

POLLS STILL OPEN

47 seek ASCC Senate seat; voting urged

By NANCY BALLARD
TM Editor-in-Chief

Only four incumbents are among the 47 hopefuls vying for the 32 ASCC Senate seats in voting which started yesterday and wraps up today.

The odds are pretty good for winning a seat.

A surprising lack of campaigning has been blamed for a slow march to the polls yesterday, but officials expect the count to pick up by shutdown time tonight.

No hot issues have stirred up any pre-election excitement this fall. However, the new Student Senate will have several major items to deal with, ranging from a new Student Lounge to special funding requests.

Group interest has been evident in the number of slates that appear on the ballot.

MEChA is leading the ballot with a slate of 10 candidates and the other Hispanic group of AHORA adds to it with four more. Cosmetology is running a close second with six hopefuls, but ASCC officials expect none of the kind of problems with partisan and special interest bickering that have occurred in the past.

Candidates rely on low key campaigns; no 'hot' issues to stir up voters

New Senate arrangement assures everyone of playing an important part in governing student funds and activities, according to officials.

The low Tuesday voter turnout was said by Associate Dean of Student Activities Phil Houseman to be largely due to the three day holiday.

"Students tend to forget about voting, and without a lot of publicity to remind them, they won't bother," Houseman said.

Of the 32 seats up for grabs, approximately one third will go to Freshman. Sophomores and incumbents are fighting it out for the remainder.

The list of candidates includes:

Tiffany Hart, Cosmetology; Dianne Santamaria, Independent; Johnnie Rivera, Alpha Phi Beta; Mary Ann Monk, Cosmetology; Kerri Brown, Cosmetology; Christine Weichers, Cosmetology; Kelly Sanders, Cosmetology.

David Andrew Wood, Alpha Phi Beta; Charles M. Gorman, LDSSA; Reg Bennett, LDSSA; Blanca Perez, MEChA; Oscar J. Novelo, MEChA; Jorge Mijares, MEChA; Amir S. Durrani, MEChA; Shelley Powell, MEChA; Salvador Ramirez, MEChA; Manuel Rincon, MEChA; Alfredo Rivera, MEChA; Lea Castillo, Cosmetology; Liz Fraga, Independent; James Smith II,

FOOTBALL: Biggest game in town

Saturday night's pre-season opener at Falcon Stadium against heralded 6-2-2 San Diego Mesa is expected to see a big turnout of enthusiastic fans. Last weekend's "scrimmage" against Glendale saw the fans quiet and speculative before the storm. Our team is expected to repeat as conference champs. It's worth a night out...

All's too quiet at the polls

It's hell.
 The registrar ladies are ensconced at their respective polling places on campus.
 They sit quietly for seeming hours, often with only a lone student moping by to vote a max of 10 souls into the fiery mix of the Student Senate.
 It's loneliness incarnate.
 It's like hell.
 Ballots are infrequently slipped through the slots of the boxes that appear to be growing cobwebs.
 Where have all the voters gone?
 Why no motivation to make the marks?
 Are they even aware that an election is taking place?
 We hope.
 Apparently there are better things to do, that's all.
 When you've got to go, you've got to go.
 Wherever.
 But gosh, wouldn't it be great if the students could spend three minutes and vote.

 But maybe we're asking too much.
 But why even try to bang it over their heads? If they're not going to vote, they're not going to vote.
 And this much enthusiasm for a student government program that holds the upwards half of a million dollars in their budget...
 The ladies are waiting patiently.
 Today.
 Right now.
 They'll attempt to help any lost souls who want to make a difference.
 Now the poll areas are calm. No long lines in which to be frustrated.
 Must be the heat keeping the registered voters away.
 That's it.
 Most semesters it's better.
 But this one...
 It's hell.

This Fall's Senate is expected to be a "year of change and renewal," according to Houseman, since last year's slate has either graduated or aren't running.

New president Alex Macksoud said he is looking forward to so many new students getting involved.

Houseman concurred, noting that the new students "will give the Senate a much needed shot in the arm."

Houseman described Macksoud as "Well organized and has clear-cut goals leading students towards the common goal of a more unified school, and he has a positive attitude towards his job that shows."

