oct. 22 football game against Fullerton.

"I can't believe it," Peralta stated after receiving the queen's robe, crown and bouquet from 1976 queen Sally Bitner.

Peralta, sponsored by Alpha Phi Beta, was selected from seven candidates in elections held Oct. 18 and 19.

The six homecoming princesses were Becky Wellander, Sigma Phi; Cheryl Cota, Veterans Club; Kathy Bures, Tau Rho Beta; Linda Castillo, VICA; Cindy Horner, Football Team and Cheryl Flowers, Pep Club.

The seven members of the court were paraded around the stadium in cars from the early 1900's while the acclaimed Norwalk All-City Band took formation on the field.

Each of the queen hopefuls, with Bitner leading the procession, was escorted by a student chosen from their sponsoring organization down a runway laid out on the 50-yard line.

Don Collins, ASCC President, along with Tinkerbell (Marilyn Merritt) and Captain Hook (Sergio Gonzalez) also entered the procession via the runway.

Collins announced to the spectators that Peralta had been selected by the student body to reign as homecoming queen.

Master of Ceremonies for the halftime festivities was Dick McGrath.

A float parade around the field followed the crowning of the queen.

From Oct. 17 to Oct. 22, 18 campus groups constructed floats following the homecoming theme, "Fantasy," with hopes of capturing one of the ten trophies.

Judging took place at 10:30 a.m. Oct. 22, and the winning floats and organizations were announced at a judge's reception later that day.

Phi Kappa Zeta, with their winning float, "Mother Goose," walked away with three awards: the Dr. Burnight Trophy for most originality, the CSEA Trophy for best utilization of animation and the only perpetual award, the Amy Dozier Trophy for sweepstakes—best overall.

The other winners were as follows: "Alice Through the Looking Glass," SNAC, Faculty Trophy for most humorous; "The Tooth Fairy," Tau Rho Beta, ASCC Trophy for best design and "A Pot of Gold at the End of the Rainbow," Ski Club, Golden Falcon Trophy for best utilization of color.

More were "Don Quixote," Sigma Phi, Coaches' Trophy for most unusual and President's Trophy for best displaying spirit of Cerritos College; "St. George and the Dragon," Alpha Phi Beta, Board of Trustees' Trophy for most creative and "A Child's Fantasy Come True," Circle K, Queen's Trophy for best utilization of theme.

"Sage," an eight-piece Chicago-style band, performed at the homecoming dance in the Student Center after the game.

All of the homecoming activities, which started in early October, were made possible through the efforts of the many people serving on homecoming committees.

Falcons come up one harrier short in Mt. SAC run

At press time, Dave Kamanski's cross country team will have completed their competition in the 1977 South Coast Conference Championships at Grossmont College yesterday.

At this meet the Falcons will have faced four of the top seven long-distance squads in the state. These four teams belong to Mount San Antonio College, Grossmont (the defending California champs), Fullerton and Santa Ana College.

In their first pre-season meet on Friday, Oct. 21, Cerritos failed to place in the Mt. SAC Invitational in Walnut. The team had to have a minimum of five runners finish the race to qualify; however, only four of the Falcon's five runners completed Mt. SAC's rough, four-mile course.

Head coach Kamanski stated that his team has been "steadily improving," with the four finishing runners putting in their best times of the season.

"We would've had a good showing if Barry Hayworth would have finished," Kamanski said. Hayworth dropped out midway through the event after developing severe leg cramps.

Out of the field of 250 runners representing 15 of the best schools in the state, Cerritos' Juan Hernandez (Downey High School) clocked in at 21:25 for 38th place, Roland Gonzales (Artesia) was 52 at 21:52, Tim Nichols (St. John Bosco), who is coming off an injury, was 70 at 22:42 and Rick Williams (La Mirada) was 77 at 23:46.

Women netters seek consistency in OCC meet

By STEVE EAMES

Last week, the women's volleyball team split their two decisions for a 2-5 South Coast Conference record this year.

The women put it all together during Wednesday's come-from-behind victory over Fullerton College, 6-15, 10-15, 16-14, 15-11 and 15-4. In Friday night's match with fifth-ranked Grossmont College it was a matter of "who would put it together the longest" with Cerritos coming out on the losing end, 9-15, 15-11, 17-19 and 10-15.

The Falcons will travel to Orange Coast College in Costa Mesa today as they continue their second round of SCC competition and then host Santa Ana Friday night in the gym.

"We played outstanding ball at Fullerton," said first-year head coach Jeanine Prindle. "But Friday we didn't function well as a team with crucial lack of concentration errors (including a number of net-serves) affecting the outcome," she added.

"We played 200 per cent better against them (Grossmont) than we did the last time," Prindle said. The Griffins blitzed the Falcons on Oct. 5, 11-15, 6-15 and 10-15.

"In fact," she continued, "their coach told me that we're the only team other than Santa Ana that has shown any offense against them."

Soccer team looks for win to end bitter losing streak

By LUIS F. CAMPOS
TM Staff Writer

The Falcon soccer squad lost three straight games — including two shutouts — after obtaining their first South Coast Conference victory during the last two weeks.

Cerritos defeated Mount San Antonio College, 3-1, on Oct. 18 before being shutout Oct. 21 by the 1976 SCC champion Santa Ana College Dons, 2-0, and also by Orange Coast College last Tuesday, 3-0. Last Friday, the Falcons dropped their third straight decision, 3-2, to Fullerton. Cerritos' record is now 1-4 in SCC action and 4-6-2 overall.

