Focus on state JC's this week

By DWAYNE KING
TM Staff Writer

A Master Advisory Breakfast was held yesterday in the Student Center in conjunction with "Community College Week."

The 8 to 10 a.m. event was held for more than 200 members of the public sector who have served the college on advisory boards which assist in the selection of curriculum, equipment and recruitment ideas.

The statewide observance of "Community College Week" was kicked off here at Cerritos by the Music Department's free public concert last Sunday in Burnight Theater.

The Concert Choir directed by Stan Porter, the Brass Ensemble directed by Hector Salazar, and the Guitar Ensemble directed by George Torres were all featured.

This year's theme, "Educational Excellence," is aimed at making local residents aware of the quality education available on the community college level.

Most Californians live within twenty miles of at least one of the 106 state community colleges, and forty-seven percent of the state's population has enrolled at a community college at one time or another to receive education in almost any traditional or innovated job field.

However, to remind the community of the wide variety of educational possibilities at the college, several events have been scheduled to display student work and opportunities.

One such event is the "Fine Art and Photography Student Exhibit" which is free of charge and open to the public.

This show is in the Fine Arts Gallery which is open Monday through Thursday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Tuesday through Thursday to 9 p.m.

The Theater Department is presenting "The Tempest" by William Shakespeare in the Burnight Center on May 9, 10, and 11 at 8 p.m. For ticket information call 924-2100.

Residents can also register to use library resources in the Learning Resources Center, where information on the availability of magazines and periodicals for children and adults as well as literature on the Metropolitan Water District is being displayed.

In conclusion of the week's recognition, a video tape of the recent Liberal Arts G.A.L.A. competition will be shown on various cable television stations in the area.

Championship baseball teams find ways of coming through in the clutch.

Teams that aren't champions, don't.

In fact, when the pressure is applied, they often do everything in their power to hasten their demise.

A case for each point.
Championship team — Cerritos College.

