The annual canned food drive comes to close at 4 p.m. Friday, Dec. 4. Plaques will be awarded to the top three clubs and organizations who turn in the most goods. All food items may be turned in to the Student Activities office. All food donated will be distributed to needy area families.

'LEFTY' PENDLETON, 64
Quiet, "fierce competitor"

Boxing coach 'Lefty' Pendleton dies Friday; colleagues shocked

Funeral services were held yesterday for William C. "Lefty" Pendleton, long-time coach and PE professor who died Friday of an apparent heart attack.

His death while he was at Concord attending a boxing match shocked colleagues who considered the personable Pendleton the epitome of good health.

Burial was at Forest Lawn in Cypress.

"Lefty," as he was affectionately known, came to Cerritos from Stockton College in 1960 and has coached football, track, and boxing.

He was an especially strong supporter of boxing and worked untiringly with the college program as well as other area youth.

He helped with coaching the U.S. boxing team in the Olympics, Pan Am Games, and many other AAU events over the years.

Counseling director Gene Martin who as Athletic Director and division dean hired Pendleton, said he was extremely well-liked.

"Lefty was a quiet, soft-spoken gentleman of the old school," Martin said, "but underneath that seeming shyness he was a fierce competitor."

He is survived by his wife Jean, and

BID FAILS TO LIMIT PRESIDENT

Senate bill called 'slap in exec's face'

By JOHN WELSH
TM Associate Editor

"If you start taking away the power of the president, why should we even have one?" questioned ASCC President Alex Macksoud, addressing last Wednesday's poorly attended Student Senate.

Macksoud, speaking to the senate for the first time since welcoming them at the start of the semester, was strongly opposed to a bill he felt would put limits on presidential power.

The bill, co-authored by Ed McGinn and Mike Negrete, fell just short of passing by majority, failing on a 9-7 count after heated debate and after two amendments were added to it.

The ASCC Awards Committee, which is currently selected by the student body president, would have been subject to senate approval if the bill would have passed, but fell short by 2 votes.

The original bill wanted "majority senate approval" but was amended.

"If everybody I appointed to committees were to get approved by the senate, they would be there until four o'clock every Wednesday," said Macksoud.

One senator felt it a "slap in the president's face."

"Why should the senate question what the president does?" asked senator Eric Schlemmer.

"I feel Alex is doing a fine job," stated McGinn. "Alex is not going to be our president next year, though. By allowing the president to appoint an awards committee without Senate approval, we resign ourselves to the possibility of a presidential 'stacking.'"

Later in the meeting, a bill co-authored by Negrete and McGinn that set stricter

Cerritos in Pony Bowl Saturday

By JOHN WELSH
TM Associate Editor

Facing a football team that put 390 points on the board in ten games, Cerritos College coach Frank Mazzotta has his hands full as he takes his Falcons into this Saturday's Pony Bowl Classic matchup with Mission Conference Champion Saddleback at Orange Coast's Le Bard Stadium.

Mazzotta's hands are not filled with the healthiest of football squads, though. He has eight starters that are nursing injuries that may restrict their performance come Satur-

● FINALS CHANGE/2

The amended finals schedule shows classroom, times and dates for testing that begins Dec. 11.

● PRO OR CON/2

Editorial discusses the possible sale of condoms on the Cerritos College campus.

● MAT ACTION/4

The Cerritos College wrestling team finished third in the SCC, regionals Friday at Rancho Santiago.

To sell or not? Who really cares?

There's been talk, pro and con, about condom sales on campus.

So far we, here at Cerritos, aren't going to have condom dispensers provided for our convenience, although other community colleges in our area have installed them.

Rio Hondo College is now selling condoms in their men's and women's restroom.

Should Cerritos follow suit?

Why not?

Does selling condoms on campus mean sex will run rampant in our halls?

Will it cause students to steal away to some dark corner or parked car between classes and be promiscuous?

Of course not.

But... On the other hand...