Last Friday against the Fullerton College Hornets here, Cerritos midfielders Ralph Lahora and Sergio Marquez started the game off with a fast pace, taking control of the mid-field and feeding their forwards with many passes.

This control was soon lost when the referee marked a penalty-kick against the Falcons. Fullback Jesus "Kino" Oaxaca apparently fouled a Hornet player outside the penalty area but the referee marked it inside. Hornet midfielder Nick Rohwer was encharged to execute the 12-yard kick which defeated Cerritos goalie Victor Ulloa, giving the lead to Fullerton, 1-0. Ten minutes later, Falcon forward Fred Varela scored on a 18-yard free-kick to tie the score at 1-1. The shot defeated the Hornet's goalie who made a valiant effort to stop it.

However, the Hornets managed to make a few counter-attacks against the Falcons and one of these was well approached by Hornet player Scott Baxbaum, who booted a 40-yard free-kick giving the game's advantage to Fullerton, 2-1.

In the second half, the Falcons took control of the game again, but they weren't able to score due to the Hornet's defensive plan to protect their lead.

However, 25-minutes later, this Falcon pressure resulted in a 2-2 tie when Jorge Lopez defeated the Hornet's goalie with a well aimed shot.

Falcon forward Laris missed a chance to score two-minutes later when he shot the ball into the waiting hands of Fullerton's goalie. Their goalie was also successful in stopping a shot at the goal by Lahora.

Fullerton scored their third and final goal five minutes before the end of the game when left winger Michael Short centered the ball to the right winger, Paul Agbok, who sent the ball into the Falcon's net and giving the victory to the Hornets, 3-2.

Lights out for Falcons in conference title race

Cerritos blanked by Mounties, 13-0; attempt to salvage season Saturday

By STEVE EAMES
TM Sports Editor

The lights all but went out on the football team's hopes for a long-awaited South Coast Conference title this year as they were shutout, 13-0, by Mount San Antonio College Saturday night.

This coming Saturday, the Falcons make the long trip down to San Diego Mesa College in an attempt to salvage what has been shaping up to be another losing season under seven-year head coach Ernie Johnson, who is reportedly under the gun.

Johnson has not fielded a winning team since 1972 when Cerritos won its last SCC title with a 3-1-1 record in league action and 4-3-3 overall.

The Cerritos schedule is considered by many experts as the toughest line-up in the nation.

However, the real reasons for the Falcon's unfortunate plight may be much more complex and far less apparent than their schedule indicates.

Perhaps they find it easier to be "up" for the "big" games, in which they are underdogs, than for an equally unranked opponent, who were by no means "pushovers."

Perhaps the emotional let-down of losing their homecoming game to Fullerton, 35-10, two weeks ago has not worn off.

Perhaps being on the road after four consecutive homegames has disoriented the Falcons.

Or perhaps they haven't lived up to the expectations of knowledgeable observers who saw them this summer as being Junior Rose Bowl-bound — because they can't.

But, regardless of the reasons why, there is no argument to the fact that Cerritos' offense was denied, and denied themselves, several scoring opportunities against Mt. SAC in what proved to be the first shutout handed to the Falcons in eight years. Fullerton dealt them their last blank, 21-0, in 1969.

Mathematically, the Falcons are still in the 1977 SCC title race, but theoretically, their chances of obtaining the crown seem next to impossible.

With a 1-2 record in league action (2-3 overall), the Falcons must win their three remaining games and hope that all the other teams in the league lose at least two to gain at most a half and at least a third of the title.

Fullerton, the number one football team in the conference, the state and the nation, has already claimed their share and if they continue to ride the crest of their 14-game winning streak, it will be highly unlikely that anyone else will do the same.

After beating Grossmont handily, 31-7, in the SCC opener, the Falcons were handed their first league loss by Fullerton, 35-10, in the Cerritos 20th Annual Homecoming contest.

Although still in the game at halftime, 17-10, the Falcons rolled over like a lame duck in the third quarter as the Hornets put the icing on their victory with 15 points in the period.

In Saturday's game, the Falcons made three serious scoring attempts. Two were set up by Mt. SAC turnovers — one was an interception and the other a fumble — and the third was a distinct team effort. A costly penalty and a turnover of their own prevented them from taking advantage of the "gifts."

Falcon defensive back Phil McPherson intercepted Mountie quarterback Butch Stocking (6-12 for 69 yards) giving them the ball at the CC 49. They drove to the Mt. SAC 24 but with 41 seconds left in the first half, Cerritos quarterback Kevin Hamilton (9-18-2 for 75 yards) was intercepted in the end-zone to end that threat.

Early in the second half, Stocking fumbled his center's snap which Cerritos' Mike Johnson pounced on at the Mt. SAC 16. Two plays later, a holding penalty sent the Falcons back to the 23 from the 8. Placekicker Tom Martin then sent a 39-yard field goal off left.

On their third and final threat, Cerritos drove from the CC41 to the Mt. SAC 6 late in the third quarter. Most of this drive came on two rushes, of 27 and 22 yards, by Jim Copeland (74 yards on 14 carries). On fourth and goal at the 6, Hamilton found Bill Murvin open — but one yard short of the TD giving the ball to the Mounties.

