Homecoming fever rising; deadline near

Floats, candidates for court top agenda

By KARLA HUFENBACH
TM News Editor

Homecoming queen and float applications are due in the Student Activities Office this coming Tuesday, Sept. 29.

Twenty slots are available for floats in this year's extravaganza with its "Circus '87" theme.

There's no limit on initial candidate entrants.

Many of the some 50-plus campus organizations are already getting caught up in the momentum as float plans and queen candidate selections highlight the prelims.

The first really big manifestation of the "homecoming spirit" is expected Saturday night when the Falcons — who top Southern California rankings — host Sacramento City College, ranked No. 1 nationally before falling to Taft over the weekend.

Ironically, Cerritos goes to Taft next weekend.

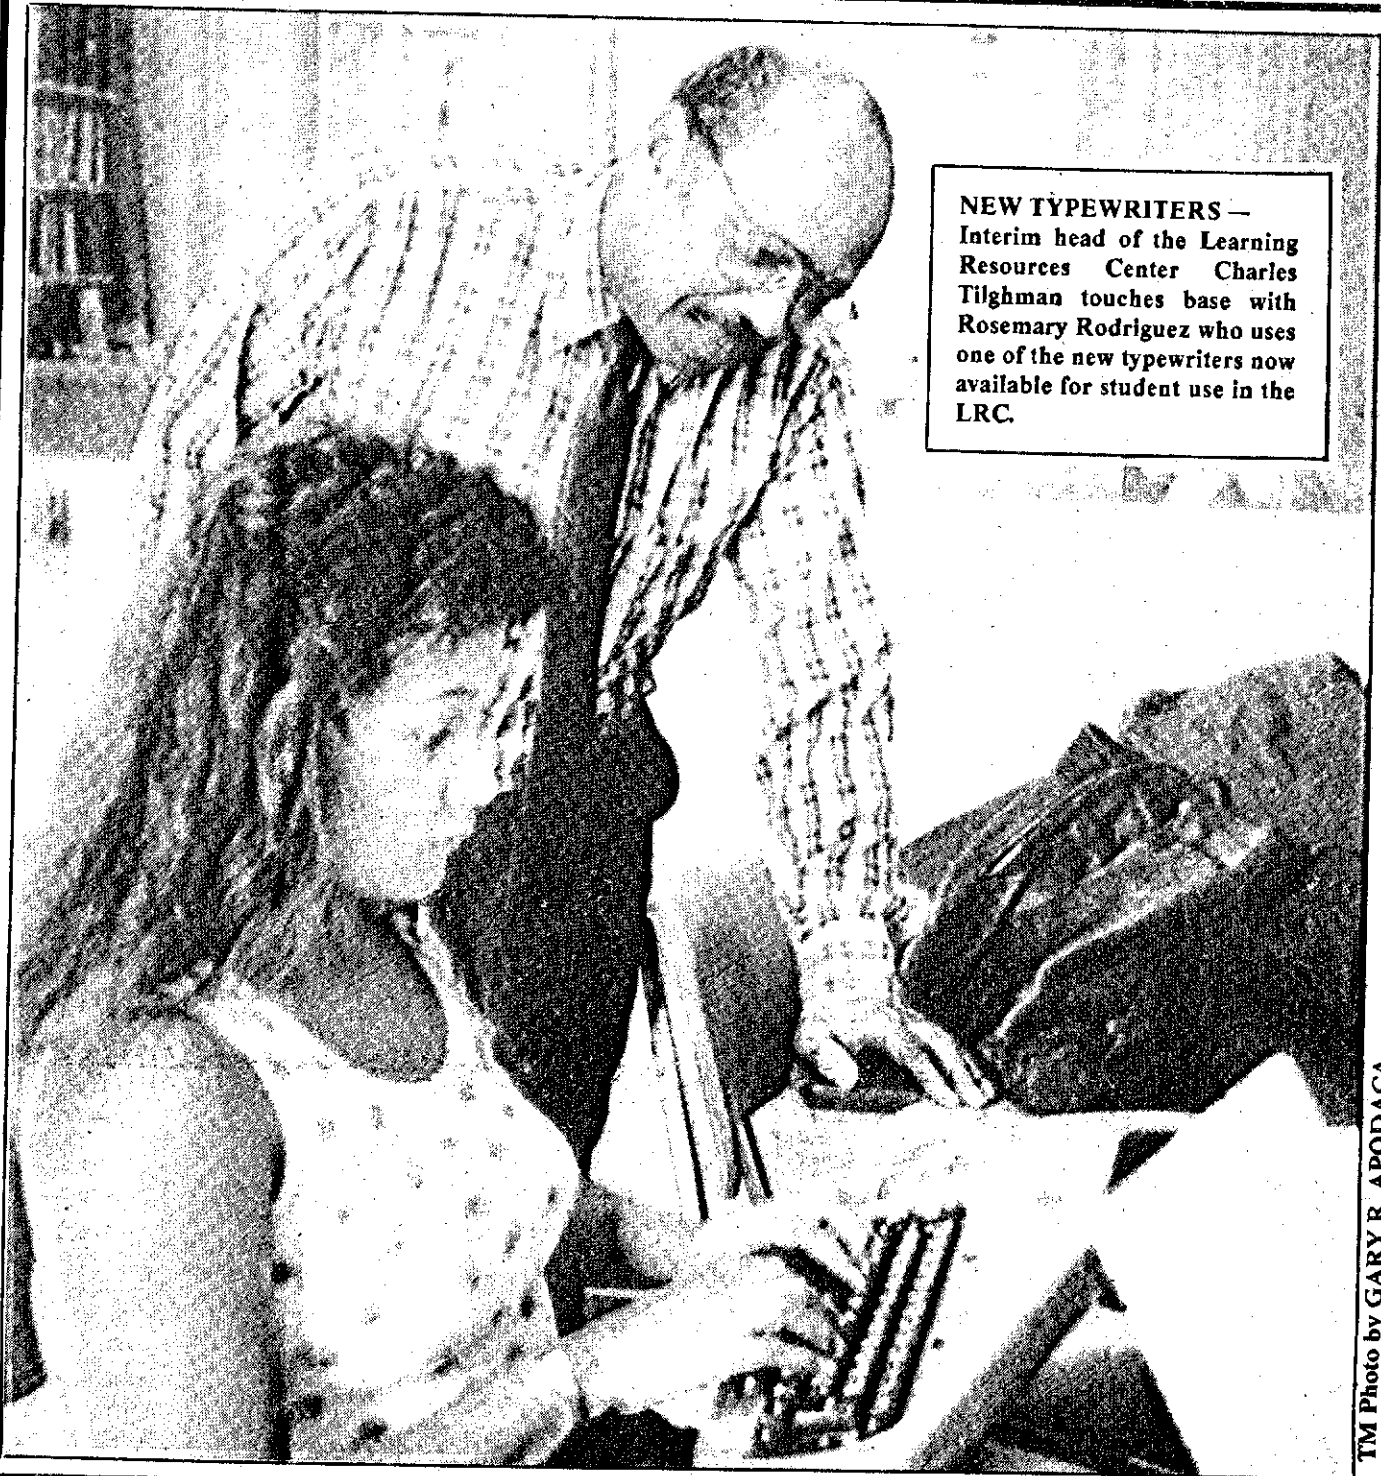

Saturday's stellar evening gets under way with a special 6 p.m. reception in the Student Center, complete with free hot dogs, pop, and other refreshments.

The slate of seven Homecoming Court hopefuls will be picked at the polls Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 6 and 7, following several days of intensive campaigning.

Then the real all-out vote battle for Queen from the final seven will culminate Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 20 and 21.

Groups entering the float competition are subsidized $200 by the Associated

TAFT, NEW KING, IS NEXT

Nation's No. 3 team coming; Falcons rated No. 2 in SoCal

By JOHN WELSH
TM Associate Editor

"The next couple of weeks are going to be real fun," joked head football coach Frank Mazzotta on his upcoming schedule.

This Saturday night in Falcon Stadium at 7:30 Cerritos plays host to top seeded Sacramento City College in a non-conference matchup.

Sacramento, which was rated number one in the country last week, was defeated 50-20 by Taft College on Saturday.

Despite the loss, Mazzotta still believes Sac City to be a team to be reckoned with.

"People are going to look at that score and aren't going to realize what a good team they are," said Mazzotta. "When they beat you, they beat you bad and they can beat you in a hurry."

