

Talon Marks

Vol 33S/2 • CERRITOS COLLEGE, Norwalk, CA 90650 • Sept 22/1989

APPS DUE SEPT. 27 Homecoming 'Fairytale' this year

By LISA PUCH
TM News Editor

Once upon a time the Inter-Club Council of Cerritos College, as easily as wishing upon a star, chose "Storybook Fairytale" as this year's Homecoming theme.

As quick as a flick from a magic wand the theme won by a majority vote over such diverse competition as "Up-Up and Away," "Country Hoe Down," and "Classic Horror Movies."

Revamped applications for '89 Homecoming Queen candidates are now available in the Student Activities office.

The new cabinet approved qualifications which call for candidates to be a member of the Associated Students.

Court hopefuls must be sponsored by an on-campus club or organization, and have a previous and cumulative grade point average of at least a 2.0.

Last year the only qualification was to have a 2.0 GPA.

Also approved by the Cabinet was the 10 unit minimum for entry onto Court.

Applications are due Sept. 27 in the Student Activities office by 4 p.m.

Float applications are also available and are due Oct. 11.

There are 20 float construction beds available provided by the ASCC. They are assigned on a first-come, first-served basis.

Float building will begin Oct. 16. The floats must be completed by 9:30 a. m., Saturday, Oct. 21 (Homecoming Day) for judging.

Court elections will be held Wednesday and Thursday Oct. 4-5.

Other major activities scheduled include the pre-game reception to announce the Court Saturday, Oct. 7, at 5:30 p.m. in the Cafeteria.

Court introductions are slated Oct. 10, Activity Night Oct. 11, and the Mock Rally Oct. 12.

Olympic gymnast to perform in gym

Olympic Gold Medal winner Peter Vidmar will be guest speaker and performer on campus Tuesday, Sept. 26.

The gymnast, who won two top medals in 1984, will appear in the gym at 11 a.m.

Admission is $3 with ASCC card.

The star is presented by Lambda Delta Sigma and Sigma Gamma Chi.

AGS takes 10 Senate seats

Hsieh top vote getter; Schmitt prexy Pro-Tem

By KARLA HUFENBACH
TM Associate Editor

Newly elected ASCC Senators filled 31 seats Wednesday, after an election that ended with a bang.

At least in terms of voter turnout.

The positive showing of 891 votes nearly doubled the spring Senate count, and topped last fall by over 150.

Traditionally, the bigger count has been in the spring semester, but the trend has reversed in the last two years.

Big finishers this time were Derek Hsieh and the Alpha Gamma Sigma (Honor Society) slate.

Hsieh, who was also the top vote-getter last spring, garnered a total of 201 votes. He has also been appointed ASCC Party Whip by President Manuel Rincon.

Diana Schmitt was elected as president Pro-Tem, Kevin Kakita and David Salinger were elected majority and minority leaders, respectively.

Other agenda items included electing senate officers, approving executive cabinet and court appointees.

The AGS slate was the only one to be elected intact, with the maximum 10 candidates.

A total of 891 ballots were cast, with five declared void. Although not exceeding predictions of high voter turnout, it was a good showing in comparison to last fall that showed 735.

AGS, MEChA, and AHORA all had slates of 10 entered on the ballot.

From the 31 available seats MEChA captured six, and AHORA three. The entire AGS slate was elected all within the top 12 spots.

Incumbents as a whole did very well. In addition to Hsieh (AGS), Diana Schmitt (AGS), number two with 183 votes, Sean McConnell (Ind), Jeff Duke (Ind), Mike Allen (Ind), Gary Gall (Ind), Carl Lopez (Ind), CSEA EFFECTIVENESS CHALLENGED

— See SENATE Page 3

Classified bargaining row hits Board floor

By MARK HEUSTIS
TM Editor in Chief

The initial classified contract proposal presented to the Board of Trustees was accompanied by a statement painting a grim picture of the college's classified employees' involvement with their collective bargaining unit, the California School Employees Association (CSEA).

According to remarks made by classified employee, Don Pendry, at the Board's Sept. 19 meeting, classified staff have little reason to trust the CSEA.

Faculty Senate President Connie Mantz presented an article from a local newspaper, the Herald American.

It included a quote attributed to Campus Police Chief Mike Gobec stating the Faculty Senate was responsible for stalling the district's decision on whether or not to arm campus police.

According to Mantz, "Most of us were here before Gobec came and we will be here long after he is gone."

