

SCHEDULE MIX-UP

Reading center offers free skill building classes

An error in the Spring Schedule of Classes lists a free speed reading workshop for Aug. 18.

The reading workshops, offered by the Cerritos College Reading Department, are held the first three days of the spring semester — in January.

Everyone is invited to attend, even non-students. All materials will be supplied.

Participants will learn the basic most modern effective techniques that will immediately increase reading rates. You will also learn a speed-study method and test-taking tips.

Workshops are scheduled for Monday, Jan. 12 from 3-4 p.m. in LC 216; Tuesday, Jan. 13 from 11-12 noon in LC 216, and for Wednesday, Jan. 14 from 6-7 p.m. in LC 203.

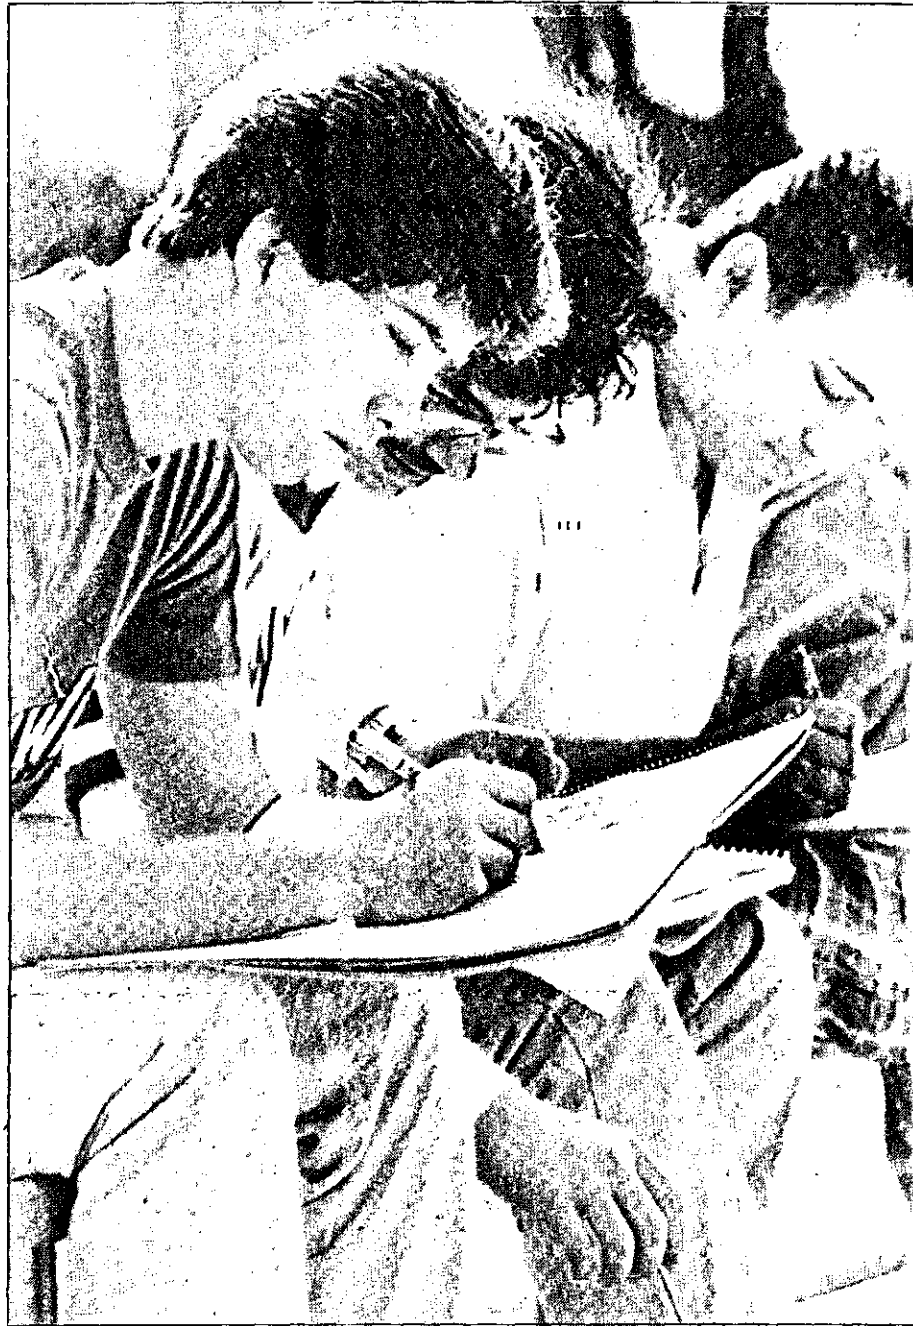

A workshop is also scheduled for Jan. 13 at Bechtel, 1200 E. Imperial Highway from 5-6 p.m.

