By VERNON MORROW
TM Staff Writer

Today is the final voting day in the Fall Student Senate elections with a total of 51 candidates vying for the 31 open Senate seats.

Ten incumbents are in the race. Ten spots are reserved for freshmen.

All students with ASCC student body ID cards are eligible to vote.

Polling places are set up at the North Elbow Room, the Health Science Building, and the Student Center patio area.

Voting booths are open during the day until 2:30 p.m., and open again from 6:00-9:00 p.m. for night students.

Listing themselves as independents are 17 candidates. Some of the traditional political powers represented on the ballot are VICA and vocational areas, athletics, Panhellenic organizations, Handicapped students, LDSSA and others.

Winners will be announced Thursday at 12:00, after a morning count.

The new Fall roster will be seated at the semester's opening Senate meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 18, following eligibility checks on grades and total units.

Candidates must have at least a 2.0 GPA, and be enrolled in at least 10 units.

Minimum number of votes to win a seat is expected to be close to 110. Upwards of 1,000 students are expected to mark ballots.

The Senate meets every Wednesday afternoon at 2:00 p.m. Meetings are open to all interested students. ASCC Vice-President Don Trapp chairs the Senate sessions.

The elected student group controls a budget of nearly a half a million dollars, which covers a wide slate of activities and instructional related programs.

ASCC President Dave Mittleman has called for a big voter turn-out, and urges students to make their choices known.

HOMECOMING KICKS OFF; QUEEN, FLOAT BIDS OPEN

By RAELENE KING
TM Managing Editor

Momentum for the 1985 Homecoming is already gathering strength. This week marks the beginning of the preliminary activities which will climax on Saturday, Oct. 19, with the crowning of the Homecoming Queen.

Traditionally an event envied by community colleges throughout the state, the fall affair has already been met with an enthusiasm that not only affects those here on campus, but reaches out into the surrounding community.

"Disneyland — 30th Year Anniversary" is the theme for this year's event. Float and Queen Candidate applications are now being accepted. Deadline is Friday, Sept. 20 for Queen applications, while float applications must be turned in by Friday, Oct. 4.

Any co-ed who has a current ASCC sticker with a 2.0 GPA is eligible for Queen considerations.

She must be sponsored by only one group.

Preliminary elections will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 1 and 2, to narrow the field to a total of seven finalists.

Final voting to select the Queen and six court members will take place on Oct. 15 and 16.

A club or organization wishing to build a float will be subsidized $200 by the ASCC, and given a float bed measuring 6' by 12' on which to develop their idea.

Board gets 'class' info system demo

By BRENT SIMS
TM Staff Writer

The Cerritos College Board of Trustees was treated to a state of the art demonstration of the Central Class Information system at the Sep. 9 Board Meeting.

The Central Class Information program provides students and adults in the Cerritos College district with quick access to information on vocational training, JTPA training, and other available classes in the area. The information is stored in a computer program, developed by the district, which coordinates the class schedules of some eight different school districts plus Cerritos College

Judging by members of the community and faculty will take place on the morning of Oct. 19, with a total of 13 awards to be given, including the Amy Dozier Trophy for the best float overall. Each club is eligible for one award.

The Homecoming Committee, which is responsible for organizing and supervising Homecoming activities consists of Barbara Palmer, Don Trapp, Dave Mittleman, Shelly Anderson, Rich Estrada, Jeff Miller, Keith Estabrook, Myrna Freireich, Carlos Urbana, Dorwana Willis, Kim Cates and Maria DeLamora.

The Homecoming game against powerful Taft will be followed by a dance in the Student Center.

Other scheduled activities include an introduction of activities on Oct. 8 at 11 in the Student Center, followed by a Homecoming Coffee Night on Oct. 9, and a Mock Rally on Oct. 10.

itself. To reach the federally funded system call 924-4346.

The Board commended the program, and also announced support of a bill which would alter the current junior college tuition system of $50 for every student with six or more units to a $5/unit charge with a maximum fee of $50.

Speaking of the current system Board Chairman Hazel Scotto said that it was "so stupid and such a hindrance," adding that it was "illogical."

Board member Dale Hardemen replied that when looking at State politics and education, "Don't expect logic."

By ELEANOR COLLINS
TM Staff Writer

"Disneyland — 30th Anniversary" will be the theme for the 1985 Homecoming activities. Representatives from campus organizations voted on the theme at last Thursday's Inter-Club Council meeting.

During the meeting, Co-ordinator of Student Activities Phil Houseman showed slides of 1984's Homecoming festivities, while urging all clubs to participate in this year's events. He stated that "getting involved in Homecoming increases a club's visibility on campus, and also improves recruitment efforts."

Applications for float building and for Homecoming Queen nominations were distributed at the ICC meeting.

Clubs wishing to build a float should submit their applications to the Student Activities Office between Sept. 9 and Oct. 4. ASCC will donate $200 for supplies to any club entering the float contest.