Why sell condoms on campus?

If there are no sex related activities taking place here, then there is no need.

Condoms are available at many locations throughout our community and nearby our campus, so accessibility is not a problem.

Community college students are old enough to buy condoms at any location they choose, if they so choose.

Condoms are nothing for the students, faculty, or the Board of Trustees here at Cerritos to be embarrassed about. They are a necessary fact of life in today's society.

Whether we sell them here, or not.

Who cares?

A TRUE ORIGINAL

Counselor Martin, career spans tenure of Cerritos

By KENNY O'LEARY

TM Features Editor

Director of Counseling Gene Martin is one of five of the original 38 faculty members who started Cerritos College in the Fall of 1957 with an enrollment of 300 students.

He describes the early years as tough, different and adventurous for both the faculty and students.

During the first two years, the college operated at Artesia High School from 4-10 p.m.

It took two bond issues and two years before facilities were built on the land now occupied by Cerritos College.

The football team of 1957, of which Martin was a coach, practiced at Bellflower High School from 12-2:30 p.m. everyday.

He was coach of the first track and field team in 1958.

Martin also served as Athletic Director from 1958-1962.

"We've had fine coaches, but we've also had solid support from the college administrative personnel."

"Cerritos College has always been a top contender in the many different sports we have participated in over the years," said Martin.

Martin received his Bachelor of Arts degree and his Masters of Art degree in Physical Education from Stanford University.

Martin was head coach of the 1962 football team, and has officiated football on both the high school and college level for 20 years.

A physical education and health teacher, Martin decided to broaden his role at Cerritos College by becoming a counselor, where he could help students academically as well as physically.

He was Faculty President in 1965.

On his 30 years here, Martin says, "Many of our graduates have gone on to be very successful in their life's endeavors, and it has been a rewarding experience to be associated with the many students I have contacted in the past 30 years."

Martin is married with three daughters two sons, and three grandchildren.

All five of his children have attended Cerritos College.

He likes golf, tennis and handball, along with reading and attending athletic events.

Dr. Donald M. Desfor, Photography; John R. Jackson, auto tech; Wallace D. Kincaid, long-time baseball coach and Frank Showman Jr. join Martin in 30 years of service at Cerritos College.

Italian cuisine featured on Thursday Culinary menu

By KENNY O'LEARY

TM Features Editor

A day in Milan, Italy, will be featured in the Cafeteria tomorrow, Dec. 3, in the latest offering of International Day by the Culinary Arts Department.

Students and faculty will be introduced to real Italian food, including Italian appetizers, soups, salads, meats, chicken, fish, vegetables and desserts.

Entrees include Manzo in Salsa Di Prezemole (saute top sirloin of beef with delicate parsley sauce), Braised Young Rabbit Marengo with stewed apples, Pollo Alla Cacciatore Con Spaghetti (fresh disjointed chicken cacciatore with spaghetti), Filette Di Sogliole Spumanti (fresh fillet of sole saute, white wine sauce).

Price for the entrees is $2.60 each, with chicken listed at $2.40.

Vegetables are Zucchini Ripiene (fresh stuffed zucchini), Ragolini Alla Prosciutto

(Italian green beans with diced ham and parmesan cheese.)

Types of pasta considered to be vegetables are Fettuccine Alfredo, Verdi (spinach noodles in a cream sauce), Risotto Alla Milanese (baked rice with saffron).

Two hot specialties are Linguini with clam sauce for $2, and Parmigiana Di Melazane con Carne (eggplant, meat, casserole), also at $2.

A cold special of Insalata Alla Cesare "Romeo" (Caesar salad Romeo) is $1.75.

Noccioline Di Vitello in Brodo (meatball soup) is the soup of the day at 95¢ a cup or $1.10 a bowl.

Salads being offered are Insalata Di Cicoria (chicory salad, tender chicory lettuce, tossed gently in olive oil and white vinegar dressing), and Insalata Di Calamari (fresh squid marinade in special herbs, served on a crisp bed of iceberg lettuce, nicely garnished).