Anyone interested in the workshops is encouraged to contact the Reading Center at ext. 448.

Transfer Schedule

The Transfer Center will have counselors on hand from area colleges throughout the month of December. Appointments can be made at the center or you may stop by during walk-in hours.

- Dec. 5 CSU, Long Beach, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.
- Dec. 8 Irvine, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.
- Dec. 9 CSU, Fullerton (Eval), 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.
- Dec. 10 CSU, Fullerton, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.; Chapman, 9 a.m. to 12 noon.
- Dec. 11 CSU, Dominguez Hills, 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

STATE OF THE ART

The recent balmy weather gave these art students a chance to capture some of autumn's beauty on canvas. The quad is popular with the students for sketching campus architecture as well as the scenic view.

Part-timers get full-time rights with new bill

By VERNON MORROW
TM Associate Editor

Part-time students will now be able to join the ranks of the various clubs and organizations on this campus.

The ASCC Senate has approved a bill that allows any student enrolled in six units or more to hold membership in a club.

The part-time member would only be barred from holding a major office in his organization.

This bill was authored by Senator Hank Grey.

This bill is part of an attempt by many people on campus to bring the part-time student to the level of full-time students.

"The population on campus is changing. We are moving towards a part-time student/full-time worker," said Grey.

"The person who is taking six units is paying the same as the student who is taking 15. This will also help out the slumping roster of our clubs on campus," he continued. Grey is the president of a Omega Pi Lambda, one of the four fraternities here on campus.

Presently there are 49 clubs on campus, many of whom are suffering from lack of members. Many of these organizations attribute their losses to members changing from full to part-time status.

According to the 1986-87 ASCC Club Guide, any on-campus organization must have a minimum membership of 10 full-time students.

This law will go into effect during the upcoming Spring semester.

Next week marks the final Senate meeting of the semester. It will be held in BK. 111-12, the chambers behind the Student Activities Office.

All students are invited to attend any student government meeting.

Cosmo leads in food drive; ASCC wraps up semester

By SUSAN PHILLIPS
TM Editor-in-Chief

The ASCC Holiday Canned Food Drive is entering the final days of collection with several clubs and classrooms vying for the top spots.

Food Services maintains control of the top classroom spot with a total of 91 cans. Janet Sanderson's Jazz Dance Class (T, Th, 7-9) is in second with 33 cans. Not far behind, in third place, is Wendell Hanks' 9:30 Speech I class with 25 cans.

The top collector in the category of campus clubs is Cosmetology with 244 cans. The Physical Therapists Club is in second place with 82, followed by Beta Phi Gamma/Press Club with 52.

The drive ends tomorrow and clubs and classes are encouraged to get last minute donations in to Student Activities so that they may be added to the final tally.

The donated food will help replenish the area food banks which were depleted following the Cerritos air disaster.

Students wishing to attend the leadership conference in San Diego are encouraged to turn in their application card and fee as soon as possible. Space is limited.

Although the semester is nearly over, the ASCC calendar is still filled with planned activities, designed to provide a well-rounded semester for Cerritos College students.

Upcoming events include:

- Dec. 3-18 Toys for Tots drive; Guitar Ensemble, 11 a.m. at the Burnight Center

Theatre. Top 40 concert, 6 p.m. at the Student Center.

- Dec. 4 Canned Food Drive ends; final ASCC meeting, 11 a.m. in Student Activities.

- Dec. 5 Fall Awards Banquet, 7 p.m. at the Sycamore Center, Lakewood. Tickets available in Student Activities Office.

- Dec. 6 Potato Bowl: Falcons vs Taft, 1:15 p.m., Bakersfield College. Tickets available in Student Activities.

- Dec. 7 Community College Chorus, 3 p.m., Burnight Theatre.

- Dec. 9 Fashion Show/Christmas Boutique, 11 a.m. in the Student Center; Community Jazz/Rock Ensemble, 7:30 p.m. at Burnight Theatre.

