Faculty Senate starting to roar?

Has the Faculty Senate stepped out of the phone booth?

Apparently they are going to flex their muscles with new Faculty Senate President Scott Henderson has already rat-

years has been more laid back and low

Henderson, a music professor for 21 years, has already made it clear that he feels the Senate should act as a strong and assertive force under the aegis of Assembly Bill 1725 which gives considerable clout to the Faculty Senate body.

At the first Senate meeting, on Aug. 16, Henderson tossed out three shared governance hot potatoes.

Firstly the role of the College Council whose operating style for the last two which includes only two faculty members, is being openly challenged by the Senate for making instructionally related decisions that are traditionally the bailiwick of the Senate.

Veteran Senator Tom Whitlock told the group, "The Senate is being emasculated and no one is doing anything about it."

Under AB 1725 the Senate has the authority and responsibility and is expected to make instructionally-related recommendations to the administration and to the Board.

Serve time—in the student Senate. Some 32 seats are available for the twoday elections on Sept. 7 and 8, with onethird belonging to freshmen.

Candidates have until Friday, Sept. 2 to turn in petitions for the fall elections.

The form, which requires 20 signatures of currently enrolled students are available in the Student Activities Office.

The student Senate is responsible for the some $500,000 ASCC budget which funds a variety of institutionally related programs and activities.

Key issues involved this semester include the renovation of the Student Center and the proposed Food Court, student participation in shared governance and on campus com-Please see ASCC, page 3

Woman robbed in C-1

The first campus robbery of the year—in fact, in a while—resulted in the suspect being jailed.

The suspect netted $1.50,

The victim, a female student, was unhurt. Around 3:40 p.m. Monday, the victim was approached by a male juvenile in a phone booth near the football stadium in the C-1 parking lot.

According to police reports, the suspect asked the woman for money. She gave him 50 cents. The suspect, described as a runaway, demanded more money, placing his hand in his pocket as if he were reaching for a gun. He then demanded the victim's car keys. Fearing for her life, she handed them over.

You can still add a class through Aug. 31

Classes can still be added --- with a yellow card --- through Aug. 31. "We're trying to help more students get into more classes," said Or. Serafin Zasueta, Vice President of Instruction. While last semester the add time was five days, It is now running 15 days, including Saturdays. Students should look for available listings, or check with the professors. The new policy helps fill in slots of students who drop after taking up early class spots. Enrollment is expected to exceed 20,000. -- JIM REYNOŚA

Senate president Scott Henderson rallies faculty for stronger role Another issue that nettles the Faculty Senate is the charge that the accreditation report was kept under wraps-until Henderson demanded a copy from Board of Trustees President Dr. Ada Steenhoek.

"They didn't want to cause hysteria among the students," according to a Board spokesperson. The report does in fact continue the earlier warning to June of

However, that warning does not affect the accreditation of transferable classes. It deals with the three issues of comprehensive budget planning, clarification and definition of the Board's role and practices, and progress in administration organization and effective decision Cerritos College President Fred Gaskin stressed in his Aug. 12 message, "The commission has no concern about the academic integrity of Cerritos College. Their concerns do not relate to the faculty, programs or students. The college is fully ride the bus as it is to drive a car. Think about it. The average car gets approximately 20 miles to a gallon of gas and a gallon of gas is around $1.10, $1.20, with premium up to $1.35. Speaking of $1.35...Beginning on Sept. 1 Base Fare for MTA will be $1.35 raised from a $1.10. With Transfers still $.25 and Tokens $.90 each, Zone charges will go up to $.50 per zone. Senior, Disabled, and Blind Base Fare is to remain at $.45 and transfers a dime, but zone charges will be $.25 per zone. Senior, Disabled, and Blind passes are now $12, passes for students in kindergarten through twelfth grade have risen from $18 to $20, and College/Vocational from $25 to $30.

Just the ticket to ride to school

But the real change is in the Regular Monthly Passes.

There are none! Yes, that's right, there will be no more Regular Monthly passes. Oh, no Express Stamps ei-accredited and there is no threat to this accreditation."

The third item discussed with instructionally related funding which had tentatively been okayed by the administration and was ready for implementation. Some of the expenditures were held up, awaiting review and input from the Senate and Curriculum Committee.

In an all-out effort for Senate improvement, Henderson organized a special training session yesterday, "a nuts and-bolts workshop on ethics." Featured speaker was Janis Perry, Vice President of the State Academic Senate.

While Henderson pulled no punches during the Senate meeting, he appeared somewhat less intense in an interview with the Talon Marks, although he maintained his commitment to the current issues.

Henderson also called for input from Senate to document their support on the actions he discussed.

Henderson was quick to point out that he wants the Faculty to work in every way mittees, improved campus publicity of upcoming events, the provision of more computer access for student government officers and campus clubs and organizations, and the sponsoring of teleconferences.

To become a Senator, students must maintain a minimum of a 2.0 GPA. (Grade Point Average) from the previous semester, maintain 10 or more units during the Senator's term in office, and must have a valid Cerritos College I.D. card.

