

ASCC elections kick off today

65 candidates bid for 36 seats on Fall Senate; polls close tomorrow night

By MICHAEL J. BARNES
TM Managing Editor

Elections for Associated Students of Cerritos College Senate opens today.

A total of 65 candidates are vying for 36 senate seats, 12 of which, are reserved for freshmen candidates.

The ASCC Constitution guarantees one-third of the Senate seats reserved to the freshmen with the highest number of votes, according to Associate Dean of Student Activities Richard Robinson.

Polls opened this morning at 8:30. Balloting will be open today and tomorrow 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., and again from 6-9 p.m.

The polls will be located in four areas: Student Center, the Elbow Room (located in the Liberal Arts building), Health Education, and Physical Education Department (during the day only).

Petitions were made available to students on Monday, Sept. 19. Deadline for turning in petitions was 4 p.m. Friday, Sept. 23.

Candidates must have at least a 2.0 GPA, and must be enrolled in ten or more units to be eligible to run. GPA is based on the student's last semester grade.

A senator not meeting these requirements will not be able to hold office, even if he did win by popular vote.

Freshman candidates must have their high school transcripts to prove their GPA.

"The polls will close promptly at 9 p.m. Wednesday night," said Chief Justice of the ASCC Supreme Court Kevin Tyne, referring to the incident of the alleged early closing of the Health Education polls during the presidential election last year.

Presidential candidate Dan

Steenhoek made allegations that the polling booths in front of the Health Education building closed five minutes before the nine o'clock deadline. A tribunal made up of Tyne, Commissioner of Publicity Willie Naboa, Commissioner of Budget and Finance and ASCC Treasurer Tom Tanner and student-at-large Judy Buchmiller ruled insufficient evidence and declared that the booths closed at the appropriate time.

According to Tyne, no matter if there is a line waiting to vote, the polls will be closed on time.

In future elections, the people running the stands will synchronize their watches to the clock inside the Student Activities Office, said Associate Dean of Student Activities Richard Robinson.

"A member of the Supreme Court will drive around and pick up the ballots at nine," stated Tyne. This should prevent further misunderstanding in the running of the polls.

The number of senate seats depend upon the population of students in Cerritos. According to the Constitution, there is one seat per 500 students, over the minimum of 4000 full-time students. There are a minimum of 30 seats.

Approximately 7000 full-time students attend Cerritos.

"Out of the 20,000 plus students that are enrolled, only 1000 students vote, because they are full-time, or are involved with the school," said Robinson.

He also added that a majority of the students are night extension students, do not know a majority of the candidates, or are just not interested in the elections.

"I think people have realized that we do a pretty good job to get people out to vote," said Robinson.

First Fall Senate meeting will be held Wednesday, Oct. 5.

Enrollment low, due to confusion

By B. MICHEL MILBANK
TM News Editor

Uncertainty was the watchword during the Fall 1983 registration period, Sept. 1-12.

Doubts by the administration over recent class cut-backs and the effect on enrollment.

Questions by the students concerning the new fees.

Confusion by those trying to register during the open registration period and finding many class times, and often entire course listings, closed.

And confusion by everyone about the status of tuition—that everyone had resigned themselves to last semester and that still remained in legislative limbo.

And finally, uncertainty about the budget: was there going to be enough money to open Cerritos College's doors on Sept. 12?

When the dust had settled, the official count for the Fall '83 semester—according to Lynn Hanks, Director of Admissions and Records—stood at 20,064. The number was a decrease of 3,909 students from the Fall 1982 semester.

Hanks, in a pre-registration interview had predicted an enrollment decline, estimating that some 21,000 would enroll. She also predicted that the average enrollment time would be about 45 minutes.

For most students with registration-by-appointment, the average processing time held true, however, the processing system bogged down during open registration—many students complaining of waiting for as much as six to seven hours.

Initially, registration appeared to rival or even exceed last year's enrollment, and by the second day of open registration the tally stood at 17,975—an increase of 16 students from the previous year.

However, on Wednesday, Sept. 14, the bottom began to drop out of the registration "basket" with only 822 students registering, compared to last year's tally of 1696 for the day. The tally continued to drop, eventually hitting a low of 66 students (Sept. 19).

Hanks, in pointing out the difference between registration by appointment and open registration, said, "Cerritos College has a strong commitment to the continuing student; they have invested their time here and we support that with our registration policy."

"Much of the problem—and this is my opinion—was caused by the confusion about fees and tuition. And we had to cancel 140 classes."

When asked about the poor turn-

Homecoming in air for November; theme ideas, queen apps now due

By MYRA MOORE
TM Staff Writer

Homecoming is a big thing at Cerritos College. Preparations are now under way for the celebration during the first week of November.

The crowning event will be the Queen announcement at halftime during the Homecoming football game on Nov. 5 against San Diego Mesa College.

The Box Lunch Raffle and the Queen Candidate Talent Show, are highlights of the week-long celebration. Queen candidate finalists choose a male "stand-in" to be interviewed before the student assembly.

Each lovely "Queen" is appropriately attired for the occasion, trying to look as much like the candidate as possible.

And some of them look pretty good!

At halftime, the Homecoming Parade features floats built by campus clubs and organizations with winners displayed.

Cynthia Bejar, 1983 Homecoming Queen, will relinquish her crown to the new 1984 Queen during the evening festivities.

The nomination forms for homecoming theme are due Wednesday, Sept. 28 at 4 p.m.

Homecoming Queen application are due in the Office of Student Activities by Friday, Sept. 30 at 4 p.m.

Each organization will be given $200 to build a float. The float description/application is due in the Office of Student Activities by Friday, October 14 at 4 p.m.

Parking permits necessary; hang where they are seen

By MICHAEL J. BARNES
TM Managing Editor

Cerritos College has converted to hanging parking permits for the 1983-84 school year, and are set at the cost of $8 for students taking six units or less, and $12 for seven and above.

Parking citations are $18.

According to Dean of Community Services Nello DiCorpo, "We surveyed other colleges to see how they worked out their parking fees." He added that many other community colleges and universities are using the rear view mirror hanging permits.

"The hanging permits enable the students to transfer the permit from one car to another," said DiCorpo. In such cases where the student needs to use another car, he will be able to do so.

Though it illegal to have anything hang from the rear view mirror while driving, officials point out that the parking permit is designed for convenient removal. DiCorpo commented that the student doesn't have to hang the permit. He could place the permit on the dashboard in full view so

Campus Security can see it.

Academically, a full-time student is considered full-time if he is carrying 12 or more units. But to purchase a parking permit, a student is considered full-time if you are carrying more than six units. DiCorpo stated the fees are set on the basis of Financial Aid status. In order to receive Financial Aid, a student must take six or more units.

"We may go to one fee no matter how many units the student is taking," stated DiCorpo. He added, the Student Senate asked Community Services to look into this proposal.

Automobilist are not the only ones who must purchase permits. Motorcycles have also been issued permits since the Student Senate originally voted to have this done.