- Dec. 10 Christmas Boutique, 11 a.m. in the Student Center.

- Dec. 11 Softball game: ASCC Senate vs Cabinet/Court, 11 a.m., at the softball field.

Dec. 12 Finals begin.

- Dec. 14 Wind Ensemble Concert, 4 p.m. at the Burnight Theatre.

Re-entry extends support to students

The Re-Entry Student Support group will meet Thursday, Dec. 4 from 11 a.m. and noon in the Assessment Center.

Also on Dec. 4, the Resource Center will offer a speed reading workshop entitled, "Discovering Your Hidden Smarts." The program will be held in LC-203 at 11 a.m.

EDITORIAL I

It takes a lot for a president to lose his credibility. We saw it happen to Richard Nixon with Watergate. John Kennedy suffered a brief credibility loss following the Bay of Pigs fiasco. We're seeing it happen to Ronald Reagan with the sale of arms to Iran. And, as with Watergate, everyone is suffering a lapse in memory...and a lapse in conscience. One after another, top government officials are denying full knowledge of the situation. President Reagan claims to have had full knowledge and control of the situation; yet, in his televised news conference, he openly misstates the purpose and size of the weapons he has sold to a country that, not too long ago, held our citizens hostage. And with each passing day, the total dollar value of the arms increases. Was it $12 million or $30 million? Vice-President George Bush isn't talking. Secretary of State George Shultz was rumored to have submitted his resignation because he had been left out of the negotiations. What is there to hide? President Reagan says there is nothing to hide. The fact that millions of dollars in aid was going to be funneled to the contras may have something to do with the delay in the release of information. After all, Congress had already voted to send the financial support requested by the President. But the President had something else going — something he chooses not to disclose to the voters who put him in the White House. Reagan says that everyone involved in the sale will disclose all they know about the situation in time. And time will ultimately alter the story, just as it did with the Watergate inquiry. We have already seen documents shredded (shades of tape erasures), and undoubtedly we'll hear a series of "to the best of my recollections" once the formal investigation is underway. Many will fall from the powerful positions they hold; many will be publically disgraced. It is all so repetitious of what has gone before. The American public deserves a full explanation of the arms deal with Iran. We deserve to know why millions of dollars in arms are being sold to a country who carries their trash out in an American flag. And, most of all, we deserve to know the involvement of every government official who participated in the transaction, and we deserve to know it now.

Final decision EDITORIAL II

It's that time of the semester again. Finals. A word that sends many a student into a frenzied dither, wringing their hands in the age-old gesture of worry... And yet should the expected final exams have such a withering effect on the student? The thinking individual will have kept up with the instructor's notes and reading etc... and pre-exam jitters should be kept at bay. Nice try, but... It's fine to philosophize and say "I should have done..." or "If only I had done..." However, simply put, no matter how sharp one has been in a class, or how much one has studied for previous tests, the Dreaded Final Exam is enough to cause a student to drown under that inevitable wave of anxiety.

A little stress is totally natural. Perhaps without it, without that frustrating pressure, one might have an indifferent approach toward finals — and that is not a credible attitude. It is obvious that the one who takes the time to worry is the one who cares about their class achievement and future success. Nervous habits such as nail biting may be seen in more abundance around campus — especially with the added burden of holiday rush. But go ahead and nibble away if it helps to calm you. There's nothing wrong with experiencing a little stress around final exams. It's natural. Start to worry if you're not nervous. That shows indifference, and indifference shows apathy. Which, in turn, just doesn't make the grade. And that's final.

Letters from and about the past and president

Dear Editor:
 In the last issue of Talon Marks (Nov. 26), a portion of my comments to the Faculty Senate were noted. I feel what was not in print is important to emphasize. I want to clarify and assure concerned parties that "former glory" was not a reflection on any past president, it was a reference to the challenges met when our college was initially conceived and ground was broken. Ground is again to be broken. The choice of a new president becomes very important considering the newly increased accessibility of our college. With the Century Freeway at our doorstep, we will soon be five freeways close to millions of people, many of whom do not know Cerritos College. Therefore, a new challenge facing a new president is the future of this large college with access by the entire Los Angeles basin.