The salads are listed on the menu at $1.10.

Cerritos journalists score in SoCal press competition

Karibeth Myers is one of the top four on-the-spot feature writers on the Southern California community college scene.

The Talon Marks is No. 2 in Best Use of Photos, No. 3 in Newspaper Layout and No. 4 in General Excellence.

Wings has the Not 2 Magazine Photo and No. 3 in Humor Article.

These were among the eight awards Cerritos College journalists picked up recently at the annual fall conference of the California Community Journalism Association.

Nearly 500 students from 30 colleges from the organization's Southern Section were on hand at Pierce College in Woodland Hills for the annual event which features seminars, workshops, and competitions in both on-the-spot and published materials categories.

TM Associate Editor John Welsh took fifth place with his "Craze" cartoon strip and honorable mention for magazine illustration.

Myers' competed with over 80 feature writers who attended a press conference with a witch.

The other awards were from mail-in entries which had been published in the two major student publications.

A photo of the burning fuselage of the passenger plane which crashed in Cerritos took second for Abel Estrella.

Night student Virginia Lewis's piece which bemoaned the loss of Gemco was a magazine light essay winner.

Welsh's cartoon of "Craze" and his buddy "Wave"... "checkin' out the chicks on campus" impressed the judges. The cover of last semester's edition of Wings was also a Welsh winner.

TM Editor Nancy Ballard, who headed the 25-member delegation, said the overall staff tally was especially outstanding, since "all the newspaper material was from this fall's staff, most of whom are relatively new and inexperienced."

"I'm very proud of them," she said, "especially when you consider we had to compete with publications who won awards with coverage of off-campus stories which are not even campus related."

Cerritos wound up among the top five weekly newspaper staffs. The other major competition for the student journalists is the state conference in April where the Falcon writers consistently place in the first five overall in the state.

Speech squad off to Pierce for fall championships

By RICH DE LABY
TM Staff Writer

Cerritos closed out in the Lincoln-Douglas Debate category, Nov. 21 and 22 at the Northridge Invitational Speech Tournament.

Taking part in the competition were 56 schools, 12 of which were community colleges.

Cerritos is now preparing for the Fall Championships, which begin this Friday and run through Sunday, at L. A. Pierce Community College.

Debaters Rick Adams, Bob Pence, and Gerard Reyes, all Falcons, tied for first place at Northridge out of 25 participants.

Melissa Drayer also placed for Cerritos, taking fifth in the Informative Speaking division, in which over 90 contestants competed.

Now/later subject of Dec. 7 seminar

The Re-Entry Resource Center will sponsor a procrastination seminar entitled "Do It Now—Not Later" on Dec. 7 from 12 noon to 1 p.m. in the Board Room of the Administration building.

The seminar will be presented by JoNell Hickok, M.A., M.F.C.C. who will speak on how to conquer the "putting it off" syndrome as well as on how to control time and manage life better.

Advanced reservations are advised as seating is limited. For more information call the Re-Entry Center at Ext. 530.

Jazz dance class slated tomorrow night

A beginner-intermediate Jazz Dance class will be held on Thursday, Dec. 3 in AC 55 at 7 p.m.

The class will be conducted by Dennon Rawles and members of the Jazz Dancers, Inc. company. The fee is $3 with ASCC card and observers are welcome.

Christmas art sale sponsored by club

To assist you with any difficulties you may be having with selecting gifts, the Cerritos College Art Club is sponsoring the Christmas Art Sale.

A wide range of works will be available to select from, including ceramics, paintings, drawings, sculpture and photography.

The sale is to be held at the art gallery on the Cerritos College campus on Dec. 15, from 10-1 p.m. and 6-8 p.m.

Spring registration gets under way

Open registration for the Spring Semester, which starts Jan. 11, will run from Jan. 7-19. Students with appointment cards will be enrolling Dec. 14-17 and Jan. 4-6, 1988.