Suggestions for a new classified contract include the implementation of an early retirement program, and medical and life insurance costs for employees and their families being paid, in full, by the District.

Several reasons for the drop in membership of the Cerritos College branch of the CSEA were presented by Pendry.

"The CSEA is controlled by the magnificent 10. Strong, policy making women," said Pendry.

He went on to cite statistics showing some 21 female voting members as opposed to four male.

"It would appear to be an organizational problem. Can we get involved in something that is not our business," stated Board Vice President Katie Nordbak.

Pendry concluded by inviting each Board member to speak to him personally, saying, "There is a lot to discuss regarding the

— See BOARD Page 3

1989 FALL STUDENT SENATE

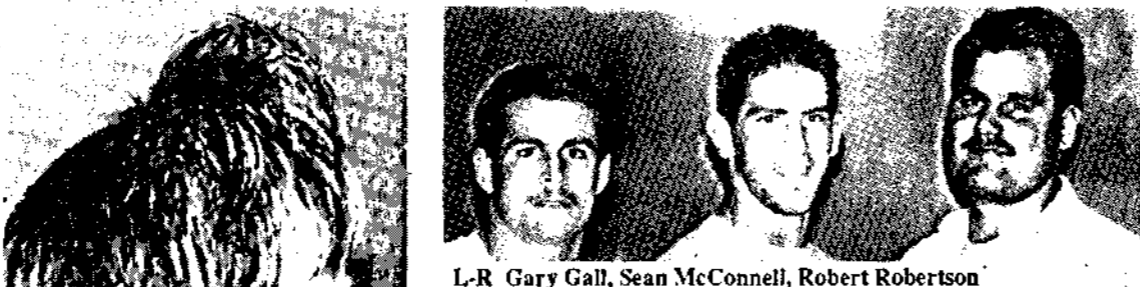

L-R Diana Schmitt, Derek Hsieh, Maurice Connevey, Jenny Schoenborn, Kevin Kakita

L-R David Salinger, Carl Lopez, Jeff Alexen, Lydia Delgado, Felix Diaz

L-R Steve Vincent, Tina Mendoza, Rosario Vasquez, Joanna Gregorio, Won Suk Kang, Mike Allen

L-R Gary Gall, Sean McConnell, Robert Robertson

L-R Myra Brebonia, Robin Taylor, Heidi Wiersma, Cecil Cope

L-R Sandy Nam, Jeff Duke, Stephen Patten, Terry Rincon

TM Photos By Karla Hufenbach

Senate shoots for objectivity on survey of guns for campus police

By SHELLY LESTER
TM Managing Editor

Do you want campus police to be armed?

Yes or no?

The Faculty Senate is pondering the highly controversial issue.

So are a lot of other people. The Senate is preparing to conduct a campus-wide survey of faculty, staff, and students.

A special committee studying the problem has provided background information detailing campus crime, including a bathroom rape and two robberies.

But it was suggested that this not be included as background information on the survey questionnaire because it might emotionally influence people to vote for arming campus police.

Then, somebody suggested that the other side of the issue be included in the questionnaire also.

So, it was decided to leave both sides out and not have anything but the question, with an explanation that the Board of Trustees wants the input to make their decision on whether to authorize the arming of the officers or have them as they are.

Both sides have expressed strong sentiments on the subject.

Consideration was given at one point to use the wording in Chief Mike Gobec's original memo to the college president. However, objections were raised that his name, as an authority figure, might unduly influence the results.

revisions of the ballot wording. Everybody is worried about it being biased.

Opponents to arming the campus police express fear that students and staff might be shot by what they consider "insuf-

NEWS ANALYSIS

By SHELLY LESTER/Managing Editor

Senate President Connie Mantz was irked at Gobec when he was quoted as accusing the Senate of "dragging its feet" on the matter.

Mantz denied the charge, saying that it is simply a matter of having to make so many ciently trained" officers.

Proponents argue that the officers are trained at the Sheriff's Academy, and have the same qualifications as area law enforcement and city police.

They also point out that strict guidelines and policies would regulate the use of arms.

Cerritos College was at one time "neutral turf" and enjoyed a certain "sanctuary status." However, gangs no longer recognize campus boundaries. This, along with an apparent increase in crime, has alarmed the campus community.

In response to Talon Marks questions, Gobec says his officers are compromised by not being armed, and expresses concerns for their safety, as well as that of the rest of the campus.