"He's established himself as a sincere, dedicated leader, and that will bring stability and confidence to the new Senate," Houseman said, emphasizing that this is important with this being the biggest turn-over in student government in years.

The new Executive Cabinet will be approved by the new Student Senate at next Wednesday's first meeting being held at 2 p.m. in BK 111/112.

The new Commissioners of the Executive Cabinet to be ratified are:

Vocational Education — Kelly Carter, Assistant Idali Serrano; Athletics — Sandie Foster, Assistant Gene Stuben; Publicity — Susie Peppers, Assistant Teri Weinstein; ICC — Wendy Harris, Assistant Diana Fay; Fine Arts-Sylvia Verdin; Activities-Al Reyes, Assistant Holly Bogdanovich; Disabled Students — Andrew Celaya; Financial Aid — Jesus Gomez; Extended Day—Allen Holland; Student Services — Brian Sailors; Records & Information—Melissa Drayer; Finance & Budget — Tina Adele; Senate Party Whip — Ed McGinn, and a new Student Center Commissioner, Darin Manser.

Despite so many new faces, both the Senate and Cabinet are expected to get off to an enthusiastic start, according to student government watchers who say they detect a refreshing new spirit in the student activities area.

Voting today will be run from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., and from 6 to 9 p.m. to make it possible for all students to participate in the Senate election.

Voting booths are located in the Health Sciences Building, the Student Center and the Social Science Building.

To be eligible to vote, a student must be an ASCC member. Stickers must be presented at the polling place.

Voters may choose 10 candidates, with the top 32 filling the Senate seats.

For students wishing to get more involved, several committee positions are still available. They should contact the Student Activities Office.

Re-entering the madhouse is just the ticket..

College: Madhouse. School. Prison. Society.

Funny how those particular suggestions on Mr. Roget's list sometimes seem so apropos.

Of course, college does seem a darn good place to pursue a higher education...to go to school.

For some, the education is viewed mostly as a means to an end — good job, money, prestige, the usual.

For others, it's the challenge of the pursuit.

Admittedly, a fairly typical housewife stereotype, I can relate to the latter.

Not searching for the career or status in the business world, But not willing to vegetate on soaps, Scouts, Brownies, little league, shopping and the PTA etc.

Once I was more in the education-motivated grind, but since a student number is good for life, you can return to school anytime.

It's nice being a re-entry student.

It's somehow easier to truly appreciate the time spent at school.

There's a lot of support here on campus, what with the likes of regular students, teachers, re-entry students, and the Resource Center.

Quality child care is available for a reasonable rate, making it possible for parents with pre-school children and children out of school early to attend.

Arriving after 8 a.m. for the walk in from the parking lot is a great exercise opportunity if you have to give up the Fonda thing.

A good class, like the one I took about Mass Communications and society, cleans out the cob webs and gets you thinking about life and what's happening in the real world. It's good to know how to observe the obvious in a new light.

Practically any class offers a place to meet interesting people, not only the instructor, but other students as well.

As one who has led a rather sheltered life, it's nice to see another side of things, sometimes gaining perspective from other generations.

Of course, there is practical knowledge, too.

For example, I've already learned how much it costs if the campus police can't see your parking permit.

It's $18 or a day in court.

Ahhh...learning. But that's what this mad house is all about.

At least to this slightly mad housewife.

Of course, you can pick up a hefty parking ticket lots of places not nearly so stimulating as in this society of learners imprisoned by the chains.

VOTING

Voter turns in choices during yesterday's opening balloting for fall ASCC Senate seats. Elections continue today, with polls not closing until 9 p.m. at three spots around campus. Total of 32 seats are up for grabs by 47 candidates. Voting is expected to pick up today after a slow opening.

Gresham to sing here on Saturday

By JOHN MC DOUGAL
TM Staff Writer

Soprano Ann Gresham will sing familiar songs and some rarities by composer Kurt Weill at the Burnight Center Theatre, Saturday, Sept. 12 at 8 p.m.

Accompanied by pianist Raul Herrera, Ms. Gresham's performance will include the entire "Marie Galante," excerpts from "Three-penny Opera," "Happy End," "One Touch of Venus" and "Lady in the Dark."