"They're as good a football team as they come. Real good athletes — big and fast, just like last year."

Most of the players who were on the Falcon roster last season would like to as soon forget about Cerritos' first meeting ever with SCC, a 26-16 defeat up north to the Panthers.

Sacramento (now 1-1) ended last year's campaign with a 10-0-1 slate.

With Taft getting the win over the Panthers, Mazzotta has even more to prepare for. Cerritos will face Taft two Saturdays from now at Taft.

"We're going to be tested real good," Mazzotta added on the tough two games to come.

But Cerritos, 1-0 after opening the

'under god' maybe out of flag pledge...

If you recently said the Pledge of Allegiance, and recited the words "under God," you violated a California State Law.

"Under God" has been out of the pledge for Californians.

Any religious implications notwithstanding, how did the state legislature up and alter a national document?

With all the monetary woes facing the state today, it is refreshing to note that while boys and girls in Sacramento can't come up with an adequate budget plan, they have time to oversee the federal government's presumed shortsightedness on the issue of separation of church and state.

While they were voting for the will of the people on this slightly sensitive issue, perhaps they would like to tell us about all the outraged folks who wrote their respective representatives on the matter.

Has someone forgotten that the founding fathers of our nation were themselves oriented in the belief of a "supreme being"?

While those founding fathers laid the foundation of separation of church and state, indications are that neither did they wish to promote the "religion of atheism."

So what if the English generic word for a supreme being happens to be "god." The apparent minority who might be adamantly opposed to uttering such words are under no legal obligation to do so.

Critics say it is unduly catering to the whims of a few without first establishing the real will of the majority.

Taking "under God" out of this solemn oath seems a little patronizing.

But there are those voices who insist that there is no God/god in politics and matters of state and otherwise.

There are those who ponder the haunting matter of "what if" and "just in case..."

Ironically, this action also seems to focus on familiar words like "indivisible" and "liberty and justice for..." making them at least suspect, if not dispensable...

EDITOR:

Exams are one of the most important parts in education. They determine how much a student has learned, and perhaps more important, whether you graduate or not.

Exams also determine how well the teacher has taught.

It is a common belief that the student is the one who takes the exam.

This statement can often be redundant.

How well the student does is a reflection of how well the teacher has taught his subject.

It is possible for a teacher to teach his subject in a positive manner and still come across as a failure because of poorly prepared exams.

Preparing an exam is every bit as important as preparing class lectures, and this is true regardless of the subject.

Like most of my fellow students at Cerritos College, I have recently completed the first round of exams.

I was not expecting easy exams, but I was expecting well prepared exams.

After going over my exams, I felt as if my instructors had prepared them the night before.

Anytime an instructor has to stop the class in the middle of an exam to make revisions, the instructor obviously has not done his job in regard to the preparation of the exam.

My intention is not to embarrass or insult my instructors, the majority of my instructors have been good and several have been excellent.

I am just trying to make a point about the importance of exams, and that some instructors could do a better job when it comes time to prepare an exam.

Sincerely yours,
Samuel Munoz

EDITOR:

I have just received an interpretation on a judicial review I had requested by the Supreme Court of the Associated Students. According to their ruling, precedent is more important than intent in determining meaning.

Article IV, Section 4, of the Constitution of the Associated Students states, "The Senate shall approve all appointments made by the president, and by two-thirds vote, determine such appointments."

The intent of this law, in my opinion, is clear. The framers of our constitution were afraid of the executive branch of student government, namely the president, from exercising too much power. They did not want him to be able to "stack" the Supreme Court, the Executive Cabinet, or any other committees or offices where appointments are made by the president. While I have no doubt that Alex Mackoud has no intention of doing this, I do remember the previous presidents' appointment record and am worried about future executive office holders.

Of course this may not have occurred to the court since, with the exception of Chief Justice David Carpenter, all of the Associate Justices are brand new and only two have any prior government service.

I can only hope that in the future intent, rather than precedent, will be the deciding factor in future interpretations, since precedent may change but intent remains changeless.

Sincerely,
Edward F. McGinn
Senate Party Whip

'Pick-up Artist' movie on make

By NANCY BALLARD
TM Editor-in-Chief

"Molly Ringwald Grows Up" might be a better title for the just released "Pick-up Artist" that opened city-wide last weekend.