Those students with questions regarding their spring schedule should begin now to make counseling appointments.

Peterson guests on CLI-PS taping

By MARK HEUSTIS
TM Staff Writer

KCEB's own on-campus talk show, CLI-PS, will host Jeff Peterson, M.A., from College Hospital to discuss biofeedback and the types of emotional and physical conditions with which it can be used.

The taping takes place today from 11:30 a.m. to noon.

Students can call in questions from a telephone in Student Services or drop by the KCEB studio, said Dr. Allan Boodnick, coordinator of campus Psychological Services and host of Contemporary Life Issues-Psychological Services (CLI-PS).

The program, which started its weekly run in March, is designed to enhance the learning experience and to help each student take responsibility for his own well being.

Any questions concerning the emotional and psychological well being of students will be addressed, with counseling and referral to other helpful sources also being offered.

Fine Arts Gallery hosts professionals

The 1987 Invitational Exhibition is currently on display at the Fine Arts Gallery through Dec. 10.

The exhibit includes paintings, prints, mixed media works and jewelry by professional artists.

The Gallery hours are Monday through Thursday 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Tuesday through Thursday 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. The gallery is located in the Arts and Crafts Building, east courtyard.

Banged up Falcons saddle up for Pony Bowl action

day's 1 p.m. kickoff, or may keep them out altogether.

"We're a little dinged up," said Mazzotta. "But the two weeks off have helped us a bit."

Cerritos closed the season with a 48-12 South Coast Conference stomping of Mt. San Antonio Nov. 21, marking its slate at 6-3-1 overall and 3-2-1 in the SCC.

Included in the "banged-up boys club" for Cerritos is premiere running back Andre Wooten. The 5-foot-11 195-pound All-American from Cerritos High rushed for 1,123 yards in only 7½ games.

Wooten missed the Mt. SAC contest because of a broken toe. Mazzotta said his sophomore runner wants to play and added, "When Andre wants to play, it's usually an indicator of a good performance."

Wide receiver Frank Mazzotta, Jr., who led the team with 40 receptions and a school record 692 yards, is likely to miss the Pony Bowl because of a fractured tibia.

Receiver Gary Burnett, who caught 10 passes for 183 yards, is out with a deep bruise in his side that has developed calcium deposits. Although starting center Keith Harrison (broken foot) has gotten the OK from doctors, he is questionable to play.

Also question marks are offensive guard Kevin Newton (sprained ankle) and tight end Ken Rogers (broken hand and sore ankle).

Rogers caught 15 passes for 214 yards and six touchdowns.

Still nursing a sprained ankle, All-Conference defensive back Eddie Stokes may not play. Stokes picked off four passes and also racked up 740 yards on punt and kickoff returns. The sophomore from Cerritos High led the defensive backs with 53 tackles.

With a damaged knee and a sore ankle, starting defensive end Gabriel Navarro will be knocked out.

Saddleback, an 8-2 finisher, is led by a 6-foot-2, 210-pound quarterback by the name of Howard Gasser. The sophomore completed 148-of-254 passes for 2,264 yards and a school record 24 touchdowns.

Gasser threw only three interceptions, two of which occurred in Saddleback's wild 45-34 victory over Rancho Santiago in the season finale.

"Gasser will probably be the best quarterback we've seen all year," said Mazzotta. "He doesn't have the best arm around, but he knows where to throw the ball, and he just gets the job done better than anyone else."

Gasser's prime targets are Scott Miller and Kelly Ryan. Miller caught 60 passes for a freshman record. The wide receiver accounted for 898 yards of real estate with nine touchdowns.

Sophomore Ryan pulled down 35 grabs for 684 yards and 12 touchdowns.

"These guys run fantastic patterns," said

Mazzotta. "If we can contain Gasser, it will neutralize Miller and Ryan."

Mazzotta said Gasser picks up on opposing blitzes well and that it is better to cover him tightly rather than to pressure him.