While conceding that his officers obviously — armed or not — cannot be everywhere at once, he suggests that public knowledge of armed officers would serve as a deterrent.

Most observers who feel strongly against guns reluctantly acknowledge the need for some measure of protection.

In the meantime, there are four seats on the Board of Trustees to be filled — or re-filled — in November.

And this is a political hot potato.

Nobody wants to get hurt, but the fact is that hurt happens.

Some have reduced it to a question of whether or not campus people will be hurt more, or less, if guns are authorized.

The candidate who takes a stand either way will take a lot of shots...

EDITORIAL

Winning Auto Tech

When comparisons are made between Cerritos College and four year schools, we too often draw the short end of the stick.

True, they have big money academic programs, and weighty reputations, but there is one field of study which is not available to university students.

Vocational training.

A field in which Cerritos is currently at the forefront. Our Auto Tech program has recently received national attention. No wonder, with cooperative efforts between the college and each of the "Big Three" auto manufacturers.

Graduates go directly from the program into full-time employment.

Students who fulfill the requirement for a certificate in collision repairs reportedly have a 100 percent rate.

This is something no four year school can match.

Because of the processes necessary to institute new programs, universities can scarcely gear up to offer state-of-the-art training in vocational fields.

Community colleges can — and do.

Because the state-of-the-art equipment produced by manufacturer US Amada far outstripped the supply of qualified operators, they sought an outlet for training. Cerritos became that outlet.

In an all-win situation, operators are trained on the equipment supplied by US Amada, and reach the job market with up-to-date skills.

A similar need exists in the aerospace industry.

The advances in education cannot keep up with new equipment.

Once again Cerritos College, having forged a partnership with industry giant IBM, is helping to fill the void.

Some half million dollars worth of equipment and training are being supplied by IBM to assist Cerritos in starting the Computer Integrated Manufacturing program

First-time students, as well as persons wishing to update skills, will receive training on computer equipment which will be the industry standard of tomorrow.

Community colleges continue to forge a unique link between industry and the work force.

At the same time, "we educate" the whole person, with a viable mix of the vocational and academics.

We don't draw the short end of any stick when it comes to measuring up.

Mime Starhawk Townsend chats with Ann Cooper, above, while seniors get with exercise routine, right

Photos by NANCY BALLARD

Senior Fare draws over 500 visitors

By ANGIE VILLANUEVA
TM Opinion Editor

Over 500 senior adults and their families attended the first annual "Senior Fare," despite threats of rain.

Some 50 exhibitors and vendors were on hand in the Quad area Saturday.

They ranged from health testing and job opportunities of interest to seniors, to non-profit groups with homemade cookies, Christmas gifts and other knick-knacks.

Campus organizations and clubs on hand included Golden Key Club, Student Nurse Association, Re-Entry Resource Center, the Fine Arts Department, Cosmetology, and Kappa Phi Theta.

One of the highlights of the Fare was the humorous speech by long-time LA Times columnist Jack Smith.

Entertainment was also provided by pianist Mel Norfleet, singer Dorothy Polemo, Cerritos Emeritus College exercise class, Singalares, Fantastic Four and La Mirada Senior Line Dancers.

A popular feature was a mime who juggled pins, shaped animal balloons, and rode her unicycle.

The De LABY LOBBY

By RICH DE LABY

Slap a cop, go to jail? If you're Zsa Zsa, ha ha

Gag orders, media mobs, and courtroom crowds.

Persistent headline grabber, Zsa Zsa Gabor's brawl with the law is turning into a media circus. And a huge audience is keeping tab on the center ring.

The gag order mandated by the judge should have been a more traditional silencer, such as heavy duty duct tape.

Apparently marrying a few rich men and an occasional "token" screen appearance give Zsa Zsa the power to do practically anything she wants, and get away with it.

Striking a peace officer, open container, and altering a drivers license are not offenses one should take lightly.

Before long, the Madison Avenue marketing hounds will be producing Zsa Zsa whiskey, boxing gloves, and police repellent.

Ironically for an accused felon, when all is said and done, she will be the only one who comes out of this with anything positive to show for it.

Taxpayers have wasted their money on a trial that would normally have been open and shut, the time of the hapless police officer, and he has been publicly embarrassed.

Granted the judge shouldn't take one courtroom observer's advice and "hang Zsa Zsa," but somebody needs to reassure the public that being famous doesn't put you above the law.

Public figures should be role models, not embarrassments.