We were overwhelmed by the proclamations, resolutions, plaques and certificates related to our service to Cerritos College and the communities it serves. The video tape of students, staff, and even former Cerritos College staff members will continue to remind us of the enjoyable years we have had at Cerritos.
 We look forward to the Napa Valley balloon flight and know we will have many years of enjoyment using the video cassette recorder and thank you for these gifts.
 We have enjoyed working with board members, faculty, support staff, administrators and community citizens who have been supportive of Cerritos College. By working together we have provided new facilities, new instructional programs, and new student services to better serve the educational needs of students.

The years at Cerritos have passed all too quickly, but they have been good years filled with pleasant memories. Though our activities will be channeled in other directions, we do plan to return whenever we can.
 Our sincere thanks,
 Wilford Michael

'Gofer' could really go for a day of uninterrupted relaxation

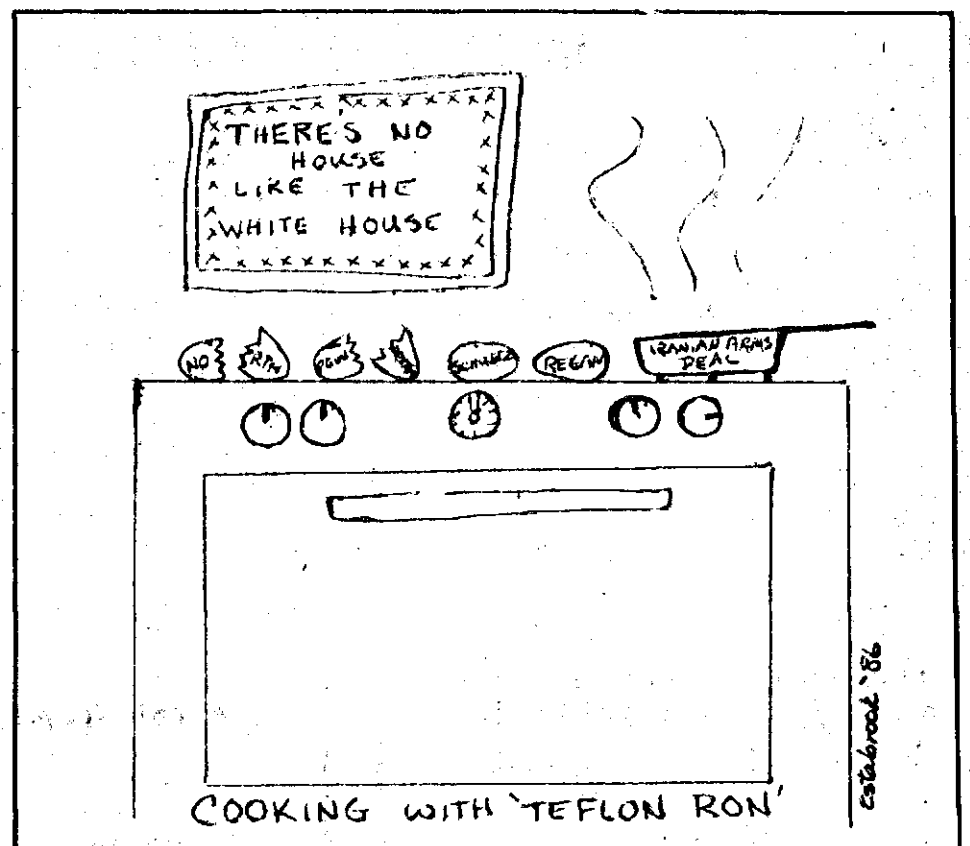

For some reason, many people come to me when they want a favor done — usually for free. Doing them a favor always costs me time, money or energy. Why do these people come to me for help? Do I have "sucker" or "sap" written on my forehead for all the world to see? Just recently a stranger asked me for a quarter so they could catch a bus. I can't even go to a party anymore without being asked to take pictures of the gang. Then I end up paying all the developing costs so everyone can have a few photos. I can't remember the last time I had a day off to myself. Think about it — a day when you don't have to work, don't have to do anything for your mother, wife, children, or brothers and sisters. Did such a day ever exist? I don't really mind doing favors for others but I would like to have a choice in the matter!

Dear Friends:
 We wish to express our appreciation to the many friends who made the November 21, 1986 retirement dinner at the Anaheim Hilton such a delightful evening.

By KENNY O'LEARY
 When the chips are down...