Ringwald plays a much different part than the teenager she portrayed in her last movie "Pretty in Pink."

Personifying a female pick-up artist shows that Ringwald is definitely ready to be grown up.

In any event this cutesy, too short to be called a feature length film (only about 1 1/2 hours, barely), does have its funny moments.

Jack Jericho (Robert Downey) has an attitude toward life that seems to be devil-may-care, especially evident in the scene where he crumbles a piece of paper covered with phone numbers and throws it away, but just in case he doesn't score with Randy (Molly Ringwald) he surreptitiously retrieves the paper.

Downey could be the up-and-coming new Mark Harmon heart throb replacement with his big sexy eyes and cute nose that managed to steal more than just a few scenes from Ringwald.

The supporting cast of Jack's lively grandmother (Mildred Dunnock) and Randy's loveable, reckless father played by (Dennis Hopper) makes this an almost worthwhile dalliance for the end of summer blues.

This romantic comedy is rated PG-13.

First Senate meeting sees confirmation of all appointments

By NANCY BALLARD
TM Editor-in-Chief

The first meeting of the 48th ASCC Senate was called to order by the Student Body Vice President Kenny Fewer.

Rules and tradition were outlined in a welcome address by Dean of Student Activities Phil Houseman.

Houseman also explained the Student Government manual and encouraged the Senators to "Pay special attention to the parliamentary procedures section."

This section contains information from how to write a new law to Robert's Rules of Order, Revised.

Student body President Alex Macksoud focussed on the positive aspect of Student Government as he welcomed the new Senate at Wednesday's meeting.

Macksoud also stated that "The Executive Cabinet has worked long and hard during the summer and I hope that all will be approved without delay."

After very little discussion among each group, newcomer Oscar Novelo was elected to the position of Majority leader by the group of 19 of his peers.

Heading up the Minority portion of ten will be Sherry Senf.

A very laid back discussion and nomination for the position of President Pro-tem was seen as Senator Mike Negrete was voted into the spot.

Senator Tim Morovick was unanimously put into the position of Sergeant-at-Arms. Morovick's position was almost assured when the 6'4" 250 pound star football player stated that he felt he could "Handle any problem that might come up."

The Faculty Senate Liaison job was approved by acclamation to Senator Karen Stufflebeam.

The top Senate seats for the Fall Senate will be, in order, President Pro-tem, Mike Negrete, Majority Leader, Oscar Novelo, Minority Leader, Sherry Senf, Sergeant-at-Arms, Tim Morovick, and Senate Liaison, Karen Stufflebeam.

The Party Whip position was unanimously voted to Senator Ed McGinn.

The appointments of Commissioners saw under ten questions asked of the 21 candidates applying and all were approved.

The majority of questions asked were in regard to the number of units completed and GPA's.

Five appointments, including one commissioner, two assistant commissioners and two court justices were tabled due to their being unavailable for questioning.

Today's Senate meeting will be held at 2 p.m. in BK 111/112 and the public is invited to attend.

Construction will take place in marathon style on the east side of Falcon Stadium under the protective bleachers.

Judging will be done Saturday morning on the track around the football field by a panel of faculty, staff, board members, and community representatives.

A total of 13 trophies and seven ribbons will be awarded, with entrants eligible for one award each. Best overall float will receive the Amy Dozier Award, named for the late student activities administrator who was instrumental in helping shape the grand Cerritos homecoming tradition.

Winning floats will be paraded around the football field prior to the Queen announcement finale during halftime of the contest with Long Beach City College.

The 1987 Homecoming committee consists of Dianne Santamaria, Wendy Harris, Michael Negrete, Jennifer Rupert, Allen Holland, Jerome Brito, Joe Santana, Al Reyes, Cynthia Garcia and Angie Miller. This committee is responsible for coordinating, organizing and supervising the entire Homecoming agenda.

Other major activities scheduled include the introduction of the 1987 Homecoming Court on Oct. 13, 11 a.m. in the Student Center, Activity Night on Oct. 14 at 7 p.m., and a Mock Rally on Oct. 15 at 11 a.m. in the Student Center.