Rob Lowe, Jim and Tammy, and now Zsa Zsa are setting trends better left unheralded and unfollowed.

For example, with the Cerritos College Homecoming just around the corner, our prospective queens may get caught up in the media blitz.

Before we know it, our campus beauties might start running stop signs looking for a chance to slap a Campus Cop in return for free press.

If it was you facing a prison term, wouldn't you be worried about more than "lesbians?"

Zsa Zsa's husband reportedly said to a reporter, "If I was the police officer I would get down on my knees, kiss her hand, and beg her forgiveness."

She should be down on her knees begging the courts not to throw the book at her.

Unfortunately, the only thing being thrown her way is a barrage of free publicity.

News programs are running the saga as the lead story.

Forget gang wars and Colombian drug lords, let's watch endless reports on Zsa Zsa's wardrobe.

LISA-AT-LARGE

Sentimental or no, Mom, you hadda way with words

How many times have you tried to leave the house when suddenly you hear... "Do you have your keys? Do you have your license? How about a jacket? Do you have enough gas?"

It's your mother!

We sort of accept being mothered.

Even if it is college to which you're off...

Before we hit that certain age when it ain't "COOL" for her to be packing us a lunch, or it's not "TOO HIP" to have mom chauffeur us to school.

We then find convenient ways around these embarrassing situations, while still keeping mom's feelings from being hurt.

Our creativity at coming up with more and more excuses amazes not only ourselves but our moms as well, who we find hard to believe were "once upon a time" young people too.

We find ourselves resorting to little white lies like, "It's national car pool month, so I'll be riding with a friend," or "No, mom it's OK; you can skip the peanut butter and jelly sandwich I got up early and packed my lunch so you wouldn't have to!"

Age seems not to bring an end to this monotony, but only intensifies it! Even as we get older, there are more things to be reminded of.

Are our uniforms ready for work? Did we remember to pay our phone bills? Have we RSVP'd for our cousins' wedding.

Ever stop to ponder what life would be like if these little voices ceased to exist?

How many classes would we have missed? How many bills would have gone unpaid? Would our phones be turned off by now?

Of course, all of this so called "parental discretion" makes for such bold proclamations as "I will never nag my kids like this," or the very popular "I will never be like her!!!"

Who said with age comes wisdom?

Then the inevitable happens. We find ourselves doing and saying things we've been condoning in our mothers for years.

That's when fear and understanding combine to make reality much more acceptable. We then realize it's still OK if mom packs us a lunch.

We also realize that it's OK to be like mom, because we've noticed she's not such a bad person after all.

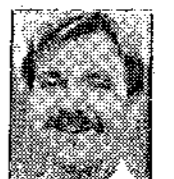

Maybe we should take the time to analyze why our mothers "mother" us the way they do. Maybe they love us? Maybe they have nothing better to do with their time?

Next time you're about to leave the house, and that little voice starts to kick in, try stopping and listening....

Just for the heck of it.

MARK HEUSTIS

'Time to focus on the 'freshman faculty'...

For the eternal, "professional" student, it's always great to have a new crop of freshmen each year to practice cruel jokes on.

There is nothing quite like super glue on a soda straw, or the freshman in a gym locker routine to transform a dull semester.

But even that gets old and exhausting after ten or so years.

Just when some real new blood was needed, the college thoughtfully provided it.

In the form of almost 30 new instructors.

Oh joy, oh bliss!

These starry-eyed newcomers, with their brief cases bulging with lecture notes and "new math" books, are easy pickings for a cagey veteran.

Now that the lucky 30 have had time to gain a sense of false security, it's time to begin their real orientation.

Most instructors are far too experienced to accept any food stuffs from a student, so gag shop trick-candy is out of the question.

That stuff rarely worked back in high school, so the chances of seeing some nouveau instructor with a black-dyed tongue or onion-garlic breath are pretty slim.

A good starting point is the realization that, with few exceptions, the broken down dress code here allows students and professors to dress the same.

They can't tell, half the time, if they are talking to a student or some high powered administrator. Get it?

The details are up to you.

Of course, any bunch of beefy frat members can carry an econo job onto the lawn, but the real trick lies in talking the instructor into parking it there himself.

Out of state teachers need very little prompting, because they're used to driving dirt roads anyway.

Let Falcon pride hold sway and present the unwary instructor with a school mascot dribble mug.

If you have one of those "I like to get to know my students" type teachers, change seats and names with your classmates daily and watch the fun start.