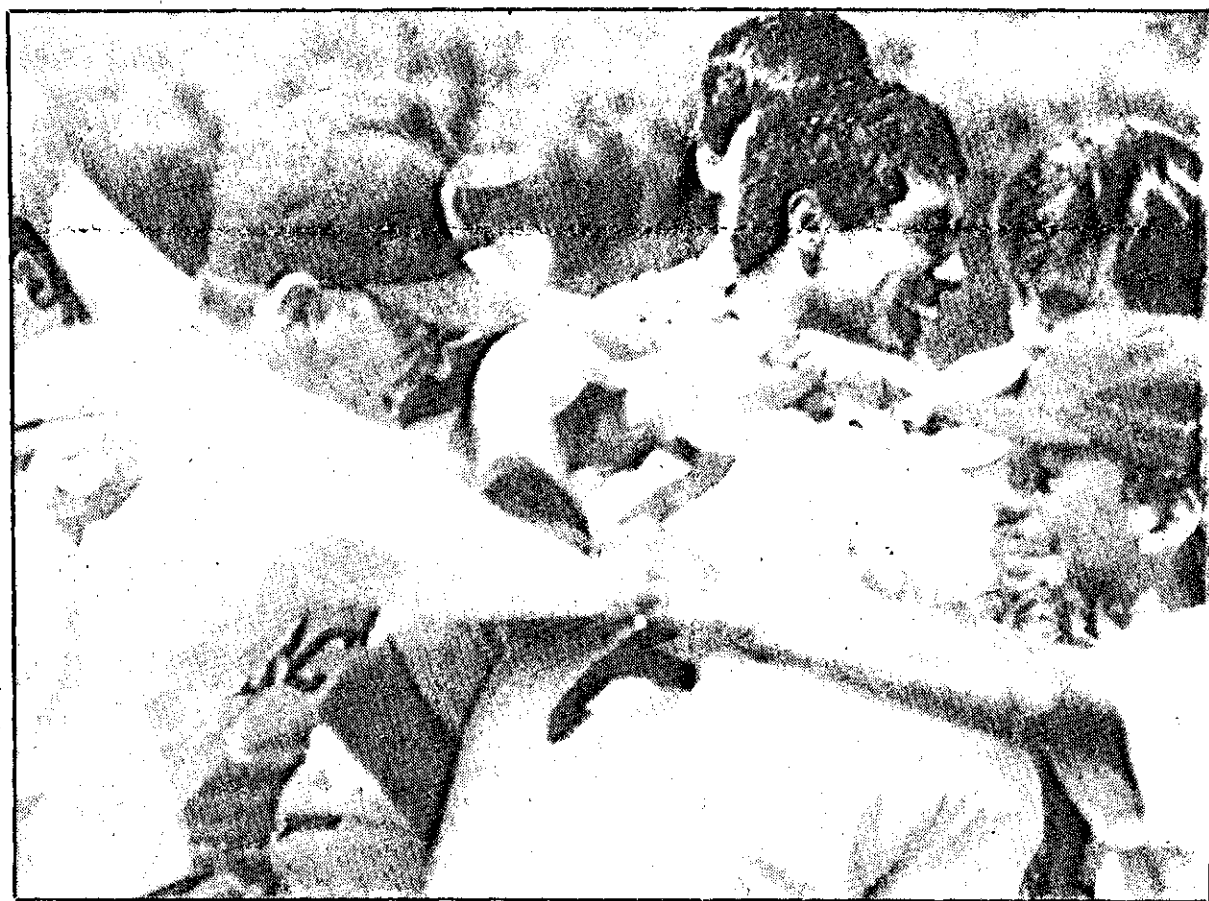

Also-ran — Golden West.
The Falcons rallied for 11 runs in the top of the ninth inning Saturday to eliminate the second place Rustlers 15-5 and win their first South Coast Conference Championship since 1979.

Golden West contributed five errors to the Cerritos ninth inning explosion.

Cerritos is now 17-1 in league, while the Rustlers are 11-7, with five games remaining.

'Guidelines' bill sparks TM debate

Press control document 'withheld' for Senate airing

By SARAH HILL
and CONNIE SAGER

A mysterious guideline bill outlining Talon Marks coverage policies reportedly will go before the senate this afternoon at 2.

Specific wording of the bill was not available by the newspaper's 4 p.m. deadline Tuesday. Today's agenda, which included this controversial bill and several others, was running four hours late by press time.

ASCC secretary Susan Tierheimer was apparently nowhere to be found, since several people tried and failed to reach her. She is an hourly paid student clerk responsible for typing the agenda and legislative materials.

Tierheimer's mother told Vice-President Ben Pendleton that the materials were typed.

Pendleton reportedly initiated the bill which observers say would place sharp restrictions on the paper.

The ASCC Vice-President, who serves as senate chair, has clashed with the Talon Marks since taking office.

The issue came to a head when Pendleton staged a senate "executive" session, kicking out Talon Marks representatives with all the rest of the audience.

Talon Marks editorial board charged Pendleton and the senate with illegal "secret sessions" which violated Brown Act open meeting laws.

Newly elected Vice-President Don Trapp blasted the bill as "garbage," and said neither he or new President David Mittleman supported the bill.

TM editorial board members have charged Pendleton with deliberately holding the bill beyond the paper's deadline to avoid editorial coverage and comment prior to the presentation to the senate.

ASCC Advisor Richard Robinson said he had not seen the bill which would normally be expected to pass by his desk through regular channels, simply for information purposes.

Sources have quoted Pendleton as saying he wants as much coverage for

Fee survey completion urged here

Cerritos students who have been sent copies of a special fee impact survey are being encouraged to fill out the questionnaire and mail it in.

Vice President of Instruction Olive Scott said cooperation students is vital. "If you fail to fill out the questionnaire, it could mean that people like yourself will be under-represented in the survey results," she said.

The Community College Chancellor's Office is conducting the "fee impact survey" to obtain information on student characteristics, financial aid needs and academic workload, according to officials.

The information obtained will be used to evaluate the effects of this year's mandatory student fee on college enrollments.

Questionnaires were mailed in mid-April to a scientific sample of about 10,000 California Community College students state-wide. A benchmark survey last year saw a response of nearly 70%.

"It is essential that if you received a questionnaire, you fill it out and return it in the envelope provided," Scott said.

Students with problems or questions should go to the Counseling Office or Instruction Office for help.

'Supply-side economics' Foundation speaker topic

By SUSAN PHILLIPS
TM Staff Writer

The "father of supply-side economics," Dr. Arthur B. Laffer, also the designer of "The Laffer Curve" based on the theory that cutting taxes increases government revenues and raising taxes decreases government revenues, will be the speaker at a fund raising breakfast hosted by the Cerritos College Foundation May 30 at Rio Hondo Country Club.

Laffer is a member of the Economics Policy Advisory Board to the President of the United States.

He is a professor at Pepperdine University, while also serving as a member of the Pepperdine Board of Directors.

Laffer will speak to Cerritos area residents on the facts concerning our economy and the economic forecast for the future, with emphasis on communities in the Cerritos College District.

The Cerritos College Foundation is hosting the breakfast in an effort to broaden its base of financial support in the community. The Foundation has relied on modest donations in the past to support established programs at Cerritos College.

Reservations for the breakfast can be made by calling 860-2451, ext. 536. Tickets are $12.

Financial aid apps deadline Friday

By STEVE GABALDON
TM Staff Writer

Financial aid applications are available in the Financial Aid Office for the May 10 priority deadline.