I hate being pushed, pulled, dragged or blackmailed into doing something for someone. I would rather be bribed or seduced. People will often claim it's an emergency or they'll wait until the last minute to ask a favor. They act like the world will end if you don't help them. Doing favors for people can be rewarding. It may not seem that way at the moment, but somewhere down the road the favors come back, usually when I need them the most. It's tough being a hero.

'Industrial strength' jazz artists featured

By JUDY vanWINGERDEN
TM Staff Writer

Jazzvisions...Made In America will bring together some of the most exciting, contemporary jazz artists on the same stage for the first time.

The Jack Lewis production is slated for Dec. 1-5 and 8-12 at Bill Graham's Wiltern Theatre in Los Angeles.

Jazzvisions will feature such top-name talent as perennial music-maker Antonio Carlos Jobim, the multidimensional jazz pianist Herbie Hancock and Brazil's hottest young "new-wave" musicians, Djavan and Ivan Lins.

Highlights of the series include "Rio Revisited," featuring Jobim and South America's sultry vocalist Gal Costa; "Jazz Africa," headlined by Herbie Hancock and featuring Foday Musa Suso and an African ensemble; "Brazilian Knights and a Lady," starring guitarist Djavan and Ivan Lins on keyboards. Rounding out the musical evening of the 9th will be singer Patti Austin and producer/composer/keyboard wizard George Duke.

The music of Charlie Parker will be spotlighted in "Many Faces of Bird," on Dec. 10.

"Every alto saxophonist playing today owes part of his musical heritage to the innovations of Charlie Parker," says Jack Lewis, executive producer.

Set to appear are saxophonists Richie Cole, Lee Knonitz, James Moody and Bud Shank. This show will also star Bobby Mc

Ferrin, whom Lewis calls a "one-man vocal orchestra."

The series will conclude on Dec. 12 with "The Jazz Soul of Porgy and Bess." According to Lewis, the last time this critically acclaimed score was performed on stage was 1959.

"Industrial-strength composer Johnny Mandel will conduct the revived score of the Gershwin suite, featuring a hand-picked 21-piece orchestra of all-star jazz musicians from both coasts," Lewis explained.

The line-up at each of the five additional concerts will be announced shortly.

Tickets for the series and individual concerts are available at the Wiltern Theatre Box Office and all Ticketmaster centers. A special ten percent discount will be offered on sales of tickets for three or more concerts.

Senate program offers fellowship

By GEORGE ZALDIVAR
TM Staff Writer

The California State Fellowship Program is accepting applications to allow 12 college graduates to become Senate staff members.

The Fellowships will be for one year and will begin in the fall of 1987.

Fellows assist Senators with a broad range of public policy issues and can be assigned to a Senator's personal staff or policy committee. Their duties can include legislative research, bill analysis, constituent casework, and speech and press release drafting.

All 12 Fellows, aside from their office responsibilities, will participate in seminars throughout the year with key people involved in legislative processes including senior Senate staff members, journalists and government officials.

Cerritos College students who have graduated by June, 1987 may apply. There is no preferred major and you need not be a recent college graduate.

The 12 Fellowships will be awarded by the Senate Rules Committee in May. Awards are made after an initial screening of applications and a subsequent panel interview. Six alternates will also be chosen.

Fellows receive a salary of $1500 per month during their ten-month Fellowship and, in addition, will receive the same medical benefits available to regular Senate staff.

To apply, interested parties must return an application, available in the Career Placement Center, along with a certified copy of their transcript, two letters of recommendation and a 55-word statement discussing why they would like to pursue a Senate Fellowship.

Completed applications must be postmarked by Feb. 22, 1987.

For further information, contact Elsa Favila at (916) 322-7563.

Annual Easter Seal Society design competition underway

BY MONICA MERTZ
TM Staff Writer

Student Design Competition, sponsored annually by the National Easter Seal Society, is a chance for students to design and explore values and concerns of rehabilitation technology.

The project competition is open to any undergraduate, or graduate student in college, university or technical vocational school. Projects will be shown at an international conference.

All applications must be received by Jan. 31, 1987. Project papers must be submitted for judging by April 1, 1987.

Award winners will be honored guests at the Association for the Advancement of Rehabilitation Technology, formerly known as the Rehabilitation Engineering Society of North America (RESNA) convention held June 19-23 in San Jose, California.