The Mounties scored their points without the aid of Cerritos errors — on a 33-yard TD burst by Stan Webster (83 yards on 14 carries) and two field goals by Stocking, of 22-yards and 37-yards.

Poloists plunge for 'black' in SCC splash at Mt. SAC

By JOHN ALLISON
TM Staff Writer

With a South Coast Conference record of 3-4, the Cerritos water polo squad will try to even up their record and hopefully go above .500 with victories over Fullerton on Tuesday, Nov. 1, and Mt. SAC this Friday, Nov. 4.

According to head coach Pat Tyne, the Falcons were unable to "hit the floor with their hats" during their 9-5 loss to Grossmont last Friday in the Falcons home pool.

"We played very well, however," said Tyne afterwards. "We kept the ball in their territory most of the game but we just couldn't put it in the net."

In previous action, the Falcons succumbed to Golden West on October 28 by a score of 15-8. Top scorer for Cerritos was Guy Haarlamert with four goals on 13 attempts. Peter Harvey was second, contributing two goals on six attempts.

The loss to Golden West was Cerritos' second defeat in as many days. The Falcons lost to Long Beach City College two days earlier by a score of 18-8.

The key factor in both losses seemed to be the high number of ejection fouls called against Cerritos. The team committed nine against Golden West and eight against LBCC. Ejection fouls force a team to play one player short for a period of 30 seconds. This gives the opposition a distinct advantage, since there will be an unguarded teammate throughout the duration of the penalty.

Despite the three losses, the squad was able to keep their record respectable with wins over Orange Coast (9-7) on Oct. 18th, and Santa Ana (9-8) on Oct. 21.

Haarlamert led the scoring for Cerritos in both contests, scoring seven times against Santa Ana and five times against Orange Coast.

Unlike the losses to Golden West and Long Beach, the Falcons stayed out of foul trouble, with only three infractions against Orange Coast and five against Santa Ana.

The Falcons have five league contests remaining, with only one to be played here at Cerritos. The team hosts Orange Coast on Thursday, Nov. 10 at 3:30 p.m.

S.H.A.R.E. a life

Future Shock. Brave New World. 1984. 1977?

The negative-utopia literature of this century has consistently taken on the role of a modern Jeremiah, crying out in a prophetic voice in deep, resonant sounds of foreboding.

Like a Greek chorus in a Sophocles tragedy, Toffler, Orwell, Huxley and others have tried to hold their fingers in the dike and warn the world that the dam was about to break and waters of impersonality would down the earth.

Underneath their rhetoric, their message was clear: the importance and meaning of the individual is becoming increasingly diminished in this world of numbers and systems, organization and bureaucracy.

Operation SHARE, newly instituted at Cerritos after successful runs elsewhere, is attempting to hold back the tide and assure a child within the community that someone gives a damn.

SHARE is a person to person tutoring program in which an elementary school child who is having trouble in school because of academic, family, or personal problems — or maybe because no one has ever taken the time to help him, needs help to succeed in school and social life.

According to SHARE officials, over 200 children from the community need this kind of personal help.

The procedure is simple: a college student makes a commitment to spend at least three hours a week with "his" child for a minimum of one semester. He meets with the child's teacher at least once a month, and also with the SHARE coordinator. All SHARE volunteers are provided with training. The offices are located in the Administration Building.

The tutor becomes the child's friend, confidant, companion. He takes the child to the park to study under the trees, in a classroom, in a home.

From a state of 20 million, a school of 20 thousand, a classroom of 20, both tutor and child experience a one-on-one contact. The child receives a source of advice and learning—and more often than not, the tutor receives the same. The tutor receives a sense of accomplishment, and, more materially, an excellent reference, according to SHARE officials, if he wished to go into education or social work.

In short, it sounds like something not really of this modern world, something devoid of shock, something definitely pre-1984.

Something about two individuals meeting. Somewhere, three tired prophets are probably having second-thoughts.

Letters to the editor

EDITOR:

I would like to thank everyone who participated in the 1977 Homecoming election. My special thanks to Alpha Phi Beta and pledges. I wouldn't have made it without them.

Also special thanks to Mr. Robinson, the ASCC Court, Gina Wrigley and the night students of Cerritos College. Thank you all.

LENORA PERAULT
1977 Homecoming Queen

EDITOR:

A rape is a despicable act. No one will dispute that fact. I'm sorry, but the reasons AREN'T obvious to me why you "purposely" played down this despicable act upon a young woman October 10 morning. I, along with numerous other people, want to know if this young woman is okay physically now.

All the Talon Marks said is she was "found." I, for one, didn't know whether she was found dead, seriously beaten and/or in an unconscious state. Since when is compassion for a fellow human being "immature" and "juvenile?"

Has our society become so cold that one can't even show compassion and concern for another, anymore? This young woman should be aware that we as fellow human beings DO care. We won't stick our heads in the sand hoping it will just go away.

The young woman's name was withheld as it should have been and continue to be. She is protected in this way, too. Her feelings are thusly protected. She will be sensitive about this sordid event for a long time.

Whenever this story came to print whether it be immediately or in six years, she will no doubt be sensitive. However, your stand can only be taken to mean that ones sensitivity should be protected even if it means ten more rapes occur. That doesn't matter, right? Very sloppy reporting. Very sloppy.