Several other changes have also been instituted this year. Lot C-7 has been altered to accommodate more cars. Originally, C-7 had parking for 65 cars. Presently, 119 spaces have been put into the lot.

Seventy-five percent of C-7 is reserved for compact cars. "The com-act car lot is on a trial basis," stated DiCorpo.

Also, new visitor parking stalls have been added to Lot C-2, and signs have been placed to direct visitors to these lots.

The Campus Security Office has also received changes. The office has been placed in the new Parking Information Building located next to the Burnight Center.

College fares better than most—for now

By MARGARET CANTELON
TM Editor in Chief

Tight planning and prompt budget cuts have made Cerritos College one of the few California Community Colleges not currently in dire financial straits.

At least for now.

Indecision by the California State Legislature regarding the bill that will permit or not permit tuition has put as many as 12 of the 70 community college districts in the position of possibly having to file bankruptcy by Spring, 1984.

Dr. Wilford Michael, President of Cerritos College, said, "At this point we have no idea what the final vote will be in regards to the tuition decision. What started out as a basic philosophical disagreement based on the former free education system of California, has now turned into a partisan conflict with the voting records reflecting party stands."

"Our real problem," he said, "is that if the decision is not made by Oct. 2, it will not go into effect until January of 1985, unless there is an emergency measure attached."

Impact of compacts rehashed by Faculty

By JOE GIBBS
TM Campus Editor

What is a compact car? That was the question brought up by the Faculty Senate during their first meeting on Sept. 13.

Senator Tony Rodriguez began the complaints stating that Lot C-7, located next to electronics, is 75% parking for compact cars.

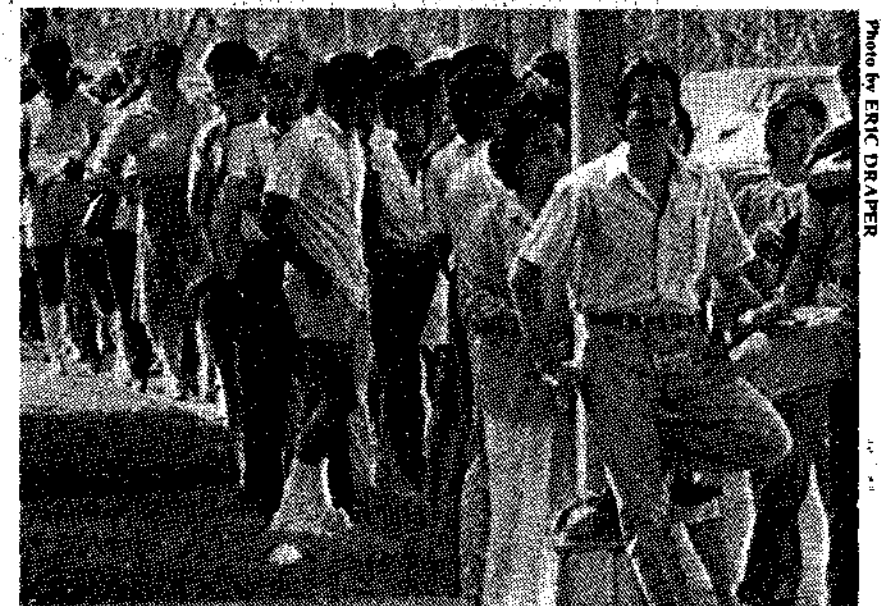

"If you don't drive a compact car, and you park there you will be issued a citation," said Rodriguez.

Senator Jerry Shopfner requested Parking Committee Chairman Richard McGrath to find the definition of the word "compact car." Chairman Sherill Moses is also interested in defining the word and stated he will bring it up at the next Board Meeting.

Rodriguez went on to add, "The way they painted the parking lines is ridiculous. It would be better if they redesign it a little better so you can park diagonally which would make it easier for the faculty members to drive in and back out." He also made a statement that cars which are not compact should not receive a citation. But since they do, so should the compact cars be cited for parking in the bigger spaces.

Faculty have also complained that Campus Security should not issue citations to instructors who failed to park in their designated areas due to the extensive walking from one class to the next.

The teachers feel that teaching in different buildings during the day and evening, and to get across campus with a lot of teaching materials is too difficult to walk from their designated parking zones.

McGrath proposed that temporary passes should be given out to those teachers to allow them to park in other lots closer to their classrooms.

Moses, prior to the Senate meeting, had a discussion with the Dean of Academic Affairs, Adolf Johnson, who asked the Parking Committee and the Administrative Council that before they make any new parking rules that the Senate get a chance to discuss the issue and make recommendations toward parking.

Apparently there was no open registration this semester until after the start of instruction. According to Moses there were two main problems:

First, Administrators miscalculated and found out that 25% of the students who did receive appointment cards did not register during the period of time they were supposed to.

Secondly, during enrollment, registered student were making class changes. This was very time consuming, and was holding up registering students for more than six hours.

By 2 p.m. of the first day of school, only a fraction of students in line had actually registered. Moses pointed out that these problems can be overlooked by overbooking on appointments for the next semester.

Senator Connie Mantz made a motion that there be at least two days open registration, before the first day of instruction, which would solve any further registration problem. This motion was seconded and passed unanimously.

According to Moses, this year there are only four types of fees that may be refundable. These are Parking, Materials/Insurance, Non-resident Tuition, and ASCC. He added all students must have receipts in order to be eligible for refunds.

Also this year's drop procedures will differ from last year's. It is the student's responsibility to complete the proper procedure for withdrawal from one or more classes. If this is done during the first two weeks of classes, there will be no fee involved. At the start of the third week of classes, a drop fee of 10 dollars per class, a maximum of 20 dollars will be charged and if any students refuse to pay these fees they will be unable to register the following semester.

Moses introduced new senators Mary Clarke, from SEM Division; Jeanne Johnson, Technology; and Tony Rodriguez supporting the Liberal Arts Division. Other senate items included selecting three representatives to serve as an Administrative Screening Committee, and choosing two representatives to serve on a parking committee. Moses tallied out the votes for the Administrative Screening Committee, and they are: Ed Bloomfield, Linda Stevens, and Tom Jackson.

Senators Robert Allen and Richard McGrath were voted in to serve as the Faculty Parking Committee. Supporting other duties were Tom Jackson for both Bookstore and Food Committee. And again Richard McGrath for Grievance Committee.

Fall tally

out during the last three days of open registration. Hanks replied, "I really don't know what happened... there was still a lot of general education and PE classes available."

Still hanging over the heads of the administration and students is Gov. Deukmejian's and the legislature's deadlock concerning tuition fees. The final outcome could mean a $30 (part-time) to $50 (full-time) difference.

The precedent for retro-active collection of tuition has already been tested in the state colleges, and the possibility exists - if Gov. Deukmejian maintains his pro-fee stance despite the State legislature's pressure that such an action could occur at the community college level.

Hanks, in response to predicting any registration trend for the Spring 1984 semester, summed up the dilemma: "If it isn't decided soon (tuition), we'll still be out on a limb, we'll be in the same (financial) boat for spring. It would be interesting to predict for spring (enrollment total), but..."

