Easter: heathen roots and Passover

By SARAH HILL
TM Features Editor

To Christians it is a holiday that commemorates the resurrection of Christ.

To children it is a day of gifts, of colored eggs and chocolate rabbits.

And to some Easter Sunday is a day of love and hope.

Easter was named for the ancient heathen feast of Eostur — so called because the Spring sun had its new birth in the east.

Many customs such as Easter eggs, Easter fires, Easter games, and Easter laughter derived from this festival which all seem to have heathen origin.

Though many countries have different names for Easter, they all came from the name of the Hebrew Passover pesach. This is the story of the angel of destruction who passed over the houses of the children of Israel and painted their doors with the blood of the lamb.

Falls on Sunday after full moon

Although there is no mention in the New Testament about the festival of Easter, it is the oldest of Christian festivals.

Easter day falls on the first Sunday after the full moon occurring after March 21.

If the full moon occurs on a Sunday, then Easter day will be the following Sunday.

This year Easter Sunday falls on April 22.

It is not only the resurrection of Christ that makes Easter the festive holiday it is. There's also that bunny

Task Force to present guidelines

By GERARD MOYA
TM Campus Editor

Twelve community colleges may begin their 84 fall semester piloting a six point student matriculation plan proposed by the Chancellor of California Community Colleges appointed Task Force.

The Colleges Board of Governors on April 19-20 will review the plan and if adopted by the Board and State Legislature, 12 community colleges will take part in a three year study on matriculation.

The Chancellor appointed Task

Force was set up in April 83, with three missions in mind: To deliberate and make recommendations concerning courses granted credit for the baccalaureate and associate degrees, to define the role of community colleges in providing remediation and to develop model processes that assist students in making curricular choices that are appropriate to their needs and abilities.

Cerritos College Vice President of Instructional Services, Olive Scott is part of the Task Force presenting the proposed plan.

Senators present case vs. Tadesse tomorrow

By TERRY SPENCER
TM Staff Writer

A hearing before the ASCC Supreme Court to decide the status of President Fitsum Tadesse's ASCC membership will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. amid charges by Tadesse that those accusing him of wrong doing are acting out of personal vengeance and that the trial before the Court is unconstitutional.

If the Court finds Tadesse guilty, it can revoke his ASCC membership or it can censure him.

Revocation of Tadesse's card would force his resignation, since one must be a member of the ASCC to be president.

Tadesse also charges that members of the Court have already decided that they are going to rule against him.

The session in BK 112 will hear charges by ASCC Senators Brian Holland, Don Trapp, and Brent Cope that Tadesse misused ASCC funds — three different times totalling $90 from his office petty cash, and $100 from the controversial Sacramento trip travel fund.

Supreme Court Chief Justice Kevin Tyne ruled that the meeting will be open to the public, overturning a decision last week that would have kept the meeting closed.

The Court's reasoning for the original decision, according to Tyne, was that they wanted to avoid outbursts from the crowd that could interfere with the conduct of the hearing.

"I want to make it clear that anybody in the audience who yells or claps at anytime during the hearing will be asked to leave."

Tadesse's charge that the Court's hearing of the case to be unconstitutional stems from the complaintants choice of filing charges under the student grievance code rather than going through formal impeachment hearings before the student senate.

Under the grievance procedure, charges are brought directly before the Court, which will decide the case by a majority vote.

If charges had been filed in the Senate, a two-thirds vote of the legislature (24 of 36 if all of the Senate was present) would have been required to accuse Tadesse before the case would have tried before the Supreme Court.

"I think that it is a violation of the constitution," Tadesse said.

"The ASCC by-laws state that they have to file their charges with the senate first before they can try me in the Court."

Tadesse added that he felt the reason the complainants went around the Senate is that they wouldn't have enough votes in the Senate to impeach him.

"They know it wouldn't go through if they went through the Senate, that's why they went straight to the Court."

Tadesse, senate hearing tomorrow

"The only reason that Holland even got involved was that I fired him as Party Whip."

Holland disagrees with Tadesse on the constitutionality of their tactics and the motivation behind them.

"The by-laws are clear that as students we have the right to use the grievance procedure."

"Our reasoning is that it is a much more expedient route, and it's the best way to avoid the mudslinging that would go on in the Senate," Holland said.

Holland said that he feels that the Court will give a fairer hearing than the Senate would.

"There are people in the Senate who would vote either for or against Fitsum based on his personality, and not on the evidence."