Did you ever stop to think that this young woman could be thinking just the opposite? She could think that the Talon Marks cared so much for her and the horrible hell she went through that they HAD the story and were very biased about the whole thing.

To top it off the school paper cared so much that a description of the attacker was withheld so her friends couldn't even protect them. If you call this a "juicy news story," then you are a poor excuse for a newspaper—of any kind.

You took that petition and twisted it all out of context. You just let your warped little minds say what YOU wanted it to say.

There is no reason in hell that the story that appeared in the Oct. 19 paper about the rapist couldn't have appeared in the Oct. 12 paper.

NANCY TEESDALE
Student

EDITOR'S NOTE: The tone of your letter is precisely what the editorial was talking about. Again, the Sheriff's Office has stressed that any premature publicized description of the rapist would have "protected" the rapist, and even warned him.

Further, we did not distort the petition you refer to—we have no reason to. What we did was hold it up to a light so that our readers could see it for what it was.

Emotions that are not harnessed to constructive thought hardly lead to justice. They only lead to panic, lynch mobs, witch hunts, the embarrassing of "suspects," ... an atmosphere that could prevail over this campus.

Drafting more than drawing; interprets, translates designs

By TOM BRAY
TM Staff Writer

One way to describe the word "drafting" is by using the term "mechanical drawing," which means any drawing that enables measurements to be interpreted for architect plans.

For example, the duties of a drafting designer is that he interprets the design, translating it into language understood by those who will build it. He works from notes, sketches and rough drawings which show important details, specifications, dimensions and tolerances.

The draftsman can decide to specialize in one branch of the industry—such as appliance design. In this field, for example, the beginner will start as a detailer. As he becomes more Bookstore. The cost of a $10 textbook to the student has a cost of $8 to the Bookstore. The $2 gross profit by the Bookstore is broken down into $.30 for shipping, $.17 for payroll cost, and $.32 for expenses such as phone, but not including building rental.

This would leave the Bookstore with a net profit of $.01 on each $10 book. Ruston also stated that the Bookstore makes nothing on textbooks. After comparing three or four items with Cypress, Long Beach State, Long Beach City College, and May Company, Ruston said that he came up with a better or comparable price on all of the items.

When asked about students from other colleges using the Cerritos Bookstore, Ruston stated that, "We give a 10% discount to students and that's why we get students from other colleges."

Siriani stated that Ruston orders what is asked for—and then tries to get used books. "The Department must give us the input that the books are new editions. If they don't tell us, we sometimes order badly."

According to Ruston, "The publishing people spread out to all colleges, so they may give us only 80% or so, instead of what was originally asked for."

Siriani added, "This goes back to basic operating principles. We need to encourage faculty members to talk to Ruston."

Thom Hendrickson of the Social Science Division, who he said has been having major problems with the Bookstore as far as supply, questioned the statement by Ruston who said there is no net profit on the books, and Siriani's statement that there was a 6 per cent profit for the Bookstore last year. Hendrickson said, "I don't know the business end, but just breaking even? Is this good business?"

Siriani stated, "We advocate service: we are not making excessive profit. Courtesy should be shown to fellow colleagues...cooperation of all...this would allow instructors to operate classes effectively, mean a profit to us, and be a service to students."

Ron Tabor summarized that Siriani's implication that direct contact will solve all problems may not work in all cases.

According to Senate Chairman Howard Taslitz, "Each division is involved in the problems of the Bookstore and the extent seems to be campus wide."

Tom Whitlock suggested the use of the Bookstore Committee to study and evaluate the procedures of the Bookstore.

Taslitz said he would make the suggestion to the Administrative Council with an added suggestion that a faculty member be included in the Committee.

Health Services—'Especially for people'

By GARY EHNS
TM Staff Writer

Have you taken the cancer quiz? Did you know that the third most common communicable disease in the country is genital herpes?

Here's an easy one. Do you know where the Student Health Services Office on campus is located?

For the answer to these and many more questions about your health and the health of others, you can go to the Health Services Office in the Library and visit with the college nurse, Shirley Jankowski.

Jankowski, a registered nurse, has a philosophy about the Health Services. She states that Health Service emphasizes a four-phase program. The heaviest emphasis is on the educational phase. Counseling, referral, and first aid training are also offered.

The educational phase deals with a preventive rather than a corrective type of health service. In the Health Services Office, you will find up-to-date files on just about every topic relating to health. A health education library is also offered. Students can write a report on just about any health related topic from the books that are available.

These articles, as well as audio visual aids, are readily available to assist students in their health education. Visual Aids include Betsi Breast, a topless (plastic) model that is utilized to demonstrate breast self-examination, slide presentations, and a health communicator which is a small hand held viewer for individual film viewing.

Workshops and seminars are also set up throughout the semester. "Especially for Men" and "Especially for Women" are two of the most successful workshops for the Health Services Office. A campus Diet Workshop is conducted on a weekly basis in which students weigh in and maintain a special personalized diet profile card in the office. Nutritional information is also available.

Other topics for seminars include birth control, testicular self exam, heart health, and V.D. prevention.

Other primary functions of the Health Service Office are counseling and referral. When a student has a special health problem such as V.D., skin disorders, communicable diseases, and pregnancy, the college nurse is available for counseling. If follow-up or treatment is necessary, the student is referred to the appropriate outside agency.