Those students wishing to campaign under sponsorship of a club or organization must have written endorsement from the club's sponsor. Those students without sponsorship will be listed as "Independent" on the ballot. "Students who are involved in the vocational department are especially encouraged to participate in Senate," said Associate Dean of Student Activities, Phil Houseman.

"We'd like to see a better balance and see the vocational area on campus more fully represented again in student government," said Houseman.

To date, the cosmetology department for example, has shown a great interest and will most likely show a big turnout in the elections, according to Houseman. Alpha Gamma Sigma's honor society and the United

Students Association are also expected to have a number of candidates.

"Everyone is encouraged to run for Senate," said ASCC President Jackie Barbera. "We're looking for students with good ideas on how to improve the Cerritos campus and help make all students more successful in achieving academic and personal goals." ASCC Vice President Al Reyes will chair the Senate meetings every Wednesday at 2 p.m. in BK 111. The first Senate meeting will take place Sept. 14.

Campus robbery suspect identified in line-up...

A phone company van pulled up and the suspect fled the scene. As the suspect was leaving, the victim approached a traffic control officer who was in the area and informed him of what had happened.

Units responded immediately and contained a nearby apartment building where it was believed the suspect had fled.

When officers approached the apartment where the suspect was believed to be, a female answered the door and the suspect came out, his hands up.

Later in a police line-up, the suspect was identified by the victim and was booked on charges of robbery. He was also believed to be armed.

Said Chief of Campus Police Don La Guardia, "This was the first robbery on campus this year.

"I'm proud of the way the response was handled," the Chief said, praising officers Kevin Hoff, Louie Kemp, Garth Dale, and Richard Buckowiekie.

LBCC and Cerritos.

Cerritos is not all that far behind the posse, boasting winning programs in football, basketball, wrestling, baseball and volleyball.

We won't talk track, although we did have the top women's javlin thrower last

The football program led by Coach Frank Mazzota has posted winning seasons two of the last three seasons, and one 500 season

Also adding to the list of accomplishments are two bowl game appearances, including victories over Long Beach two of the last three seasons.

In 1991-92 Cerritos men's basketball team walked away state champions, racking up an impressive 33-4 record along the way. That was followed by a 24-6 mark the following season.

Women's basketball hasn't posted the win-loss numbers the men have, but can not be considered second rate by any means.

The women rebounded from a 7-20 record in 1991-92 to finish 21-10 in 1992-93. From this team All-American Forward-

Center Kate Larabee went on to Michigan State.

Over the past three seasons Cerritos baseball has proven to be one of the more formidable forces in the college ranks.

The Cerritos Baseballers have come up big by winning 25 plus games two of the last three seasons including a 30-10 finish in 1991-92.

That, coupled with a 28 win season in 1993-94, and you have the ground work for one of the state's more respected programs.

Did someone mention respect and championships? Look no further than Cerritos' volleyball program.

The volleyball team has appeared in the California state championship finals the last three seasons.

In 1992 not only did the team appear in the finals, but they won it. They won rather impressively, coasting to a 28-0

Long Beach has no wrestling program.

Last year, Cerritos slammed the competition on their way to conference and state championships.

They qualified ten wrestlers to the state finals.

Perhaps the next time Mr. Reisbig, Mr. Krikorian, and the rest of the Long Beach bandwagon stake their claim that they're the only game in town, they should take a better look, just across the way.

Football readies for scrimmage on Sept. 2 with Glendale here; two new quarterbacks

The plays are drawn, the assignments have been learned, and now it's time to ex-

"This is our year," said head football coach Frank Mazzotta.

But it's going to be hard after losing Quarterback Larry Haney, running back Dione Tyler, defensive back Mario Bradley, inside linebacker Mark Medlin and wide receiver Craig Allen.

"We have two great freshmen QB's in Gary Tessitore and Sam Gaines," he said. Tessitore is a double transfer from Utah State, where he was red-shirted, and hails from Fontana.

Sam Gaines is from Capistrano Valley High, where he smashed all passing records.

"Both our Quarterbacks are good enough to start; in fact, I'm thinking about using a two QB offense," said Mazzotta.

When asked if this will cause any added tension between the two, knowing that a simple mistake might mean a seat on the bench, Mazzotta said, "A little pressure is good, it forces you to think more."

The Falcons kick off their season on Sept.

17 when they play at home against Orange Coast College.

As Mazzotta puts it, "Right now we don't have a 'go-to,' guy. As a unit, we have perhaps the most speed and depth we ever had at this position.

"A 'go-to' guy is someone you give the ball to when you have to get the yards."

The Falcon's defense should be solid with the return of defensive Backs Alex Ramsey and Derrick Winston; linebackers Dusan Ancich, Keith Dykes, Keith Thomas; Defensive Ends Troy Antee and Eric Dougles and defensive lineman Matt Nichols.

"Last year we had some key injuries at defense and that forced us to play some players who weren't ready. But that might have been a blessing in disguise because now those players are ready with the experince they've gained," said Assistant Coach Casey Mazzotta.

"Last year I told everyone that this was not our year, that we were still too young and we needed to do some growing, but we got off to such a quick start that people started to think that we were off and running. This year I'm saying it's our year and we're ready," stated the head coach.