"I want to make it clear that I didn't get involved in this because of any personal vendetta," Holland said, "because personally I still like the guy."

"But it would have been hypocritical of me not to file the charges against Fitsum because there are other people in the ASCC who if I had this evidence against, I would have filed the charges gladly."

"The question is where do we draw the line?"

Tadesse's charges of conflict of interest center around unconfirmed reports that Chief Justice Tyne was present at a secret meeting of several ASCC government officials that discussed "ways of removing Tadesse from office."

"I hope that the trial will be fair," Tadesse said, "but I've heard from some people that the Court has already decided how they are going to rule."

"I was at no such meeting," Tyne said.

"We all realize the importance of this case, and we are going to be as fair as possible."

Tyne pointed out that he along with the other Supreme Court Justices were all appointed by Tadesse, and were selected for their integrity.

Other members of the Court include Jeff Ortiz, Julia Smissen, Andy Salazar, Bruce Horny, and Clare Martinet.

Smissen is the sister of Senator Richard Smissen who is a long-time Tadesse political foe, having lost the presidential election to Tadesse last spring.

There have been four counts of misuse of ASCC funds filed against Tadesse. The money involved totals $190.

The complainants charge that in each case money was taken from the ASCC's petty cash account and was enrollment, post-enrollment monitoring of student progress and institutional evaluation and research.

All six components will help achieve the purpose of matriculation, which is to assist students in their educational objectives within the framework of the colleges' missions.

Matriculation does this by matching students' abilities, needs and aspirations with the colleges' several functions and programs.

Even though some community colleges are concerned that matriculation may keep some students from entering college, the plan states that it is not a mechanism for screening out students, but rather one to assure that access to the institution is followed by maximum opportunity for success in its programs.

President of Cerritos College, Dr. Wilford Michael said, "I feel very

The program will begin June 23 and will continue through August 19, 1984.

The company will present two musicals. The first is Damn Yankees, which will be performed at the La Mirada Civic Theater on July 13-28. The second production is Sweet Charity which will be shown in the Cerritos College Burnight Center Theatre on August 3-18.

Each participant is required to enroll in Theater 80, which is an eight unit class, for college credit. Students will work from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Time will be allowed for lunch and dinner. The only exception to this schedule will be a Sunday evening rehearsal before opening night.

If you have been a resident of California for at least one year prior to June 23, 1984, there will be no tuition. Students are expected to find their own summer accommodations.

In order to be considered for SCCT, you must fill out an application.

The deadline is Friday, April 20. You can obtain an application by writing to Nancy J. Payne, Production Coordinator: SCCT, 11110 E. Alondra Blvd., Norwalk, CA 90650, or by calling 924-2100.

Men, women swimmers sink in finale

MARK CHILD
TM Staff Writer

Falcon swimmers tried to end their season on a positive note last Friday in the last meet of the season against Orange Coast, however, an overpowering Pirate team had other ideas as they sank the Birds' ship 153-62 overall.

The womens team fared better than the mens team did, but not by much, as they lost by a rather large 34 point margin. Despite the loss, however, there were some impressive times turned in by the ladies.

Tammy Ferris clinched a first place in the 50 meter butterfly with a fast time of 28.08.

Linda White locked down a victory in the 100 meter freestyle with a time of 56.36.

Ferris also collected a win in the 100 meter individual medley with a time of 1:07.23. These were the only victories on the womens side.

The mens team got paddled 76-19. There were only two victories on the mens side: Bill Houck wrapped up first place in the 100 meter freestyle with a time of 51.06, and Rich Estrada looked up the top spot in the 200 meter breast stroke with the winning time of 2:19.49.

"Orange Coast is probably the toughest team in our conference. They're real good swimmers and they will most likely take the conference title," said team member Don Trapp.

The women finished the season with a 2-5 conference record, while the men remained winless through the season.

Birds have four-game streak snapped by Coast

By MIKE HEINRICH

TM Sports Editor

For six innings Saturday, Falcon hurler Dean Yamashita kept the Orange Coast bats silent until a three-run shot rose the Pirates from their grave to overcome a 2-0 Cerritos lead as the Birds fell 7-5.

The Falcons were on a four-game win streak before the Coast game, as they finished off sixth place Mt. SAC with two victories, then they came back to sweep two games from Cypress 10-7 and 3-1.

Yesterday the Falcons entertained Orange Coast (score unavailable at press time) again and will travel to Santa Ana for a big showdown with the front-runners at 2:30.