State programs are being added to help students with summer fees, these programs include: The Fee Waiver student AFDC (Aid to Families with dependent children), and the General Relief program.

There is also the Fee Credit program which gives loans to students whose families earn less than $12,000 a year per family of four.

No checks will be distributed the week of May 28 to June 5, however, due to summer registration.

Trustees reimbursement okayed; 'no conflict'

By TERRY SPENCER
TM Production Coordinator

Cerritos College Board of Trustees President Hazel Scotto is entitled to reimbursement of $82.55 in expenses that she incurred at a Los Angeles convention of the California Association of Community Colleges last November.

The college's attorney, Patrick Sisneros also stated that it is his opinion that Board members are not in conflict of interest when they vote on their own reimbursement.

This report will be given to the Trustees at their meeting this Monday at 7:30 in the Board Room.

These rulings followed action at the Board's meeting of April 22 in which Trustee Harold Tredway objected to Scotto and fellow board member Katie Nordbak's stay at a Los Angeles hotel during the convention, claiming it was not a necessary expense.

Nordbak and Scotto were the official representatives of Cerritos College at the convention.

Tredway claimed that the meeting was within easy driving distance and that it was a "waste of district funds" for Scotto and Nordbak to use lodging in this instance.

"If it was San Francisco or Sacramento I wouldn't have said anything," Tredway said.

Scotto and Nordbak pointed out that the first meeting each day began at 8:00 a.m., with the final session going until 11:00 p.m.

"You figure by the time we'd get up for the early meetings, stayed for the late activities, and by the time you figure your mileage going back and forth for two days that there would be little difference," claimed Scotto.

Tredway also stated that he felt it

$25,000 grant by Northrop

Cerritos College is the recipient of a $25,000 grant from the Northrop Corporation in support of the campus' new Composites Technology Center. The center will be the first of its kind in the community colleges.

The curriculum will produce graduates proficient in aerospace manufacturing.

Cerritos' check from Northrop was awarded yesterday at the Master Advisory Breakfast in the Student Center.

was a "conflict of interest" for Scotto to be voting on a motion in which she has a financial interest.

Sisneros agreed that several sections of both the California Education and Government Codes bar Trustees from voting on contracts in which they have a financial interest, but that section 1091.5 of the Government Code provides an exception for voting on "actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of official duty."

Cerritos College Board policy currently allows reimbursement for "necessary expenses" including lodging.

It does not define, however, when lodging is deemed to be necessary, leaving it up to the individual trustee to decide.

The Board is expected to decide on whether they feel this to be adequate policy this Monday.

Special welcome set for minorities at UC Irvine

By LESLIE BERESTEIN
TM Staff Writer

Black, Chicano, Latino, American Indian and Filipino students interested in transferring to the University of California at Irvine (UCI) will find a special welcome mat out for them.

According to Dr. Adolph Johnson, Cerritos Dean of Academic Affairs, who is also a member of the Irvine Chancellor's Student Affirmative Action (SAA) Coordinating Council, these five racial groups, classified as SAA students, are under-represented in the UC system.

A special program for honors students is also being considered by UCI, according to Lydia Ledesma-Leonard, UCI spokesman and Cerritos College contact. It would aim at all students with at least a 3.5 GPA.

SAA minority students who qualify academically are especially being sought from the community college ranks. Financial aid packets to meet expenses may be available to qualified students, officials said, as well as the opportunity for a full scholarship.

UCI's Office of Relations with Schools and Colleges has been working on programs especially designed to attract Cerritos College students.

Last April 20, the University held a Cerritos Community College transfer day during their Open House.

Special targeting programs for Cerritos honor students are also being considered for the future.

VICA as for sports. The same source quoted Pendleton as saying it is not going to be a resolution, it is going to be law.

A previous clash between the Falon Marks and senate over "contingencies" and guidelines for the paper went all the way to the Board of Trustees where the entire ASCC budget was held up until the matter was settled. The Board approved the revoking of the ASCC imposed guidelines for the paper.

Falon Marks editorial board representatives declined comment on the issue, pending any action today.

Today's meeting will be the final session for legislation and appointments. Next week's finale will cover the budget and the swearing in of new officers.

The ASCC secretary is not authorized to take official materials out of the Student Activities office, according to officials.

The so-called press control bill is expected to get a roll call vote, according to opponents who said they were confident that it would die on the floor.

Spring awards banquet on tap

The Annual Spring ASCC Awards Banquet will be held Friday, May 17 at the Golden Sails Restaurant in Long Beach.

This banquet will give the ASCC the opportunity to recognize those students who have given dedicated service throughout the spring semester.

Those chosen to receive awards are to be selected by the awards committee. The committee is composed of students from different campus organizations.