WORLD GAMES FOR POLICE, FIREMEN

*Campus officer Bolden brings back discus gold*By JOHN MC DOUGAL
TM Staff Writer

Lieutenant Mike Boldon of the Cerritos College Police force has been a competitor all of his 29 years, and his competitive spirit paid off recently in a gold medal at the 1987 World Police and Fire Games in San Diego.

Boldon, a 6'5 250 pound ex-Marine, entered the shotput and discus events. His throw of 50 feet in the shot put was enough to earn him a bronze medal.

He not only struck gold in the discus event, but set a new Police and Fire Games world record of 160'8."

Police and fire personnel from 13 different countries entered the World Games this year, coming from as far away as Scotland, England and Zimbabwe.

Boldon, a three-letter man at his high school in Tomah, Wisconsin, and a two-year veteran of the All Marine Track and Field team, still trains avidly. "I'm a competitor," says Boldon.

When Boldon is asked if he has any athletic goals, his eyes gleam with enthusiasm. "My goal in the shot put is 65 feet," he says with confidence, and a mark of "over 200 feet" in the discus is quickly amended to "220 feet, but when I hit these goals, I'll probably inch them out a little at a time."

"I'm practicing with the spinning technique in the shot put, and I think it should increase my distance" says Boldon.

Until the recent addition of a son to his family, Boldon's training regime included "Hundreds of thousands of throws a year." The birth of his son, and the added duties of fatherhood have curtailed his training somewhat, but he still manages to set aside some time for practice.

The key to his continued success in athletics, with less time to train, appears to be discipline.

"I like (not lack) discipline" Boldon states firmly. "I'm a policeman for the same reason I joined the Marine Corps. I like the discipline and regimentation."

This attitude seems to be translated into every aspect of the man, including his love of track and field.

Lieutenant Boldon has two Associate of Arts degrees from Cerritos College and a Bachelor of Science degree in Administration of Justice from California State University at Los Angeles.

Dinner theater back for $30 Oct. 8-11 run

By KARLA HUFENBACH
TM News Editor

The popular and stylish Dinner Theatre returns to Cerritos College Oct. 8. The successful cooperative endeavor will again be between the Theatre Arts Department and the Department of Culinary Arts.

Rumor has it that along with the excellent cuisine wine will also be served.

"Body Parts-An Anatomical Musicales" is this year's offering, and there has been cast changes and rearrangements since its summer debut in the Original Theatre Works.

A special feature this year will be a dessert and show only ticket that will be sold for eight dollars.

The show will run Oct. 8-11 and tickets are $30 per couple for general admission with a five dollar per couple discount for students, staff, and seniors.

The Dinner Theatre is performed in the Student Center and reservations are recommended.

Alumni Association goes all-out with Saturday pre-game welcome

By SYLVIA VELA
TM Staff Writer

The Cerritos College Alumni Association has free tickets available to alumni for the pre-game reception being held Saturday, at 6 p.m. in the student center.

The reception will welcome the 1987 Football Team before they tackle the number one ranked team in the state, Sacramento City College.

A buffet dinner will be served at the reception.

The Alumni Association elected four new cabinet officers who will begin work immediately on the upcoming fall and spring activities schedule.

New president is Sammi Ramos, vice-president is Vincent McKinney, treasurer, Fred Regan and Secretary, Carol Stone-cypher.

President Ramos feels that the main thrust for the association is that "Our focus will be on building a strong activities program, but with fund raising and membership support."

For more information on the Alumni Association call Greg Lamphear at 860-2451, Ext. 473.

CO-REC Well over 300 turn out for evening athletics

By JOHN WELSH
TM Associate Editor

Over 300 T-shirts were handed out to ASCC card holders Sunday at what was called the largest turnout at a Recreation Night in quite some time.

Co-ed volleyball, women's volleyball, 3-on-3 basketball, racquetball were the sports many club activists participated in.

Also, for the first time, ping pong was offered.

"The turnout was extremely good," said Dean Ackland, Coordinator of Student Activities. "We had a real spirited turnout."

"The cheering on the sidelines was really great," said Sandy Foster, Commissioner of Athletics.

Foster pointed out that getting things going quicker will be stressed at the next Co-Rec, scheduled for Oct. 18.