Applications for Homecoming Queen candidates will be accepted from Sept. 9 until Sept. 20 also at the Student Activities Office.

Eligibility rules for floats and Homecoming Queen candidates are stated in the application.

ASCC President Dave Mittleman reported that there are positions yet to be filled on the Homecoming Committee.

Faculty Senate explores falling enrollment vs. calendar

By SUSAN PHILLIPS
TM News Editor

The $50 tuition, the early start of the semester, and "inadequate public relations" are just a few of the areas being explored by members of the Faculty Senate in an effort to discover the reason for the steadily declining enrollment at Cerritos College.

Recent meeting discussions focused primarily on the early start, and whether or not enough was being done to inform the public of the semester schedule through newspaper and radio advertising. Several newspaper advertisements from other community colleges were presented to Senate President John Boyle as evidence of what could be done to improve public relations and get enrollment figures climbing again.

Some senate members were irked that the advertisements stated that enrollment continued into the third week of the semester at several colleges.

The Cerritos cutoff was at the end of the first week.

Senate member Marcelino Saucedo said he believes increased costs over the years have been more significant influences on enrollment than the early calendar.

With members differing in their views on the calendar, Boyle requested that special meetings be held in each division for the purpose of polling the faculty for their preference in calendar dates.

Boyle also reminded members to consider that summer sessions are at issue and must be considered in the planning of the college schedule.

Senate member Jim Peter suggested contacting other schools with later start dates to determine if the early semester can be blamed for the drop in enrollment.

Results of the division meetings at the Oct. 15 Faculty Senate meetings.

In other business, a request was received to introduce a system of "plus" and "minus" grades instead of the system currently used to compute GPA's.

Since grading policies are regulated by the Board of Governors, Boyle said it would be necessary to check into it and report back.

BACK ON TRACK

Runner Lara expects to make new marks

By ROBERT YOUNG
TM Sports Editor

In high school, Lorraine Lara broke records. Then she quit running. Last year at Cerritos, she was Most Inspirational.

She began running while at Burke Junior High, and continued at El Rancho High School in Pico Rivera. As a senior, she was awarded Most Improved — so improved, in fact, that she broke El Rancho's record in the girl's 330 low hurdles before graduating in '82.

But soon after, Lorraine stopped running. Because no college or university had recruited her, she felt her running days were over. "I hung up my spikes," Lara, now 20, puts it.

During her two-year lapse, she was registered at Cerritos College and working at JC Penney's where her only aspiration was to become a manager there.

Close friends, former teammate Denise Gonzales and current teammate Deanne Unzicker urged her to come back out.

Lara was hesitant. She missed cross country and track, but wasn't sure whether she should go out or not. She asked advice from family, friends, and boyfriend. The general consensus was "Go for it," she said, and she did.

But then a low point in Lorraine's life happened when her 16-year-old brother, Eddie died about this time last year of second and third degree burns he suffered in a house fire.

"That was a setback for me," Lara admits, "but I think running helped me lose some of the aggressions."

At one point, she was going to quit, but overwhelming team support changed her mind.

Things are looking up for Lorraine. She was chosen Most Inspirational in both cross country and track last season, and her times are coming down.

In fact, Lorraine expects to run the 3-mile course in Fresno this weekend in a strong 22 minutes, and she would like to trim her time down to the low 20's during the season.

Upon graduating from Cerritos in May, Lorraine plans to transfer to Long Beach State and major in Child Development.

"Athletes just out of high school should never be intimidated..." she paused, remembering a statement from a poster hanging in her room, and further advised, "You have only failed if you failed to try."

Falcons host Mesa in opener; coach pleased after scrimmage

By ROBERT YOUNG
TM Sports Editor

Football Coach Frank Mazzotta was pleased with his squad's performance in last Saturday's scrimmage against Glendale.

The offense will get its first chance to "strut its stuff" this Saturday, when the Falcons host San Diego Mesa at Falcon Field starting at 7:30.

Injuries trip up women spikers; team still hopeful

The first three weeks of volleyball practice have instigated injuries for Jeanine Prindle's squad.

Sheri O' Connor suffered a sprained ankle, while Marlene Perales dislocated her left knee.

Both are essential to the team, because both are outside hitters and defensive specialists.

Trainer Bev Sweet is aiding the wounded in effort to be able to use them in Cerritos' second scrimmage, which is Sept. 18 at Santa Ana.

The rest of the team has time to iron out faults, as their first scrimmage isn't until Sept. 13, at San Diego Mesa.

The process of finding errors and strengths is gone about by Prindle, who video tapes the spikers during practice and drills.

"It's helpful, for we can see who the aggressors and leaders are, plus zeroing in on weaknesses," said Prindle.

— MONICA MERTZ

The offense, which scored on its first two plays, seems to be a bit ahead of the defense at this point.

"Offensively, we're right where we want to be," said Mazzotta. "Our passing and running game should compliment each other. We will try to throw half the time."