But, we are faced with uncertainty, living as we are in uncertain financial times.

DROP CHANGES

Instructor initiated drops have been discontinued this semester. Only students and administrators may initiate class withdrawals. Administrators may drop students in case of extenuating circumstances.

Students are also reminded that a drop fee has now gone into effect. $10 for one class, $20 for two or more classes.

Habits?

By B. MICHEL MILBANK

Habits are hard to break. Especially habits that are instilled through rigorous and brutal reinforcement.

After five or six hundred push-ups, even the slowest of the slow catch on - you don't walk with your hands in your pockets. "Not in this man's Army, Troop - understand?"

Yes, sergeant. Another six hundred push-ups and you learn not to stand with your hands in your Air Force gloves (pockets), either.

You don't talk when you're supposed to be listening. You keep all your buttons buttoned.

You don't forget to shave...

Well, usually you don't - but on those rare occasions where a lapse occurs, well... have you ever tried to shave with a razor that you could U-turn an eighteen-wheeler on?

Like I said, it doesn't take long.

And may the good Lord help you if you forgot to put on your headgear outdoors or take it off indoors. To this day the sound of raindrops falling on an overturned bucket sends shivers down my spine - it was dark in that bucket.

More Elbow Room

By TERRY SPENCER

TM Staff Writer

The Elbow Room South, located next to the Community Services Center at the Southwest corner of the campus, is now open.

The snack facility completed at a total cost of $88,000 in ASCC funds, was constructed to serve the Health Science and Cosmetology students after extensive lobbying in last fall's Associated Students of Cerritos College.

The Elbow Room South, which is open Monday through Friday, 6:30 a.m. to 9 p.m., has the same menu of sandwiches, drinks, and snacks as the original Elbow Room located in the Liberal Arts building.

Faculty manager, Mark Lopez, said, "It has been a convenience to the students of the Health Science building, who now don't have to walk all of the way across campus, especially in the rain."

This was confirmed by Cosmetology student, Terry Bonney "You don't have to walk so far."

Lopez also added that health food will be added shortly.

...Tuition

"Our budget," said Michael, "is balanced for 1983-84, but that was somewhat based on borrowing from next year's budget."

"For example, the summer school session has been put into the next fiscal year, funds were moved from the computer reserve, and money was used from one-time situations such as the bookstore bond."

If no extra money comes through in state funding, Michael stated, "Next year we will have major cuts - and then we're into some real problems."

A concern of the administration is that further class cuts will possibly lower the number of students at the college. Cerritos would then fall below its current state funding allocation.

Since Cerritos is already one of the five lowest state funded districts in the state, it cannot afford to lose any of this financing.

Dr. Michael said, "There is some hope, however, that compromising would be done by both sides and some sort of a decision will be made."

Clubs rally students at Booth Day

TM Photos by ERIC DRAPER

By MYRA MOORE
TM Staff Writer

Colorful, fun...informative — Club Booth Days are these and more.

Each club on the Cerritos campus put their best foot forward to gather in new members. Wednesday and Thursday of last week.

The booths were decorated with club banners, pictures of their activities, trophies and manned by friendly members.

The purpose of Club Booth Days is to acquaint interested students in campus clubs and organizations.

Active clubs/organizations sat up booths in the Quad and all students with at least a 2.0 GPA were encouraged to stop by and pick up information pamphlets prepared by the various groups.

Delta Phi Omega sorority member Stacey Ellig stated that there was a good turnout on Wednesday, but that Thursday's would be heavier because of the "dead hour" — 11 a.m. to 12 p.m.

More students would be able to look over each booth to choose the club that best suited their interests.

Ellig also said, "Each club will get about the same 150 sign-ups (people). Half that number and that's how many actually pledge."

Many find out it's not what they thought it was — not really for them.

"One-third of that number actually make it," Ellig said.

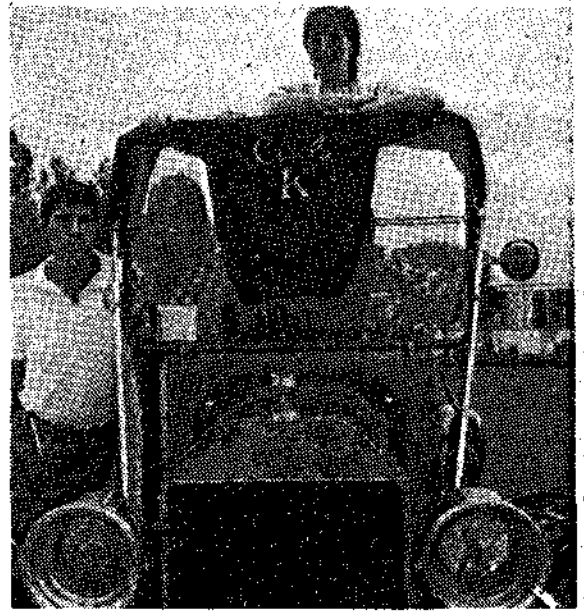

After two weeks of social activities, hosted by the clubs/organizations and open to prospective members, pledge week begins on Saturday, October 8.

Also, the Student Organizational Dinner on Thursday, September 29, in the Student Center will give students a further chance to meet members of the clubs/organizations.