"Signups will begin at 6 p.m. and the first games will be getting under way by no later than 6:20," said Foster. "Also, a full team has to be present when it is signing up. We had too many teams forfeiting because of lack of players after they had already signed up."

"HOW I MADE $18,000 FOR COLLEGE BY WORKING WEEKENDS."

When my friends and I graduated from high school, we all took part-time jobs to pay for college.

They ended up in car washes and hamburger joints, putting in long hours for little pay.

Not me. My job takes just one weekend a month and two weeks a year. Yet, I'm earning $18,000 for college.

Because I joined my local Army National Guard.

They're the people who help our state during emergencies like hurricanes and floods. They're also an important part of our country's military defense.

So, since I'm helping them do such an important job, they're helping me make it through school.

As soon as I finished Advanced Training, the Guard gave me a cash bonus of $2,000. Then, under the New GI Bill, I'm getting another $5,000 for tuition and books.

Not to mention my monthly Army Guard paychecks. They'll add up to more than $11,000 over the six years I'm in the Guard.

And if I take out a college loan, the Guard will help me pay it back—up to $1,500 a year, plus interest.

It all adds up to $18,000—or more—for college for just a little of my time. And that's a heck of a better deal than any car wash will give you.

THE GUARD CAN HELP PUT YOU THROUGH COLLEGE, TOO. SEE YOUR LOCAL RECRUITER FOR DETAILS, CALL TOLL-FREE 800-638-7600,* OR MAIL THIS COUPON.

Cross country showing strong

By PAULA PEARSON
Sports Editor

The men's cross country team opened up the South Coast Conference season by winning a double dual match against Fullerton and Compton.

The Falcons raced past a shorthanded Compton squad, 15-50.

Cerritos knocked off Fullerton, 23-32.

The Falcons next meet will be a dual meet at La Mirada Friday, Sept. 25th at 3 p.m.

The Falcons are pitted against Long Beach City this Friday. Recently, Long Beach competed in a double dual match at Palos Verdes against El Camino and Golden West.

Long Beach beat Golden West 23-36 but lost to El Camino 20-36.

However, the Vikings' number one man, Uriel Rivera came in first overall with a time of 21:35.

Trujillo came in first at 20:40. He was only four seconds short of the running record for that particular course.

Following Trujillo was Nacho Lopez third with a time of 21:44, Andy Nogal fourth at 21:48:08, Ron Jensen fifth at 22:09 and John Perez tenth at 22:51.

Battle of grid rankings

season with a 30-20 victory over San Diego Mesa on Sept. 13, is no team to take easy either.

The Falcons, after a bye last Saturday, enter the Sac City contest as the southland's second ranked by the latest Sports Information Director's poll, and this time Cerritos is at home.

"We hope it's going to be an advantage for us," said Mazzotta. "The nice thing about being at home is that you're in your routine."

Sacramento has it tough. After a grueling trip to Taft, getting beat, and back home again, the Panthers have to start all over again Thursday in a bus trip down from the state's capital.

Look for the Falcons to attempt more of an air show attack, something that was not heavily incorporated against SD Mesa.

By RICH DE LABY
TM Staff Writer

The Falcons have extended their record to 4-0-1 with recent victories over Cuyamaca and Cypress.

Details on yesterday's action against San Diego City were not available at press time.

The Falcons continue action tomorrow with a home game against the Trojans of USC at 3 p.m. followed by an away contest Friday at Riverside.

Coach Robert Flores felt at the beginning of the season that it was important for his team to "Get out of the gate well" in order for them to gain confidence in themselves, and it appears that is just what they have done.

In last Friday's action at home against Cypress, the Falcons overcame difficulties with both freshman goalkeepers (Mike Matson and Edgar Alfaro) to pull out the 5-3 victory.

Starting goalkeeper, Mike Matson, was suffering from a case of food poisoning that made it difficult for him to fully concentrate on the match.

"I just couldn't keep up the type of intensity that I needed in order to play effectively," said Matson. "I went as long as I could."

Flores then put Edgar Alfaro in for Matson, and he too had problems. He eventually came out of the game after giving up two goals and suffering from an ankle injury.

The Falcons looked unbeatable at the half with a 4-1 lead on goals by Raul Avellaneda, Mario Orozco, Erik Casanova and Oscar Garcia.