Returning backs Keith McCoy and Reggie Nettles will prove to be a valuable asset to the passing game, as both are breakaway runners and have good hands.

The passing game, which consisted of 19 for 30 on the day, is still a question mark, as Mazzotta is still up in the air about who will be his starting quarterback.

The defense, which was the mainstay last year, had a few mental breakdowns, but according to Mazzotta, "The more they play as a unit, the better they'll get."

"The defense seems to need game experience, as they will improve week to week."

Mazzotta expects solid performances from defensive back Robert Lan, who he feels is an exceptional ballplayer, linebackers Brian Borza and James Rivera.

Rivera will be taking the place of Rich Shoemaker, who injured his knee in practice and will miss the entire season.

Responding on the tough PAC-9 conference, Mazzotta said, "Everybody is so good, there is no one week to relax."

Star linebacker out for season

BY JOHN VAN GASTON
TM Production Coordinator

The football team has been dealt with a tough blow before the season opens, losing starting linebacker Rich Shoenberger for the season with torn ligaments in his knee.

Shoenberger injured his knee during practice, when it seems his foot got caught up in the grass, and his knee gave out.

The 6-foot 250 sophomore was a mainstay on the Falcon squad last year, and his loss will be felt dramatically.

Dr. Alan Stizak performed the surgery, which consisted of the removal of the "anterior cruchet which is located in the front of the knee, just behind the patella"

The "medial cholateral ligament" was snapped and had to be mended. It was conceivable for Shoenberger to return in an estimated eight weeks, but doctors advised that sitting out the whole year and allowing the knee to heal itself, would be better for him in the long run.

Taking the place of Shoenberger will be James Rivera, who Coach Frank Mazzotta is very high on.

"We were going to move Rich to down lineman, mainly because of Rich's strength," said Mazzotta.

Shoenberger has accepted the fact that he will not be able to play this season, and stated, "This is not going to keep me down. I plan on playing football again. But for now, these are my boys out there, so I'm going to help them any way I can."

Other than the injury to Shoenberger, the Falcons have been relatively injury-free, which will be a major factor when the season starts.

Balance seen as key to soccer success

In trying to improve on last year's league mark of 5-1-4, which put them in second place, Soccer Coach Robert Flores saw 45 outstanding recruits tryout for this year's soccer squad.

Coach Robert Flores said, "This year we have a hardworking, dependable, and very conscientious young group of athletes." Flores also added, "The constant pressure being put on by so many recruits really makes them want to try harder."

Relying on a good bench this season, he sees a possible chance to lead the South Coast Conference over Rancho Santiago (Santa Ana) a "real power house."

The Falcons open the season against Palomar College at 3 p.m. Friday. Their first home game will be Thursday, Sept. 19 against San Diego Mesa at 3 p.m.

Joining the team will be two CIF players of the year, Juan Juaregui, from San Gabriel High and James Cleary, of Lakewood High.

Also named in the All-CIF team last year are Marcello Balboa of Cerritos High and Raoul Gomez of Bell Gardens High.

"Because of our balance," Flores said, "we should do a lot better this season."

Cross country runners off to Fresno meet

WOMEN READY TO RUN

Preparing for the first invitational meet Saturday was not an easy task for the women's cross country team.

They gradually had to build up their speed, which, according to Coach Hal Simonek, had to be 25 minutes or under for a three-mile run, in order to qualify for the Fresno Invitational.

The time trial was held Friday at La Mirada Park. The women started off by doing a short warm-up which consisted of leg stretches and a one-mile run.

As the women waited for Simonek's starting signal, he commented, "I want this to be a racing pace run." Then he started his time watch.

After a three-mile time run, the top eight runners were, Jackie Castro 20:08 minutes, Lea McFarland 20:28, Ana Coverubbias 20:49, Deanne Unzicker 21:21, Shela Jordan 21:12, Cheryl Eckford 21:29, Charlena Pompa 23:09 and Lorraine Lara 23:47.

These women will be in competition this Saturday along with the over 53 expected teams.

— GABY MARTINEZ

MEN OPTIMISTIC FOR OUTING

As the Sept. 14 Fresno Invitational draws closer, the hunger for a win grows in the men's cross country team and in coach Dave Kamanski.

"We are looking forward to our opening competition at Woodward Park. All the major junior colleges will be competing over their four-mile course," stated Kamanski.

Last year the team ranked tenth out of the twenty schools that competed.

As the season rapidly approaches, many freshman await optimistically for a chance to unleash their talents.

At a glance, Kamanski predicts veteran runners such as Melchor Lopez, David Rivera, Refugio Estrada and Abe Varughese to be the backbone of the squad.

Varughese commented, "My personal goals and achievements are tied in with the team. I hope we place high in our first invitational."

Kamanski's wishes are also to begin the semester strongly. Their first meet is Sept. 18 at Golden West at 3:30.