Gresham's appearance is timed to coincide with the Kurt Weill celebration being held at Merkin Hall in New York City, and has the cooperation of the Kurt Weill Foundation for Music.

Gresham, a veteran of over 25 operatic roles, has not only soloed with orchestras and chamber ensembles, but has also appeared with the Roger Wagner Chorale and the Los Angeles Master Chorale.

Herrera has performed extensively on the community concert tour and is a founding member of the Los Angeles Vocal Arts Ensemble. He began his career as a solo harpsichordist in 1982, with the Los Angeles Chamber Orchestra.

Tickets for this event will be $5 at the door.

Beach Blanket Peep Show kicks off theatre season

By KARLA HUFENBACH
TM News Editor

Kicking off the Theatre Department's 1987-88 six-show season will be Beach Blanket Peep Show. The Generic Improvisational Peep Show, star's in this spoof of the 60s beach blanket movies.

The comedy/improv show will run in the Burnight Studio Theatre for six performances; Sept. 24-26 and Oct. 1-3. Show time is 8 p.m.

Although some skits are integrated into the performance, the Peep Show is mostly improvisation.

The audience provides suggestions and hilarious scenes, and vignettes will materialize.

The generic Improvisational Peep Show was founded by director Kevin Hoggard. They have been performing locally and regionally for over two years. The actors have gone through rigorous training in improvisation techniques to prepare for the show.

Hoggard has been involved with a number of improv groups, most notably the Burpee's Seedy Theatrical Company and the National Biscuit Company, both of which still tour the country.

Members of the Generic Improvisational Peep Show are: Jana Bowdish, Joe Harris, Sherry Hodge, Kevin Hoggard, Ray Martinez, Marabeth Mudge, Eric J. Dicky, Paulette Taormina and Sal Velazquez.

Open auditions for the upcoming comedy "A Flea in Her Ear" will take place on Wednesday, Sept. 30 at 6:30 p.m. in the Burnight Center Theatre.

'Speaking Up For Yourself' set as Re-Entry Center workshop

By KARIBETH MYERS
TM Staff Writer

The Re-Entry Resource Center is offering three free workshops in the month of September.

"Speaking Up For Yourself," an assertion training workshop, meets Wednesday, Sept. 9, 6:30 p.m. - 8:30 p.m., in the Assessment Center.

Participants will learn ways to give and receive criticism constructively, and to express themselves more openly.

"Open Your Own Doors" is a two-part workshop, offered in two separate series, designed to help identify skills and aptitudes that can lead into well-paying, non-traditional jobs.

"Series One" will be held on Sept. 19, 9 a.m. - noon, and Sept. 28, 6 p.m. - 9 p.m. at John S. Simms Park, Bellflower. The registration deadline is Sept. 16. "Series Two" will be held on Sept. 28, 9 a.m. - noon, and Sept. 30, 9 a.m. - noon, at Cabrillo Lane School, Cerritos. The registration deadline is Sept. 23.

Cookbook spices Foundation funds

By PAULA PEARSON
TM Sports Editor

The Cerritos College Foundation's newest fundraising idea is a cookbook.

These recipes will be submitted by foundation donors, alumni, staff, faculty, students, local restaurants, local fire departments and any other interested person from the Cerritos College district.

The cookbook will have 10 food categories from appetizers to main courses to desserts.

The best 250 recipes submitted will be featured in the cookbook.

The cookbook is also having a title contest. Suggestions and ideas should be sent to Community Services along with the recipe form.

Forms for both contests can be picked up in Community Services.

All proceeds will go to the Cerritos College Foundation. These funds will be used to establish specialized accounts for each division on the campus such as the Liberal Arts or Mathematics Divisions.

The "Math Without Fear" workshop, an evening of math games, puzzles, and fun, will be held Sept. 23, 6:30 p.m. - 8:30 p.m., in the Assessment Center.

There is also a Re-entry Students Support Group meeting on Wednesdays at 11 a.m. - noon, in the Assessment Center.

For more information call the Re-Entry Resource Center at 860-2451, Ext. 530, or stop by the Assessment Center.