Cypress shocked the Falcons by coming out and scoring two quick goals in the second half to make the score 4-3.

With their lead narrowed to one goal, the Falcons realized that it wasn't over yet.

"We went into the half with the feeling that we had the game," said a relieved Flores. "But when Cypress came out and scored those two quick goals against us, I knew we were in for a tough second half."

Mike Matson showed what he is made of by overcoming his illness and holding off the attack of the Chargers.

Cecil Okai, a student from Guiana who wasn't cleared to play until right before the game, scored an insurance goal and completed the scoring for the Falcons.

Earlier in the week, Cerritos pulled out a close one against Cuyamaca by a score of 1-0 in what Coach Flores called an "ugly victory."

Cerritos played strong for the first ten minutes, but after Raul Avellaneda scored the only goal of the match, the intensity level of the Falcons seemed to drop considerably.

"We were lucky to come away with the victory," said Flores.

Cuyamaca failed to capitalize on one opportunity after another including two penalty kicks. The first of which was stopped by goal keeper Edgar Alfaro and the second bounced off the inside portion of the post and back into play.

Women's volleyballers meet alumni here tonight at 7:30

The Cerritos College women's volleyball team won a tough match up against San Diego Mesa last Friday by taking three straight games 15-12, 15-10 and 15-13.

The lady Falcons next take on a Cerritos College Alumni team today at 7:30 p.m. before competing in the Santa Ana Tournament on Saturday.

The key to the win over San Diego Mesa was the outstanding play of middle hitter Evelyn Sefuvia, who was 15-for-29. Also contributing to the winning play was the sister combination of Elayne and Sandi Gannon with the timely serves.

When asked about the fact that the Cerritos team jumped off to an early lead but let Mesa back into it Coach Prindle had this to say. "It wasn't to artistic but we won..."

On the match against the Alumni team the Coach said, "this match will be a good test of our young team, the majority of Alumni have gone on to play at major four-year schools."

Falcons quarterback Don Sabella threw 21 passes for 182 yards. But running back Andre Wooten provided Cerritos with 223 yards (a career high and record vs. Mesa) and touchdown runs of 59 and 43, respectively.

"Defensively, (Sacramento) puts eight or nine guys near the line of scrimmage," said Mazzotta. "In order for us to loosen things up, we're going to have to throw. We're going to have to get the ball up in the air."

With more of an air show, Mazzotta hopes to have the holes opening up for Wooten.

CC FALCON

Happy times are here again with Co-Rec, Homecoming, football, friendly checkers

CO-REC JAMMIN' — Walked over to the gym Sunday p.m. to maybe try a little basketball, volleyball, racquetball, ping pong, etc. in the suddenly revitalized Co-Rec happening.

My ASCC card got me a free T-shirt which I deftly donned, got myself a soda, and headed for ping pong country. (I don't like getting my feathers ruffled too much on those more contact type sports.)

Lotta groups and individuals out for the fun going down on the premises. Probably see you there next month...

CHECKERS, MATE? — Speaking of fun and games, have you checked out the checkers, dominoes, chess, pool, ping pong, big screen TV, VCR and such in the new Student Lounge in the "old" Student Center?

My being one of the all-time great checker movers has apparently turned some of my would-be challengers into chickens.

Anyone for a "friendly" match?

LEFT AND LOST — Lost my house keys three weeks ago. Found them this morning. Frustration.

If you're like me, and don't find your lost stuff under the dirty clothes, try the campus Lost and Found.

Glasses, wraps, textbooks, keys...they just may be there for the asking...

CAUSE FOR PAUSE — Saw MEChA and friends celebrating Mexican Independence Day out in the quad.

The presentation was colorful and remindful.

I especially picked up on the dancing. Even joined them for a little boogieing down with the bird.

PIGSKIN PASSION — Passed gridiron practice and couldn't help but note the heavy dialogue.

Faster. Faster. Don't stop. Go faster. My sister can run faster than you."

"Sack him. Do it NOW. Do it. Do it. He's getting — awww, dude, you blew it."

"Kill him. Kill. Kill. Kill. Gooo."

"Go long. Not left — long. What's the matter? Your helmet hindering your hearing?"

With such pigskin passion, it's little wonder the Falcons are flying highest and are fun to watch.