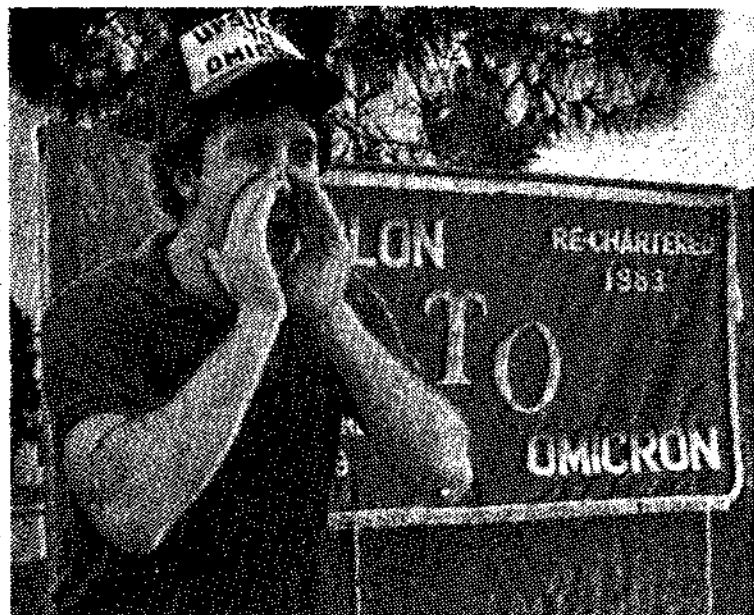

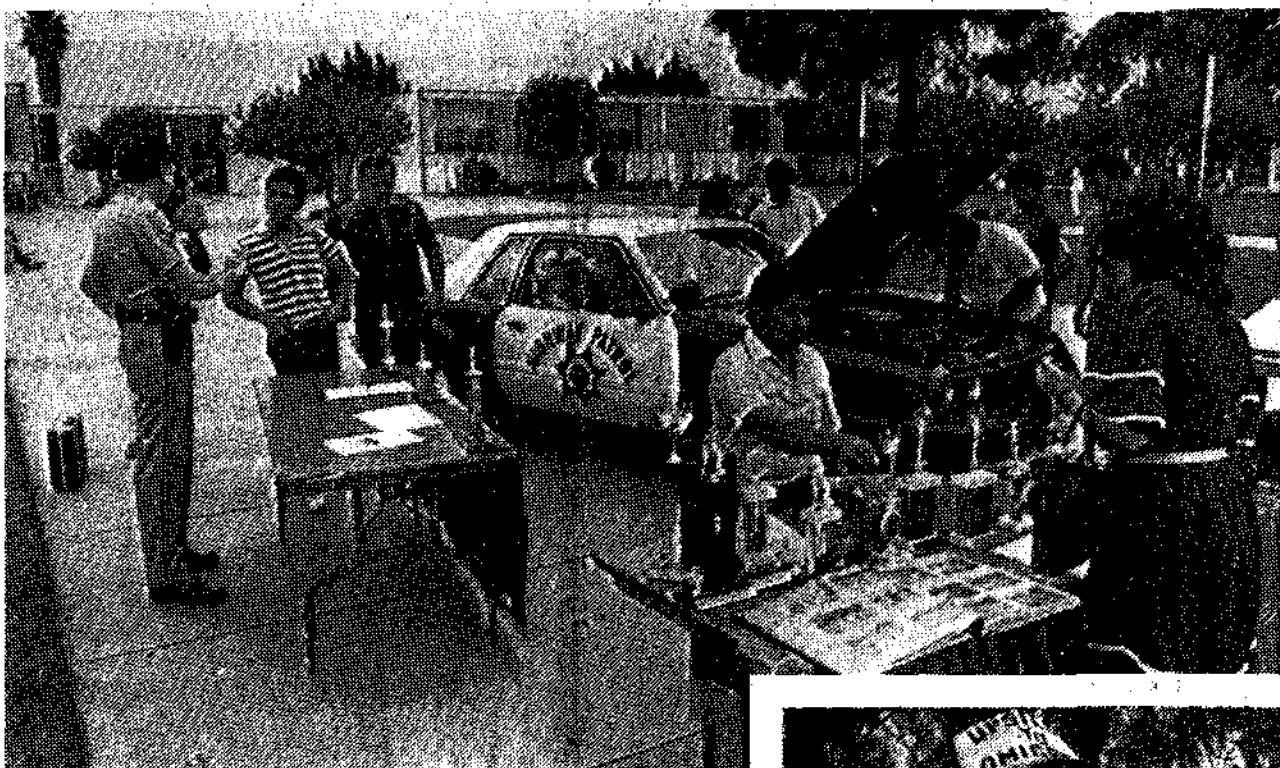

The dinner is free to all interested students who present a student Id card (sticker attached).

Angel X. KROQ, will DJ the event.

If you are thinking of forming a new club, organization, fraternity or sorority, stop by the Office of Student Activities and see Phil Houseman, Coordinator of Student Activities, or Debbie Zess and find out all you need to know.

LEADERSHIP: Student motivation

COMMUNICATIONS POINT -- Dr. Carlfred Broderick, head of the Human Relations Department at USC, was one of the several experts who spoke at the recent Fall Leadership Conference where members of the Associated Students attended workshops and seminars on leadership qualities.

Leadership means different things to different people.

To some 50 Cerritos College students, leadership meant cutting their summer vacations short to attend the Fall '83 Leadership Conference. The conference, held at Casa Sirena Marina Motel in Oxnard, has a twenty year history at the college, according to Associate Dean of Student Affairs Richard Robinson.

Originally, Robinson added, the conference was designed to provide mini-workshops for faculty and students to discuss campus events and relationships. Since 1963, it has evolved into large scale seminars where the principles of good leadership and the fundamentals of successful life management were discussed.

Among the topics presented to the students were seminars on meta communications, time management and self-motivation, and the qualities of leadership.

In addition to various Cerritos speakers, two off campus experts — Dr. C. E. Rohm, Jr., a professor of business management at Cal State, San Bernardino, and Carlfred B. Broderick, Dean of the Human Relations, USC, — spoke to the students about time management with self-motivation and meta messages (the messages behind messages), respectively.

Campus leaders — including such personages as Fitsum Tadesse, Associated Students of Cerritos College president; Margaret Cantelon, Talon Marks Editor in Chief, and Gwendolyn Bayes, ICC Commissioner, to name a few — attended workshops that were entertaining, motivational, and educational.

It was not all work, however, there was time scheduled for a variety of recreational activities — competition in golfing and tennis, team volleyball, and even an evening of bowling and rollerskating.

The next Leadership Conference is scheduled during the fall-spring semester break and will be held at Vacation Village in San Diego. The conference will be open to some 90 students, Robinson announced.

Nursing will combine courses

By BARBARA EKNOIAN
TM Features Editor

"Something new is going on at Health Occupations," says Sue Hazelton, Director of the Nursing Program. "In the past, we had a separate vocational nursing program and a separate Associate Degree Nursing Program. Now, we are proposing the two nursing programs combine to offer a new career mobility curriculum."

The Nursing Program at Cerritos offers opportunities to qualified applicants to prepare for nursing careers through specific knowledge and skills. The deadline for application to the Spring Program is October 15.

Students desiring a career either as a Licensed Vocational Nurse or Registered Nurse after taking the necessary prerequisites would enter the first year curriculum together.

The major difference between the two programs is in the second year where the LVN takes one semester of LVN courses and the RN students take two semesters of RN courses.

After the first year of the curriculum is completed, the student desiring to be an LVN would complete one semester of vocational nursing and be eligible to write the State Board Exam.

The student desiring to be a registered nurse would complete the two semester Registered Nursing Option and be eligible to take the State Board Exam.

Prerequisites for all students who want to enter the new nursing curriculum which will begin in the Spring of '84 include Nursing 59, and Anatomy and Physiology 40.

According to Hazelton, another change in the nursing program is "beginning in the Spring of '84. We will admit beginning students each semester."

Students who desire to enter the second year RN Option must have completed Chemistry 10 and Microbiology 3, prior to entering the second year of the nursing curriculum.

Another option offered by the Nursing Department is the LVN to ADN Mobility Program. After taking the necessary prerequisites, students who are already practicing licensed vocational nurses can be given advanced placement and enter into the RN Option second year of the curriculum.

In addition, the Nursing Department also offers the LVN 30 Unit Option, which is mandated by the State of California and allows for a currently practicing LVN to complete 30 units of college work. This LVN would be eligible to write the State Board Exam to become an RN without having completed all general educational requirements for an ADN.

"The second Tuesday of every month at 11 a.m. in HS 105 we hold information sessions to answer questions and provide information for any students interested in applying," says Hazelton.