Students who become ill or receive a minor injury while on campus will receive medical assistance from the school nurse. A wheel chair is available to help students who need to be brought to the Student Health Service Office. Three cots are on standby in the first aid room of the office.

If the tensions of the day get to you and you would like to lie down, the cots in the first aid room are also available to help you relax.

Jankowski likes to keep a homelike atmosphere in the Health Service Office. This makes it easier for the student to relax a little

Reading center helping students

By SUE PAULINO
TM Campus Editor

The average reading ability of the Cerritos College student is at the 11th grade level, says Bob Renteria, coordinator of reading and tutoring services.

This figure is based on scores from placement and reading tests given in English classes.

"Reading rates have been declining in elementary and high schools since the early 60's," says Renteria. "By the time many students reach college they are deficient in reading skills and study habits."

Renteria attributes the reduced reading rates to the "sight method" of learning to read which has been taught to students from 1955 to the present. Prior to 1955, schools taught students to read by teaching them phonics, which is knowing the sound each letter of the alphabet makes.

Renteria claims that the "sight method" creates problems in comprehension and word attack skills.

To meet the student demand for assistance in these areas, Cerritos offers the services of a reading program.

From its beginning in 1968 with one class of 38 students and one instructor, the reading program has grown to its present 36 classes totaling 1,200 students, with three full-time and 12 part-time instructors.

The program offers four 18 week courses to students during the fall semester.

One of the courses is English 52.1, functional study skills, where students learn basic but helpful skills such as how to study a college textbook.

Another of the four courses offered is English 53, basic reading skills. Phonics, word attack and comprehension skills are mastered.

English 54 is designed to develop interpretive and critical thinking.

The fourth class offered is English 62, speed reading, where students increase their effective reading rate and comprehension, and put their new skill to various uses.

Because of the demand for the programs services, two of the four courses, English 53 and 54, are offered on a nine week basis during the spring semester.

The reading program uses the diagnostic prescriptive teaching method. In the beginning of the course, students take tests to show their weaknesses, and then they gear their prescriptions to correct these weaknesses.

"It is a very individualized program," says Renteria.

Students use all types of multi-media equipment to practice their skills in the Reading Center, which is located downstairs in the library basement, across from the tutoring center. The reading center is open Monday-Thursday, 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., Fri. 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and Saturday 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. A student can also obtain more information on the reading program by calling exts. 444, 448 or 449.

Cerritos College offers a free tutoring service to students needing individual help in a course of study from A-Z.

In 1971 the program serviced 350 tutees with 40 tutors. Renteria, director of the program, projects a figure of some 1800 tutees and 280 tutors for the 1977-78 semester.

Any student of the college is eligible for 10 hours of free tutoring each semester. A student may come into the tutoring center, located in the basement of the library, on their own, or they can be recommended by an instructor. A tutor will be assigned in no more than three days, simply by filling out an application.

"Our main objective is to help the student," says Renteria. "Our motto around here is 'Get by with a little help from your friends.'"

To be eligible to be a tutor, a student can be recommended by an instructor or can come in on their own. A tutor must have a B or better grade average in the subject they desire to tutor in. They must also take a reading test and score above the 12th grade level.

Renteria is very excited about the fact that Cerritos College tutors are the highest paid in the area. Tutors earn from $3.31-$3.69 per hour.

The tutoring center is open Mon.-Thurs. 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., and Fri. 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Noon concerts exciting line-up

The month of November will kick off one of the most exciting groups of noon concerts ever held at Cerritos College, according to Sandy Phillips, commissioner of student activities.

Phillips, a sophomore, has been able to arrange numerous headline acts to appear here during the noon hour festivities.

Among those acts booked to appear is Kellee Patterson, on Tuesday, Nov. 8. Patterson, a headliner in her own right, will feature rhythm and blues, and contemporary numbers. Patterson has appeared with Count Bassey and Duke Ellington, and has been featured several times at the Hollywood Paladium.

Following Patterson in the Student Center will be a new recording group under the Warner Bros. label, Chunky, Novi and Ernie. This group features a progressive sound, with Chunky on the viola. Their last recording has sold over a hundred thousand copies. This group will be featured on Nov. 15, and a special highlight will be free record albums to be given to some of those in attendance.

Perhaps the headliner of the November concert series will be the world famous Kenney Rankin. Rankin has released several albums and last summer was a featured artist at the Greek Theatre with both of his performances being sold out on consecutive nights.

Phillips indicated that this will be the highlight of the month and urges all people who are interested in exciting entertainment, to visit the Student Center between 11 a.m. and 12 noon to hear Rankin perform.

On Nov. 29, the Associated Students of Cerritos College will feature rock and roll sounds of the 50's with Papa Doo Run Run Papa, who appeared here last year, was a solid hit.

Jazz buffs will be treated to an all star cast on Thursday, Dec. 1, when Cerritos College will feature the great jazz trio Louis Bellson, Paul Smith and Ray Brown. This same group will be featured on Saturday night Dec. 3 at the Burnight Theatre.

All noon concerts are free to Cerritos College students as part of the student body program to enrich the students of Cerritos College.

'Dog Day' at movies

Burnight Theatre will host the movie "Dog Day Afternoon" on Tuesday, Nov. 8. Sponsored by the Student Activities Office, the movie is free to Cerritos College students with a valid identification card.