At risk of personal reputation, ask ludicrously complex questions, which are totally out of the instructor's field.

When they fail to answer, tell them that your taxes pay their salaries, and you expect a little more from your employees.

Get to your room a little early and write notes on the board that are several week behind your class. They'll think they are way ahead of the other instructors and slack off.

The whole point here is to welcome the new instructors to Cerritos properly.

So don't plan any practical jokes that might threaten the life of a new instructor.

A few minor academic battle scars, however, go with the job.

Talon Marks

TALON MARKS is produced weekly by Journalism and Communications majors and minors and others interested in enhancing their writing, analytical, and critical thinking proficiency — and in developing highly marketable primary and secondary skills. It alternates standard and tabloid formats.

Production and printing of TALON MARKS, WINGS magazine, and Summer (T)Mies are funded by the Associated Students of Cerritos College (ASCC). Facilities and academic supervision are provided by the Department of Journalism and Communications, C. Thomas Nelson, Chairman.

Offices are located in the Arts and Crafts building, Room 42 (AC-42), 11110 Alondra Blvd., Norwalk, CA 90650, Dr. Ernest Martinez, President. Telephone (213) 860-2451, Ext. 376, 377, 378.

EDITOR IN CHIEF.....Mark Heustis
Associate Editor.....Richard De Laby
Associate Editor.....Karia Hufenbach
Managing Editor.....Shelly Lester
News Editor.....Lisa Puch
Sports Editor.....Jeffrey Ochoa
Opinion Editor.....Angie Villanueva
Features Editor.....Justin Velez

STAFF WRITERS—Monica Arce, Jean Casey, Nash Contreras, Jacqui Greenfield, Angel Gilbert, Sabrina Jenkins, Desarea Johnson, David Medina, Phillip Miller, Ronnie Nadel, Kenny O'Leary, Vance Snyder, Charlie Waldorf.
Production Technician.....Nancy Ballard
Faculty Adviser.....C. Thomas Nelson

Unsigned editorials are the responsibility of the publication's student Editorial Board. Other views are solely those of the author of the article and are not to be considered opinions of the publications staff, the Editorial Board, the adviser, the Cerritos College administration, or the Board of Trustees.

FREE MOVIE SEPT. 28

'Dirty Rotten Scoundrels' popular Martin, Caine fun

By PHIL MILLER
TM Staff Writer

A "connoisseur of conning," Lawrence Jamison played by Michael Caine, has the ultimate royal scam going on the Riviera.

Posing as a deposed prince raising funds for freedom fighters of his stricken homeland, he convinces a wealthy commander to "give her all" to his noble cause.

Freddy Benson (Steve Martin), a small-time scam artist, makes a mess out of the flourishing monarchy scam.

EOPS leadership conference slated

The EOPS office is hosting a two-day Leadership workshop in San Diego Nov. 16-17.

To qualify, a student must be enrolled in EOPS and have a minimum of 2.0 G.P.A.

Students should contact the EOPS office to obtain more information.

CRUISESHIPS NOW HIRING
for spring, Christmas and next summer breaks.
Many positions.
Call 1-805-682-7555 Ext. S-1064

Enter Janet Colgate (Glenn Headly), a native American who is thought to be a "detergent heiress."

The rivals make a wager: the first one to extract $50,000 from the woman will win.

And the loser has to go into exile.

And the race is, with the innocent "soap queen" well on her way to the cleaners in this hilarious comedy that proves anyone can be taken in by "Dirty Rotten Scoundrels."

This film is a remake of a (1964) comedy movie called "Bedtime Story." The original stars David Niven and Marlon Brando who play two con men competing with each other for the same woman (played by Shirley Jones).

In this reporter's opinion, the movie wasn't really all that entertaining, because the story didn't make any sense and characters were way out into space.

But it obviously is a crowd pleaser.

This movie is coming Sept. 28, at 5, 7 and 9 p.m. in the Burnight Theatre.

It's free with ASCC Card.

TM Photos by NASH CONTRERAS and MARK HEUSTIS

82 Amnesty grads recognized

By NASH CONTRERAS
TM Staff Writer

A crowd of some 200 was on hand in the Boardroom Saturday to witness the graduation of 82 students from the Cerritos Amnesty program.

Congressman Esteban Torres congratulated and encouraged the group in his bilingual speech, and stressed the importance of becoming a citizen.