Lecture classes for the nursing program are held on campus and lab classes are held at various hospitals in the surrounding area.

Students who would like to have information can obtain information sheets and applications in the Health Science Office 106.

Deadline for the Fall program is March 15.

TRANSFER CONFERENCE

The Community College Transfer Conference will take place at Cal Poly Pomona on Wednesday, October 5th, 1983 from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m.

This conference has been set up especially for Community College students to provide information that will aid in transferring to the college or university of your choice. There will be workshops done by representatives from the three college systems (U.C. and Cal State systems plus private universities) along with workshops dealing with Financial Aid, Impacted Programs and Student Support Services.

Cerritos College will provide the transportation for as many students as possible and lunch will also be provided at the conference.

If you are interested in attending, please call Tom Chavez or Sylvia Gardner in E.O.P.S. Office at Ext. 445 or 569.

AWARDS RESEARCH

The National Endowment for the Humanities has announced a new grants program for individuals under 21 to carry out their own non-credit humanities research projects during the summer of 1984. The Younger Scholars Program will award up to 100 grants nationally for outstanding research and writing projects in such fields as history philosophy and the study of literature. These projects will be carried out during the summer of 1984. The application deadline is November 15, 1983.

Award recipients will be expected to work full-time for nine weeks during the summer, researching and writing a humanities paper under the close supervision of a humanities scholar.

A booklet of guidelines and application instructions should be available for photocopying at the campus student placement office, or write to: Younger Scholars Guidelines, Room 426, The National Endowment for the Humanities, Washington, D.C. 20506.

Parking, security improved

Traffic has been considerably smoother this semester compared to past ones. DiCorpo credits this to the students and the Campus Security.

"The students are more aware of where to park," commented DiCorpo. "And adequate personnel are in the lots to direct the students on where to park."

He also stated the change in the traffic flow is due to the relocation of staff parking stalls, and the changes in the student parking lots.

Three auto thefts have been reported thus far, and one attempted theft. According to Campus Security Assistant Joe Knapp, each of the stolen cars has been returned.

Falcons win nail-biter; host Pasadena Cerritos 1-1 after pulling out victory in last two minutes

By BRYAN MADRID
TM Sports Editor

The Birds were behind 13-17 when they got the ball back on their own 29 yard line with only 2:51 remaining in the game. Nobody in the stands expected them to drive the length of the field to score the winning touchdown.

On the field there were 94 believers, the entire football team. It was one of the big football comebacks in recent Cerritos football.

If it were to have been a staged play, the script couldn't have been written any better. In fact, the Broadway show probably would have been a failure because of the "Cinderella" plot.

But the shoe certainly fit the foot of the Falcon as the Birds pulled out a stunning victory over the Vikings of Long Beach Saturday evening with a final score of 20-17.

Cerritos will again play host when Pasadena comes to visit this Saturday night at 7:30.

After winning the last three meetings with LBCC, it looked as if Cerritos was about to lose their first contest to the Vikings in over three seasons of play.

Few gamblers would have taken the bet.

The Birds were having their problems in the second half.

Despite having three fumbled snaps from the center to the quarterback, Cerritos just couldn't move the ball on the Viking defense.

"Their going to be one of the better defenses we face all year long," said Head Coach Frank Mazzotta, and added, "As for the fumbled snaps, that was our (the coaches) fault — not the team's. We switched centers and we should have known better, because they were having problems working together in last week's practices."

When the Falcons got the ball back on their own 29 yard line with under three minutes remaining, quarterback Steve Steenwyk became the leader of the triumphant march down field.

He controlled his two-minute offense with the expertise of a nine year NFL veteran.

He wasted no time cutting and slicing his way through the defensive secondary with calm, steadiness and patience of a surgeon.

His blocking instantly became superb. He could stand in the pocket and look for his receivers without having to dance and shuffle, as he had to do so many times throughout the evening.

Suddenly the ball was on the Viking 48 yard line. But things didn't look good for the Birds — it was fourth down and 10 yards to go for a first down and they were trailing by four.

It was a do or die, win or lose situation with only 32 ticks of the clock remaining.

Steenwyk took the snap cleanly from the center, dropped back with good protection and hit freshman wide receiver Stan Caraway for a 19 yard gain. More importantly, a Bird first down that kept the drive alive.

On the very next play, Steenwyk threw the game-winning 29 yard pass to another freshman wide receiver Wendell Peoples.

Peoples fought valiantly with a Long Beach defensive back, and showing tremendous concentration, cradled the ball in his arms and tumbled into the end zone, leaving only 11 seconds of regulation time.

"It feels good to be on this side. I've been on the other side of these kinds of games, but never on the winner's," said a horse-voiced and overjoyed Mazzotta.

"The guys won the game. All we can do is call the plays. It's all up to them after that. They're the ones responsible for the execution of the plays — it's all their victory," Mazzotta said.

Saturday night's win will move Cerritos up in the Jaycee football rankings.

Entering the game, Cerritos was No. 16 in the Southland JC Poll and LBCC was rated as the No. 5 team.

The Birds will be taking on third ranked, Pasadena City College this Saturday evening.

Cerritos suffered a tough loss last week when they traveled to El Camino to open their '83 season.

The 13-10 loss was a hard one to swallow because all the defense yielded the El Camino offense was two field goals.

The deciding points of the game came when Steenwyk had a pass picked off and returned 50 yards for a touchdown.

The defense, led by sophomore noseguard, Guy Teafatiller, had 10 quarterback sacks, gave up no touchdowns, and allowed the El Camino offense to gain only a total of 227 yards.

In that game, Barone set a new Cerritos College field goal record when he booted a 51 yarder, which at the time gave the Birds a 3-0 lead in the first quarter.

Barone this year is three-for-three on field goal attempts, the others being 48 and 18 yards.