Al Pacino shows his tremendous versatility in this college of humor, pathos, fright and chaos. Pacino is Sonny, confused and frantic about his tattered life—an unhappy wife, debts and a male lover desperate for a sex change operation.

The carefully etched, poignantly drawn portrait of an actual person comes to life when Sonny decides to solve his problems by staging a bank robbery with a friend. The story is one of those stunning examples of the truth being so strange that it becomes super fiction.

Dance Club performs

Under the direction of Karen Codman, a physical education instructor, the Cerritos Dance Club recently performed at the dedication of the Cerritos Regional Park, and at Disneyland.

Members of the club work together to perfect and perform dances of ethnic and religious persuasion.

Anyone interested in joining the Dance Club should contact Karen Codman in the Women's Physical Education Office.

Circle K gets 'Queens'

The Queen's Trophy was awarded to Circle K for their homecoming float entitled "A Fantasy Come True."

A football field with the Local Poster Child on one side and a football player on the other was used to express the fantasy that every crippled child has the chance to play football instead of watching from the sidelines.

Theta Epsilon book sale

As a fund raising project, Theta Epsilon Zeta sorority will be selling "Better Homes and Gardens" cookbooks from mid-November through mid-December.

The hardcover cookbooks will sell for $2.95, and include full color pictures of kitchen-tested recipes. According to Judi Phipps, club president, the books may be purchased from any club member and make good gifts for Christmas and birthdays.

PLEDGES PULL — During recent half-time activities on the football field, Phi Kappa Zeta actives bested their pledges in a hard-pulled tug-of-war contest. Pledges Joyia Di Palma and Terry Barker go all out to hold up their end of the rope. —TM Photo by TOM GRAY

... Activities and Events ...

• Zetas 'show' at half

The half-time entertainment at the Oct. 8 football game was performed by Phi Kappa Zeta, the largest sorority on campus. The actives (those already in the sorority) bested the pledges (those attempting to get in the sorority) in a two out of three tug-of-war.

The first of the three was won by the pledges, but with the coaching of Robin Pharris the next two were won by the actives.

The pledges tugged hard to a tumbling defeat.

The game was announced by Ray Martinez. Those who participated were: Actives—Pat Avila, Debbie Dunn, Karen Glines, Marilyn Merritt, Suzanne Newlan, Donna O'Neil, Tammy Overleese, Angie Perryman, Tara Trafford, Susan Webb and Becky Wellander.

Pledges—Valorie Ames, Terry Barker, Cindy Butts, Cindy Chaney, Cathy Chappel, Becky Cook, Joyia Di Palma, Jill Granberry, Danette Greva, Roxanne Jimenez, Ruth Lemons, Dina Noxsel, Charlotte Stroup, and Kathy Warren.

• Women's club open

Lambda Delta Sigma, a new women's service organization, presented their petition to the Inter-Club Council for approval. After being given entrance into the I.C.C., a spokesperson for the organization indicated that the group was open to all women of Cerritos College who want to get involved with service to the college and the community.

Any woman interested in joining may receive more information in the Office of Student Activities.

• Phi Betas stay busy

Out of 26 men who attempted the rigorous pledging program of Alpha Phi Beta fraternity, 16 hearty souls completed the pledging process and graduated into the neophyte period.

Michael Leist, pledge master for Alpha Phi Beta, stated that he is confident that the 16 on completion of their neophyte period, will be an asset to the fraternity and will make worthwhile contributions to Cerritos. If all 16 are successful through their neophyte period they will be installed on Nov. 19 at the Marriott Hotel.

The A-Phi-B installation will feature their eternal sweetheart Miss Kellee Patterson and her band. Their very special guest for the evening will be Cerritos College's 77-78 Homecoming Queen, Lenora Perault, who was sponsored by Alpha Phi Beta.

Alpha Phi Beta was extremely pleased with their homecoming float contribution this year, "St. George and the Dragon." Float designer and building foreman, Cal

Lindsey, said, "It was worth every minute of it. Give us two days rest and we will be ready to do it again next year."

The award-winning float (awarded as being the most creative by Cerritos College Board of Trustees) featured a 12-foot gothic dragon, a model in chain mesh armor, and Alice Gibbs as the maiden in distress.

• Mesa game outing

The San Diego Mesa Game is traditionally a special event at Cerritos College when the individual organizations come together to plan their strategy for the trek south, hustling about making hotel accommodations, and figuring out where the best parties will be.

San Diego Mesa/Cerritos College games always prove to be a grand contest, and everyone who has the opportunity should plan to attend. It is one of the rare opportunities during football season which is really an all-weekend fun event.

• Theatre Art elects

At a recent meeting of the Theatre Art Society, club officers were elected for the 1977-78 school year.

A.B. de Maio will serve as president, Christine Sprowls, vice president, Rhonda Morris, secretary and Steve Beal, treasurer.

The club recently supplied ushers who served refreshments to the audience of the award-winning play "Equus." "Equus" T-shirts were also sold.

The club meets in Room BC-31 each Thursday at 11 a.m. Burt Peachy, drama instructor, sponsors the organization.

The second show of the season is an 18th Century French comedy by Moliere entitled "The Misanthrope." It is scheduled to run Nov. 29 and 30, Dec. 1-3 and Dec. 7-10 in Burnight Center.