For application forms and Student Design Kits write to:

RESNA
The Association for Advancement of Rehabilitation Technology

Cerritos champions clash with Taft Saturday in Bakersfield

By JOHN WELSH
TM Sports Editor

Conference Champion Cerritos, 7-2-1 overall finishers and winners of five straight, clash Saturday with the hard-hitting Taft Cougars in the Shrine Potato Bowl in Bakersfield.

Kickoff is scheduled for 1:15 in the afternoon.

The sixth ranked Falcons, led by nine year coach Frank Mazzotta, won their first South Coast Conference title since 1978.

SECOND BOUT WITH TC

Taft (ranked 13th in the state) is not an unfamiliar face to the Birds this season.

On Oct. 4, the Cougars visited Falcon Stadium.

Taft exited the stadium defeated, 30-21, as the Falcons knocked the team around for their first win of the '86 campaign.

Mazzotta, recently named SCC Coach-Of-The-Year, plans on making only a few subtle changes in his game plan for Saturday.

"We're going to change it a little bit," the head coach said, pointing out that "you have to."

PSYCHE EDGE

Despite their bowl opponent practically a neighbor to the city, Mazzotta does not feel the Cougars will have such an advantage because of crowd support in Bakersfield.

What the coach did feel Taft has, in terms of an advantage, is a slight psychological edge.

"We've played them, and beat them before," Mazzotta said. "Because we've beat them, you know they'll be ready."

The Falcons have met Taft only three other times prior to this bowl confrontation.

In 1984, up at Taft, the Birds were romped 55-14.

Last year, in their Homecoming game, Cerritos deadlocked with the Cougars 24-24.

And of course this season's Falcon win knots up the series at 1-1-1.

TWO OUT OF FIVE

This is Cerritos' fifth bowl appearance in the school's history, their third time in the Potato Bowl.

In the bowl contests the Falcons hold a 2-3 record.

The last time the school has appeared in such a post-season contest was in 1983, when the Falcons romped Saddleback for a 34-17 victory.

The second most recent bowl game for the Birds came in the same year the school last won the SCC: 1978.

That was also Mazzotta's first year as head coach.