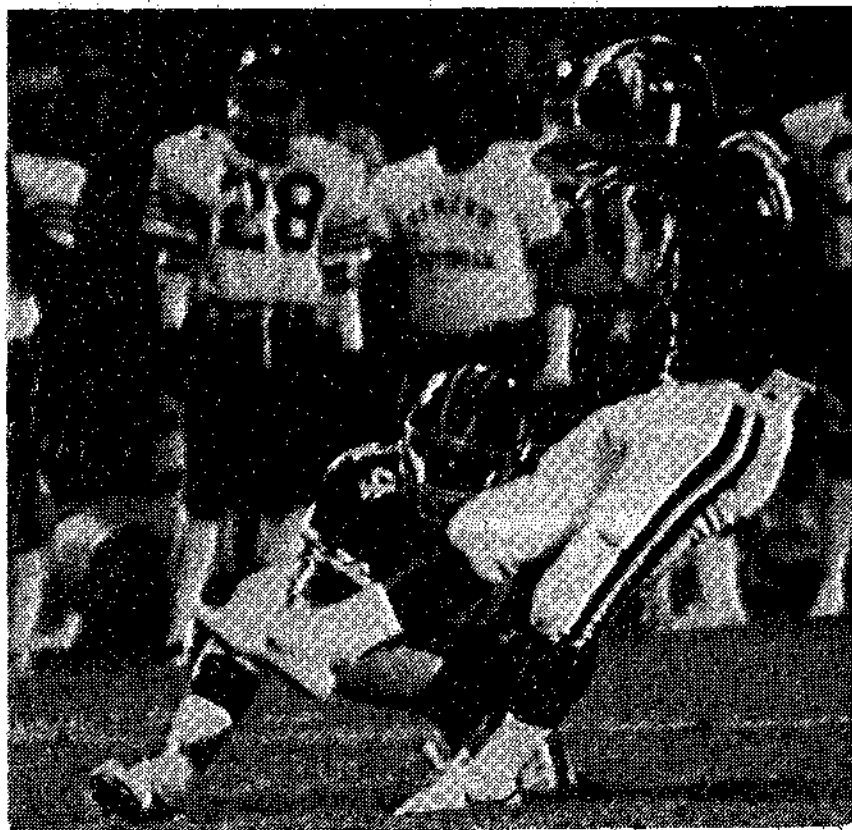

Jackie Johnson became the first Cerritos runner in the last 23 games to pass the 100 yard mark when he rushed for 126 yards on 30 carries against El Camino.

Kick-off time for Saturday night's game against the Lancers of Pasadena is 7:30.

WINNING FORM —

Middle — Cerritos' noseguard, Guy Teafatiller, shows emotion after sacking El Camino Q.B. late in 1st quarter. Warrior Q.B. left under his own power, but didn't return until the second half.

Right — Falcon defense appeared to block El Camino pass, but a Warrior (not yet in picture) made the garbage reception. El Camino went on to kick one of two field goals as they beat the Birds 13-10.

CASIO NOW OFFERS STUDENT AID.

We at Casio figured you could use a little help this semester (not to mention a few extra bucks). So we're offering a $5 rebate on our FX-98 and FX-910 solar powered scientific calculators, which regularly sell for $29.95.

The FX-910 is a wallet sized unit with 48 scientific functions. The FX-98 is credit card size with 42 scientific functions.

Both feature an 8 digit mantissa with 2 digit exponent.

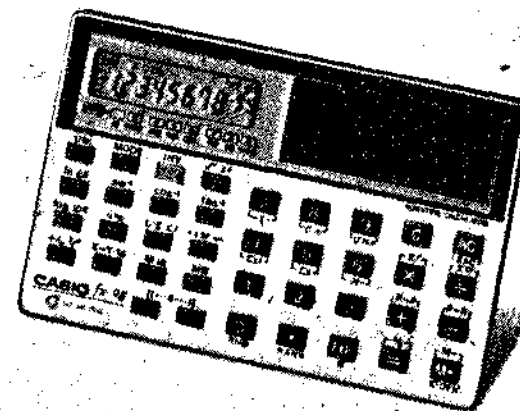

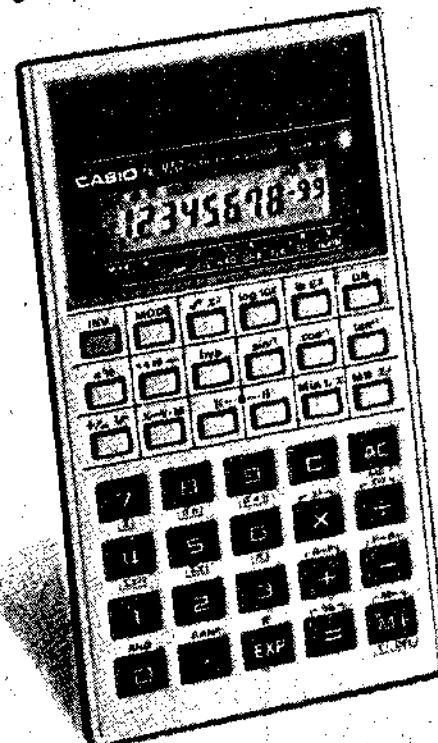

Both feature fractional calculations (a function not found on many comparable units). So now you can work with fractions without having to convert to decimals.

And since both units incorporate a powerful solar cell that can operate in very low light, they'll not only save you time and energy, they'll save you from ever having to buy batteries.

The FX-98 and FX-910 also come with a free application manual, "Strategies for Scientific Calculating," which will save you work by showing you shortcuts for using your calculator.

So if you think you could use a little student aid this semester, take advantage of our $5 rebate offer. And bring a Casio to class.

What price $ $ $

While state executives and legislators are playing their foul-ridden game of "political football" with the Community Colleges' finances, students are sitting on the sidelines waiting for the final play that will determine their educational game plan.

The name of said political game will simply have to be compromise.

Both sides must give in.

Period.

Possibilities seem to be...

...Time limits on fees.

...Ceilings on fees.

...Regular fee reviews.

...A matching of fees with additional state funds.

All are viable possibilities that should be seriously considered by both legislators and governor — all of whom will be depending upon these same student spectators for future votes.

No compromise by both sides only antagonizes a growing, restless constituency.

Until the Brown and Deukmejian camps stop butting heads and start making education a real priority rather than a partisan squabble, the educational — and political — system will continue to decline.

If the game continues as it is, everybody will lose.

Trash and score

Here on the Cerritos College campus, we have an unusual phenomenon: college students who have never heard of Trash Can Slam Dunk.

Tom Berry, Assistant Director of Grounds Maintenance, states that the highest degree of unfamiliarity of this old but little known sport is the Elbow Room just outside the Liberal Arts Building, the new Elbow Room South in the Technology area and the Student Center Coffee Shop at the rear of the fountain.

For the uninitiated, evident ignorance of Trash Can Slam Dunk is trash scattered on the ground, hither and yon with no apparent pattern, rhyme or reason.

To properly partake in this ancient sport, players must crumble their trash into a ball, approach the chosen receptacle head on the more advanced, or pros, may wish to vary their approach somewhat using either the right or left hand (players preference) toss the "trash ball" gently, but accurately into the hole at Top of the receptacle, arching the arm and wrist in line with the receptacle.

If the "trash ball" misses the mark, the player is required to retrieve the ball and try again until the target is hit.

More advanced players can make the "ball" roll around the rim of the receptacle several times, finally "dunking" the "ball." But this takes practice, accuracy and precision timing.

If there is more than one player, simply take turns. The more popular method being counter-clockwise rotation.

To score for Trash Can Slam Dunk each player is awarded one point for each goal, subtracting two points for each miss.