In Saturday's game with Coast, the Birds jumped out to a quick 2-0 lead in the first with an RBI single by third baseman Craig Worthington and a sacrifice fly from designated hitter Tony Trevino.

Cerritos' star pitcher thus far, Dean Yamashita was sailing along until the bottom of the seventh when he served up a three-run home run to Fred Tuttle with two outs.

He gave up two more runs in the eighth before giving way to Tony Rico and Dion Beck.

John Agudez pitched the eighth and gave what turned out to be the winning runs.

Down 7-2 going into the top of the ninth, the Falcons rallied for three runs and had the tying runs on, but fell short 7-5.

Worthington, who has been the Birds' most productive hitter all year with a .403 batting average, went three for five with two RBIs.

He also leads the team with 26 RBIs.

Orange Coast boosted their record to 12-4 and are one game out of first.

At Cypress last Thursday, the locals outslugged the Chargers 10-7.

Catcher Chad Squires has the hitting star as he smashed a three-run home run in the seventh that proved to be the game-winning hit.

Pitcher Chris Garrett had another bad game, giving up five runs on only two hits and four walks in two innings of work.

Agudez picked up his first league victory with 3 1/3 innings of three-hit pitching, and Rico chalked up his first save of the season.

Ewart leads the team with four home runs overall.

In the Cypress game played earlier in the week, the Falcons fought off the chargers in a tight struggle that was highlighted by right fielder Al Stankiewicz' game-winning home run in the eighth.

Pitcher Beck won his first league game with a seven-hit performance that brought his record to 1-3.

His ERA dropped to 3.51 and the team's overall ERA is an impressive 3.21.

The overall batting average for the team is .298.

Men, women track crush Cypress

By MELANIE GRAY

TM Staff Writer

Both the men and women track teams scored well against Cypress but failed to overcome Mt. SAC in the final dual meet of the season, Friday.

The men easily defeated the Cypress Chargers (95-30) — a team that offered little challenge and lost soundly to the Mt. SAC Mounties (113-33) — a team that Cerritos in turn offered little in the way of competition.

With an overall record of 5-2, the Lady Birds swept Cypress (101-3).

The loss to Mt. SAC was 82-42.

Cerritos' Falcons are third in the South Coast Conference. Next they will travel to the Bakersfield Relays on April 14 for an all-day invitational meet.

Mt. SAC took first place, and Fullerton second in the SCC.

For the women, achieving their personal highs for the year were Stephanie Baker with a first place discus throw of 117'7" and Tami Ortiz with a time of 12.1 in the 100 meters.

Baker also took first place in the shotput with 42'5 1/2."

Playing the team's "super woman" was Vicki Garcia, as she competed in the 800 meters, the 1500 meters, 1600 relay and the 3000 meters in which she placed first.

Winning first again in the long jump was Sheila Frye with 18'8"-3 1/4.

In the 200 meters, Ortiz was first with 25.6 and Denise Gonzales was third.

"I am pleased with the women's overall performance this season," said Coach Gene Martin.

The only victories for the men were Matt Fitzgerald in the high jump, David Martin in the shot put, Antonio Brown in the discus and Keith McCoy, who ran a rather interestingly paced 400 with a blazing finish of 48.7.

Also finishing well was Robert Grego with second place in the hurdles and Dwayne Nash with 2nds in the 100 and 200 meters.

Fitzgerald was the only overall winner for the Birds against the Chargers and the Mounties.

Coaches feel there is no question that the team can come back and show very well in the upcoming relay meets and in particular in the Conference Finals.

Efforts to improve doubles production paid off when they took two out of three matches.

The team traveled to Santa Ana on Tuesday (scores not available at press time) and they are scheduled to travel to Fullerton tomorrow.

League champions Mt. SAC defeated the Birds 8-1.

Lady cagers prep to face tough Orange Coast tonight

By MARK TODD

TM Assoc. Campus Editor

The women's basketball team is currently carrying a 5-5 record with the cagers next game to be played against a very physical Orange Coast team tonight.

After squeaking by Mt. SAC Wednesday night with a 60-59 victory, the Lady Birds faltered against undefeated Fullerton Friday, 74-47.

Commenting on the Fullerton game, Coach Karen Peterson said, "We tried to get an up-tempo game with a lot of fast breaks, but there were just too many turnovers."