The Amnesty program headed up by Ceci Medina started here last fall in response to the 1986 Immigration reform bill. Graduates have shown at least minimal proficiency in English, U.S. history and government, and have completed ESL and civics classes.

BOARD: Loan programs dropped

(Continued from Page 1)

morale and people at Cerritos College."

An item calling for the school's withdrawal from two federal student loan programs; PLUS, for parents and Supplemental Loan for Students

SEIZED CARS, TRUCKS, 4 wheelers, TV's, stereos, furniture, computers by DEA, FBI, IRS and US customs. Available your area now. Call 1-805-682-7555 Ext. C-1257

RESEARCH INFORMATION
Largest Library of information in U.S. - all subjects
Order Catalog Today with Visa/MC or COD
ORDERING HOT LINE 213-477-8226
Or, rush $2.00 to: Research Information
11322 Idaho Ave. #206-A, Los Angeles, CA 90025

(SLS), passed unanimously.

According to Fran Newman, vice president of student services, "Our students had not frequently used the loans."

An automated transfer information system, being piloted by Cerritos and four other community colleges, was described to the Board by Transfer Center

Coordinator Lisa Sugimoto.

The computer based system is used by counselors to help students develop academic plans which will lead to a successful transfer.

Barbara Applebury, intermediate clerk-typist from counseling was named employee of the month.

Free job training for qualifiers

By ANGIE VILLANUEVA
TM Opinion Editor

Eligible Cerritos College students can register for free job training in word processing, welding, auto body repair, or special education assistant skills.

Cerritos College provides the training which is funded by Southeast Los Angeles County Private Industry Council under the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA), a federally funded program.

To qualify, applicants must be unemployed for a certain time, economically disadvantaged or receiving public assistance, and live in Bellflower, Cerritos, Downey, Hawaiian Gardens, Lakewood, or Norwalk.

The program includes free tuition, books, supplies, childcare, equipment, tools, counseling, job training, bus transportation, and job placement assistance.

Classes start at various times. The word processing class meets daily from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. for 9 to 18 weeks. Applicants must type 35 words per minute.

The welding class meets daily in the mornings for 12 weeks.

The auto body repair class runs Monday through Thursday for 10 weeks.

The special education assist class meets four days a week from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., for 9 to 18 weeks.

For more information, students should call Betsy Stewart at 860-2451, Ext. 332.

SENATE: MEChA loses seat; Kang makes it in

(Continued from Page 1)

Frank Silva (AHORA), Terry Rincon (MEChA), and Joanna Gregorio (AHORA) will be re-seated.

The only incumbent not to win re-election was Patty Yeppez despite a strong showing by sponsoring MEChA.

Won Suk Kang, representing the Korean Club, missed capturing a seat by one vote as officially seated when Fernando Gonzalez from MEChA was declared ineligible.

This is the groups first strong venture into campus politics. Kang garnered 96 votes, missing a spot by one.

Student Senate meets every Wednesday afternoon at 2 in the room behind the Student Activities offices. All meetings are open to the public.

PERSONALS ANYONE?

Beautiful girl, third row of Tazlitz's 9 a.m. Political Science class. We could make History together. Meet me in the cafeteria Tuesday noon, I'll be wearing a yellow carnation.

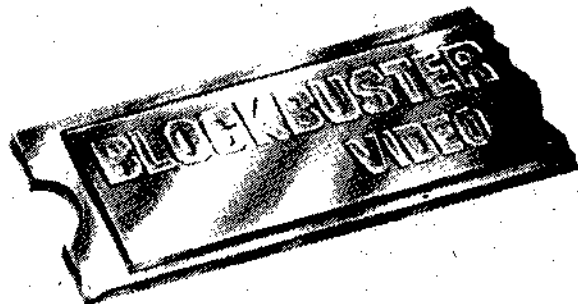

Talon Marks is joining the personal ad ranks of other college papers and if you've always wanted to send an ad or just want to say thanks to someone special—Talon Marks could be the place.

For $5 and 35 words or less, the entire population of Cerritos College can be your message center.

CALL OR DROP BY THE TALON MARKS OFFICE IN AC 42.

NOTE: Keep it clean and tasteful

Retail

Your ticket to managing a $1 million operation.

Finding a job with genuine opportunity and responsibility is like finding a good meal on campus. Parking close to your class. Or getting backstage at a U2 concert. It's hard to do.