For Cerritos, Don Sabella (Warren) will get the starting role, but Mazzotta said Shane Norris (Downey) will get ample playing time.

"We have to threaten them with the run to open up our passing game," Mazzotta said. "I still feel if we're healthy, this could be the best team I have ever coached."

Mazzotta coached the 1983 team that defeated Saddleback 34-17 in the Pony Bowl.

Sick shooters off to slow start

By JOHN WELSH
TM Associate Editor

Losing two starters to the flu and another two being off the roster was not expected to help the Cerritos College basketball team going into Saturday night's non-conference game with undefeated Santa Monica.

The Corsairs (6-0) took advantage of its opponent's pitfalls, sending Cerritos on a sickly 109-81 roller coaster ride, almost tying a Cerritos record for lopsided defeats.

Friday night Cerritos set a more positive record, scoring the most points in school history in a 142-123 point show at East Los Angeles. Incidentally, 123 points is the most the Falcons have allowed.

Earlier last week, Rancho Santiago was able to come back and hand Cerritos an 80-75 setback.

The loss to Santa Monica dropped the Falcons to 3-3, the worst start in Coach Jack Bogdanovich's six year career at Cerritos.

Because of academic ineligibility, sophomore Andre Edwards, a 6-foot-5 forward from Lynwood High, was lost. Another Sophomore, guard Walt Lauderdale, decided to redshirt this season. The absence of both these sophomores, along with starters Jim Taylor and Vern Johnson, ill, gave Santa Monica an easy coasting win Saturday night.

Guard Deshawn Pullard led all scorers, collecting 22 points, including three three-pointers to open up the second half, which boosted the Corsairs' lead, 77-51, with 14:23 to play in the game.

The boards belonged to Santa Monica. The Corsairs outrebounded Cerritos, 54-30, getting multiple shots on several trips down the court.

The Falcons would never come closer than 21 points, losing by the second worst margin in school history. San Francisco City defeated Cerritos 106-74 in 1981.

Points were the least of Cerritos' problems Friday night with a run and gun style of play against East Los Angeles. The Falcons broke the 1968 school record for most points, routing East L.A., 142-123. Cerritos scored 139 against El Camino in '68.

Martha and Marsha run in State

Marsha Chaney and Martha Reynoso were the only women from Cerritos College to qualify for the State Community College Cross Country Championships held Saturday, Nov. 21, at Fresno.