With only four games left in the conference, this is how the teams currently stand:

Fullerton	10-0
Orange Coast	7-3
Golden West	7-3
Cerritos	5-5
Cypress	5-5
Santa Ana	4-6
Mt. SAC	1-9
Compton	1-9

On April 7, the Cerritos women will be competing in the San Diego Mesa Tournament which involves four different conferences. They play their tourney opener against Santa Monica at 4 p.m.

Women's softball upsets GW

By JOHN VAN GASTON

TM Assoc. Sports Editor

The women's softball team — at Cypress today — looked as if they were going to break out of their scoring slump at Orange Coast last week.

Second baseman Rachel Pantoja opened the game with a bunt single, stole second, her 16th of the season, advanced to third on Patti Swenson's sacrifice, and scored on Grace DeLeon's single.

But that was all of the offense they could muster as Coast came from behind to win 3-1.

With the score tied at one, and two out in the bottom of the sixth, Coast scored the winning runs with a bases loaded bloop single.

The Falcons then came back from a 3-0 deficit against Golden West and won 4-3.

Cerritos got on the scoreboard in the sixth, on Julie Poole's single, Pantoja's double and an RBI single by DeLeon.

The women's tennis team clobbered Cypress 8-1 last Tuesday, and remained in fifth with a 6-3 defeat of the "Mounties" of Mt. SAC Thursday.

Yesterday, the Falcons played Santa Ana, but the score was not available at press time. The women netters will host Fullerton tomorrow.

Winners at the Cypress match were Josephine Estrada, 6-3/6-2, Gladys Chavez, 6-2/6-1, Yolanda Walltower, 6-1/6-1, Melba Hubbard, 6-3/6-1, Debbie Tristan, 6-2/6-1, and JoAnn Shimamura, 6-2/6-2.

This is the last week of team play. The Falcons will compete at the Ojai Tournament April 26-29.

Petty politics

ASCC President Fitsum Tadesse will face charges tomorrow regarding accountability of funds from the President's petty cash accounts.

According to those senators pressing charges (Holland/Trapp/Cope), "adequate verification" (receipts) for said funds was not made by Tadesse.

If the plaintiffs can prove beyond a reasonable doubt that funds were deliberately mishandled by Tadesse, then the public expects their government to police its own ranks.

It is not Tadesse's guilt or innocence that is the big issue here — that is yet to be decided by the Court.

The issue is, however, whether or not the trial should be held at all. Questions raised last week (TM editorial Danger signals up) remain unanswered. To wit: Are by-laws of the ASCC stating that two-thirds majority of the senate be required before being brought to the Judiciary be upheld, or should the by-laws pertaining to students filing against other students directly before the Court be used?

We feel that the Court should first rule upon which circumstances applies, and in that light, submit that dangerous implications concerning federal constitutionality hang in the balance if impeachment procedures are not left, first, to the ASCC legislature.

It must be wondered, too, about ulterior motives.

The potential closed hearing of the case was narrowly averted only after Talon Marks gave historical precedence, citing the United States Supreme Court and ASCC Judicial Codes, of the unconstitutionality of holding trials in private.

It seems the ASCC government, through its Court, has mismanaged this affair from the start.

Should the trial go through, and should Tadesse be found guilty, then it is possible — according to ASCC law — to remove his ASCC membership.

Such a move would force Tadesse's resignation from the presidency — since that office requires that the person filling it be an ASCC member.

The highest member of the Court has allowed the possibility of a conflict of interest to interfere with his proper duties as a judge by associating himself with members of the president's opposition.

All of which could be mistaken for a political power move by some ambitious young politician. And, if certain hints of secretive sessions between the members of the Court and of the senate, are substantiated, would — in federal terms — be called treason.

At least conspiracy.

Enough controversy has been generated by this farce that we call for cool heads to prevail and put an end to what may be a miscarriage of justice through the use of a legal loophole.

Justice will be better served if it is administered through its proper channels and with proper impartiality.

Frankly, we cannot see where such a furor should be made over something that — which at worst — is sloppy accounting and careless handling of funds assigned to him for legitimate use.

It seems that someone is bent on prosecuting/persecuting the ASCC President, no matter what.

There are alternatives: formal admonition, wrist slapping, restitution if deemed proper or — if impartially determined as warranted — impeachment proceedings.

Indeed, an abuse of petty cash is not petty. But political histrionics may be.

Friday 13th — the superstition is a state of mind over date

By CLAUDIA PIRAS

TM Assoc. Features Editor

There is nothing good or bad but thinking makes it so, stated Shakespeare once.

I believe the same applies to superstitions.