KCEB IN THE SWIM — Broken pipes flooded the campus radio station area recently, but the big mop-up has wrung out the problem.

The incident didn't dampen the staff's enthusiasm — nor their ability to play your record requests.

Call 'em at Ext. 330 some sounds of music.

'CIRCUS' TIME — I like the theme for this fall's super event homecoming. There's just something about the circus.

Anybody need any clowns for this spirited affair? I have some friends...

TALKING GOLD — Talking to some of my silver-tongued friends on the speech team. Seems they're gearing up for another go for the gold, as in last year's national strike.

Talking happens to be one of my favorite pastimes, but I'm not sure I could handle the pressure of mining for the gold, silver, or bronze.

QUEEN SCENE — I'm looking forward to the race for the crown, Homecoming Court and Queen types.

I'm also thinking ahead to "Mr. Cerritos" in the spring semester "Hoe Down Days."

Thinking of entering myself — the latter, that is.

Somehow, though, I think I'll be able to muddle through all this necessary girl watching coming on.

NEWS BRIEFS

● You can earn an AA degree repairing Nissans

By DONOVAN SHULL
TM Staff Writer

Nissan's job training agreements effective in January makes them the fourth company to participate in a Cerritos College program.

Existing partnerships with GM, Ford and Chrysler accept students who first apply to participating dealerships.

Nine-week cycles with intensive class study, and paid working hours in a dealership earn most trainees the AA degree within a two year time span.

"We want qualified, fully trained technicians who have AA degrees" said Neil Mackenzie, Nissan's National Manager of Service Technical Training.

Nearly 125 of the currently enrolled students are split into two groups so that dealerships and class instructors have a smaller teacher/student ratio.

Randy Peebles Associate Dean of Technology expects more than a 200 total enrollment by next Fall due to Nissan's involvement.

● Get your four-year degree here with Weber

Cerritos College is in the four-year degree business. In a unique partnership agreement with Weber State University in Ogden, Utah, students studying in the field of logistics can earn a four-year bachelor's degree.

The first of two years of the program have been in place here at Cerritos since 1984 at the request of Rockwell International in Downey.

Logistics is an integral part of the largest production corporations and well over 100,000 people are employed in logistics related jobs in the Los Angeles area.

Classes are taught on campus as well as on Satellite Campus locations at Northrop, Hughes, Ford Aerospace and Mc Donnell Douglas.

An associate degree and a certificate are available through the Business Division.

● Modeling show-how set for kiddie hopefuls

Want to get your child into commercials?

Cerritos College Community Services is offering a seminar designed to help you learn the correct way to introduce your child to the world of commercials and modeling.

The seminar includes a lecture on the realities of children in the business, advice on selection of an agent, and a question and answer session with the instructor.

It will be held on Saturday, Sept. 26, 9 a.m. to noon, in Health Sciences Room 101.

The fee is $20.

For more information, or to make reservations, call 860-2451, Ext. 521.

● Math without fear — you can conquer math

A "Math Without Fear" workshop is being offered for those who cringe at the thought of figuring or shrink from balancing their checkbooks.

The workshop will be offered tonight from 6:30 p.m.-8:30 p.m. in the Assessment Center.

Math instructor Sue Parsons will head the informal evening with math games, puzzles and fun.

The session is designed to break the math barrier and increase problem solving capabilities in diverse areas such as budget-

● Bob Renteria new Circle K adviser

Robert Renteria, a Cerritos College Liberal Arts teacher, has been chosen as the new advisor to Circle K, a curricular and service orientated club.

Renteria a former member, expects Circle K to sponsor many social and service related activities in conjunction with AHORA (Associated Hispanics of Rising Achievers). Among the first will be the club's participation in the upcoming homecoming events.

Circle K, an international club affiliated with the Kiwanas, was chartered at Cerritos College in 1962 as a fraternity, but has enjoyed coed status since 1972, and is open to all students.

● Band, choir slate big Oct. 11 concert in park

Celebrate the bicentennial of the Constitution by attending an old-fashioned "red, white, and blue concert in the park" on Sunday Oct. 11. The program will be held in the quad from 3 to 4 p.m. and will feature the Cerritos College band and choir in a gala festival of patriotic music.