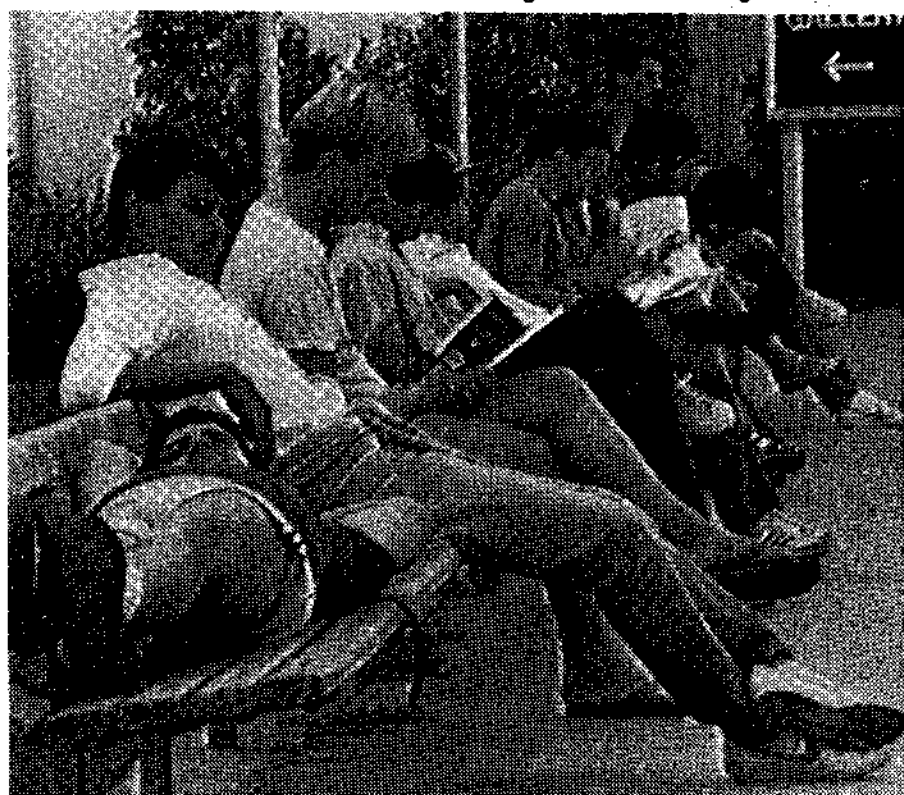

Taking away all points if the trash is merely dropped on the ground and walked away from.

From then on this play is to be known as "Tacky."

This slovenly player must also be drummed out of the corps of Trash Can Slam Dunk-ers for an indefinite period of time; never to be eligible for the Dunk-ers Hall of Fame.

A NURSE'S NURSE

Ikemoto's glad she switched

By BARBARA EKNOIAN
TM Feature Editor

Most little girls dream of some day growing up and becoming a nurse, but for Mildred Ikemoto, Associate Dean of Health Occupations, the nursing profession was chosen for her.

In 1947, when the Pacific Islands were still considered a territory, Ikemoto was selected by the President of church-related Baylor College in Texas.

Ikemoto smiles and claims her career in nursing was chosen for her because of her background in science. Baylor was switching from a diploma nursing program to a baccalaureate program.

Ikemoto explained, "They asked me if I would enter this pilot program at Baylor, and I loved it (nursing) ever since."

"Philosophically, I feel the Lord provided this. That is my basic belief, because there is no way I could have planned my life in that direction," said Ikemoto.

Reminiscing about her experience at Baylor, Ikemoto said the war was just over then and "there were still some remnants of discrimination against Japanese in Texas, but it was not insurmountable."

In 1952, she completed her studies and met her husband Henry, who is California-born Japanese. "We were married in Dallas. My husband was in the service during the Korean War, and from Baylor I went straight to Fort Bragg, North Carolina."

was in Army nursing at Fort Bragg as a civilian nurse.

Before coming to Cerritos, Ikemoto had risen from staff nurse to supervisor and then into nursing administration.

In 1967, she arrived at Cerritos on an emergency basis due to a sudden vacancy in the Nursing Department. She recalls, "They promised me things would be easier after five years. It wasn't necessarily easier," she said, "but it was more challenging each year." She has served in a variety of positions, ranging from the assistant to the Division Chairperson, to Director of the Psychological Technician Program and Director of the Associate Degree Nursing Program.

Ikemoto resides in Downey with her husband Henry, who is a Deputy Supervisor in L.A. Probation, and they have four children and three grandchildren. Ikemoto says, "Having a supportive husband really permitted me to pursue a career combined with child raising. We kind of did it together. I don't think you can do it without somebody encouraging you, and having kids that are flexible."

Her hobbies include music, making Japanese dolls, and biographical reading. She just joined the choir at her church and she states, "It is therapeutic. I do enjoy singing."

Concerning the type of person she feels chooses nursing, Ikemoto said it usually takes a "caring and nurturing person."

At the time Mrs. Ikemoto went into nursing, it was paying $99 a month.

"Nursing was not a high-paying job as it is today. Monetary gains have become more equivalent to entry level professional pay," she said. "You would have to want to work with people."

"There is a closeness between the students and ourselves," said Ikemoto, referring to graduating nursing students who have taken classes for two years.

"If you see them grow in the program, and then you hear that they passed State Board Exams, that is the culminating reward."

As Associate Dean of Health Occupations, Ikemoto says she misses the student contact. She said, "I see as one of my responsibilities that I should facilitate the instructors' needs so that they in turn would be more effective in the classroom."

Several top first run movies, sponsored by the Associated Students of Cerritos College, are being shown as a part of the Fall Film Series in the Bur-night Center. This program provides students with informative, entertaining and cultural events.

These films are offered at the Bur-night Theater free to all registered ASCC card holders (with Fall stickers attached) and one guest.

"Sophie's Choice," the first film chosen to lead off the block-busters, was shown September 21.

Academy Award Nominee "Tootsie," starring Dustin Hoffman dressed in drag to win a leading role as a soap star queen, provides fun and laughter for everyone. (Wed. October 5, 7 and 9:15 p.m.)

"48 Hours," best known as a one man comedy show, won fame and fortune for Eddie Murphy as a street wise ghetto con man attempting to do justice in the span of 48 hours to pay vengeance on his old gang members (Wed. October 19, 7 and 9 p.m.).

For action-packed adventure and dare-devil stunts "Octopussy" delivers the goods with Roger Moore in a reprising role as the legendary James Bond (Wed. November 2, 7 and 9:15 p.m.).

In a crash course to find out man's true existence in approximately two short hours is "The Meaning of Life" which traces life from birth to death in a hilarious delivery starring the Monty Python troupe (Tues. November 8, 7 and 9 p.m.).

"Gandhi," Academy Award winner for Best Picture, introduces Ben Kingsley in a challenging role of a passive Indian leader who changed the history of the world (Tues. December 13, 6 and 9:15 p.m.).

Lining up for life's majors

How well did this registration go with you?

Most of those who had appointment cards were pleased. I had a card for 11 a.m. and by 11:30 was out, parking sticker and schedule in hand.

It was amazing as I sped through all those necessary lines and procedures, my warmest appreciation went out to good old Cerritos.

But before we get too yea schoolish, let's talk Sept. 12 — that first day of school... and the day all non-appointment card students were asked to show up.

"Chaotic" may be the wrong word to use in describing the scene — pandemonium might be better.

Lines — I am not sure if one would call these masses of people a line. There were small countries of people waiting to register.