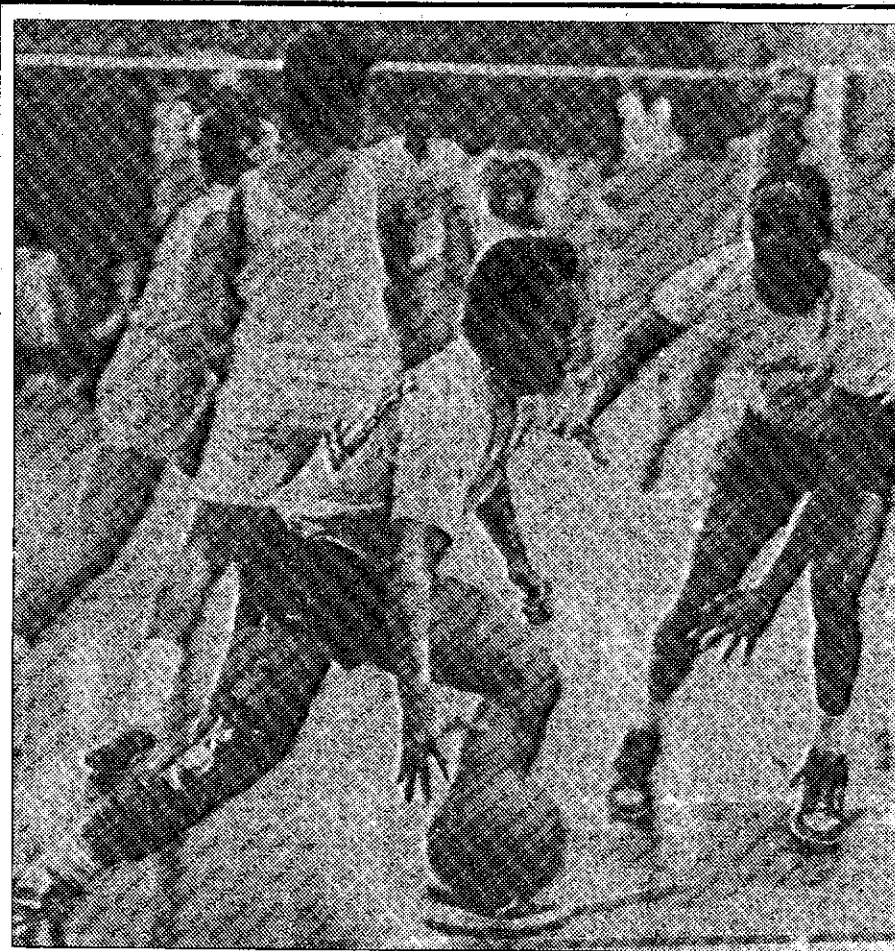

The Falcons finished the season as a team with a 6-2 double dual meet record and third place ranking in the South Coast Conference.

Coach Hal Simonek was able to enter Chaney, Cerritos' top runner and fourth best in the SCC, and tenth SCC ranked Reynoso at the state competition.

Despite a chilling 33 degree temperature, Chaney clocked in at 19:09 for the five kilometer run. Chaney's time was good for 25th place overall.

Reynoso crossed over at 20:36 for 69th place.

Moorpark eliminates Cerritos

By PAULA PEARSON
TM Sports Editor

Cerritos College was handed an early exit from Southern California Regional volleyball action Wednesday, losing a five game match at Moorpark in the first round.

Including the post season defeat, the Falcons lost four straight to finish the season at 10-7 overall.

Utilizing strong blocking, Cerritos started out strong, winning the first two games, 15-13 and 15-10, respectively.

Game three saw the Falcons take an early 7-1 lead, but appeared to allow themselves to get in a state of mental relaxation, letting down their guard and losing the game, 15-10.

Game four and five resulted in the same fashion as the third game.

As in the previous games, once the Falcons lost hold of the lead, composure and momentum were nowhere to be found.

The Raiders took advantage of the Cerritos lack of spirit, routing the Falcons in game four, 15-5. Moorpark clinched the match with a 15-7 game five win.

The Falcons most serious error in the match was the fact that they missed a total of 18 serves.

Sheila Pautsh played her best match of the season chalking up 11 kills, three serving aces and three blocks.

According to Coach Prindle, "It was the same pattern as seen in the previous games, we would start out really strong and then we would relax. We would relax to where we couldn't get back on track thus losing altogether."

Schack leads ladies' hoop squad, 4-1, in nipper over L.A. Valley

By PAULA PEARSON
TM Sports Editor

Shelley Schack, guard for the Cerritos College women's basketball team and last years MVP, has already helped lead the Falcons to a 4-1 standing in non-conference play.

The Falcons defeated L.A. Valley last Tuesday (Nov. 23) in the gym by a slim two point spread, 64-62.

Action heats up for Cerritos as they travel to College of the Sequoias for a tournament that will have them competing tomorrow until Sunday.

Schack scored 19 points in the win. She averages 14 points an outing.

Teammate Michelle Warner racked up 18 while Brenda Longe chalked up 15 points. Both women produce over 10 points a game.

Schack averaged 38% of her field goals, making 8 out of 21 baskets.

Schack also averaged 75% of her free throws, sinking three out of four attempts, rebounding seven while making eight assists and sneaking away three steals in the match.

Warner hit five of 11 shot attempts and connected on 8-of-9 freethrows. She pulled down 11 boards and had one steal.