• Dozier Trophy to Zetas

Phi Kappa Zeta, winners of the Amy Dozier Trophy at homecoming, used "Mother Goose" as their theme.

The Zeta's, who have finished second the last three years in a row, finally took top honors.

Robin Pharris, designer of the float, said, "The Zeta's put in a great deal of effort and energy into making this float successful."

Pharris also indicated that the float was animated with flapping wings, turning head and a wiggling tail.

• Delta Phi initiates

Delta Phi Omega Sorority is initiating nine neophytes into their sorority.

They are Patty Gasgow, Tina Rosen, Kathy Danley, Michelle Heathergon, Colleen Quinn, Vivian Ybarra, Cindy Vetter, Mary Price and Julie Vigil.

G.A.P. called resounding success

According to Assistant Commissioner of G.A.P., Jorge Landin, "The last G.A.P. day was a resounding success in spite of the small number of organizations participating."

Sigma Phi, one of the participants, contributed in excess of 11,000 aluminum cans at this first G.A.P. meeting and, as usual, the ladies of Phi Kappa Zeta made an outstanding showing for themselves with glass, aluminum and paper.

Assisting in the G.A.P. area and keeping the logistics squared away were a number of helping hands from the Child Interest Club, Alpha Phi Beta, and Tau Rho Beta.

According to Landin, if this pace keeps up and the quantity of contributions keep the same level of this last G.A.P. day, Fall 1977 will be a banner semester in the G.A.P. contributions.

Mike Reed, commissioner of financial aids, expressed some disappointment in the number of organizations participating in the G.A.P. contributions. Reed said, "After all, it's good for the ecology, and it benefits other students," so if your organization is not participating, make some organized effort to get out and do your part.

As of October 15, the following clubs had contributed to G.A.P.:

The clubs are competing for trophies to be presented at the fall awards banquet.

Vets Club seeks members

All Veteran's who are interested in joining the Veteran's Club should contact Sam Patti in the Office of Student Activities.

Any organizations or individuals requesting information about G.A.P. contributions or service hours, please contact Mike Reed or Jorge Landin in the Student Activities Office.

Child Interest serving

Halloween is a night for hobgoblins, witches, and all kinds of spellcasting. No one and no place is immune from the take over of the land by the demons and devils of the underworld and the Cerritos College campus was no exception.

The Child Interest Club of Cerritos College took part in treating Cerritos College parents to a Halloween party. The party was held Halloween night at 7 p.m. at the Child Care Center. The children were taken trick or treating through HS 101, the switchboard facilities and the admissions office.

Charmaine Smith, assistant vice president and public relations chairman for the club, stated that the event was a successful learning experience and thanked all those who participated.

Smith also announced that the club will conduct a bake sale on Nov. 1 from 11 a.m. to 12 noon near the cafeteria.

Also, a box will be placed in the Student Activities Office or mail room for anyone interested in donating toys for Christmas to needy families. If there are any questions, contact any member of the Child Interest Club.

Cerritos at Disneyland

Under the direction of Don Collins, ASCC president, a special Disneyland rate has been arranged for Cerritos College students. The date set is Nov. 13, from 4 p.m. to 12 midnight. Collins indicated that the special discount price of $5.75 is good for all rides except the shooting gallery and parking. This rate makes this an outstanding entertainment buy.

This is open to Cerritos College students, employees and relatives. Tickets are on sale in the campus Box Office located in the Student Lounge from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. daily, except Saturday and Sunday.

Ski Club jumps off to flying start

In the interest of any current (or prospective) skiers, "the Cerritos College Ski Club has numerous activities coming up to prepare everybody for a long, hopefully and lively ski season." Club officers will be outside the Student Center today and tomorrow from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. to "sign you up." They will also be selling tickets to some of Ski Club's coming events which, if anything like past activities, should prove to be successful.

For all you "hidden talents," there will be a skating party on Friday Nov. 4 from 9 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. at Iceland Skating Rink. Ski Club has rented the entire rink so it should be an outrageously fun-filled night. All tickets for this event are pre-sale and the $2 cost includes skating, skate rental, and pre-skating party. Ski Club friends and all Cerritos College students are welcome. These tickets are available at the table in front of the Student Center.

Also available are tickets to a new ski movie "Blazing Skis" by Dick Barrymore. If you are into skiing in any way, there is something in the film for you. The movie will be shown Monday, Nov. 14 at 7 and 9:15 p.m., and the cost is only $2 pre-sale or $2.50 at the door (if there are any tickets left). For more information, call Guy Hammond at 925-3455 or Terry Kay at 928-1693.

Neal's Sporting Goods in Cerritos Mall is sponsoring a "wine and cheese" party Friday, Nov. 11 at 9 p.m. This party is for members only, so be sure and sign up before then. There will be skiing movies, reps from different manufacturers to answer questions, discounts on certain merchandise in the store and, of course, wine and cheese.

Another members-only party will be on Friday, Nov. 18, just five days away from the first ski trip, which is Thanksgiving Vacation (November 23-27). This year the club will be going to Snowbird and Alta (Utah) together with other colleges like Cypress, Northridge, Pierce, UCLA, etc. Thirty-two members have already signed up, so anyone interested had better hurry! Full payment is due by this Friday, Nov. 4.

If you can't make this trip, there will be others, like Jackson Hole, Wyoming at Christmas, Colorado at Easter, and some weekend trips. With these and all the other various activities being planned, Ski Club is a sure guarantee of good times and good friends.