For instance, this Friday, which happens to fall on the 13th, will make a lot of people nervous if not scared to function normally simply because they've been led to believe that this day is supposed to entail bad luck.

One explanation for this fear of the number 13, or triskaidekaphobia, may be tied in with the Final Supper where there were 13 present.

Also, the fee of 13 pence was paid for each execution of the hangman charged at Tyburn.

Likewise, the number 13 was a death sign for the Romans.

As for Fridays, the best known superstition is the tale that Eve tempted Adam with the apple on Friday, and because he partook of the forbidden fruit, they both forfeited their right to remain in the Garden of Eden.

Tradition also has it that the Flood in the Bible, and the confusion in the tower of Babel also took place on Friday.

Moreover, in Europe, the custom of executing criminals on Fridays dates back to the Middle Ages.

All this combined, makes Friday, especially on the 13th, a doubly dreaded day for the easily swayed.

In the same manner, there are those that believe this day to be a lucky one.

For example, ignoring possible bad luck, the Seal of the President of the United States incorporates eight groups of thirteen stars to represent the original 13 states.

Furthermore, the American Dollar has many symbolic uses of the number 13: An incomplete pyramid consisting of 13 steps, 13 leaves and berries on an olive branch on the right talon of the American bald eagle, and 13 arrows in the left talon of the same eagle.

In addition, there are 13 lunar months in the year, which Egyptians have always considered to be extremely lucky.

But, to me personally, Friday the 13th is specially lucky.

How can it not be?

I was born on Friday the 13th.

STOLEN GOLF COURSE — Monday morning an unclaimed golf course was found outside the Student Center, complete with "T" areas, ball washer and flag. The flag, eventually taken away following complaints, had to be moved after a practicing "hacker" hit one into an open classroom door — no injuries were reported, only UFG's (unclaimed flying golfballs).

'Grease' cast paints entertaining picture

By MELISSA HERNANDEZ
TM Staff Writer

"With all due respect," as Cocky would say, Cerritos Theatre Department's presentation of The Roar of the Greasepaint, The Smell of the Crowd was an excellent musical/comedy and had some outstanding performances during its six night stand in the Burnside Theatre.

Greasepaint is usually presented as an allegory of the class struggle in Great Britain, but under the direction of Janet Sanderson (who also choreographed the play) the presentation took on new life as she moved the setting to 1940's Hollywood.

The theme, however, remains the same; the aggravating and almost total control the "important people" of the world have over the "nobodies." The plot also exposes the injustice that takes place when a mere mortal has the power to manipulate and destroy (at least try) another who is grasping to gain even a small place in life.

Sir, impressively portrayed by Paul Teschke, was a self-righteous opinionated film director who believed there are two types of people "haves" and "have nots," and he of course, is a "have."

Sir is the domineering force in the life of Cocky, an aspiring, unemployed "have not" actor played by Joe Galletta.

The all girl chorus serves as constant liaison between the main characters, but were also entertainers in their own right under the management of The Kid, excellently portrayed by Sherry Hodges.

Despite the serious theme and simplicity of the subject matter, Greasepaint was a bit too abstract to be completely enjoyable. Nevertheless, the casting, music and performances were all very well done as they turned out the best they could with what they had to work with.

The cast's chemistry worked very well as did the directing and choreography.

Teschke's voice (Sir) was pleasantly gruff and he was perfect for the part of Sir.

Galletta (Cocky), correctly casted as Cocky, has a beautiful voice that was exposed in "This Dream" as he sang his songs with great vivacity.

The Kid, played by Hodges, was indeed a bright spot in the play. She brought life to an otherwise dull character with excellent blocking, lots of energy and a quality singing voice.

The chorus was extremely colorful, well costumed (as was everyone) and full of alacrity and personality. They sang in almost every number and provided entertainment with dancing and interactions with other characters.

The orchestra showed they were worthy of the assignment as they never once overpowered any performers.

Easter festivities brings joy, hope that brings all sorts of colorful eggs and chocolate bunnies.

The egg is said to be the symbol of the fertility of Spring, and the custom of exchanging and coloring eggs goes back so far no one actually knows where it originated.

The egg is considered by some as a pagan symbol, and to others a representation of the Resurrection.

The egg is the symbol of a new beginning, just as Spring is the beginning of a new season that brings love.

The great Easter truth is not that we are to live newly after death — that is not the great thing — but that we are to be new here and now by the power of the resurrection, not so much that we are to live forever as that we are to, and may, live nobly now because we are to live forever.