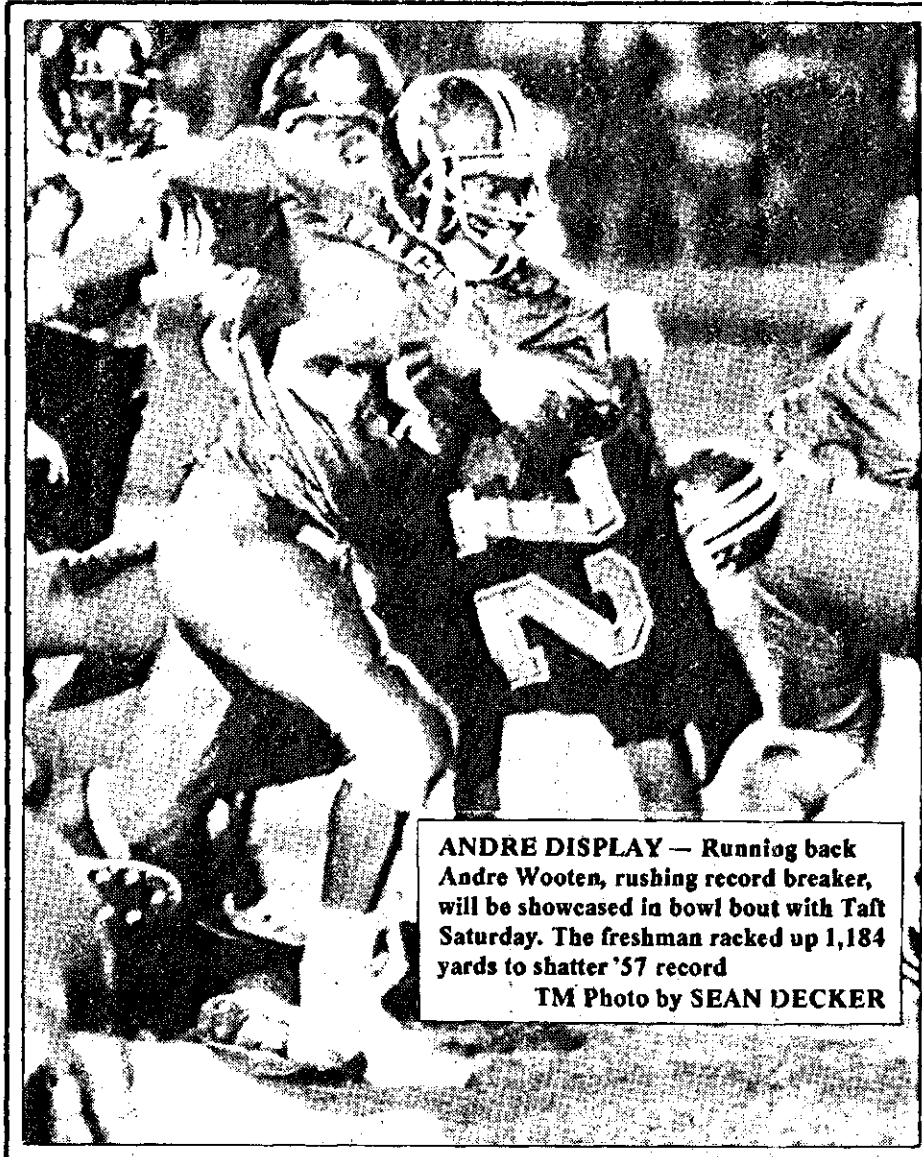

Golden West bumped off the champion Falcons 29-7 in the Avocado Bowl to put a close to the 1978 season.

Mazzotta complimented the Taft team for their hard hitting and their fine athletes.

"Taft is a talented team," said Mazzotta, "they're really fast."

Tickets are on sale in the athletics and activities offices for $6 for general admission and $4 for students.

Proceeds from the game benefit the Shriners Children's Hospital.

Unblemished Birds here Friday

By JOHN WELSH
TM Sports Editor

Going into their home contest this Friday with Santa Monica, the mens hoopsters put their 5-0 mark on the line.

For Cerritos, however, a .711 free throw percentage may not make the contest so threatful.

But still, head coach Jack Bogdanovich is surprised with his squad's sprint start.

"I didn't expect to start this fast," the fifth-year coach said. "Especially with the injuries (forward Damon Andrews is out with an injured shoulder) we've had so far."

"I was prepared to lose one or two in the Fullerton Tournament but it's still early."

After sweeping through the Fullerton Tourney, the hoopsters passed Rancho Santiago up 88-79 (Wednesday) and rolled over East Los Angeles 117-86 (Friday).

The 117 points ranks seventh on the all-time list by a Cerritos team.

Sophomore Willie Joseph led the way for the Birds in the win over Rancho Santiago, scoring 25 points on an 11-17 night from the field.

Center Ron Fischer added 21 points to go along with his seven rebounds, three assists and two steals.

Fischer appears to be the biggest surprise in the eyes of Bogdanovich in this early going.

"He has to be the most active big guy we have ever had at Cerritos," Bogdanovich said of the 6'7 center.

"I knew he had the ability to do all of the things he has done."

Lady basketballers take undefeated mark to COS Tourney

By KEVIN LINDSEY
TM Staff Writer

Women's basketball, off and running at 5-0, face their first real test of the new campaign at the College of the Sequoias Tournament this Thursday through Sunday.

The COS Tourney, 16 teams strong, has Cerritos matched up against Fresno City College in the opening round.

The Falcons, defending SCC champions, put away Citrus last Wednesday 66-54 for their fifth straight win of the season against no losses.

Leading the way in the win was Michelle Mitchell, a freshman forward.

Mitchell scored 14 points and pulled down 13 rebounds, and this was coming off the bench.

"It was her best game so far this year," head coach Karen Peterson said. "She really hustled."

Peterson, the five-year head coach for the Birds, believes this tournament to be her squad's first real threat on the schedule.

"We'll see how good we are at Sequoias," she said.

9-3 grapplers, winners of eight straight, ready for Regionals

The 9-3 wrestling squad, 5-2 finishers in the South Coast Conference, are readying for the Southern California Regionals, held this Thursday and Friday.

"This is when we wrestle for it," said Cerritos coach Jeff Smith, referring to the State Championship just down the road.

In the regionals, the Falcons will be matched against Cypress, Mt. SAC, and Moorpark in the South Central section.

These three schools all proved to be tough on the Cerritos grapplers early in the season.

However, Smith's squad, winners of eight straight matches, are now a new and improved group.

According to Smith, this year's team has a good shot of going all the way in both Southern Cal. and in State.