Child Care gets party

Circle K Pledges will be putting on a Halloween Party for the Child Care Center here on campus. The party is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 31 at 7 p.m. Circle K will also be going to help Cal Poly Pomona Circle K with their Haunted House which is free to local disabled children. Come and help entertain these youngsters. See the Office of Student Activities for further information.

It has been suggested that Circle K plan a skateboard-athon to Santa Barbara and back for Christmas vacation. Anyone interested should see Circle K members in the Student Activities Office.

ICC visits hospital

Marilyn Merritt, commissioner of inter-club-council, has scheduled a trip to the Long Beach Veteran's Hospital on Thursday, Nov. 10 in order to visit with veterans in honor of Veteran's Day. Present plans are to distribute candy and fruit to patients at the hospital. Merritt suggests that any interested individuals, clubs, and organizations, should leave a note in her mail box located in the Student Activities Office and she will contact you with further details.

Last dance is a disco

The last after game dance of the season will be held on Saturday, Nov. 12 immediately after the game, in the Student Center.

By popular demand, a Disco Dance featuring the sounds of Bill Dittman, who will emcee the show, has been arranged by Sandy Phillips, commissioner of student activities.

Admission is free to all Cerritos students with current I.D. Phi Kappa Zeta will host the dance by selling cokes and taking care of coats, purses, etc.

Beta Theta Gamma learns assertiveness from meet speaker

Members of Beta Theta Gamma learned "How to be Assertive Without Feeling Guilty," when Jo Cavedon, Cerritos College assertiveness instructor, lectured at a recent meeting.

Cavedon gave pointers on how to handle situations in an assertive way, how guilt is used by manipulative people, outlined the advantages of being assertive as opposed to aggressive and discussed the effect a "new assertive you" might have on family and friends.

Cavedon encouraged the sorority members and visitors to share situations in which they had difficulty being assertive, and then demonstrated specific techniques and methods to use in those situations.

During the short business meeting, Beta Theta Gamma's purpose and goals were restated; Donna Welke, Cerritos athletic trainer aide, was elected vice-president; and the decision to feature speakers at the Tuesday meetings was made.

Harriet Paine, home economics instructor, will head the list of speakers.

Paine will demonstrate how to "march to a different drumstick" this Thanksgiving by preparing her Do-Ahead Thanksgiving Dinner.

Members of the college and community are invited to attend Tuesday, November 1 from 11 a.m. to 12 noon. The meeting will be held in the Band Room.

For information contact "The Center For Today's Women" at Ext. 530.

Installation time creates excitement

It's installation time. With no more than a brief respite from the hustle and bustle of rushing, pledging, and Homecoming, a number of organizations are gearing up for their single biggest event of the year, installation.

Installation is a ceremonial event where new members are officially installed, actives are awarded for their contributions and participation throughout the semester and new officers officially take their new posts.

This is not usually done in your dull town meeting format. Cerritos installations are traditionally gala events taking on a festive atmosphere with all the glamour and style of the academy awards presentation followed by plenty of cheer and dancing.

On the night of any installation, a strange metamorphosis takes place. Comfortable, casual sweatshirts and denims are shed and the elegance of an after-six tuxedo is donned.

A nervous energy prevails as participating individuals hustle from hair appointments to florists to pick up beautiful corsages. Those last minute checks making sure everything is perfect before the fabulous evening begins.

Brady to speak

Larry Brady, instructor in art at Cerritos College will address members of the German Club, Edelweiss, and other interested students on Tuesday, Nov. 8 at 11 a.m. in LA 20.

Professor Brady will demonstrate various types of calligraphic design, show some slides to illustrate calligraphy as practiced in England and Germany today by such well-known calligraphers as Donald Jackson, Iuean Reese, Ann Camp, Hermann Zapf, Rudolf Koch, Friedrich Neugebauer. Calligraphy plays an important role in the field of advertising art today and has a place as well in the field of design.

Everyone is welcome to attend this stimulating meeting. Bring a friend!

HSCC plans Fete

The Handicapped Students of Cerritos College (HSCC) met on Tuesday, Oct. 24, with vice-president Lisa Garrett presiding in place of president Lolanda Franklin. Secretary Pat Sisemont read the minutes of their previous meeting.

Future activities were discussed, including fund raising projects. In the past, bake sales have been advantageous, so more bake sales were planned for day and night students. HSCC is very busy planning a "Mini-Xmas Party" for either a geriatric center or children's hospital. Locations of either are still being considered.

The HSCC would like to give special thanks to all who made their homecoming float possible. It was the first time a float has been completely designed and built by the HSCC.

HSCC gives "an extra special thanks to their faculty advisor Robert Hughlett for his inspiration and never ending patience, Gary Carrel who instrumented on the design of Linus and John Jennings who weathered the heat and cold."

Tau Rho Beta stays active

Tau Rho Beta had an active homecoming week. They chose a big brother, John Barnhart, to help them survive float building week and to escort their queen candidate, Kathy Bures, during the homecoming game.

Their float was entitled "The Tooth Fairy." At the homecoming luncheon, they were awarded the ASCC Trophy for the best design. Debbie Mallock rode on the float playing the part of "The Tooth Fairy."

Tau Rho Beta thanks all their club members who participated in making the float a winner.