Waiting can sometimes be bearable. This wait, however, was not.

Conditions were slightly less than comfortable. At 8 a.m. it was already getting warm. By noon, temperatures were soaring around 100 degrees.

Many sweat stricken students came all so close to chucking it all. They stuck it out only because completing the tedious procedure was now a quest.

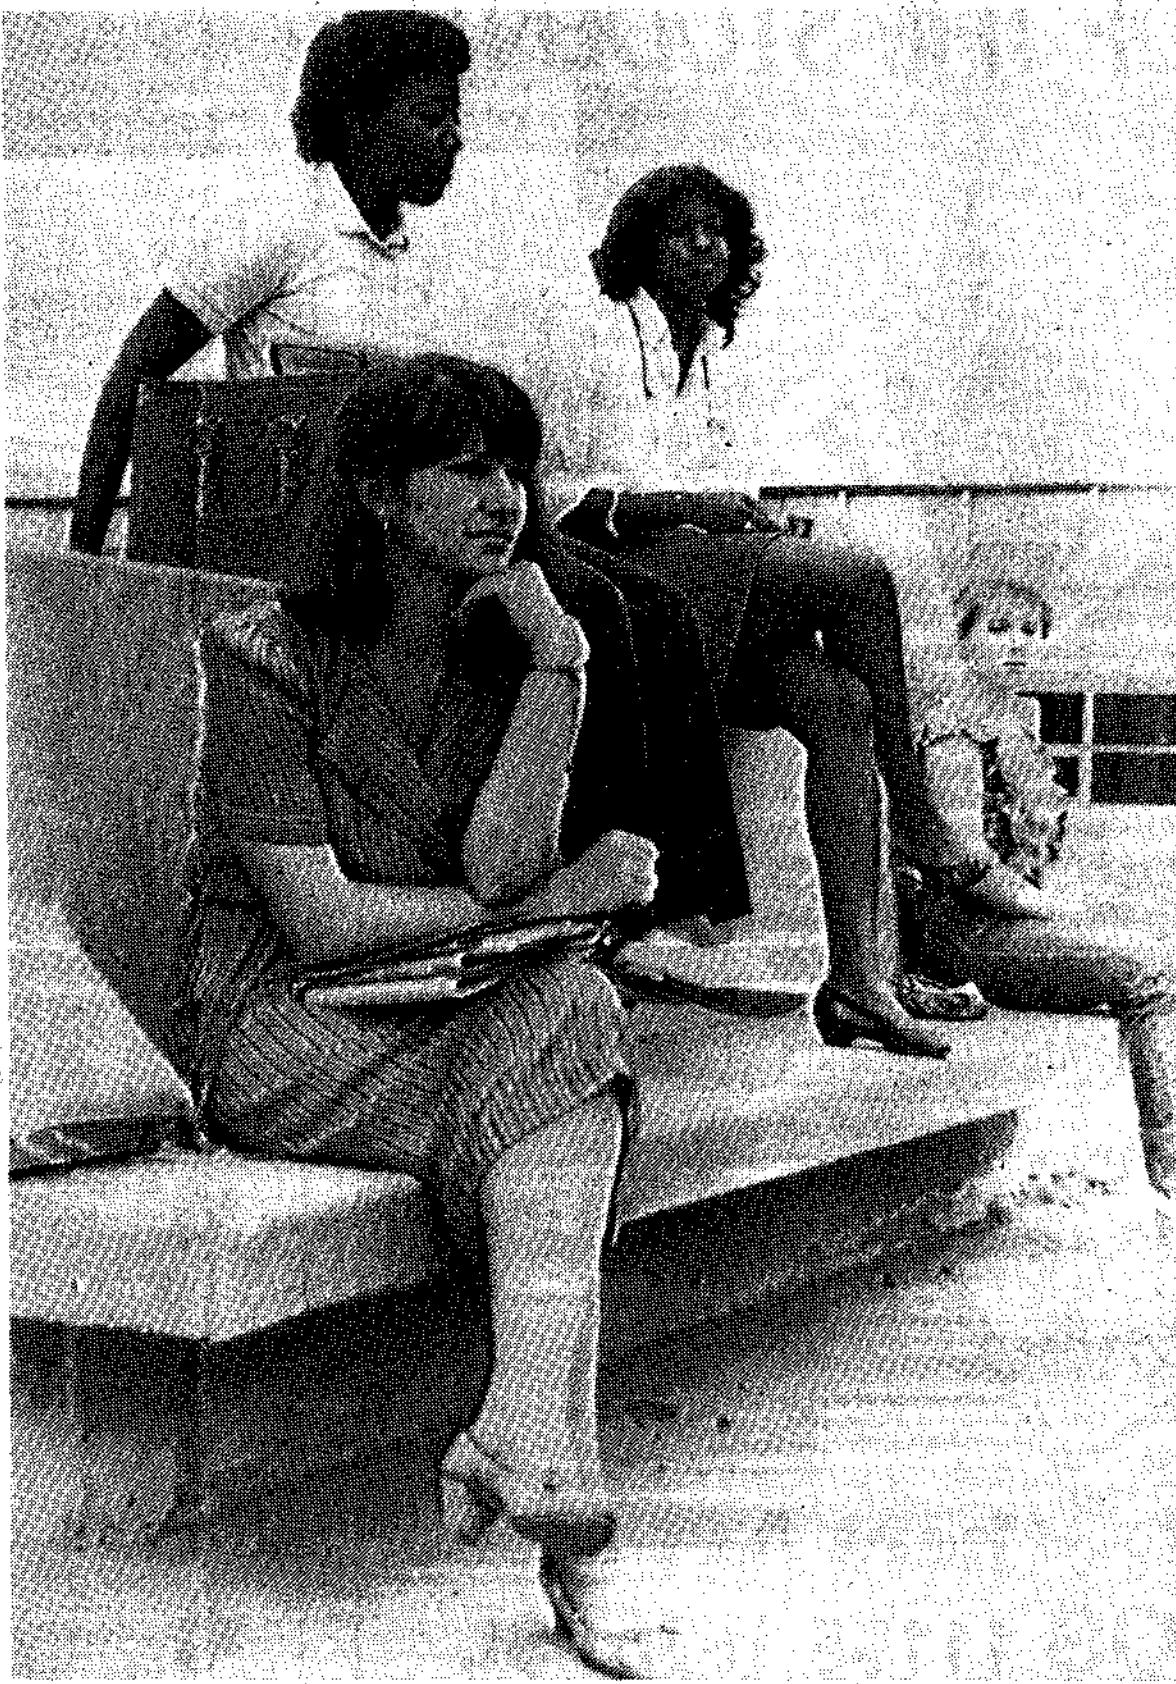

They had long ago forgotten their majors, minors, the best teachers to take, the right classes.

Who cared? All that was secondary, getting through the line — that was the name of the frustrating game.

No fatalities have been registered.

Those who stuck it out are now genuine Cerritos College students.

Tests, homework, lack of sleep — it's all a piece of cake compared to what you've been through.