Until Now. Here's your ticket to an exciting career in retail management: BLOCKBUSTER Video. In four years, we've opened 800 stores throughout the country. And we're now breaking into L.A. and Orange County. Our growth rate is phenomenal, our management expectations high.

Retail Store Managers
Retail Store Asst. Managers
Instant Interviews

Monday - Friday, Sept. 18-22, and Monday, Sept. 25
9:00 am - 4:00 pm
(213) 498-6855
Ask for Employment Office

If you're a bright, highly motivated, ambitious individual who has managed or worked in a retail operation stressing a quality customer service environment and grossing $250,000 annually, call us. We're looking for candidates with experience in the following retail specialties: department store, men's or women's clothing, shoes, record/tape, musical instruments, sporting goods, hobbies/toys, fast-food.

BLOCKBUSTER Video offers outstanding advancement potential and a competitive compensation package. An annual salary and bonus up to $30K. 100% company paid medical/dental/life insurance. 50% company paid dependent coverage. Two weeks paid vacation. Tuition assistance.

Instant interviews will be conducted by phone, Monday-Friday, 9:00 am - 4:00 pm. Call our Employment Office at (213) 498-6855 today. If unable to call, send your resume to: BLOCKBUSTER Video, Attn: Human Resources, 4510 E. Pacific Coast Hwy., Ste. 540, Long Beach, CA 90804. Equal Opportunity Employer.

Cerritos College Culinary Arts Daily Lunch Menu
Monday, September 25, 1989		Tuesday, September 26, 1989
Soup du jour: Chicken noodle soup		Soup du jour: Baby lima bean soup
Entree #1	Broiled hamburger steak, mushroom sauce	Entree #1	Roast rare triangle of beef, Yorkshire pudding
Entree #2	Fresh chicken cacciatore, with spaghetti	Entree #2	Fresh disjointed chicken, paprika
Entree #3	Broiled Louisiana shrimp sausage with German potato salad	Entree #3	Mostaccioli with meat sauce, mozzarella cheese
Entree #4	Grilled fillet of Icelandic cod, sauce creole	Entree #4	Grilled fillet of rainbow trout, amandine
Special de Jour	Oriental chicken $2.75 Autumn basket of chicken, serve with crisp chinese noodles and steamed vegetable	Special de Jour	Chow mein $2.99 Chicken chow mein with rice noodles
Wednesday, September 27, 1989		Thursday, September 28, 1989
Soup du jour: Beef bouillon soup		Soup du jour: Mulligatawny
Entree #1	Chicken fried steak, country gravy	Entree #1	Stuffed cabbage roll with tomato sauce
Entree #2	Grilled center cut pork chops, apple ketchup	Entree #2	Breaded veal cutlet parmesiana, mozzarella cheese
Entree #3	Chicken fricassee with baking powder dumplings	Entree #3	Roast California chicken, spice peach, natural sauce
Entree #4	Grilled fillet of hoki, butter sauce	Entree #4	Baked fillet of red snapper, spanish sauce
Special de Jour	Broiled halibut $2.75 Broiled baccalata of halibut serve with Italian vegetable, broiled rare potatoes	Special de Jour	Falafel salad $2.99 Falafel salad with mixed salad greens, olives and vinegar dressing

GRAND OPENING

1¢ SALE 1¢ SALE 1¢ SALE

MAIL BOXES & RELATED SERVICES 1¢ for first month with 1 mo. subscription!	OFFICE SUPPLIES, GIFTS & SHIPPING SERVICE 10% discount thru 10-30-89	KEYS & PASSPORT PHOTOS: 2 for the price of 1 plus 1¢
SECRETARIAL, FAX BOOKKEEPING & BUSINESS SERVICES: Available at everyday fair prices!	COPIES: 1 & 2 sided plus enlargements & reductions 2 for the cost of 1 plus 1¢ (prices are from 3 1/2¢)	BUSINESS CARDS, STATIONERY, INVITATIONS & GREETING CARDS 10% off during Grand Opening.

PACKAGING, SHIPPING, RECEIVING:
Done with computer for speed, price shopping of carriers, accuracy, and customer convenience. Also overnight letters. Western Union service coming soon.

THE OTHER OFFICE

MAIL & BUSINESS SERVICES CENTER "WHERE GOING FOR MAIL IS FUN" (213) 864-8955	11825 IMPERIAL HWY NORWALK, CA 90650 (213) 864-8955 (Cross St., - Pioneer, Beside SIZZLER)
---	---

